The service ended at 12:30 and the faithful disposed themselves for sleep. They will eat nothing but unleavened bread at meals, and attend service every day, for eight days.

The hall was crowded with the pilgrims again this morning when the services were resumed. Different evangelists preached through the forenoon, and they will continue the addresses all afternoon and evening. "Who Is the Real Jew?" is the topic announced for the preaching tomorrow night.

Between 400 and 500 of the pilgrims marched and rode through the city, yesterday afternoon, in parade. A good many of them rode in carriages and wagons. Prophet Crowdy, carrying a horn—the ram's horn of the Jewish ritual—rode in a carriage at the head of the procession. A bugler led the rank and file.

After the parade there was a feast in the Wilderness, Reform Hall serving for the time being for the Wilderness. Everybody ate what he or she liked because it was the last meal before going to the diet of water and unleavened bread at midnight.

The lost tribes which have found themselves are strong on food and colors. Two of the hues are secret.

It was William S. Crowdy, now Elijah, the chief prophet, who discovered that all other black men were Jews and the missing nine and a half tribes. Before he was a prophet Crowdy was a cook on the Santa Fe Railroad and presided over the galley end of a dining car—and he had a vision right in the car as the train was rolling out of Chicago one day. He can't tell of that vision just now himself, as explained in Ezekiel, iii., 26.

If Crowdy isn't as comely as Solomon it isn't the fault of the costume maker for the lost tribes. He and all the other men wear brown coats and trousers and socks. The women wear brown skirts and stockings and blue waists. Brown stands for meekness, say the evangelists. But it is only used as a ground work.

The chief prophet and his apostles carry swords to offset any excess of meekness in their trousers and socks. This garb of course is in accord with the vision which Crowdy had in the dining car when he received the seven keys of the Lord. The blue of the women's waists stands for truth. All hands wear black sashes, black being the royal color, according to the vision. The women wear red silk coronets with white bands, red meaning blood and white purity. The chief prophet and the chief evangelist alone have yellow and pink in their regalia, but you have to join the tribe before learning the secret meaning of yellow and pink, and you can't join the tribe without having your feet washed publicly at the temple or in the Wilderness, as the case may be, by one of the elders. There are fifty elders at the present feast and each of them carries a shiny tin basin attached to his sash ready for immediate use on the feet of anybody who may be moved to join.

When asked if their chief prophet couldn't give more details about the dining car vision one of his followers said: "Young man, let me read to you from Ezekiel, third chapter twenty-sixth verse; 'and I will make thy tongue cleave to the roof of thy mouth that thou shall be dumb and shall not be to them a reprover.' That's just what the Lord has done to Mr. Crowdy, but he will be able to talk again when the Lord has filled him with more visions to give in."

Something had happened to the prophet's tongue, sure enough, and he could only speak with effort and wave his seven colored flannels in reply to questions. But he could swallow well and there seemed to be no physical affliction of his tongue as he sat at meat upon the platform at the Wildernes feast. And according to the instructions received in the dream, Prophet Crowdy used no knife and fork.

THOUSANDS APPLAUD HER

Miss Von Ohl's Horsemanship Amazes Hippodrome Audiences—$300 Per.

RIDES PLUNGING STEED

At Head of Body of Cavalry—Then Plainfield Girl Dashes Into Big Pool—Rose from a Chorus Girl.

From out of a mass of exaggerated stories sent broadcast by an enterprising press agent, it has become apparent that Miss Adele von Ohl, of this city, has really met with phenomenal success in her work at the New York Hippodrome and that at the present time her name and picture are familiar from the Battery to the Bronx. Everywhere in the metropolis where it is possible to erect a billboard she is pictured in the act of urging a horse to leap from a high precipice into a supposed river, and huge letters several feet high tell of her skill and daring. Not since the Thompson & Dundy playhouse was opened has any one artist received the notices she has, and there are indications that she will be made the star of "The Society Circus" when it is sent on the road in a few months.

Miss von Ohl, who lived with her mother on Central avenue, has always been known to Plainfielders as a daring horsewoman, and they were not surprised when she secured an engagement at the Hippodrome as one of the riders in "The Raiders." This spectacle depicts a battle between Union and Confederate soldiers, at the end of which a detachment of cavalry plunges into a river and gets away. Miss von Ohl was a member of the cavalry, and her absolute fearlessness in jumping her horse into the water attracted the attention of Messrs. Thompson and Dundy, but the taking off of "The Raiders" prevented them from advancing her at the time.

It was succeeded by "A Society Circus," and the Plainfield girl became one of the sedate guests who are supposed to watch the spectacular acts. Her skill as an equestrienne had not been lost sight of, however, and when the management desired more action, they hit upon the plunging horses to feature Miss von Ohl. The first night it was tried, although it contains an element of danger, the young woman made the leap in such a clean-cut way every other rider was compelled to "sit up and take notice." The act became an instantaneous hit and the metropolitan newspapers devoted more space to Miss von Ohl than the show itself. She accomplishes the plunge from a high bank to the cold water twice a day, and though she is in the middle of a mass of whirling hoofs for several minutes she has never yet lost her saddle or suffered the slightest mishap.

When Miss von Ohl was first put on the Hippodrome payroll it was at $15 a week. She is now receiving $300 a week, and is under contract with the management for a stated period. Some time during the summer "A Society Circus" goes to Atlantic City for a run and after that it will visit the largest cities in the country, the Plainfield girl remaining as the feature outside of the circus acts.

GATHERING IN HONOR OF VISITOR FROM SCOTLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendry Give the Affair at Their Home on West Fourth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendry, of West Fourth street, entertained a gathering of friends at their home last night in honor of the former's brother, Robert Hendry, of Scotland, who is in Plainfield on a two-months' visit. The guests number twenty-five in all and the early part of the evening was passed in listening to musical numbers and playing games.

Piano selections were contributed by Miss Bertha Jones, Miss Sarah Head and Miss Thorburn, the latter of New York; violin solos by Hugh Gray, and vocal solos by Thomas and Robert Hendry, Nathaniel Hendry, Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mrs. William Gray and Miss Head. David Bowden made an appropriate address of welcome to the visitor and Robert Slorah was heartily encored for his artistic rendition of the "Hielan' fling." The serving of refreshments brought the affair to a close.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Slorah, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hendry, Mrs. and Miss Head, Mrs. William Jones and Miss Bertha Jones, Mrs. George Wallace, Mrs. D. B. Martin, Miss Thorburn, David Bowden, Mr. Styles, Hugh Gray, David Wardrobe and William Ross.

—The carnival in Saengerbund Hall, April 21 to 30, will decide whether or not we have concerts this summer. ***

DYING WHILE WIFE ENTERTAINED COMPANY

MELICK SUFFERED FATAL SEIZURE AS HE RESTED IN CHAIR.

While his wife was entertaining a friend in the front room of their flat, David B. Melick, thirty-five years old, of 122 East Front street, was seized with a fatal attack of heart failure late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Melick reached him before he died.

Melick's death was not wholly unexpected. He had been ill for two years with asthma, from which his heart weakness developed, and his health failed rapidly during the latter period of his illness.

Melick sat in a chair in a rear room yesterday afternoon, resting. Shortly before 6 o'clock a woman friend called on Mrs. Melick, and she took her to the front room a few minutes afterwards. Mrs. Melick heard a faint exclamation and sounds of a struggle from the rear room. She ran in to find her husband gasping for breath. A few minutes later he died in the chair to which she carried him.

Mr. and Mrs. Melick came here from North Branch two months ago. Mrs. Melick was Miss Edith Moulton, of West Fourth street, and is well known in the West End. When Melick, whose home was in North Branch, married two ears ago, he was in comparatively good health. Almost immediately after the marriage his health failed, and he was practically unable to work from that time on. The couple had no children.

Melick had a number of cousins in this city. He was connected with the Birds.

The funeral will be held from the Second Reformed church, Somerville, Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

YOUTH BEAT OUT FIRE WITH HIS NAKED HANDS

MIRROR REFLECTION LED TO DISCOVERY OF BLAZING TABLE CLOTH.

With his bare hands, Paul R. Collier, one of the High School athletes, beat out a fire at his home on East Sixth street, early last evening. He discovered the flames just in time to prevent them from spreading dangerously.

Collier went into an upstairs sitting room at 6:30 o'clock and struck a match. Part of its head flew off, but he paid no attention to the incident. He passed into the room beyond and started searching for a book. A few minutes later he chanced to look up into a looking glass facing the sitting room, and saw the reflection of dancing flames. Another look disclosed the fact that the cloth on the sitting room table was all ablaze, with the flames beginning to curl about varnished legs.

Collier sprang into the room and threw the burning cloth into the center of table in a heap and beat the flames out with his hands. He was only slightly burned. The cloth was ruined.

Passed County Examination.

The annual county examination of pupils in the Somerset county schools was held the last week in March. Among the successful pupils were Douglas Demler, Theresa Schmidt and Edith Kutz, of the Washingtonville school, of which Mrs. S. S. Higgins is the teacher. These three pupils passed with unusually high averages. They will probably enter high school in the fall.

Negress Resisted Arrest.

Alice Miner, Susan Redd and Andrew Bokker, all colored, were arraigned in the city court this morning by Special Officer Jeremiah Cash, charged with having been disorderly in front of Reform Hall, last night. The Miner woman was accused with having resisted arrest, and the other two were charged with interfering with an officer. The case was laid over to Monday.

Good Intentions All For Naught.

Smoke pouring out of the chimney on Harry Dreier's building on West Front street last night, led some one to believe a fire other than that in the stove was in progress. Whoever it was telephoned fire headquarters and Chief Doane responded with No. 2 hose wagon. They found that Mr. Dreier had started a fire to heat up the store and there was "nothing doin'."

Full Rehearsal of "Patience."

The Plainfield Operatic Club will have a special ful rehearsal of "Patience" in the Camera Club rooms Monday night. The Casino cannot be had for the occasion because of the society mask ball.

EASTER DAY MUSIC IN THE CHURCHES TOMORROW

SOME ARE ELABORATE

From Early Morn Till Night There Will Be Special Celebrations of the Day of Resurrection.

In all the churches, both in the city and in the borough, special services will be held tomorrow in celebration of Christ's resurrection. The Catholic and Episcopal churches make the feast of marked importance, but the other churches are also celebrating it in due form. The programme of music and the order of services in the various congregations follow:

St. Joseph's R. C. Church.

Two masses will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church in the morning, at 8:30 and 10:20 o'clock. The latter will be the principal service, with a solemn high celebration. A Passionist father from Hoboken will be the celebrant. Father Miller will be deacon, and Father Terrili, of Rahway, sub-deacon. Father Chandel will also assist in the service.

The processional will be "Christ the Lord is Risen," sung by the choir and a chorus of 100 Sunday school children. Stehle's prize mass of the Cecilian school, for quartette and chorus, will be sung, under the direction of James Bailey and Mrs. Alfred La Porte, the organist. The offertory will be sung by James Bailey and Alfred La Porte as a duet. After the consecration Weigand's Regina Coeli will be sung by the choir. The recessional will be "Holy God, We Praise Thee."

St. Mary's R. C. Church.

There will be the five hourly masses at St. Mary's church in the morning, as usual, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The chief service will be a full high celebration at 10:30 o'clock, in which the double quartette and regular chorus choir of the church will sing. The responses will be chanted by a augmented church choir of twenty-six voices. The Kyrie, Gloria and Credo will be Cecilian music. George's Regina Coeli will be sung by the choir. Father Bogan, the rector, will preach an Easter sermon. Father Federici will be the celebrant; Father McLaughlin, S. J., of Jersey City, will be deacon; Father Delehanty, sub-deacon.

The 9:30 o'clock service will be the children's mass. The children's choir will sing the Regina Coeli. Elizabeth Brown will play an accompaniment on a chimes of bells. Elizabeth Schuck will play a volin solo.

Grace M. E. Church.

Special music will be a feature of the Easter service in Grace M. E. church tomorrow evening. The choir will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, soprano; Miss Winifred Carroll, contralto; Edson Martin, bass, and Dyckman Winckler, violin. The programme will be as follows: "The Resurrection and Ascension," by Trowbridge; duet, "The Lord Is My Light," by Buck; "The Resurrection," by Shelley; "O Day of Christ," by Bartlett; "The Lord Is Risen," by Sullivan. Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons will occupy the pulpit.

First M. E.

The Easter services at the First M. E. church tomorrow will be as follows: In the morning the choir will render "Come, Sing We Loud Hosannas," by Spence, and Miss Laura Gesswein, soprano, will sing "He Is Not Here, for He Is Risen," by Broome. The pastor, Rev. A. C. McCrea, will preach an Easter serman. In the evening there will be a musical service as follows: Organ voluntary, processional hymn; anthem, "Lift Your Glad Voices;" prayer, anthem, "In the End of the Sabbath;" offertory, "Easter Dawn," Miss Conroy; cantata, "Easter Eve and Morn," choir; recessional hymn.

The choir, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, will have the assistance of a portion of the choir from the Presbyterian church, Westfield, at the evening services. In the afternoon Mr. Skiff will direct the services at the Presbyterian church in Westfield, combining the two choirs for that occasion.

Congregational Church.

Ester will be observed at the Congregational church with special services morning and afternoon. The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Power of Renewal." The musical programme will comprise the

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Quite the most interesting dramatic event of the season concerns the engagement of Florence Roberts at the New Plainfield theatre Monday night, in that the emotional star will produce for the first time in this city "The Strength of the Weak," a modern play in four acts, by Alice M. Smith. Ever since her advent on the stage Miss Roberts has steadily demonstrated her ability as an emotional actress, advancing each year to more serious work, until finally she is placed among the leading feminine stars of the country. In "The Strength of the Weak" the actress is said to have a part totally different from anything else she has ever attempted, and, at the same time, one that will reveal her in an atmosphere admirably suited to her ability as an emotional actress.

At the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night the tuneful "familiars" of that most virile of musical comedies, "The Prince of Pilsen," will be heard in Henry W. Savage's presentation of this popular Pixley and Luders work. The beauty of its lyrics have more of poetry and romance than usually attach to a work of this kind, and Gustave Luders' rythmic harmonies retain their freshness despite frequent iteration. "The Prince of Pilsen" is being played by one company only, and its roster bears the names of Jess Dandy, Arthur Donaldson, Ivan Anderson, James E. Rome, J. Hayden-Clarendon, Peter Swift, Ida Stanhope, Ruth Peebles, Marguerite Ferguson, Pauline Huntley, Marie Welsh and others.

Amusement lovers of this city who are enthusiastic patrons of the theatre, but who insist that they be offered attractions of a high order, may safely make their arrangements to attend and enjoy the production at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night, of a piece that has been declared by critics and the theatregoers to be the best comedy drama of the higher class that has ever been produced. It is called "A Ragged Hero," and comes here with the reputation of being absolutely without a peer in the matter of scenic magnificence, elaborate costuming, heart interest, literary merit, strength of plot, delicacy of comedy, thrilling but natural situations and romance. All many song hits, such as "The Message of the Violet," "The Tale of the Sea Shell," "The Stein Song," with its swinging Heidelberg refrain, "The Song of American Cities," "Pictures in the Smoke" and others, have served in large measure in maintaining a lasting popularity for this entertainment. Frank Pixley's story and the principals in the company have already achieved justly earned fame by their work on the stage, and their support has been selected with a view to well rounded artistic presentation, rather than with a regard to the cost. As a whole, the production is without doubt the most costly in matter of company, scenery and costuming that

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Good Friday service was held at Holy Innocents' church last night. The Tenebrae service was held at St. John's church. Both churches will have the elaborate services prescribed by their rituals in celebration of Easter. Holy Innocents' will hold a communion service at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, and service and sermon at night.

Superintendent Meseroll and Miss Higgins, of the school faculty, are working with W. E. Terry, J. R. Campbell and S. W. Neilor, of the school board, in perfecting the arrangements to send advanced pupils from the borough school to the Plainfield High School.

Rev. E. C. Dutcher will preach his first sermon as pastor of the Methodist church tomorrow morning. In the evening he will deliver an address at the Sunday school exercises. Recitations, readings, class exercises and special music will be on the programme.

The Presbyterian Bible school will hold Easter exercises in the church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. An Easter service, with a special musical programme, will be held at night. Rev. W. W. Casselberry, the pastor, will preach.

William Farrier is steadily regaining his health. He has recovered enough to make it certain that he will save the important bridge building contract he has with the Union County Board of Freeholders.

Christopher Hansen has resigned from the employ of John Evans. The latter has had a new heater and an improved system of plumbing installed in his house.

The annual reports of the Building and Loan Association will be distributed next week. The auditors have completed their work on them.

Paul Carpenter, of New York, has rented the Stelle house, Prospect avenue and Walnut street, through the agency of Robert L. Pierce.

Owing to illness, Miss Edna Baldwin has been obliged to give up her stenography work with Lawyer W. S. Angleman, of Plainfield.

The Young Ladies' Sewing Circle met yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Kathie Samson. Refreshments were served.

The family of Rev. E. C. Dutcher, the new pastor of the M. E. church, will move into the parsonage next week.

Miss Matilda Wilson, of Middletown, has returned home after a visit to friends in the borough and Plainfield.

—DeWitt Clinton Flanagan, who once ran for Congress in the Fifth Jersey district, claims that he has been euchred out of the control of a brewery in New York by a trust. But what does Mr. Flanagan want of a brewery now? He is out of politics. Is he thinking of going into the game again?—Newark News.

has ever been offered in many seasons.

Miss Alyce Kee Nan, the popular star of the "Not Like Other Girls" company, that appears here next Thursday night, has high aspirations. She is not content with her triumph on earth, but seeks other realms to conquer. She would invade the domain of the birds, not as a warbler, as one would expect would be the case, but really as a flyer. In other words, she desires to don wings, cleave the atmosphere, and soar over this sphere with any lark or eagle, and there seems to be little doubt that she will achieve her ambition, and go higher than any other woman in her profession, or any other, for that matter. Miss Kee Nan, to be plain, is going to ascend to the clouds in the airship which Santos-Dumont will race in the international competition next summer in Paris. She has been invited to do this by the aeronaut himself, and has accepted the invitation.

Kyrle Bellew, who comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, in "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," has always fought shy of the title of "matinee idol"—a title which, by the way, the New York papers coined for him when he first came to America several years ago to be leading man of the Wallack Stock Company. The idea of a lot of silly girls going "daffy" over him, while they munched caramels and talked adjectives, would be extremely distasteful to him. "Just the same," says Eleanor Ames, a Boston newspaper woman who interviewed him recently, "if he sat in an easy, conversational pose, resting one cheek on his palm and giving one moment a picture of his perfectly chiseled profile and the next a calm glance from his wonderful big eyes, the girls would have to crown him anyway. With his silvery white hair, his exquisitely regular features, his indescribable eyes, now gray, now green, now yellow, now almost black, his heavy eyebrows and healthy tan of cheeks which comes from the sea and outdoor life, Kyrle Bellew is even handsomer off the stage than on. His voice, with its musical cadence always perfectly modulated, rests and soothes and holds the hearer. The accent is charming, the clean-cut enunciation a delight.

That the public will patronize good and wholesome melodrama is amply attested in the many years of use of the sensational play, "Escaped from Sing Sing," which is to be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. The play is one that leaves a favorable impression wherever presented. It is full of startling situations and exciting climaxes, with a new scenic embellishment, and produced by an excellent company.

Special Easter services will be held at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning under the auspices of the choir and in the afternoon the Sunday-school services will be held.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., April 2, 1906.

AN ORDINANCE

To Further Amend An Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance To Provide For the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners and Drivers," Approved March 14, 1882, as amended.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 8 of the ordinance referred to in the title of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 8. That every person so licensed shall, at all times while engaged in the business for which he is licensed, cause the number of his license, in figures not less than one and one half inches in height, to be conspicuously displayed on both sides of the vehicle for which such license shall have been granted, and every person so licensed and the driver of every such vehicle shall, while engaged in the business for which he is licensed, wear in the button-hole of the left lapel of his coat on the outside, so that the same may be easily read by persons approaching or passing him, a button, one and one half inches in diameter with the number of his license thereon in black figures one inch in height on a white surface, and shall also keep in a pocket within said vehicle a card or folder showing in plain printed type the number of said license and the rates of fare specified in the tenth section of this Ordinance, which said pocket shall be firmly affixed within said vehicle to the under side of the top of said vehicle, at a point vertically in line with the back of the front seat, with the words 'Rates of Fare' conspicuously displayed so that the same will be readily observed. Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section of the Ordinance shall on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars for each offense."

Section 2. That section 10 of said Ordinance be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 10. That any person licensed under this Ordinance to use for hire or wages any hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle for the carriage of passengers, may charge therefor the following rates, but no more, that is to say: for the carriage of any passenger or passengers from any point within to any point within that part of the city included within the following boundaries, that is to say: beginning at a point where the line of Johnston avenue produced would intersect Greenbrook, thence along said line and the line of Johnston to North avenue; thence in the same course in a direct line to South avenue; thence along South avenue to Woodland avenue; thence along Woodland avenue to Highland avenue; thence along Highland avenue to Hillside avenue; thence along Hillside avenue to Randolph road; thence along Randolph road to Plainfield avenue; thence in a straight line to the intersection of Spooner avenue with West Eighth street; thence along West Eighth street to Grant avenue; thence through Grant avenue to the northwesterly city line; thence following the northwesterly city line to the intersection of said line with the line of Johnston avenue produced; the point and place of beginning, twenty-five cents for one passenger, and fifty cents for two or three passengers carried from the same point to the same point at the same time; and for the carriage of any passenger from any point within to any point without the aforesaid boundaries, fifty cents for one passenger and twenty-five cents for each additional passenger; provided, however, that after eleven o'clock at night until five o'clock in the morning, the charges may be double the said fares; and whenever any such hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle shall be engaged by the hour the person licensed to use for hire or wages such hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle may charge one dollar for the first hour and seventy-five cents for each additional hour."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY.

Plainfield People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

Plainfield testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Plainfield who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt that the cures made by Doan's Kidney Pills are thorough and lasting, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Plainfield people saying that the cures they told of years ago were permanent. Here's a Plainfield case:

Rhoda A. Martin, of 24 Jackson avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I had pain in my back and loins for about a year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning, just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain, but they strengthened me in other ways." (Statement made in January, 1901.)

Statement Confirmed.

On July 22, 1905, Mrs. Martin's daughter said: "The testimonial given for publication four years ago was true in regard to the benefit my mother derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, and today she is as ready and willing to repeat what she therein said as she was after using your medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

In the morning there will be special music by the chorus choir and a sermon by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor. There will be no evening service at this church.

Park Avenue Baptist.

Special services will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening. In the morning there will be anthems by the choir and an Easter sermon by the pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn. The primary department of the Sunday school will hold its exercises in the afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the primary class rooms. Parents and friends of the children are cordially invited to attend. In the evening the Sunday school will participate in an Easter service. The Sunday school stringed orchestra will assist at these services. There will be baptism in the evening.

An Easter sermon by Pastor Musson, together with the singing of carols, will comprise the special service at Faith chapel tomorrow morning. In the afternoon the Sunday school will go to the First Baptist church and join in the exercises there. In the evening Pastor Musson will preach again at the chapel, baptize five new members, and the choir will sing several anthems.

Trinity Reformed.

"The Story of Calvary," a cantata by Schnecker, will be rendered at Trinity Reformed church tomorrow morning by a chorus choir of forty voices. Rehearsals have been in progress for sometime under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist and choirmaster, and a pleasing service is assured. In addition to the cantata there will be a prelude, organ, piano and violin, and several Easter anthems.

In the rendition of the cantata these soloists will take part: Mrs. E. D. Young and Mrs. F. E. Woodruff, sopranos; Mrs. E. H. Bird and Miss Harriet Randall, contraltos; F. S. Cutter, baritone; E. D. Young, tenor. Assisting will be Mrs. Robert T. Johnston, violin; Miss Hazel Martin, piano; Arthur L. Titsworth, organist. The music committee of the consistory, comprising H. J. Martin, T. R. Van Zandt and C. M. Dolliver, will have charge of the music. In addition to the musical numbers there will be an Easter sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck.

In the evening there will be a special children's service, in which the members of the Sunday school will take part. There will be Easter carols by the school, recitations and selections by the choir. The church will be attractively decorated for the occasion.

The Easter exercises will be held at Marconnier chapel tomorrow afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday school. There will also be an address by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

First Presbyterian Church.

At both morning and evening services in the First Presbyterian church, special music will be rendered by the regular choir composed of Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Edna Nichol, contralto; Elmer D. Cutting, tenor, and F. E. Iglehart, bass. Clifford Braider will preside at the organ and appropriate sermons will be given by Rev. Charles E. Hering. The Sunday-school will have special exercises beginning at 3 o'clock.

Crescent Avenue Church.

The morning and evening services at the Crescent Avenue church will be simple. The musical programme will be in charge of Mr. Thomas and will consist only of selections by the regular church quartette. Dr. Zelie's sermon will be based on Easter topics and the offering will be for the deacons' fund. In the afternoon the schools of Hope, Warren and Bethel chapels will unite with the home school for the annual Easter exercises.

Hope Chapel.

At both the morning and evening services in Hope chapel the regular chorus choir will be augmented by specail voices and a programme will be rendered under the direction of S. B. Howe, Jr. Pastor Howard will occupy the pulpit on both occasions. There will be no session of the Sunday school, as it will unite with Crescent avenue.

Scotch Plains Baptist.

There will be special Easter services at the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow morning and evening under the direction of the chorus choir. These anthems will be divided between the two services: "Since by Man Came Death," from the Messiah; "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today," "Christ Being Raised from the Dead" and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah. In the morning the pastor, Rev. T. Moore-Smith, will preach on the topic, "The Empty Tomb," and in the evening his topic will be "The Hope of Immortality." The Sunday school will gather at the morning service and participate by singing Easter carols.

Grace P. E. Church.

Communion will be celebrated at Grace P. E. church tomorrow morning at three services—7, 8 and 10:30 o'clock. The musical programme at the latter service and at evening prayer, at 7:30 o'clock, will be elaborate. The music at morning and evening prayer will be as follows:

Morning Prayer—Voluntary, Lemeinge; pro hymn 110, "Come, Ye Faithful;" anthem, "Christ Our Passover," Chappel; pasiter, special Psalms; Te Deum, Hadley in F; Jubilate, Ashford in D; Credo, Apostle, Stainer; hymn 112, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today;" Kyrie Eleison, Marshall in F; Gloria Tibi, Garret in F; Credo, "Nicene," Best; hymn 109, "Welcome, Happy Morning;" Offertory, "Come, Sing We Loud Hosannas," Spence; Sursum Corda, Sanctus, Garrett in F; Agnes Dei, Marshall in F; Gloria in Excelsis, old chant; Psalm 117, Messiter; Rec. 396, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand;" Postlude.

Evening Prayer—Voluntary; Pro 110, "Come, Ye Faithful; Confession and Lord's Prayer, Stainer; Psalter, special Psalms; Magnificat, Toop in D; Nunc Dimittis, Toop in D; Hymn 121, "The Strife Is O'er;" Offertory, "Sing Alleluias," Buck; Hymn 535, "Now the Day Is Over;" Rec 396, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand;" Postlude.

Mrs. W. A. Freeman, the organist, will direct the music. The solo and quartette work will be done by Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano; Mrs. Alvin Cliver, contralto; William Tallamy, tenor, and Arthur Chamberlain, bass. A carol service will be held at 3 o'clock.

St. Stephen's P. E. Church.

At St. Stephen's P. E. church there will be a low celebration at 7:30 o'clock, in charge of Rev. John H. Eagar, of New York. Matins, sermon and high celebration at 11 o'clock. The music, under the direction of Charles M. Suhr, organist, will be as follows: Processional, "Hail Festal Day," Custance; Anthem, "Why Seek Ye the Living Among the Dead?" Cooke; Kyrie in G, Gilbert; Gloria Tibi in G, Gilbert; Hymn 123, "Alleluia! Allelula," Wordsworth; Sermon by Rev. John H Eagar; Anthem, "If Ye Then Be Risen with Christ," Smallwood; Offertory, "Blessed Be the Man," G. Marsden; Sursum Corda in G, Gilbert; Sanctus in G, Gilbert; Benedictus in G, Gilbert; Agnus Dei in G, Gilbert; Hymn 220, "Draw Nigh and Take the Body of the Lord," Neale; Gloria in Excelsis in G, Gilbert; Nunc Dimittis in E, Gregorian; Recessional, "O Joyous Easter Morning," Oliver.

The solo parts in the service will be taken by Miss Emily Lacey, soprano; Miss Christina Sorensen, contralto; John Todd, tenor; Robert H. McCready, baritone, and Alfred Lacey, bass.

There will be a children's carol service at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Holy Cross P. E. Church.

Three communion services will be held at Holy Cross church in the morning, at 6, 8 and 11 o'clock. The music at the latter service will be Steane's Te Deum, Garret's Jubilate Deo; Clark's Hallelujah, Christ Is Risen; Martin's Communion Service, and hymns 121, 122, 110 and 112. Limper's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis will be sung at the evening service at 7:45 o'clock. The evening hymns will be the same as at the morning service.

RICH MORRIS CO. COMMITTEE.

Morristown, April 14.—The Morris County Republican Committee has organized, with a finance committee composed of some of the richest men in this section of the State. The committee is headed by John H. Capstick, manufacturer, of Montville, and the others are Richard H. Williams, Edward T. H. Talmage, of Bernardsville; Grinnel Willis, Morristown; William F. Redmond, Madison; Frederick O. Spedden, Mendham; Senator Thomas J. H. Hillers, Boonton, and David H. McCapin, Morristown, milk dealers.

Committees on nominations and elections and campaign were also appointed, but the members were of the rank and file of the party, whose pocketbooks are not nearly so fat as those of the finance committee. It is evident that the Republicans intend to put up a big fight this fall, and it is hinted that the party managers have an eye on the Colby movement, and therefore have a finance committee which will not miss a few dollars expended for the good of the cause.

Teachers' Retirement Fund.

By DR. HENRY M. MAXSON,

Member of Committee That Drafted the New Law.

The papers are so mixed in their accounts of the Retirement Fund bill just passed by the Legislature that some definite statements regarding it may be of interest to the readers of The Daily Press who are friends of the teachers.

When Miss Carrie Runyon, after giving a lifetime to the Plainfield schools, found herself physically unable longer to teach, there was no way provided by law by which the Board of Education could give recognition to her long and valuable service by a pension. Miss Runyon was, however, a member of the Retirement Fund, an organization containing nearly one-third of the teachers of the State, who pay into the fund each year one per cent. of their salary, any member of which, on becoming incapacitated for teaching, may receive from the fund a yearly pension equal to one-half her salary. Miss Runyon's membership enabled her to draw a pension from that source, but her last days were troubled by fears that the fund would fail, since the income of the fund was barely sufficient to pay the annuities. A commission appointed by the State Teachers' Association, after a year's study of the matter, decided that the fund could not be maintained on the exisiting conditions, and a committee was appointed by the State Association to obtain a new law that would make the fund self-sustaining. The bill just passed was prepared by that committee. The bill practically doubles the fees recommended by the actuary employed by the commission, and the fund is thereby assured of financial soundness. It also provides that all teachers who begin teaching in the State after January 1, 1908, shall become members and be subject to payment of dues on signing their contract. This provision will bring in over a thousand new members each year, and thereby makes the fund automatically self-sustaining. As a result of its action, practically all the teachers of the State will be members, after the lapse of a few years.

The effect of the law will be very beneficial to the schools as well as the teachers. In most cities and towns there are teachers in the schools that are not physically capable of doing the work, but it has seemed almost inhuman to dismiss them and thereby deprive them of their support and throw them upon charity; and yet thirty or forty children are suffering a loss every day in each room where they are retained in service. Membership in this fund not only provides a support for teachers in time of need, it provides a method for relieving the schools of teachers who can not do the work, without condemning them to suffering from want. While all new teachers entering after January 1, 1908, must become members, those now teaching in the State may join or not, as they see fit.

Plainfield has had a prominent place in this good work. Judge William R. Codington was a member of the commission that made the study of the Retirement Fund; Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the scity schools, was a member of the committee that prepared the bill, and both were active in securing its passage. Plainfield teachers will be specially pleased to know that Senator Ackerman voted for the bill on its passage through the Senate.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES

awakened and he felt convinced that Christ had done nothing amiss. The prayer he makes is that of a believing soul.

"It is natural for any man in peril of death to cry for mercy. This is true of the sailor or the bravest soldier, who have been known to send up a cry to God when they have not done so since the time they prayed at their mother's knee. I think one of the most pathetic pictures drawn recently was that of the thousands of people who flocked to the churches because of the eruption of Vesuvius, and there in supplication call for help.

"What amazing faith we see in this robber as he addressed his words to the Saviour, who hung there on the cross weak, bruised and scarred and taunted by the crowd. 'Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom,' were his words. He was not referring to an earthly kingdom, for both Christ and himself were going out of the world. Being saved does not consist in church membership, baptism, works or some revelation, but by faith in the crucified one. Don't wait until about to die before accepting Christ, but say now, Father be merciful to me a sinner."

The word of the Centurion, "Truly this was the Son of God," was the topic assigned to Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. The speaker said that the evidence was growing stronger with the Centurion that the crucifixion was different from any other, that it was strange and unique, and being impressed with this fact he was led to exclaim the remarkable sentence. He was impressed with Christ's power, that some sort of a secret was holding Him up and that He had a purpose, and was holding to it. "The words of the Centurion are words that can be understood by all classes," said Dr. Zelie, "and we judge our lives by them—this priceless utterance—by which everyone can give their life to serve Him."

Following Dr. Zelie's remarks, there was silent prayer and a prayer by Rev. L. R. Howard. During the offertory, which was for the Children's Home, the choir sang an appropriate selection, and after the singing of a hymn the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Rodman.

KREBS PRESIDES AT EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL

CLOSER RELATION BETWEEN KINDERGARTEN ELEMENTARY WORK URGED.

At the annual meeting of the council of education of the State of New Jersey at the Trenton high school last evening the report of the subcommittee on pepagogics on the "Relation of the Kindergarten to the Elementary School" was discussed. H. C. Krebs, superintendent of schools in North Plainfield, was in the chair.

The committee which prepared the report believes that a kindergarten teacher should have at least a full four years' high school course, and, in addition, a course in kindergarten teaching.

Dr. T. S. Shepherd, supervising principal of the schools at Asbury Park, opened the discussion on the report. Others who spoke were Randall Spaulding, of Montclair, N. J., J. J. Swartz, of Westfield, and Dr. James M. Green, of the State schools, Trenton.

Charles J. Baxter, State superintendent of public instruction, spoke particularly of the benefit which the schools will derive by the passage of the Perkins law. Superintendent Baxter also spoke briefly on the teachers' retirement fund bill. The main provisions of this proposed act is to make membership in the fund compulsory.

H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield, president of the council, appointed committees on membership and nomination of officers. S. R. Morse, Atlantic City; Dr. Louis Bevier, Jr., New Brpnswick; Austin C. Apgar, of Trenton, comprise the former committee, and Dr. Levi Seeley, of Trenton; C. B. Boyer, of Atlantic City, and A. B. Meredith, of Nutley, comprise the latter.

The council met again this morning.

The officers of the council are: President, H. C. Krebs, county superintendent of schools, North Plainfield; vice president, W. L. R. Haven, superintendent of schools, Morristown; secretary, S. V. Arrowsmith, superintendent of public schools, Red Bank; treasurer, S. E. Shull, A. M., superintendent of schools, Perth Amboy. They will, in all probability, be re-elected today.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Enjoyable Easter services will be held at the local Baptist church tomorrow morning. The music has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Cubberley, who is the choir leader and organist. Rev. C. H. Fountain, of Crozer Seminary, will conduct the service and speak.

The South Plainfield baseball team played the Bound Brook team yesterday afternoon on the latter's grounds defeating them by the score of ten to seven. Harry Hanan, of the local team, as the only player who knocked a home run.

The Christian Endeavor Society will conduct the evening service at the Baptist church tomorrow evening at 7:30.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley will preach for a prominent Baptist church in Groton, Connecticut, tomorrow.

The choir of the Baptist church practiced Easter music last night for Sunday services.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

"Escaped from Sing Sing," a melodrama of the old school, will thrill the patrons of the New Plainfield next Saturday afternoon and night. Probably booked as a sequel to "Raffles," the gentleman thief, who holds the boards the night before.

While at Madison Square Garden the other night, I was struck to note a familiar figure come out from the performer's entrance and start off a still more familiar trapeze act. My suspicions were verified on consulting the programme which showed the artist to be our old friend from Rahway, Jimmie Irwin, who we featured in the vaudeville end of the Hope Y. M. A. county fair four years ago. Jimmie was then on his uppers and we got his act, his tent and his son's globe rolling stunt thrown in, for $40. He certainly earned it as we put him out fourteen times during the day. He is now getting his $250 a week and is billed heavily as "The Marvelous Irwin." Now what do you think of that.

According to stories sent out from New York last night, there is $56,000 in the safe of Sterling Beardsley, a Manhattan stock broker, awaiting the order of Richard Carle, the comedian of "The Mayor of Tokio" company, but he doesn't believe it. In response to urgent letters and telegrams requesting him to make some disposition of the cash, he has told Mr. Beardsley and his own New York representatives to "forget it" and "stop joking." The fortune has grown from a little venture that Carle made in copper while he was playing in New York last winter. He cleared about $3,000, but did not "draw down" his winnings. In the meantime his stocks advanced rapidly—a fact apparently unknown to the comedian—and now the $56,000 is his for the asking.

"McFadden's Flats" are in hard luck again. The show was hooted until the curtain was rung down at New Haven, Conn., a few nights ago and now the Paterson A. O. H. has protested against its appearance at the Lyceum theatre there next week.

FREE ORGAN RECITAL AT GRACE CHURCH.

Programme of High Class Music Next Thursday Night.

Gottfried H. Frederlein, associate of the American Guild of Organists, will give an organ recital at Grace church on Thursday night, April 19, at 8 o'clock, assisted by Miss Mary C. Hubbell, contralto, and Dr. Leonard Waldo, 'cello.

This programme will be rendered: Sonata No. 111—first movement—Allegro maestosoe con fuoco, Guilmant; "Berceuse," Spinney; "Pilgrim Chorus," Wagner; contralto solo, "My Heart Ever Faithful," Bach, Miss Hubbell; "Pastoral Sonata—opus 88—pastoral, intermezzo, fugue, Rheinberger; 'cello solo, "Largo," Handel, Dr. Waldo; prelude and fugue—A minor, Bach; contralto solo, "Ave Verum," Mozart, Miss Hubbell; "Andante Religioso," Lemaigre; "Burlesca e Melodie," Baldwin.

—Mr. and Mrs. George H. Kenyon, of Mercer avenue, have moved to West Front street.

—Miss Estella Vermeule, of Jackson avenue, bookkeeper at Harry Marshall's laundry on East Front street, is ill with the grip.

—The Story of the Cross, to be given by the Rines brothers in picture and song at the Y. M. C. A. hall this evening, is for men. The admission will be free.

—Tickets for the entertainment to be given by the Ithaca Conservatory of Music male quartette and Miss Flora Stoll, reader, Saturday, April 21, at Y. M. C. A. Hall, may be obtained free at drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

TREATMENT OF WINDOWS.

Flowered Wall Calls for Plain Drapery and Flowered Curtains Prettiest with Plain Wall.

Windows are being freed from their multiplicity of draperies and over-draperies, through which neither light nor air possibly could find entrance. City houses are the only ones where three or four sets of curtains now are used, and even there the simpler methods used in the country houses are growing in favor. Two sets are all that are required, and one is sufficient. This depends entirely upon the texture of the materials used. If it is transparent two sets are unnecessary, although an additional inner hanging for the sake of its decorative qualities is permissible and often a great addition.

If the curtain is opaque and heavy it will be found advisable to have a transparent inconspicuous gauze drapery next the glass to soften the outline. These sheer casement hangings generally are draped, the heavier ones never.

They may be made of net, figured or plain, or of some of the attractive muslins. A rule which is not at all arbitrary, but which often is observed, is that of using net downstairs, and the less expensive muslins upstairs. The curtains usually are ruffled, sill length, and draped at the middle sash with a band of same material. Whether they shall be crossed at the top or simply hang from the center is for the most part a question of taste and of proportions of the window. A graceful draping may or may not demand it.

The newest material used in bedrooms is the printed linen know as the Aberdeen linen. It comes in quaint Gothic and old English designs, and the colors are wonderfully soft and artistic. A stripe with the English rose as the motive is attractive either in green and blue or in green and old gold.

The Persian cottons at 35 cents a yard are most attractive, and unusual in the old-fashioned blues and greens of our grandmothers' patchwork quilts.

Experience teaches us that flowered papers require the contrast and repose of plain curtains, while plain papers furnish an agreeable background for the gayly flowered materials.

The reps of different qualities, cotton, wool and silk alike, all hang with a peculiar softness and grace. There are fascinating weaves and colors in the cotton tapestries.

There are some striking designs in dark rich colors in the liberty cretonnes and linen taffetas which would be extremely effective in a library or dining-room combined with a plain or self-toned paper.—Chicago Tribune.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Large pieces of silver, such as urns, baskets and the like, should be kept in canton flannel bags when not in active use. The furry side of the flannel should be turned inside and the bag closed with drawing strings at the top.

Stains may be easily removed from the inside of decanters, etc., by putting into them fresh tea leaves, direct from the teapot, with a little soft soap and hot water. Shake well, and when clean rinse thoroughly in cold water.

When turning out gelatin or gelatin puddings from the molds in which they have formed, wet a knife in cold water before attempting to pass it around the mold. By the same token, wet your knife in hot water before cutting hot breads.

New cotton often causes needles to break because of its exceeding harshness. This difficulty may be overcome by rubbing along the part to be sewn with a dry piece of soap. The plan answers equally well whether the work be done by hand or machine.

Don't hang skirts wrong side out when putting them away. They are bound to crease, and with light ones (so a professional dressmaker says) whatever dust has been collected by the lining and clung in spite of your brushing is bound to sift through to the right side and stick.

Go over skirt linings every couple of months with a cloth wrung out—as hard as you can—of water. That cloth should be just one tiny remove from perfectly dry. But the amount of dust it will collect from what you probably thought was a perfectly clean lining is astonishing.

For a good cement mix the best powdered rice with a little cold water, slowly add boiling water till the right consistency is obtained, then pour into a saucepan and boil it for a minute. This paste is almost transparent, and well adapted for fancy paper work, for which a strong and colorless cement is required.

The whiteness of the boards, which shows that the work is well done, is obtained by careful scrubbing the right way of the wood—never across the grain—with cold water and plenty of soap. No soda must be used, or the wood will turn a blackish color. Change the water often—it is impossible to have the boards nice and white if you rinse them in dirty water.—Chicago Daily News.

Maple Puffs.

Two cupfuls maple or brown sugar, one-half cupful water, one-half teaspoonful vanilla, one-half cupful chopped walnuts, white of one egg. Boil sugar and water until they form a soft mass in water. Beat slowly into well-beaten white of egg, add vanilla, and beat until stiff. Add walnut meats and drop by one-half teaspoonful on buttered paper.

HEALTHY PLANTS

Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.

Did you ever see a rosebush which—despite the most beneficent environment of soil—of sunshine—and of atmosphere,—seemed never to achieve a healthy growth.

A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart.

You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.

You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vaseline, etc.

You must look to the cause of the trouble—it's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.

WITH THE GARDENER.

Why One Should Not Break the Lawn with Flower Beds and Where to Place Them.

Flower beds or single specimens of flowering shrubs, no matter how handsome they may be, are out of place in the center of the lawn. They need a background. A group of Forsythias standing alone looks thin and cold, against a background of evergreen they are glorious. Their place is in a border with the taller ones behind and low growing plants in front.

The back edge of the border may well be straight, following the dividing line between adjoining wards or against a high board fence. In either case tall shrubs like lilac or luxuriant vines should eventually make the straight side a line of beauty and throw the bright flowers of the border into relief by supplying a rich green background. The front of the border should be in graceful undulating curves, edged with the lowest growing things possible. The border should be well manured, the soil dug two feet deep and made fine on top. Give perennials plenty of room and fill in vacant spaces with annuals. The second year your perennials should fill the bed and give an uninterrupted succession of bloom from April to November, whereas most annuals are not sown till May and do not begin to flower until July.

Flower beds in the middle of a lawn interrupt the restful stretch of green and make the lawn look smaller than it is. If you will have beds of geraniums or other plants that must be kept over winter in a greenhouse or cellar, put them near the house. Another point against flower beds in the lawn is that they require so much care to keep them trim. The grass encroaches, a circle soon becomes a ragged oval, and a star loses one of its points. The hardy boarder is informal to start with and, while neatly kept edges will add to its attractiveness, they are not absolutely necessary to its good appearance.

Some of the annuals are shade-enduring, but it is easier to get too little sun on most of them than too much.

Dig the flower bed deep, so that the roots will go down quickly and require less watering in hot, dry spells. Plenty of well-rotted stable manure is the best fertilizer for a flower bed. If the only available space you have for the purpose is wet and soggy, two feet of soil should be dug out and stones, broken crockery, coarse ashes put in. A double purpose may thus be served in a small city yard where rubbish is hard to dispose of. The soil should be made perfectly fine. It should be fairly firm but not packed. Clods the size of a marble may cause delay in the growth of seedlings for several days.

The first of the tender annuals may be sowed by May 1, but seed should be saved for a second planting later.

WILHELM MILLER.

IN TAKING CARE OF FURS.

Before Putting Away White Furs Clean Thoroughly as Directed, and a Solution for Moth Eggs.

Furs are subject to being made the depository of moth eggs. A solution of acetate of potash in spirits of rosemary—15 grains to one pint, will destroy these eggs.

Before putting away white furs such as ermine or white fox, clean them. Dip a perfectly clean or new whisk broom in pure alcohol and mop the fur well with it, rewetting often, until the fur is soaked. Have ready an abundance of powdered starch and with a flour dredger or other perforated box fill the wet hairs full of starch, working it down to the skin with your fingers.

When dry powder again, and thickly, and shut up in a box for two days. Beat out the powder then, in the open air with a whisk, shake and toss the articles until clear of starch, and put up as you would pack away other furs.

To clean white furs, lay them on a table and rub well with bran made moist with warm water. Rub until quite dry—afterwards using dry bran.

The wet bran should be put on with flannel, and the dry with a piece of book muslin. Another method is to carefully rub dry plaster of paris into the fur with the hands until all the plaster, which is ground fine like flour, is shaken out. Wipe over the fur with a clean, white, dry cloth.

Try the Russian method of cleaning furs. Put some rye flour into a pot and heat it as long as the hand can bear it, stirring constantly. Then spread the flour over the fur and rub well into it. Brush thoroughly with a clean brush, or beat gently till all the flour is removed.

Light furs, besides being subjected to the above process, should be rubbed well with magnesia or a piece of book muslin.

Orange Chips.

Put three pounds of sugar over the fire with a gill and a half of water and a fifth of a teaspoonful of cream tartar. Mix over the fire and cook, scraping down the sides occasionally, until it barely reaches the hard crack when tested in water. Turn it out on a buttered marble slab, and, as it cools, add a few drops of oil of orange. Fold together until this is worked in and then cut the lump in two. Color one-half of it orange color and pull the other until it is white. Work it out into a flat mess on a warm slab and flatten out the orange-colored part, wrap one around the other, white outside, and flatten out again with a heavy buttered iron if necessary to handle it. Pull out into a ribbon, cut into chips and lay on a cool marble; leave till cold and break apart.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred and six, for the general purposes of said City, exclusive of School, Library, Poor, Fire and State and County Taxes, the sum of Fifty-two Thousand Dollars ($52,000), (this sum includes the sum of Thirty-one Thousand Dollars ($31,000) to be raised by general tax for street improvements); for the expense for said year for lighting the public streets and places, in said City, as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the Assessors of said City, the sum of Fourteen Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($14,250); for the principal of such sewer bonds (except obligations payable out of assessments and temporary obligations) as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7, 1890, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said City, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned Acts, the sum of Eight Thousand Eight Hundred Dollars ($8,800); for the support of the City Poor, the sum of Six Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500) (included in the last named sum is the sum of One Thousand Dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining such indigent patients as may be sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by order of the City Physician, Overseer of the Poor, or other proper authority of the City, pursuant to Chapter LXXVI, P. L. 1886, payable December 31, 1906, pursuant to the contract between the Muhlenberg Hospital and the City); for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room, the sum of Five Thousand One Hundred Dollars ($5,100); for the maintenance of a Fire Department, to be under the control and government of said City, the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Six Hundred Dollars ($25,600); for interest of School Bonds authorized under City ordinance, to fall due during the said year, the sum of Five Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($5,400); for principal falling due May 2d, 1906, of bond issued for purchase of land for garbage disposal purposes under Chapter XL of the laws of 1895 and supplement thereto, Seven Hundred Dollars ($700); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

to Abolish the Office of Second Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department of the City of Plainfield.

WHEREAS, The office of Second Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department of the City of Plainfield is at present vacant, and it is the sense of the Common Council that the public interests require that said office should be abolished; therefore

Section 1. That the office of Second Assistant Engineer of the Fire Department of the City of Plainfield be and the same is hereby abolished.

Section 2. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Adopted by the Common Council April 11, 1906; approved by the Mayor April 12, 1906.

J. F. BUCKLE, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

To the Trustees of Trinity Reformed Church, Plainfield Congregational:

Gentlemen:

We take the liberty of telling you that every church will be given a liberal quantity of L. & M. Paint whenever they paint.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes the paint wear like iron.

Arnold Print Works, North-Adams, Mass., used nearly 17,000 gallons L. & M. Paint made with 10,000 gallons L. & M. and 7,000 gallons pure Linseed Oil.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Elsie Janis in "The Vanderbilt Cup," at the Broadway theatre, has an "auto" vehicle that is winning an endurance test. Before the season closes it will record one of the longest runs of the theatrical year on the great white way. One of the sensations is Barney Oldfield's auto race, which is the personification of realistic effect. There is not one dull moment in the whole show. From start to finish the big audiences are furnished one continuous round of enjoyment and amusement. Miss Janis' imitations of Eddy Foy, George M. Cohan and Maude Adams are the richest thing of the kind that has been done for a long time and has proven an immensely popular feature. Order your seats by mail. Broadway theatre, Broadway and Forty-first street. Evenings at 8:15. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:15. The best seats at the matinee performances are but one dollar, a popular price for suburban shoppers.

Maude Adams is in the fifth month of phenomenal triumph in the delightful Barrie fantasy "Peter Pan" at the Empire theatre, New York. She is playing to capacity audiences and attracting the most wonderful matinee crowds twice a week that have ever been seen in New York. "Peter Pan" seems to have caught the fancy of New York theatregoers more generally and more thoroughly than any other production that has been made in years. Both men and women go into ecstacies over its charming scenes and delicious humor, and all are alike carried away by the exquisite and varied acting of Miss Adams in the role of the boy hero Peter. The matinees of course are mainly given over to women and children, the latter of whom are tremendously interested in the pirates, fairies, crocodiles, wild wolves and other romantic and fantastical ingredients of Mr. Barrie's play. The production itself seems to have the charm of making young all who see it, no matter whether they be gray beards or grandmas. It is this special and unusual virtue of the play, every moment of which is delightful, that recommends it so strongly to all classes of theatregoers, and that will keep the Empire theatre crowded to its capacity probably for the balance of this season and some part of next.

LITERARY NOTES.

One who goes moose shooting in the wilderness plays two games: one a game with the moose for his adversary, the other a game of solitaire in the forest, the object being to get out and back to camp again. The latter is quite as interesting as the former. The game of solitaire, if one is satisfied with playing it crudely, is not difficult. If, for instance, your camp is on a river which flows east and west, and you go into the woods on the south side, it does not require much learning in woodcraft to hit the river again by going north. You can tell which way is north from the sun or from your compass. Once on the river you can get back to camp again. A man in the woods searching for game walks only about two miles an hour, so that in half a day he cannot well get to such a remote distance that, with the aid of a compass, he cannot in reason strike the river again, and strike it somewhere near his camp. But the niceties of the game of solitaire are infinite.—Weld Allen Rollins, in Recreation for April.

Spring Election Effort Fails.

Trenton, April 13.—Senator Colby yesterday made an ineffectual attempt to resurrect the Morgan bill providing for spring elections in villages, which has been defeated. Ten Senators voted for the bill, many expressing the belief that it should apply to all elections. Mr. Hillery opposed the bill as being contrary to the Republican policy, which is committed to one election annually. Mr. Colby remarked that if such was the policy there was no more propitious time than the present to change it. The bill is dead for the session.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

James Wotten, of West Fifth street, has joined the ranks of the automobile army. Three weeks ago he purchased a Ford car and since that time he has mastered the art of operating the machine. Last Sunday Mr. Wotton took a trip from this city going through Milburn, Newark to Montclair, and returning in three hours. On his return he decided to take a run over to his old home in New Market and on the way over he had a hair-raising experience. The condition of West Front street is at the present time very unfavorable for speeding owing to the thoroughfare being recently torn up by the P. S. C. in making repairs to the tracks and roadbed. While riding along at a moderate rate of speed the front wheel of Mr. Wotton's machine struck a stone and started to "skiddoo" toward the sidewalk and electric light pole. Mr. Wotton thought that his day of reckoning had come but by a remarkable presence of mind he remembered to reverse the lever which shut the power off and stopped the machine. In the future Mr. Wotton says he will confine his travelling on good roads.

It would appear to be a perfectly logical proposition that in these United States only one registration should be required for an automobile and only one license demanded of an operator. The law in many States provides that an automobilist possessing a home registration number can utilize it when touring in another Commonwealth. New York State recognizes the registration of other States, but New Jersey demands tribute from New Yorkers who use its good roads. Finally the worm is about to turn, for a likely amendment to the L'Hommedieu bill in New York State is one which will compel the Jerseymen who visit the Empire State to secure New York numbers. True it is that this will cause some inconvenience to the many Jerseymen doing business in the metropolitan district and living in New Jersey, but it is a certainty that thousands of New Yorkers find it necessary to pay tribute to New Jersey when they cross the river. This form of retaliation may awaken the New Jersey Legislature to the courtesy of reciprocal relations in the matter of registration. One registration that should be accepted throughout the entire country, is a matter for which the American Automobile Association should exert itself vigorously through its legal department, and it will earn the gratitude and respect of many touring automobilists.

SCHOOL-BOY SPORTS.

Manager J. W. Gavett, of the Plainfield High School baseball team, has arranged a game with the Trenton State Normal School for June 9 in Plainfield. This game will close the High School season.

This afternoon Commercial High School will be the opponents of the Plainfield High School team. On Monday the strong Camp Bowser team will line up against the Plainfield High School team. A double header will be played a week from tomorrow, the first game in the morning at Montclair against the High School team of that place, and in the afternoon at Orange with the Orange High School.

At a meeting of candidates for the Plainfield High School scrub team, Clyde Doane was elected captain and Harold Robins manager. Practice will start in a few days.

P. H. S. MEETS DEFEAT

ERRORS DID DAMAGE

Plainfield Lads Make Desperate Effort to Tie Score in Ninth—Freeman in Fine Form.

Poor fielding was responsible for the defeat of the Plainfield High School team yesterday afternoon, when it lined up with the De Witt Clinton High School team of New York on Crescent Oval. The final score was 7 to 6, and the game was exciting from the beginning.

Stuart Freeman occupied the slab for the locals, and had he received better support from his teammates he would have easily won his game. Ten of the visitors fell before his curves, and but five hits were secured from his delivery.

The visitors scored first by marking up one tally in the get-a-way. This was made by a combination of hits and errors. There was no further scoring until the fourth, when the visitors counted up two more and the locals one.

The greatest excitement reigned in the ninth when the locals made a desperate effort to turn defeat into victory. When the Plainfielders went to bat for the last time the score was 7 to 5 against them. S. Freeman, the first man up, worked a pass and stole second. Van Deventer followed with a neat single, on which Freeman went to third. Douglass, next up, flied to center, but Brakeley sacrificed, scoring Freeman and putting Van Deventer on third. Harding popped to Hancock, but he missed it. With the score 7 to 6, and with two men on base, P. H. S. had a good chance to tie the score or even win, but Snyder, next up, was not equal to the occasion, and he fanned, leaving the score 7 to 6 in favor of the De Witt Clinton School.

Van Deventer, Loizeaux and Douglass did fine work for the P. H. S. team, while Barnett and Wardlow excelled for the visitors. Captain Davis is still out of the game because of his ankle, but he will probably pick his team for this afternoon to play Commercial High School on Crescent Oval from the showing of individuals in yesterday's game.

DIAMOND DUST.

The "Skeeters" had their last practice today on Crescent Oval and they improved every bit of the time, visiting the grounds this morning and again this afternoon. Captain Joe Bean is anxious that his men shall make a good showing in their opening game tomorrow at Hoboken and he wants to count this contest as a victory.

Captain Bean has been in charge of the squad during the past few days in the absence of Manager Murray, and he certainly has put them through a course of lively training, particularly in the infield work. The players who have been used on the infield are showing up particularly strong. This is especially true of the youngsters and it will be difficult for Manager Murray to decide who to use at short stop.

A few regular games will help Manager Murray to decide upon his team more than anything else. While every man has been doing good work and giving evidence of being in the best of condition nothing like a real contest will prove a player's ability.

Captain Bean believes that the club has a "find" in Munson, the new catcher. He is now the life of the team and his work has been of the highest order. He is not only a good catcher, but his throwing to bases is great. Some of the players will pack their grips and leave for Jersey City tonight, while a few well likely remain until tomorrow morning. The two weeks' stay here of the "Skeeters" has been pleasant for them as well as their many friends here. Their gentlemanly ways and congenial manner have helped to win them friends and the players are well pleased with the hospitality shown.

Tomorrow afternoon the baseball season in Hoboken will be opened up in a contest between the Jersey Citys and Manager Daab's reconstructed aggregation. Because of the rivalry existing between the two teams the game will no doubt be featured with aggressive playing from start to finish. The batting order of the two teams will be something like this: Hoboken—Pastor, right field; Brogan, second base; Rochford, first base; Mallen, center field; Leonard, third base; Bertwhistle, left field; Curley, short stop; O'Neil, catcher; Deegan or Smith, pitcher. Jersey Citys—Clements, left field; Bean, short stop; Cassidy, first base; Kiester, right field; Halligan, center field; Holmes, short stop; Moore, third base; Vandergrift, catcher; Mack of Foxen, pitcher.

"Kid" Brogan would never be taken for one of the cubs of the team. He already has the swagger of a leaguer a la Billy Dahlen, including the curls too.

Willie Deegan is finding the rum business a little troublesome, especially in the line of bartenders. He has tried three up to date and spent the whole of yesterday in New York looking for a capable mixologist.

"It is just as easy to knock home runs over a right field fence as it is for girls to steal kisses from Mr. Carnegie." So declares Jocko Halligan, center fielder of the Jersey City team.

Billy Foxen, who has been spending his time this week in thawing out his wing, in addition to writing a history of Tenafly, will be in the box against Hoboken tomorrow. Billy has written home to this effect and it is expected that a large crowd of natives from that burg will be on hand to give him a send off.

Gene McCann's wing seems to be in mid-season form judging from the manner he was delivering that speedy drop in practice yesterday afternoon.

With his Eastern League experience Jimmy Montross should work wonders for Somerville this season.

George Beulah Allen, once the pride of Scotch Plains and now of Somerville, looked the Jersey Citys over last night at Hotel Iroquois and declared they were a wonderful lot of ball players and ought to win the pennant hands down.

The Brooklyns are starting off the season in their natural gait. Would it not be practical for President Harry Pulliam to consider the advisability of transferring Brooklyn to the Eastern League and substituting Jersey City. Cincinnati also could be yanked out without being missed by any of the other clubs. Both of these clubs look extremely dopey on paper and in action also.

This suggestion, of course, is not made as any reflection on the playing ability of the Jersey team. It would be a safe bet that Captain Bean and his men could beat the Trolley Dodgers nine out of ten games if they ever got the chance.

Zippo Holmes is developing into a fast infielder. Zip has the most graceful throwing motion of any player on the team.

Brit Martin has developed into a heavyweight, having put on twenty pounds during the cold months. Brit will hold down third sack for Bogert Conklin's champions this season. Brit declares his batting eye is as keen as ever and that he expects to win a few boxes of cigars down Somerville this summer.

First Baseman Adams, the best first sacker in the Lackawanna League last season and who played with Summit, is anxious to play with Manager Daab this season.

J. Percival Hall is living on New York sporting extras nowadays. Timbo's beans will be a secondary issue from now on to November 1.

Munson, the new catcher corraled by Manager Murray a few days ago, seems to be a corking good ball player. Last year he had a successful season with the Charleston team in the South Atlantic League, where his brilliant work attracted the attention of Manager Hugh Duffy, of the Philadelphia Nationals. Duffy had an over supply of catchers and handed him over to Manager Murray for his caretaking.

"Gamey" Nelson, who was one of the best catchers in the colored ranks a few years ago, would like to travel with the Jerseys this season and is seriously thinking of making an application to Manager Murray for a job.

Marcus Hoyt, of Nofth avenue, is desirous of getting a try-out as an umpire this season.

DOINGS IN SOMERVILLE.

"Jimmy" Montross, who has been in gymnasium practice all winter, is now in midsummer form, and with the support he will receive from the infield we predict that "Smiling" Jimmy" will realize the zenith of his baseball career.

"Pinky" Demay will hold down his last year's position at the third corner and we all know what that means for the West Ends. "Pinky" has the goods and in a game last Sunday, he began his heavy batting average with two clean hits.

Captain George Allen, with a brand new plug of chewing and spitting tobacco, was in town last week renewing friendships. George has his whip in good shape, and with his eagle eye on "Brit" Martin's corner there will not be many purloined sacks by visiting base runners.

Plainfield was very much excited last week over the possible chance to get Demay, and all week heralded his coming in flowing paragraphs. "Pinky" decided West End grub was good enough with his little extra dessert he receives from the Manhattans.

By a unanimous vote of the trustees is was decided to refuse Manager Daab's offer to arrange a series of six games with Plainfield.—Somerset Democrat.

CHURCHES GREET EASTERTIDE WITH GLADNESS

Music and Bright Flowers Mark The Services of All Faiths.

WEATHER VERY BAD

He Observed the Day Half Heartedly and Made the Woman With a New Dress Sad—Not Much of a Parade.

Their sartorial enthusiasm dampened by the downpour, the Easter paraders made only a feeble showing yesterday morning at church time. Feeble in numbers and hues. What glimpses of Easter finery struck the passerby came from momentary openings of raincoats or fleeting views in passing carriages. Unable to recover their enthusiasm after so stern a setback, the possessors of new gowns and spring suits did but little better when the sun crept out in the afternoon. Still, there were some things for the stay-at-homes to look at through the windows.

The church attendance naturally suffered in the morning, but the Easter spirit brought out congregations considerably larger than usual, in spite of the rainmaker's efforts. All the churches were bright with Easter lilies and flowers of many hues, and their vaulted roofs vibrated with the swelling tones of Resurrection anthems and chants.

Park Avenue Baptist.

The special Easter service was held at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, under the auspices of the Sunday-school. An elaborate programme was presented, assisted by an orchestra comprising G. W. V. Moy, violin; Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, bass viol; Garrett Dunham, violin; Whitney C. Frazee, cornet; Martin Stutsman and Stuart Freeman, mandolins; the Misses Arline and Marjorie Brown, violins. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, Easter lilies and the pulpit was banked with plants and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanWinkle had charge of the decorations.

This programme was rendered: Opening chorus, "The Banner of the Risen King," school; carol, "Easter Is Here," school; offertory, orchestra and organ; carol, "Sing of a Risen Saviour," intermediate choir; exercise, "A Story of Faith," the Misses Arline Brown, Edith Lyons, Marjorie Miller, Nettie Stillman, Susie Whitney, Grace Stillman, Mabel Stutsman, Isabelle von Brakle, Gretchen Giebler, Marion Mortimer, Hannah Boyd; solo and chorus, "Glory to the King," Miss Anna Clarke and intermediate choir; exercise, "The Easter Cross," the Misses Louise Harrol, Alice Brown, Bessie Giles, Elizabeth VanWinkle, Cora Brokaw, Mrs. Mary Mawhinney, Mrs. W. S. Lowry; carols, "Let the Song Exulting Ring," "Golden Gates of Easter Morning," "Sing We Allelujah," school.

At the close of the service Pastor Finn baptized Mrs. Clara N. Naylor, Walter R. Cuming, Clemens R. Bechtle, Rowland M. Stover and Cedric H. Ostrom.

Mrs. von Brakle presided at the organ, Miss Mary Clakre was the pianist and Superintendent George E. Hall had charge of the programme, which was arranged by Miss Florence Hawkins, Mrs. W. S. Lowry, Miss Mary Clarke, Miss Cora Brokaw and George E. Hall.

First M. E. Church.

Services appropriate to Easter were held at the First M. E. church, yesterday, morning and evening, while the Sunday-school had its exercises in Vincent chapel in the afternoon. The church was decorated with palms, lilies and flowers. In the morning the vested choir, under the direction of Organist Skiff, rendered several anthems and Miss Laura Gesswein, soprano, sang "He Is Not Here, for He Is Risen," by Broome.

The special service was held in the evening, when the choir rendered the cantata, "Easter Eve and Morn," in a most satisfactory and pleasing manner. The solo and chorus work was excellent. In addition to this cantata, Miss Conroy sang "Easter Dawn," as an offertory. The choir was augmented by a portion of the choir from the Presbyterian church, Westfield. In the afternoon the combined choirs rendered a special programme at the Westfield Presbyterian church.

The Sunday-school exercises were held in Vincent chapel in the afternoon under the direction of Superintendent James R. Joy, when a special service, "Songs of the Resurrection," was given by the primary department as follows:

"Easter Greeting," Elton Greenleaf; exercise, Edawrd Crone, Mildred Burnett, Harry Staats, Manila Symons, Harold Blackford, Ruth Lynn; selection, primary choir, Charles McCrea, Violet Sutton, Howard Hile, Mildred Burnett, Edward Crone, Blanche McVoy, Chester Alpaugh, Manila Symons; exercise, Edith Little, Hoyt Tompkinson, Jubilee Rowley, Russell Beekman; beginners' department, song, J. Squier, Dorothy McVoy, Lillian Apgar, Elizabeth Hicks, Charlotte Skiff, Frank Rowley, Jr.; recitations, Harold Seal, Ella Vail, John Bolsterle, Jr., Norman McGee, Carol Dunavan; main school, recitations, Zeta Voorhees, Anna Warnock, Ethel Clarkson, Raymond Mosher; intermediate department, recitations, Ogden Lindsey, Dorothy Lynn, Catherine Bingaman, Ruth Seal and Arthur Slade.

Crescent Avenue.

The morning and evening services at the Crescent Avenue church were very simple. The regular quartette choir rendered several anthems and Paster Zelie preached appropriate sermons. In the afternoon the Sunday-school was joined by the schools of Hope, Warren and Bethel chapels for the usual union Easter service. It was in charge of Dr. Zelie and Henry J. Cochran, the latter the superintendent of the home school. The other officers on the platform and who took part were Pastor Howard and Superintendent Squires, of Hope chapel; Paster McKelvey and Superintendent Andrews, of Warren chapel; Pastor Tildon and Superintendent Duxbury, of Bethel chapel. There were responsive readings, carols and addresses and Mr. Stanley, of the church quartette, rendered a solo. The attendance was 1,025, divided as follows: Home school, 312; Hope chapel, 335; Warren, 189; Bethel, 187.

Trinity Reformed Church.

"The Story of Calvary," a beautiful Easter cantata, was rendered at Trinity Reformed church, yesterday morning, by a chorus of forty voices, under the direction of Arthur L. Titsworth, organist and choirmaster, and in addition other selections were given. Despite the stomy morning there was a large congregation presen to enjoy the festival programme. The pulpit platform was appropriately decorated with palms, lilies and potted plans.

The programme began with a prelude, by Laurendeau, Arthur L. Titsworth, organ; Miss Hazel Martin, piano, and Mrs. Robert T. Johnston, violin; followed by a processional, the entire choir marching in from the lecture room singing "Christ, the Lord, is Risen Today." After the usual opening service, the cantata was given in a highly pleasing manner. Not only the soloists, but the entire chorus, all of them members or attendants of the church, deserve much praise for the excellent work. Credit is also due Mr. Titsworth, organist, for his part in the rendition and rehearsals.

The soloists were Mrs. E. D. Young and Mrs. F. E. Woodruff, sopranos; Mrs. E. H. Bird and Miss Harriet Randall, contraltos; F. S. Cutter, baritone, and E. D. Young, tenor.

Following the cantata Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, preached an impressive sermon from the text, "Wherefore Comfort One Another With These Words." In the course of his remarks he took occasion to say that at the last day the dead in the Lord would rise first and the living would be caught up in a cloud. The sermon was full of sympathy and comforting words especially to those who have suffered bereavement.

The offertory selection by the choir was "Christ Our Passover," and after the benediction, there was a postlude from Mendelssohn, organ, violin and piano.

The children's service in the evening attracted a very large congregation to enjoy the special programme under the auspices of the Sunday-school., W. C. Leek led in the singing and assisting were E. D. Young, cornet; Mrs. Robert T. Johnston, violin, and Miss Hazel Martin, piano, while Arthur L. Titsworth presided at the organ. During the exercises Superintendent F. E. Smith read the annual report of the Sunday-school, showing a steady substantial growth not only in numbers, but in the finances. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, also made a few remarks, congratulating the school and speaking of the significance of the day being celebrated. This programme was then presented under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Tier, superintendent of the primary department:

FERRIES CRASH IN FOG

"Red Bank" Rams "Plainfield" in the Dense Fog on the North River.

BUT NO ONE IS HURT

Hole in "Plainfield" Big Enough for Horse and Wagon to Go Through—No One to Blame.

Crowded with men, women and children, two ferryboats yesterday rammed into each other on the North river. The crash was heard from the Manhattan shore to the Jersey side and captains of passing craft stopped their vessels, expecting to be called upon to lend aid to a ship in distress.

By an apparent miracle not a soul was injured, although the woman's cabin of one ferryboat was smashed and timbers fell into the apartment. A panic that threatened to result in injury and perhaps death from trampling began, but was stopped by the coolness of the crew.

The ferryboats Plainfield and Red Bank were the vessels concerned. In the Plainfield a hole big enough to permit the entry of a horse and wagon was torn. It was on the woman's side. Glass, woodwork and lamps went crashing down, yet, so far as the records show, not a woman received a scratch.

The two boats belong to the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The fog, so dense that the eye of an eagle couldn't have penetrated twenty feet of it, hung languidly, immovably, over the river. Whistles were tooting. Bells were clanging. Boats picked their way slowly, carefully, along.

About midstream the Plainfield and the Red Bank neared each other. The captain of the Plainfield, because of the direction of the wind, which swept the fog from his course about thirty feet, saw the Red Bank coming. He stopped. The captain of the Red Bank was within twenty feet of the other boat when he realized the danger. He jingled the bells furiously, but the speed was such that the boat could not stop before banging into the Plainfield.

A crash that sent splinters flying followed. The side of the women's cabin was rent. In the Plainfield the passengers ran hither and thither, not knowing where to go for refuge. They did not know exactly what had happened. The crew rushed through the boat assuring the passengers that all danger had passed; that it was merely a minor accident.

The Plainfield and Red Bank then backed away from each other and their trips were resumed. The damaged vessel was sent to dry dock and it will be several days before the Plainfield will be again in commission.

After the accident, when the news had spread along the river front and to the crews of the various vessels, no astonishment was expressed, no blame laid on the captains. The opinion was that the river craft were lucky. The fog was so dense that numerous accidents might have occurred, yet by luck the boats treaded in and out of the maze with only this one collision to disturb them.

The ripping sound as the Red Bank crunched the side of the Plainfield was enough, even without whistle signals, to cause nearby vessels to stop and stand by to aid. A big section of the Plainfield's cabin was crushed like an eggshell.

A. G. NAGLEY WEDS AGAIN.

Miss Eleanor M. Bryan Is His Bride.

Miss Eleanor M. Bryan and Albert G. Nagley, both of West Seventh street, were quietly married Saturday evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

The groom, a widower, is a nephew of the late Gen. Nagley. His bride, who has been a resident of this city about two years, is a regular attendant and active worker at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The couple will continue to reside on West Seventh street.

To Become a Benedict.

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Coggeshall, niece of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hatzel, of West One Hundred and Nineteenth street, New York, and Edward Maxwell Honeyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, of Grove street, will take place Wednesday. The ceremony will be performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hatzel and will be witnessed by a small gathering of guests.

Will Lecture on "American Poets."

Before the Men's Club of the First Baptist church, tonight, Prof. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, will give a lecture on "American Poets," and Master Pasquale Tallarico, the gifted boy pianist, will give several selections. The women are invited to attend.

$3,000 CONTRIBUTED BY GRACE PARISHONERS

LARGE OFFERINGS MADE TOWARD LIQUIDATING PARISH HOUSE DEBT

Large offerings toward the liquidation of the debt on the new $20,000 parish house were made by the Grace P. E. church parishioners at the Easter services. Nearly $3,000 was contributed. The offerings were made at the morning services.

In spite of the weather, the congregations were large. At the early celebration, $1,000 was given and very nearly $2,000 at the full celebration. The collection was taken in accordance with announcements made several weeks ago. There is a mortgage of $10,000 on the building.

The musical features of the services were striking in their excellence. Under the skilful direction of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, the organist, the choir outdid itself in the rendition of the anthems and chants.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson, the rector, preached at both services. On account of the long musical programmes his sermons were brief.

FOWLER TO SPEAK AT THE YALE CLUB DINNER

PROFESSOR CHARLTON M. LEWIS ALSO ACCEPTS COMMITTEE'S INVITATION.

The committee having in charge the plans for the annual dinner of the Plainfield Yale Club, to be held at the Casino next Saturday night, has secured Congressman Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, as one of the speakers. Several other notable men have accepted invitations to be present and make addresses, among them Professor Charlton M. Lewis, of Yale University, and Dickinson W. Richards, of Orange. James R. Joy, president of the North Plainfield Board of Education; Walter L. Righton will represent Amherst; Henry L. Hall, Columbia, and Owen H. Fleming, Princeton.

From present indications the attendance will be larger than at any function the club has yet conducted and all local college men are more or less interested. All those who have not as yet signified their intention of being present will greatly facilitate the work of the committee if they will send their remittances to L. A. Williams, 41 Lafayette place, New York.

EARLY MORNING FIRE CAUSES $400 DAMAGE.

A barn used as a storehouse, belonging to Fred I. Smith and located in the rear of his home at 110 Netherwood avenue, caught fire in some way at 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and was completely destroyed. The flames were first noticed by Patrolman Arthur McGinley and by the time he had turned in an alarm from box 18 they had reddened the sky with their glow. When the apparatus arrived the structure was beyond saving but the flames were quickly extinguished. The loss is estimated at $400, covered by insurance.

Chief Doane learned by investigation that Smith had given neighbors permission to keep paints and painters' clothing in the barn and it is thought spontaneous combustion may have resulted from these.

Dr. F. T. Clawson to Wed.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Woodcock, of 678 West Seventh street, to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marion Woodcock, and Dr. Frank T. Clawson, also of West Seventh street. The affair will be celebrated at the home of the bride on Thursday night, May 3, and Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the bride, will perform the ceremony.

Will Operate Hygeia Ice Plant.

The Plainfield Natural Ice Company, owners of the hygeia ice plant, has completed arrangements whereby the plant will be put in operation commencing Wednesday. D. J. Sisk has been engaged as engineer for the plant and John Haver, of North Branch, will be the fireman.

Naughty Little Boys.

Charles Dixon, John Wilson and Thomas O'Brien, three boys, were brought before Judge Runyon this morning, on complaint of Max Bussel, who charged them with calling him names and throwing stones. They were scolded and released under suspended sentence.

DON'T LIKE CROWDYISM

Local Negroes Are Not Much Taken With the New Sect.

"PASCHAL SERVICES"

March for the Prophet, at a Dollar Per March, Enjoyed by the Faithful Last Night.

With morning, afternoon and evening services, the Crowdyites in assemblage at Reform hall continue their Feast of the Passover. Stragglers from distant points swell the gathering daily, and it is said that 1,000 negro "Jews," by actual count, are now in this city and participating in the observance.

Saturday night and all day yesterday sightseers crowded the gallery of the hall at every service. The whites in the crowd saw some things and heard some singing yesterday that they had never seen or heard before.

Services of song and praise that at times worked the faithful into a mild frenzy marked the worship yesterday. Though the sect does not observe Easter, it was intended to have a floral parade yesterday morning, but rain prevented, and adjournment to the convention hall was made. A service styled "the Communion of the Saints" was held, durinw which many of the elders, of whom there are fifty in attendance, gave testimony of their conversion as followers of Prophet Crowdy.

Early last night the faithful gathered in the hall and held a march for the prophet, which was really the coming forward of men, women and children by turns to drop money on a plate for Crowdy's individual use. Each pilgrim gave a dollar. As each delegation moved forward the others shouted songs of praise, shuffled their feet to march time and frequently yelled:—"Glory to the prophet!" Those in line were infected by the enthusiasm and kept up a jumping motion, some of the women at times leaping a foot or two from the floor and continuing for several minutes. There was a two-cent march in the morning.

The dollar march excitement caused such a commotion in the visitors' gallery that Prophet Crowdy was compelled to blow his ram's horn for quiet, and ushers called for order under threats of expulsion from the building. There were hundreds of sightseers, white as well as black, and in two of the local colored churches only a handful of wo rshippers appeared for the regular service. The others were spectators at the meeting of the "feet-washers," as they contemptuously called the sect.

It had been announced that at last night's service, because of an order from the prophet, there would be preaching on the subject "The Black Hebrew." The speaking is done by the elders at Crowdy's command, and none of the elders know who is to speak until one is bidden to rise. Crowdy waits for an inspiration, but none came up to nine o'clock, and the time was spent in more marching for his benefit.

The local negroes, except for the few who already belong to the sect, will have nothing to do with the Crowdy idea, and a feeling of active antagonism is rapidly growing among them. If Crowdy ordered the Passover feast in this city because there are 4,000 negroes here, and he hoped to draw some of them into the Church of God and Saints of Christ, he seems to have made a mistake. All the colored pastors are, of course, solidly against him, and they have done everything to discourage their flocks from consorting flirtatiously with the "feetwashers." Their people and the non-church-going negroes refuse to take may be crazy, but I ain't no fool," said one of them when a reporter asked him if he had any inclination to desert the Baptist faith for Prophet Crowdy's church, and his reply stands as a good indication of what the Plainfield colored people think of the Crowdy tenets.

Quietly Married.

Miss Anna Campbell, daughter of D. S. Campbell, borough recorder of Dunellen, and Oscar Runyon, of Philadelphia, were privately married by Rev. Dr. Schenck, of Trinity church, Saturday afternoon at 6 o'clock. The marriage was conducted with extreme quiet on account of the recent death of the groom's father, Eugene Runyon, of Dunellen. Mr. and Mrs. Runyon will live in Philadelphia after a two weeks' trip. The groom is employed by the P. and R. R. R.

Approaching Wedding.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Mattie Covert, of East Seventh street, and George Davie, of Elizabeth, which will take place at the home of the bride on Tuesday night, April 24.

BURGLARS WERE FOUR SLEEPY LITTLE CHICKS

SCARE IN UNDERTAKING SHOP SATURDAY NIGHT WITH EASTER EFFECT.

William Stranzenbach, who works for T. A. Moore, the undertaker, and sleeps in the shop, on Watchung avenue, heard a noise in the shop cellar at midnight Saturday night. Muffled scratchings and soft footfalls came up through the floor and there was no mistaking the fact one, perhaps two, burglars was snooping about.

Stranzenbach got up, dressed and stole silently into the street to seek help. William Newman, a hackman, was driving by, and Stranzenbach stopped him. Newman headed his horse for the depot and whipped up, to get Officer Stillwell, who is on duty at the station.

On the way to the store Stillwell loosened his club and unlimbered his gun. Cop, hackman and undertaker's assistant reconnoitered outside the place. Stillwell listened carefully at a side window and heard the same noise that awoke Stranzenbach. The officer grasped his revolver and tiptoed into the store and down the cellar steps. At the bottom he poked his revolver at the darkness.

"Hands up!" he ordered, "I've got you covered."

A sudden rustling noise answered him and the cop flashed his electric lantern. The light disclosed the burglars—four chickens roosting on the edge of a box.

"Darn!" said Stillwell, and put his gun away.

Stranzenbach didn't know where the chickens came from. They must have found their way into the cellar some time during the day, and stayed to lay Easter eggs.

ELIZABETH BOY KILLED ABOARD THE KEARSARGE

HE RAN AWAY FROM HOME TO JOIN THE NAVY.

Theodore Negeley, aged twenty-one years, of Elizabeth, a seaman, was one of those killed in the disaster on the battleship Kearsarge, on Friday last, while the ship was at target practice off Manzanillo Bay. Three years ago he ran away from home and enlisted as a landsman. He was rapidly promoted and at the time of his death was a seaman. Louis Graff, a well known Elizabeth lawyer, was appointed guardian of the boy two years ago upon his request. Negeley expected soon to be appointed a gunners' mate.

A rigid investigation of the disaster will be made by the naval authorities. Rear Admiral Evans will appoint a board of inquiry at once and will summon witnesses, upon whose statements will depend whether or not there will be a court-martial.

Princetons Wallop the Unions.

The Princeton Club and the Unions, two of Plainfield's best known juvenile baseball teams, met on the diamond, Saturday, and played a great game. The Princetons won by a score of 13 to 10, the victors doing fine work the last three innings. The Princeton line-up was as follows: H. Demarest, c; T. Ricketts and Mosher, p; Dooley, 1b; J. Ricketts, 2b; A. Thorn, ss; Bingaman, 3b. J. McCauley umpired.

Saloon Fighters Fined.

William G. Higgins and Pasquale Casarano were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, charged with fighting in a Front street saloon Saturday night. Higgins made the complaint that led to the arrests, but the testimony showed that he assailed the Italian and started the row. He was fined $8. Casarano was fined $2.

Kept Wedding Secret.

After having kept the fact a secret for several months, Miss Ida Wright, of Westfield, announces that she is Mrs. Andrew Muford. The couple were married by Rev. Charles Fisk, of Somerville, on Christmas day. The groom, who resides in West Fourth street, has been ill for some time. He was hurt in a trolley accident.

Undertaker Stockton's Location.

Samuel Stockton, the undertaker and embalmer who recently removed to this city from Lambertville, is permanently located at 148 East Fifth street. He comes to Plainfield well recommended, having had twenty years' experience in other parts of the State. Calls, either day or night, will be attended to promptly.

MEANING OF SACRIFICE

Father Bogan Preaches an Eloquent Sermon at Easter Service.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS

Weather Did Not Keep Down the Attendance at St. Mary's Church Very Much Yesterday Morning.

Despite the weather, the attendance at all the masses at St. Mary's church was large yesterday morning. Between 2,300 and 2,500 people took part in the services. The church was beautifully decorated with lilies and flowers of brighter hue and the music was both beautiful and impressive.

Father Bogan, the rector, preached the sermon. His discourse was a moving, eloquent homily on the meaning of the Great Sacrifice.

"A little while ago the heart of Mother Church was heavy with grief, and her eyes filled with tears as she looked upon the figure of the dead Christ, but today her tears are tears of gladness as she looks within the empty tomb. And in her heart toda there is a song of joy, and on her lips the universal chorus of Alleluia. Yet throughout the glad music of this day there runs a minor strain that tells the faithful soul that the jos of Easter morning have no meaning save in the chastening memory of sorrow for sin.

"For you, faithful people, who crowded this edifice during the evenings of Lenten devotions, was followed the stricken Lamb of God through the dolorous way to Calvary, who knelt in spirit at His side as, "sorrowful unto death," He lay prostrate in Gethesemme overwhelmed with the horror of the sins He came to expiate, for you, who in the silence of your own hearts held sympathetic communion with the Victim of our sins, for you, indeed, there is a deep significance in today's celebrations. For in all the joy of Easter there is for you and me a solid fundament of faith; a faith that teaches certainty; a faith beyond the purchase of money; a faith deeper than the delvings of science; a faith that has stood the crucial test of time, the same for poor and rich alike, that tells us the Risen Christ is God's Eternal Son, tnat tells us the Risen Christ is stil are Son of Mary, with a heart attuned to human sympathy, with an approachableness Divine in its condescension.

"The light of that faith lit up the gloom of Calvary, and taught us the meaning of that dreadful mystery—His last act in the tragedy of our redemption; and b ythat faith we realize the need of our personal co-operation. Vain indeed the pomp and splendor of ceremonial, vain indeed the eloquence of Christian pulpits today, if men go from its meaning to the same occasions of sin, to take the same companionship of vice that made atonement necessary. For infinite as is the effect of Calvary, the Lord God has but purchased for us a power to be accepted freely or to be rejected freely, in the one or the other to mould our ternal destiny. So then, let us live that our boasted faith be an acting, vivifying influence, permeating our every act, prompting our every motive, that the morality and integrity of our conduct will be its best exemplification."

NEGRO "JEW" WITNESS REFUSED TO TAKE OATH.

Testified Under the Commandment Against Bearing False Witness Against His Neighbor.

Alice Miner, Susan Redd and Andrew Booker, the colored trio arrested by special officer Jerry Cash for creating a row before Reform hall Friday night, were released by Judge Runyon after a hearing in the city court this morning. None of the witnesses corroborated the officer's story that the women clawed and mauled him, and sentence was suspended. The complaint against Booker was dismissed.

One of the witnesses was Wilbur Remick, a Crowdyite. When the court officer held the Bible toward him to administer the oath, Remick said he couldn't swear.

"Will you affirm?" asked the magistrate.

"No, sir; nothing of that sort at all," replied Remick.

"Well, how do you wish to offer your testimony?"

"Simply under the teaching of the Bible, which says I shalt not bear false witness against my neighbor."

"That's a pretty good spirit in which to testify," commented the magistrate; "go ahead."

Real estate activity was marked in the borough during the past week. No less than five properties changed hands. Charles A. Coriell, Jr., bought the house on Washington avenue occupied by his uncle; Edward Leimpeter sold his house on Depot street to a Brooklyn man; George Giles disposed of his Front street house to Oscar Harrison; C. M. Wyhuskey bought the Mary F. Coriell house on Front street, and Edward Leimpeter purchased the house of Mary A. Shepard. The latter two sales were effected through the George W. Day agency.

Large congregations attended all the local churches yesterday, to join in the Easter observance. The Bible school of the Presbyterian church held its exercises in the morning, with special music and recitations. The Methodist church school held its exercises last night. Rev. E. C. Dutcher, the new pastor, delivered an address. St. John's church held a full high celebration at 10 o'clock. The congregation was very large. Father Dunphy preached a resurrection sermon.

General repairs of the streets will begin very soon. The street committee has made a thorough inspection of the roadways and streets in the borough, and a clear idea of what is required has been obtained. There is no big bit of work to be done, but a number of minor repairs and improvements are much needed. The workmen will probably be started before the end of the week, and kept at it until the streets are in first-class condition.

With a big bundle of new jokes and gags, and a lot of new acts, ballads and special features, the Gold Medal minstrel troupe, of Plainfield, will present a show at Friendship Hall tomorrow night, under the auspices of Friendship Council. Tickets are rapidly selling for the affair, and a big crowd is assured. The show has scored a great hit in Plainfield. It is full of the things that tickle pleasure-seekers.

The funeral of Mrs. Dinah Bays, who died Wednesday morning, was held Saturday afternoon from her late home. The service began at 12:30 o'clock. Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the Baptist church, conducted it. The interment was made in New York Bay cemetery, Greenville.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle preached his first sermon at his new charge in Hackensack yesterday. Mr. Doolittle was in Dunellen for six years, and in that time he made many friends who keenly regret his departure. Mr. Doolittle's family will move to their new home tomorrow or Wednesday.

A public meeting of the Piscataway school board will be held at the New Market hotel tomorrow afternoon. The voters will be asked to authorize the sale of the Harris Lane school house. There is no doubt that the authorization will be voted.

The Methodist Sunday-school has a new piano. It will be used for the first time at a school service next Sunday.

Archibald Brakeley, of Princeton University, is spending his Easter vacation at the home of his parents.

Dr. Whitford's house, recently vacated by George Schenck, has been rented to a Bound Brook man.

Mrs. Alvah Gray and Mrs. W. E. Terry have returned home from a visit to relatives in Hopewell.

Miss Rita De Mott, of Gladstone, has been visiting N. B. Dunn and his sister.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

With Easter carols and pulpits banked with lilies and other potted plants, the several churches here marked the closing of holy week and the ending of Lent yesterday. Owing to the stormy weather the attendance at the morning services was very small for an Easter service. Special sermons upon the Lord's resurrection from the dead were preached by the pastors. At the Baptist church Rev. T. Moore-Smith's subject was "The Empty Tomb." In the evening "The Hope of Immortality" was the text chosen. The special music of carols and songs rendered by the choir, under the direction of L. D. H. Gilmour, was the best programme yet given by the choir since its reorganization. During the services the following anthems were rendered: "Since by Man Came Death," from the Messiah; "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," and the "Hallilujah Chorus" from the Messiah. At the morning service the Sunday-school participated in the rendering of carols and songs. Owing to the weather detaining so many from the services the choir will no doubt be asked to repeat the musical programme at some Sunday morning service in the near future.

Rev. A. H. Cook, who was appointed by the conference as pastor of the Methodist church for the year, assumed his duties yesterday, occupying the pulpit at both services. Mr. Cook, who is a student at Drew Seminary, is a good speaker of pleasing personality and will no doubt prove popular among his members and congregation and the church should enjoy a profitable year under his pastorate.

Funeral services of the late John Lambert, one of the oldest residents of the lower end of the township, were held this afternoon from the Willow Grove chapel. Interment was made in the family plot in the Westfield cemetery.

Miss Egan, who has been detained at home for a week with a severe attack of tonsilitis, has resumed charge of her class again at the school.

Yesterday was hardly an ideal day for Easter, especially for those who make their annual bow in new raiment on this day.

Miss Elsie Cook led an interesting Easter meeting of the B. Y. P. U. last night in the church parlors.

No Easter vacation will be enjoyed by the scholars of the public school, much to their regret.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The C. E. Society of the Baptist church will hold a trading sociable in the lecture room of the church next Friday evening.

A number from this place attended the Easter exercises of the Marconnier chapel Sunday-school yesterday.

Mrs. Anna Chamberlin, of Philipsburg, Pa., is making a visit with Mrs. O. E. Thorne.

An Easter Tea.

The Easter tea of the Congregational Women's Association will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Weeks, 825 West Seventh street. Miss Frances E. Griswold, of Japan, will be the guest and speaker of the afternoon, and there will be an attractive programme of music. The Lenten envelopes will be received. There will be no meeting of the Girls' Club this week, and the members are especially invited to be present at the tea.

New Jersey's Great State Store

Hahne & Co.

"THE GREAT STATE STORE"

Broad, New and Halsey Streets, Newark, N. J.

Store Closes at 6 Evenings Except Saturday

Filled with the spirit, color and joyousness of Spring, this great palace of trade, this great State Store never appeared to better advantage than it does just now. Its magnificent distances, its splendid equipment, its bright light, its superb stocks, its life and action, its throngs of visitors, combine to make a spectacle that is truly grand—a sight worth seeing at any time. Little wonder that people bring their out-of-town visitors here. As a show place the Hahne & Co. Store has no superiors. As a trading place it is unsurpassed.

From basement to top floor the store, big as it is, fairly bulges with fresh, bright new goods. The amplest preparations have been made for by odds the biggest season's trading the store ever had. The business is going forward by leaps and bounds. The store is coming into its own. It is commanding the trade that for years has drifted to New York. Newarkers may well be proud of our achievement.

Buy A Parlor Suit This Week

Here are some good reasons why you should do so.

Here is a Parlor Suite, accurately illustrated in the cut, which is worth at least $90. It is our purpose to sell just eighteen of these suites this week for $50—eighteen and no more, whether they are sold in one hour, one day or more. The frames are in stock and will be upholstered to your order.

Delivery will be made inside of a week should you desire them so soon.

Frames are in mahogany finish, elegantly polished, have claw feet legs, round top backs with just a bit of rich unique carving, fronts of seats are shaped, all backs are neatly tufted. You may choose for your coverings from silk moire, damask, panne plush and silk Gobelin tapestry. Ordinarily $90 would be the selling price of these suites, but the special price for 18 of them will be $50

Other Parlor Suits Reduced For This Week.

Consider The Carpets

Floor Coverings are put down, not for a day or a week, or even a season, but for years. Consider them carefully. Place your orders with a house known to handle only the product of the very best mills, a house noted for its choice patterns and its many exclusive ones. Here you will find an enormous variety to choose from with prices always at the lowest point.

Royal Wilton Carpets, a leading manufacturer's entire line to choose from, patterns and colorings suitable for parlors, libraries, halls and stairs, the finest high-pile carpetings made at $2 to $3 a yard.

Axminster Carpets, the very best grades,, in a large range of patterns and colorings with handsome borders to match.

Bigelow Axminster Carpets, $1.65 a yard.

Savonnerie Axminster Carpets, $1.35 a yard.

Saxony Axminster Carpets, $1.10 a yard.

Body Brussels Carpets, probably the best-wearing of all floor coverings; they are one of the easiest kinds to clean and care for; suitable for almost any room in the house; here in an enormous variety of patterns and colorings at $1.35 and $1.50 a yard.

Rugs of every sort, from the smallest door mat to full room sizes, including all the best known makes, in patterns and colorings of the most desirable sort; many of them to be seen here only.

Our collection of Oriental Rugs surpasses any in the State. Not a mere handful, but pick from a really generous stock, and the prices are most reasonable.

Mattings—A particularly nice line of Japan and China Mattings now so much used—not only for summer but for all the year 'round.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, of Westfield, spent Sunday with Plainfield relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Serrell, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago, are visiting relatives in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Brewster, of New York, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sandford, of West Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. McVoy, of East Front street, spent yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Linbarger, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Peck, mother of Rev. A. S. Peck, of Netherwood, has returned from a visit in the South and is now stopping with her son.

Mrs. H. A. Todd, of East Third street, who has been seriously ill, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital on Saturday for an operation.

Lovers of good wholesome drama will have an opportunity of witnessing an excellent attraction next Saturday at the New Plainfield theatre where Manager Counihan has booked the well known and favorite melodrama, "Escaped From Sing Sing," which has probably had more presentations than any other play of its kind. It is well written, and tells a clear and concise story, and is ably presented by a good company.

Florence Roberts will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tonight in her latest production, "The Strength of the Weak," described as a new modern play in four acts by Alice M. Smith. In the leading part of "The Strength of the Weak," Miss Roberts has quite the most pretentious work of her career, while the play is said to be replete with new ideas and a coterie of characters which are all natural types. Max Figman heads the very excellent company Miss Roberts has assembled and which includes such capable players as Tyrone Power, H .S Northrup, Eugene Ormonde, Robert McWade, Florence Robinson, Adelaide Manola, Ruth Allen, Lucile Yorke, Mary Bertrand.

Perhaps no actor or other man in public life of equal celebrity to Kyrle Bellew, the Apollo-like English romantic actor, who is to play this oddly sensational drama, "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night, has had his name mispronounced in so many ways as has this star. He has been called Vurley Celloo, Kirrel Blew, Kirle Balloo and what not else. The pronunciation the actor himself says is correct is as if the name were spelled Curl Bellyou. That is an interesting bit of information for the thousands of matinee girls throughout the country who worship after this stage divinity.

Those who like the human interest, heart throbs, blood-stirring thrills and romance flavored with delicate comedy of an up-to-date comedy drama of the highest class—and theatrical statistics show that these are in the majority among theatregoers—will be more than glad to hear that the greatest of all modern high class comedy dramas will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Wednesday night. It is called "A Ragged Hero" and is the most costly and magnificently equipped scenic production that has ever been placed on the boards, not only in comedy drama but in any class of theatrical attraction. This elaborate presentation is rather an innovation in the comedy drama field but it is the firm belief that as the theatregoing public has declared in a pronounced way its preference for high class comedy drama, the public should be given the very best that money and talent can provide.

"The Prince of Pilsen," the tuneful and humorous musical comedy which Henry W. Savage sends to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, has firmly established its popularity and consequent success during the four years of its existence and is as readily accepted today as the standard musical comedy of the current stage as it was in the first flush of its career. Other musical comedies have come upon the scene in profusion during the four years' life of "The Prince of Pilsen," have sparkled briefly and been relegated to the limbo of discarded stage productions, while that delightful work continues on its way, growing in popularity and increasing in charm with each succeeding season. The fascinating swing and rhythm which Gustav Luders contributed to the music of the piece have made its many song hits popular in almost every American home, and it was probably the poetic worth and idealistic nature of Frank Pixley's lyrics and the picturesque and romantic settings of his story that inspired the composer to his best work. The company sent by Mr. Savage to give interpretation to this musical comedy is a typical Savage one—the best that can be supplied by care and judgment in selection.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Reading Circle of the First M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. J .M. McNaughton, of Westervelt avenue.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church will give a reception in Vincent chapel Friday night to Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea. The Epworth League willl assist.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church hold a business meeting tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Miss Coles will read a paper on "Alaska."

The memorial tablet to the late Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, for nearly fifty years pastor of the First Baptist church, will soon be placed in position at the church as ordered at a recent business meeting. It will occupy a position close to those erected in memory of other pastors.

Now it is up to Mr. Bryan to return the salutation "de-ligh-ted!"

That staid old grandmother of Park Row runs great danger of being "read out of meeting" by the hide-bound Republicans if she adheres to that newly-acquired faculty of being so independent in reporting New Jersey's political happenings.

As Mr. Roosevelt's views on the income tax, railroad rate and inheritance tax are so near the orthodox teaching of Jeffersonian believers, all the President needs to do now is to come out in favor of tariff reform to make him available as a proselyte to Democracy.

NEGROES MAKE DEMAND.

Call For Immediate Removal of Sheriff Lawrence.

An attempt was made at a meeting of the Colored Union County Republican Committee, Friday evening, at Elizabeth, to pass a series of resolutions condemning Sheriff Lawrence for not placing negroes on the juries. As but few members of the committee were present, W. H. Hammond, of Rahway, who believes in a "square deal," even in politics, moved that the further consideration of the matter be postponed until the next meeting, when he hoped to find a larger attendance of members. The resolutions, evidently written in vinegar by a mailed hand, called for the immediate removal of Sheriff Lawrence, who, it is said, is not at all worried about the outcome.

Death of William Northrop.

William Northrop, a New York lawyer who had made his home on Belvidere avenue for the past two years, died Saturday afternoon from blood poisoning induced by carbuncles. He was thirty-eight years old and leaves a widow and two children. A preliminary service was held at his late home yesterday afternoon in charge of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie and the body was taken to New York this morning where a further service was held.

Dr. Roberson in Charge.

Rev. E. E. Roberson, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, occupied the pulpit for the first time yesterday. He peached appropriate Easter sermons at both morning and evening services and also spoke to the congregation in an intdoructory address. Mr. Roberson will locate at the parsonage during the coming week.

HOW TO MANAGE A WIFE.

Kansas Man Thinks He Has Got the Right Idea to Insure Success.

A great many persons have suggested methods as to the best way to manage a husband, but it remained for a Eureka man to reduce to writing a set of rules for the successful management of a wife, says the Eureka (Kan.) Herald. The following rules were handed to a reporter after much persuasion and many promises not to reveal his identity by a business man who claims to have followed them to the letter during the last year and says they have never been found at fault in a single instance during that time.

Never contradict her. You are right, of course, nine times out of ten, and she knows it, but to tell her so makes her always unmanageable.

Never oppose her. When she suggests that in the absence of the cook you get up and light the fire do so at once, willingly and cheerfully. If she wishes you to walk the floor with the baby obey with alacrity.

Never deny her. Possibly she will exceed her allowance, but this is always your fault, because you are not man enough to support her.

Never be cross. When you come home at night, having failed once or twice during the day or been insulted by a total stranger, or with a large, powerful pain in your stomach, laugh it off and conceal your real feelings.

Never tell her the truth. When she asks you how you like her new hat or cloak swear that you think it is the greatest thing for the money you ever saw. When she shows you her new gown be lost in admiration. When she is cross and irritable tell her she is an angel.

Never disagree with her. When she suggests that you have a cold and need a hot mustard plaster grin and bear it. When she tells you she needs a change tell her you are glad she mentioned it.

Never interrupt her.

PRAIRIE DOG MEAT IS GOOD

Is Fine Eating and Should Become Popular Says an Oklahoma Farmer.

Prairie dogs make good eating. This is not generally known and even where it is known civilized people do not care to be called Igorrotes because they eat dog meat, says the Lawton News-Republican. "The other day I met a man," said a prominent farmer of the Faxon neighborhood, "who eats prairie dogs and if we had a few more of his kind we would soon get rid of the little pests on our prriales.

"I had gone to Nelms," he continued, "to attend to some business, and on the road met a couple of wagons containing a man and woman and about ten children. They stopped to make some inquiries about the road to Chattanooga and in the course of our conversation the man remarked: 'There is plenty of meat in these parts.' By questioning him I learned that he referred to prairie dogs, and then he told me that he and his family had been living on prairie dog meat for ten days and avowed they had never in their lives eaten better meat.

"And the fellow was right. I have eaten them, too, and they are fine, especially the young ones. The hind quarters are a little heavier than a squirrel, but the fore quarters and other parts are better than squirrel. When we hunted buffaloes over this country a number of years ago we carried prairie dog tallow with which to grease our guns, and there is none better. At that time we ate lots of prairie dogs.

"The only reason why people haven't learned to eat prairie dogs is oecause of the name. The little animals feed strictly on vegetation and are clean. Their meat is better than that of any other animal that lives in the ground, better than rebbits and better than squirrels. We could get rid of the prairie dogs if our people would learn to eat their meat."

Development of Talking Machines.

Manufacturers of talking machines are elaborating their enterprises to an extent never dreamed of before. It will not be long before an entire opera cast will be heard on one of these machines. Formerly a tenor or a prima donna was enough. Now the costly artists from the opera house sing duets, trios and quartettes. The services of such performers are made possible by the fact that all of these celebrities are now content to take a royalty on the sale of their songs rather than a fixed price. It was formerly customary to pay a certain sum, but the singers now clamor for a percentage, since there is such a great demand to hear them in this way.

Quarrelsome Ocean Cannibal.

The life story of a single lobster family of 30,000 brothers and sisters is entertainingly told by Henry Morrow in Technical World Magazine. Within a month after they were hatched 29,990 members of the family were eaten by fish and other lobsters, leaving only ten survivors. Yet the experts of the government fish commission estimate that if only two out of 10,000 baby lobsters survive the species will be maintained at its normal number.

Costly Dictionary.

On the preparation of a new dictionary of the English language $400,000 has been spent in Philadelphia and $250,000 more will be necessary before it can be delivered entire. The work has been going steadily on for 13 years.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

SOME FANCY DESSERTS.

The Following Light Sweets Especially Appropriate for the Present Time of Year.

Scald one cupful of milk seasoned with one-quarter teaspoonful of salt in a double boiler and mix in two tablespoonfuls of flour and two tablespoonfuls of butter creamed together. Cook while stirring for ten minutes to form a smooth paste. Beat together thoroughly the yolks of four eggs and three tablespoonfuls of sugar and pour over this mixture in the double boiler. Stir this all together, flavor with one teaspoonful of orange extract and set away to cool. To prevent crust from forming rub a little butter over the top. About a half hour before time to serve it, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs and bake in a pudding dish for 30 minutes. Serve with chocolate sauce.

Boil together five minutes in a saucepan, half a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of water. This will make a thin sirup and should be allowed to cool before stirring in four ounces of melted chocolate. Add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla extract and stand in a pan of hot water. When ready to serve put in one-half cupful of cream or milk.

Bring to the boiling point in a double boiler two cupfuls of milk seasoned with one-half teaspoonful of salt and a pinch of cinnamon. Now add one-half cup of sugar and thicken with two and one-quarter tablespoonfuls of cornstarch that has been previously moistened in cold milk. Remove from the fire and pour over the whipped yolks of three eggs. Stand over the fire again a few minutes to set the eggs and add one-half teaspoonful of butter and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Strain into a biscuit tin and allow it to become thoroughly cold and firm. When ready to use, cut into cubes a little over two inches square, and dip into sifted cracker crumbs, then into a beaten egg, and finally in the cracker crumbs again. Fry in hot fat until a golden brown.

Add to one cupful of boiling water one tablespoonful of butter and when the latter is melted mix in one cupful of flour. Beat these ingredients with a fork until perfectly smooth and free from the sides of the saucepan. Take from the fire and drop in three eggs, one at a time, whipping the mixture rapidly each time an egg is put in. Stand until cold and fry in very hot fat a spoonful at a time, allowing about 15 minutes for each puff. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot with a sauce made as follows: Strain the juice of one and a half lemons and add to it one cupful of powdered sugar and half a cupful of boiling water.

er, Ruth Hoffman, Marion Woolley, Laura Smith, Helen Reynolds; song exercise, "Lilies Pure and White," May Porter, Anna Lee, Elsie Bodine, Elsie Debele, Mildred Preamer, Hilda Bennett; exercise, Helen Roberts, Madaline Strader; song exercise, "Easter Rainbow," Beatrice Tier, Madeline Blair, Ruth Enander, Ella Porter, Adele Freeman, Magdeline Layton, Marion Blair, Mary Roth, Mary Bennett, Helen Woodruff, Lilie Schleif, Marguerite Barkalew, Margaret Hope, Vivian Dunn; recitation, Rosamond Rogers; exercise, Clifford Cole, Herman Kling, Willie Day; recitations, Arthur Martin, Helen Woolley.

There was also an exercise by six children from the beginners' class and an anthem by the church choir.

Grace M. E.

The special music at Grace M. E. church was given at the evening service. The regular choir was assisted by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, soprano; Miss Winifred Carroll, contralto; Edson C. Martin, bass, and Dyckman Winckler, violin. The Sunday-school exercises in the afternoon were in charge of a committee composed of Miss Mabel Stevens and Miss Della Voehl and were as follows: Recitation, "Blessed Hope," Miss Edna Bodine; recitation, "The Butterfly," Clara Bodenheimer; duetts, Rines brothers; recitation, "An Easter Legend," Miss May Smith; recitation, "An Easter Day," Helen Woolley; remarks by Dr. Parsons and Harry Rines. Miss Mary Steiner acted as accompanist.

Monroe Avenue M. E.

Easter carols were sung by the congregation and Rev. E. E. Roberson, the new pastor, made addresses of welcome and gave Easter sermons at the morning and evening services at Monroe Avenue church. The Sunday-school exercises were very interesting and comprised an address by Mr. Roberson; an exercise, "Telling the Easter Story" by Ada and Marion Thompson, Clara Brown, Helen Davenport, Ruth Martin, Mary McNeil and Sadie Ladd; an address of welcome by Theodore Schwartz; a reading by Clara Brown, violin selections by Miss Sadie Brouwer and Clarence Hume and carols by the kindergarten.

Church of the Heavenly Rest.

West End Episcopalians braved the weather in goodly numbers yesterday morning to attend the one celebration at Heavenly Rest Mission church, Clinton avenue. There was an elaborate musical programme, under the direction of Garret Dunham, the organist, with string quartette accompaniment by G. W. V. Moy, viola; Ernest Higham, violin; Mr. Muller, 'cello, and Dr. J. H. Buchanan, bass violin. The rector, Rev. Charles Doupe, preached. The altar was decorated with Easter lilies, azaleas, palms and ferns.

First Baptist.

Special Easter services were enjoyed by a large congregation at the First Baptist church yesterday morning, including anthems by the chorus choir, violin and organ selections and an appropriate discourse by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. The decorations, consisting of beautiful flowers from the conservatory of Charles W. McCutchen, were very attractive. They comprised lilies, azaleas, palms and growing potted plants.

The morning service was as follows: Prelude, "Andante," Mendelssohn, Howard M. Case, organ, and Miss Florence Wohlfert, violin; anthems, "As It Began to Dawn," "Awake Thou That Sleepest," sentence, "Lord Jesus When We Stand Afar," "Te Deum," arranged by E. J. Fitzhugh; "All Praise to God," adapted from Lohengrin; offertory, "Hosanna," Granier; organ postlude, "Hosanna," Wachs.

The solo work was taken by Miss Luella C. Harris, soprano; Mrs. F. M. Ward, contralto; William Holmes, baritone, and George H. Smith, tenor, and it aws thoroughly enjoyed as was also the excellent work of the chorus.

In the afternoon there was a special service under the auspices of the Sunday-school, the programme, as published on Saturday, comprising carols, recitations and anthems, being rendered. The Sunday-school of Faith chapel joined in this service, which was one of great delight to both young and old. An offering was received for the Children's Home, and there were selections on the organ, violin and piano in addition to the vocal music. There was no evening service at this church.

Faith Chapel.

The chorus choir of Faith chapel rendered special Easter music at the morning service yesterday, and the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, preached a strong and impressive sermon appropriate to the Resurrection. The chapel was decorated with flowers, palms and potted plants. The musical programme was in charge of the organist, Mr. Conger. In the evening Pastor Musson preached again and the choir sang several Easter anthems. At the close of the service five new members were baptized.

Congregational Church.

At the morning service in the Congregational church, Rev. C. L. Goodrich preached an excellent sermon on "The Power of Renewal." The musical features included a soprano solo by Mrs. Thomas McDonald and 'cello selections by W. Paulding DeNike; procession of primary class; prayer by George Fisher; solo, Helen Weseman; chorus, primary class; 'cello, Mr. DeNike; reading of Easter poem, written by Miss Minnie G. Morse, by Harold G. Nomer; solo, Miss Edith Robinson; address by Miss Griswold, of Japan. In addition there were carols by the school.

Marconnier Chapel.

Easter day was happily celebrated at Marconnfer chapel yesterday afternoon, when the Sunday-school joined in a pleasing programme. There was the singing of Easter carols by the school, recitations by the boys and girls and an address by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

The annual custom of having the egg hunt had to be given up owing to the dampness of the ground, but instead Mrs. S. W. Schenck presented the children with small baskets of eggs. A feature was the presentation of a large egg to Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, minister in charge, and upon opening he found it filled with paper money. The contribution was from the school and was fully appreciated. Mr. Lansdale was in charge of the programme, and Horace J. Martin, who trained the school in the singing of Easter carols, was present and led in the rendition of the music.

St. Stephen's Church.

Rev. Dr. John Edgar, of North Plainfield, conducted the matin and vesper services at St. Stephen's church yesterday. The congregations were large. The afternoon service was for the children. Rev. Mr. Mulford, of Fanwood, was in charge of the early celebration.

First Presbyterian.

Special music was a feature at both services in the First Presbyterian church. In the morning solos were rendered by Miss Edna Nicholl and Elmer D. Cutting and in the evening Miss Etta Raybert and F. C. Iglehart, Jr. The Sunday-school exercises were held in the afternoon.

ARABIA'S TURQUOISE MINES

Indications of Former Industry Discovered by English Explorer.

The goddess of turquoise and the turquoise mines in old Arabia are the things Prof. Petrie, the English archaeologist, has been studying. As a member of a scientific exploring party he spent several months among the mountain ranges of the Sinai district of old Arabia, on a stretch of level ground some 2,300 feet above sea level. There they pitched their tents, accompanied by 30 workmen and the native chief of the district. At the top levels was the sandstone in which were caverns worked by parties of ancient Egyptians for turquoise. Some tablets still remaining showed that those parties were carefully selected and carried on their labors systematically. Here, in this desert region, to which supplies of food and water had to be brought from a long distance, the men mined in companies of 500 or 600. The usual time for the search was from December to March. One expedition had conveyed to it daily something like five tons of food. The caverns themselves were examples of patient industry. The famous temple of the goddess of turquoise to whom the workers did homage, was 250 feet long and contained a range of chambers or courts. From one of the tablets it appeared that a certain expedition went out of the recognized season. But its labors were successful and were therefore duly acknowledged with great gratitude to the patron goddess. Of the ancient inscriptions 250 have been copied. They have an important bearing on the age of the turquoise expeditions, long before the birth of Christ, as well as on the Semitic form of worship in vogue before the establishment of Judaism.

DISPELLING HAILSTORMS.

Experiments of German Meteorologist Who Is Battling with the Clouds.

Herr Stiger of the meteorological bureau of Vienna battles with the clouds. In almost every country on the continent where agriculture is the people's mainstay there is a systematic use of scientific warfare with cloud shooting cannon for the purpose of dispelling threatened hail storms. Herr Stiger began his experiments with the fundamental principle of disturbing the intense stillness which prevails before a hailstorm. He demonstrated the fact that after the ring of a shot a small whirlwind arises, easily perceptible in the reflected sunshine. This whirlwind ascends with a piercing whistle which lasts 30 seconds in day time and 20 seconds at night. At a distance of 200 feet the wind destroyed a strong diaphragm. The experts who attended could plainly see the wind rise from the mouth of the funnels with lightning-rapidity possessing all the aspects of a shot. The most marked effects were produced by horizontal shots. For the experiments, shields built of thick paper and linen were placed at intervals of from 40 to 100 yards from the mouth of the cannon. When the circle of wind enfolded these shields they were torn from the frames, the solid posts and framework snapped in two and were cast from 18 to 22 yards, while a large mastiff standing near was whiffed into the air, turned several somesaults and was flung to the ground lifeless.

HAY AN ARTIST IN WORDS.

Unerring Sense of Fitness in Selection Rendered Speech Incomparable.

It is hard for those who knew and loved Hay—and all who knew him did love him—to reconcile themselves to the thought, writes Joseph Bucklin Bishop, in "A Friendship with John Hay" in Century, that he can draw no more pictures for us; that this admirable and perfect and rarely matched artist in words can delight us no more forever. As he said of the voice of his son, his own is still sounding in our ears. It was in every fiber and tone the voice of the intellectual man, of the scholar and the gentleman, a voice that itself was music, and the music of a pure and gentle and noble soul. And the words to which the music was set! Who that has had the exquisite pleasure of listening to that incomparable speech, with its unerring and instinctive use of the only right word in every case, its clear-cut and incisive enunciation, the constant play of a humor that was next door neighbor to melancholy, and the finer because of that close association, can ever forget it, or, think of its loss without a pang?

HONGKONG'S ROCKEFELLER

Simple Business Habits of One of the Richest of Asia's Merchants.

They have multimillionaires in China and some of them live the simple life notwithstanding their wealth. A recent magazine article gives a striking feature of the richest Chinaman in Hong Kong—one of the richest merchants in Asia. He owns steamship lines, sugar refineries, quarries and what not; the offices of his clerks are fitted up with typewriters, roller-top desks, index cabinets and all the paraphernalia of an up-to-date business, yet he himself retains his old-fashioned habits. But says the article: "In a little back room, about the size of a New York boarding house hall bedroom, in one of the oldest and largest commercial houses in Hong Kong, and in all Asia, works an old, bright-eyed celestial. He is tall and bony, and his long, lean fingers are tipped with pointed, well kept nails protruding an inch or more beyond the flesh. His head is high and bald. A few scattering hairs bristle from his upper lip. A 'pig-tail, (of the finest quality obtainable) hangs down his back. His lips are thin and his mouth is straight, but not hard. His whole expression is kindly if not beaming when he looks up. He wears a plain gown of good but not elegant texture. There is nothing to indicate distinction in his appearance. He sits on a high stool in front of a high old-fashioned desk, such as bookkeepers use who have to move about freely while at work. In one hand the long fingers grasp a brush-pen, which speeds with lightninglike rapidity over the pages of a great book, his other hand the while manipulating the beads of an abacus."

PRINTS BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

A novel electric apparatus has been brought out in Belgium for producing photographic prints. It applies to bromide prints, which are made by artificial light, and is especially useful for turning out such prints in the shape of postal cards, producing the latter automatically and in quantities.

The operation of the apparatus is simple. An automatic device applies the paper from a roll or magazine against the negative, then an incandescent lamp is turned on for a time, which has been previously adjusted once for all in the case of a given negative. After the exposure the lamp is turned off and the paper is removed from the negative and goes into a dark box, then a fresh piece of paper is applied and so on.

The apparatus is set so as to give a certain number of prints from a given negative and each printing operation causes a ratchet wheel to advance one point. At the end of the printing an electric bell is rung by the ratchet device. By means of a rheostat the time of the exposure can be adjusted from one to 200 seconds. The whole is operated by a battery of four small accumulators.

ELECTRIC LIQUID HEATER.

Recent Invention That Can Be Used for Various Household Purposes.

Eventually electricity will be used for practically all purposes, luxuries as well as necessities. Among the former class is the recent invention of a Massachusetts man—an electric heater for heating and boiling liquids, for cooking and similar purposes.

The receptacle can be varied in design to suit the individual tastes, either elaborate or simple. Incased in a false bottom of the receptacle is the heating apparatus, the current being supplied from an adjacent incandescent lamp fixture, through a wire running through the handle. Obviously by simply turning on the current the heating apparatus is set in motion, an additional advantage being the ease of carrying the receptacle to any place desired, and limited only by the length of the wire. Such an apparatus would be of invaluable use in the sick chamber or for the infant.

Power from City Sewage.

"Electrical development challenges prophecy," writes Edward B. Ellicott in the March Technical World Magazine. "Fifteen years ago a man who predicted that it would be possible to deliver to Chicago, at the city limits, 31,000 horse-power of electrical energy developed by water power, would have been regarded as a foolish dreamer. Yet next November there will be ready for the municipalities in the sanitary district 15,000-horse power developed from the drainage canal—which carries off all the city sewage—and, after the completion of the plant, the full amount above mentioned—more than the city of Chicago and the other municipalities can possibly take."

Tall Wireless Mast.

A steel tower 400 feet high is being erected at Machrihanish, on the Kintyre coast of Argyllshire, for the transmission of Marconi signals across the Atlantic. From this tower it will be possible to hold communication with all vessels suitably fitted between Great Britain and North America.

THE PEOPLE ALL
In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes," Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

KING OF ITALY STINGY?

Royal Couple Live in Accordance with Severe Lessons of Economy.

Romans have one criticism to make of their king, Victor Emmanuel III. It is that he does not live like a king. His wife's democratic manners form a strange contrast to the etiquette which still surrounds her mother-in-law, Queen Margherita, while the king himself, when he appears in public, usually does so with a lack of ostentation which causes the admirers of his father, the late King Humbert, to shake their heads in mournful prophecy.

As a matter of fact, Queen Helena learned the severe lesson of economy at the frugal court of her father, Nicholas of Montenegro, while the king had too many shocking examples of prodigality left him by his father and grandfather ever to feel inclined to follow in their footsteps.

Just now, King Emmanuel is being blamed by the Romans for having shirked the first of the two court balls, which he annually holds, at the Quirinal. The censure is unjust, for the court went into mourning on account of the death of King Christian, and the king was not to blame if the first ball had to be postponed. It was later given, but with less than the usual ceremony. The second ball also took plase as usual on the last day of the carnival, but the voices of pessimists continue to be heard.

SEA GULLS AS PIRATES.

They Will Steal Like Politicians and Commit Murder Like Sea Rovers.

There may be an advantage in birds living in colonies, but I cannot see how any other birds would want to live near a colony of gulls, says a writer in The World To-day. A gull in his own country will steal like a politician and murder like a pirate. They swarm about us like vultures after a battle. The minute our approach drove a murre or cormorant from its nest, the saintly looking scalawags swooped down to eat the eggs and young. While the gulls are freebooters and robbers on the island, it is only when other birds are frightened from their nests that they have a chance to carry on their nefarious trade. Eternal vigilance is the price the latter pay for their eggs and young. Except when they are frightened by approach of some person, their possessions are never left for an instant without a guard. But the fittest manage to survive on the rocks, and these gulls are the most useful birds in the bays and rivers about the waterfronts of our cities. They are valuable as scavengers and should be protected in every way. Three of them are equal to a buzzard. Ten of these gulls are equal to a pig.

TYPEWRITERS CATCH COLD

Machines Soon Get Out of Order If Left in a Chilly Atmosphere.

The employer looked on with a puzzled expression while the new stenographer carried the typewriter across the room and placed it on a chair in the immediate neighborhood of a steam radiator, says the New York Press.

"I'll be ready in just a minute, Mr. L.," she said. "The typewriter got cold while the heat was turned off and it sticks dreadfully."

"Does the cold affect them?" he asked. "That's something new."

"Yes, sir. I find that it does, very much. Some machines regularly take cold if left long in a cold room. It's especially hard on old machines that are pretty well worn, making them very unmanageable sometimes. I've known the cold to remain in an old one until it had been several hours in a warm room, when it gradually became better; but usually a machine yields to three or four minutes of warmth."

Weighing the World.

This world is to be weighed once more, doubts being entertained by scientists as to the accuracy of previous estimates; but whether the error be a case of short weight or overweight has yet to be settled. An expedition is to set out to Egypt, where the great pyramid will be utilized by the investigators. First, the weight of the pyramid will be ascertained, and then the weight of the earth estimated from its proportionate size. The swinging of pendulums will be the gauge. From the force exerted by the pyramid in pulling the swinging pendulum from its natural course the weight of the pyramid can be estimated, and that of the earth—the exact size of which is known, can then be calculated easily.

Demand for Laborers.

Labor is so scarce in New Zealand that the government of that colony has asked its high commission in London to find in England and send out 1,000 laborers for the construction of a new railway in the North island. Three years' work are guaranteed, and inducements will be offered them to remain permanently. There is also great demand for agricultural laborers in western Australia.

London Telephone Calls.

Presiding at the half yearly meeting of shareholders in the National Telephone company Sir Henry Fowler said the number of messages transmitted during 1905 was 1,953,000,000. To understand these figures shareholders should know that the number of inland telegrams transmitted by the post office was only 80,000,000.

STICK'S WIDE TRAVELS.

Much Stamped Souvenir That Has Gone 100,000 Miles Through the Mails.

A mailing stick that has probably traveled through American mails for a hundred thousand miles or more, going to and fro between Washington and various internal revenue offices, is in the possession of Collector Chamberlain, waiting to start on another trip to the national capitol, states the Hawaiian Star of recent date. It is decorated nearly all over with the stamps of revenue collectors from Honolulu to Brooklyn. The stick is used to wrap monthly reports around before they are mailed, and the collectors have a habit of putting their rubber stamps on it before remailing it.

The stick appears to have begun its career in October, 1892, by a trip to the collector at Cleeviand, O. Since then it has been here twice, and has been one or more times to Arkansas, Illinois, New York, Texas, South Carolina, Indiana, Louisiana, Missouri, California, Tennessee, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan and Massachusetts. After each trip there is a return to Washington with a report.

The department at Washington returns it with a report. The various collectors report monthly, so that the sticks are going all the time.

"There are many of them going to and fro all the time," said Collector Chamberlain, "and when they get all covered over some one is likely to hold on to them as souvenirs."

HUNT ROOTS FOR LIVING.

Old Men of the Alps Dig Among the Mountains for Medicinal Material.

Throughout the whole chain of the Alps there are men who make it their business to search for and root up the gentian, arnica, puffballs and other Alpine flowers. High up in the mountains the root grubber, generally an old man, builds a little hut. He clambers precipices to the edges, where the blue flowers grow; or, if he cannot ascend, he lets himself down to their place of refuge by a rope fastened to a pine above. He wanders to a long distance from his hut and does not always trouble to return to it at night, finding shelter under a rock.

Next morning he spreads all the roots he has collected on a rock where they may dry. He collects herbs as well as roots and the resin from the pine besides. When the summer is over and there are signs of snow, the root grubber collects all together in his little hut and finally transports the whole of his six months' collection to the valley.

Arnica and some other roots used in medicine are readily disposed of. From the gentian is made the gentian brandy, which is considered the very elixir of life by the mountain folk. In other days, when gentians grew in great numbers, the root digger was able to realize a good income, but it is otherwise now.

NAMING OF THE INDIANS.

The Difficulty of Finding Suitable Names for Their Absurd Ideas.

Under instructions from President Roosevelt Dr. Charles A. Eastman, a Sioux Indian, has renamed more than 10,000 Sioux with family names, says a writer in the World To-day, in order to make the inheritance of land more simple and secure.

Where possible he has kept the original Sioux name of some member of a family—as in bestowing the name "Matoska," meaning "White Bear," on the family of that chief. Sometimes the combination of wife's name and husband's has made a musical name, as "Winona Otana." The favorite name for women means "she who has a beautiful home," which Dr. Eastman has anglicized in the patronymic "Goodhouse."

But by far the hardest task is in finding new names for the absurdities of Indian nomenclature. "Bob-Tailed Coyote" was a young Indian who has come to prefer himself as "Robert T. Wolf." After a long struggle with "Rotten Pumpkin," Dr. Eastman has at last recorded the owner of the name on the tribal records under the noncommittal title of "Robert Pumpian."

Dalmatian Peasants.

In the interior of Dalmatia the laborers still live in the old patriarchal fashion. The eldest male rules the household as might some czar; in fact, it is not so many years since he had life and death power over its inmates. When a son weds he brings his wife to his father's house, that the property may remain in the family. There, while he works in the eld—for they are peasant farmers, working lands held by hereditary proprietors, almost as might the serfs of Russia—she tends the dwelling. When his guests come she sends out not only for him, but for the patriarch, since he alone can really welcome a visitor, and he keeps the keys to the shelf where is stored the gin in which a toast is offered to friendship.

Women Soldiers.

In the Prussian army the commanders of 14 regiments are women and, although the position is purely formal, yet these female colonels enjoy like military rank with the male holders of the title and on occasion wear the uniform of their office.

Better Impression.

"Do you think that travel will enable that young man to make a better impression?"

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "during his absence."—Washington Star.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

RECOMMENDATIONS FRAMED INTO LAWS

IN SPITE OF MACHINE IDEAS OF GOVERNOR WERE EMBODIED IN MEASURES.

The 130th session of the Legislature, which has just closed, covered fourteen weeks, and was of unusual length. It passed a large number of important bills, and it is to be noted that nearly all the recommendations of Governor Stokes were enacted into law.

One exception is in the matter that was treated by the Governor in his message under the caption "Fewer Laws." The lawmakers of 1906, with the capacities of the two bill rooms overtaxed, have shown little disposition to avoid the erroneous precedent pointed out by Governor Stokes that "legal advisers find it easier to induce the Legislature to pass a law to provide for the wishes of their clients than to search the statutes to find an already existing law that will serve the same purpose."

The Perkins bill, providing for the taxation of main stem railroad property, has been passed and signed by the Governor and has been supplemented by the bill taxing second class railroad property; that re-defining main stem; that providing for the distribution of the railroad taxes; the maximum tax rate bill; the county tax board bill and the franchise tax bill.

The bill limiting the lives of public utility franchises was another of the important measures that was passed.

The bill abolishing fees and substituting salaries for county officers, which was urged by Governor Stokes in his message, has been passed and has received the approval of the executive.

Jury reform was another matter touched upon by Governor Stokes in his message and this has been acted upon by the Legislature by the passage of the Hutchinson jury bill.

The matter of automobile regulation, which, next to equal taxation and the liquor question, occupied a place of prominence before the present Legislature, has been disposed of for this year by the adoption of the Frelinghuysen bill in a form very much modified. Many of the provisions demanded by the farmers were eliminated.

The bill for which the farmers of the State have so long been begging, permitting trolley roads to carry freight, has been passed and signed by the Governor. The Morris canal and the Passaic pollution questions, both of which have received considerable attention from former Legislatures, were treated by the 130th session in a manner calculated to make their final disposition less difficult for a future session. The former is in the hands of the attorney general and the latter is to be solved between the parties in interest at a special session in September.

The question of municipal ownership of public utility franchises received the attention of the Legislature by the introduction of fourteen bills, some of which were passed, but the matter was closed for this session when Governor Stokes sent a message recommending that the whole subject be thoroughly investigated and a definite plan of action be reported upon.

The bill changing the death penalty from hanging to electrocution; a number of measures calculated to bring about clean elections; a bill to protect New Jersey fishermen from menhaden pirates; a bill to exterminate mosquitoes in the State; a forestry reservation bill; the remedy against over-capitalization of corporations; an Assembly redistricting bill, and the new State military measure were among the other bills of general importance and interest that have received favorable consideration from this Legislature.

This Legislature must be charged with having betrayed the temperance people on the liquor question, in its disposition of the bishops' excise bill. No such uprising has been seen in the State in years as was behind this bill introduced by Senator Hutchinson. With one exception the hearing on the measure was unprecedented.

Despite the demands of the friends of the bill, the measure turned out by the lawmakers is a plain turndown of those who stood for complete reform.

Killed by Fear of Operation.

Atlantic City, April 16.—Physicians declare that Wesley B. Dennis, a painter, who died suddenly yesterday, succumbed to fright at the thought of going under the surgeon's knife. The man's death was most tragic, as an injury to his leg, received in a recent fall, could have been cured by a slight operation. As the surgeons were preparing to etherize him Dennis suddenly went into convulsions and died in a few minutes.

Trolley Victim Gets $15,000.

Hackensack, April 16.—Miss Ada E. Stevens, of Hasbrouck Heights, a minor, was awarded Saturday $15,000 damages by a Bergen county jury against the Hudson River Line trolley company. She was injured in a collision near Fort Lee, when one car ran past an open switch where the signal was plainly in view. Miss Stevens is paralyzed on one side.

The Grand Commandery, K. T., (colored,) of New Jersey, will hold a conclave tonight in the rooms of Cypress Commandery on West Front street.

On checking accounts 3 per cent interest is paid from the day of deposit until withdrawn, providing a balance of $200 or more is maintained. This interest is credited quarterly, June, September, December and March.

P. H. S. MEETS DEFEAT FOR THE SECOND TIME

The Plainfield High School base ball nine met its second defeat of the season on Saturday afternoon at Crescent Oval at the hands of the Commercial High School team, of Brooklyn. The final score was 7 to 5 and the game was exciting throghout.

The local boys could do nothing with the delivery of Hennig, the visitors' trirler. When they had men on bases, and this was the main cause of their defeat. On the other hand, the Brooklynites hit the ball hard with men on base and this coupled with errors of the locals at critical times, gave the visitors the victory.

Mahaffey was on the slab for the Plainfield boys and he pitched a good game, but did not have the fielding support of his team. Eleven of the visitors could not solve his delivery, while they only managed to get seven hits. The playing of Harding, Douglass and Lolzeaux, of the Plainfield High School team, was commendable. Stebbins and Hennig made the best showing for the isitors.

The Plainfield High School team will line up against the Camp Bowser team this afternoon, at 3.30, on Crescent Oval.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Rochester, N. Y., will be the scene of this year's National meet of the Federation of American Motorcyclists. The meet in Rochester will be held during the first week of July. July 2 and 3 will be devoted to the National endurance contest, the route of which will be from New York to Rochester, about 350 miles.

Entries will close tomorrow for the Atlantic City tournament to be held on the three miles of beach track on April 25, 26 and 27. Indications point to an unusually successful tournament. Harry S. Houpt will send three Thomas cars, with Montague Roberts, the driver, to the meach tomorrow, while C. A. Schroeder has been there with a Darracq racer for the last three or four days. Harry Maynes, with the Grout steamer, will leave on Wednesday.

A number of entries have already been received by W. J. Morgan for the hill-climbing contest on May 10 at Wilkesbarre, Pa. The event will be held in connection with the centennial celebration of the founding of that city. Eight events have been arranged, six being for stock cars ranging in price from $1,000 to $8,000; one is a free-for-all contest for racing and stripped cars, and the other is for automobile trucks of any price and power. The hill that will be used is about one mile long, possessing an average grade of 22 per cent.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The charter members of the new Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight in Junior Hall on West Front street. Addresses will be made by State Council Secretary W. H. Miers and J. Morgan Reed. Admission will be by card of invitation.

The National Protective Legion will organize at Coward Hall next Thursday evening, April 19, at 8 o'clock. Over thirty new members will come into the order at that time through the efforts of District Manager F. C. Meeker, of Paterson. It is hoped that all old members in the city will bring clearance cards and join the new legion at its birth, thus giving their aid and the advantage of their experience to the new organization at the very beginning when most needed.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Harry and Albert Rines, the singing evangelists, closed their series of services at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large, and the service developed a strong spirit or earnestness. The singing was accompanied by Martin A. Korff on the violin.

The Saturday night meeting had an illustrated talk on the Story of the Cross for a feature. It was a smaller meeting then yesterday's, but a deeper spiritual tone permeated it.

Borough Team Defeats Somerville.

The North Plainfield High School baseball team, defeated the Somerville High Saturday, by a score of 7 to 6. Peacock and Webster covered the points for the borough boys, the former striking out fifteen men. Brokaw and Ammerman formed the Somerville battery and also did good work. The game was played on the Somerville grounds.

Sunrise Service.

Despite the downpour of rain there were eighteen persons present at the Easter sunrise meeting held at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society. Jos. W. Gavett was the leader and a very spiritual meeting was the result.

Bible Class Reception.

Bible Class No. 2, of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, of which W. C. Leek is the teacher, will give a reception to the other Bible Classes of the school on Thursday night in the lecture room. This will be the first of a series of similar affairs.

J. P. Mosher, formerly of this city, but now connected with the Meek Novelty Company, of Rochester, N. Y., where he resides, and his son, Philip Mosher, of the Chappaqua Mountain Institute, Chappaqua, N. Y., are visiting Mr. Mosher's daughter, Mrs. George Homan, of Plainfield avenue.

BIG BALL SEASON AHEAD

Members of Plainfield Base Ball Association Enthusiastic Over the Outlook.

BAN ON DEAD-HEADS

Everyone Anxious for the Opening Game—Gossipy Items for Fans to Thrive On Until They Can Sit on the Bleachers.

Baseball hysteria in a most aggravated form has invaded Plainfield and the members of the local baseball association are each and every one keyed up to the highest pinnacle of frenzied enthusiasm awaiting the coming of May 5, when Jack Merrity will ring the bell and shout "Play Ball."

Plainfield is going to have the biggest season ever. This was evidenced Saturday night at the meeting of the association when glowing reports were heard of the prospects from every member present. The greater part of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of number details relative to making the venture a success. The duties of the various committees were laid out and with the exception of getting the uniforms ready everything is ready for the bell to ring.

It is possible that the team will be fitted out with new uniforms and efforts will be made to induce local merchants to provide the suits as an advertisement or at cost prices. The refreshment stand privilege was awarded to Thomas Timbo, his bid of $75 being the highest received among a number of bidders. Treasurer Charles W. Runyon reported that payments on the stock were being collected satisfactorily and a motion was made and carried that a check for $400 be paid Manager Daab for one half of the franchise.

Manager Daab was present at the meeting and said that he was encouraged over the outlook and declared that the team would be a stronger aggregation than that which represented Plainfield last season, especially in the batting department. He also reported that he had written Manager Conklin, of Somerville, in reference to arranging a series of games but as yet he had received no replies to his letters.

DIAMOND DUST.

Treasurer Charles Runyon is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the movement and declares that there will be no less than 1,500 people on hand to witness the opening game. Charlie is throwing his heart and soul in the matter and generally knows what he is talking about.

Lou Wiltse also knows what he is talking about when he says the Plainfields will be a stronger team this year than last. Lou made the declaration to a local fans last week, basing his argument on the fact that he pitched against them last Sunday in the game with the Cedars.

The members of the tonsilitis stricken Jersey City team have all departed. Those who remained over Sunday were Munson, Halligan, Holmes and Moore. The team will report again Tuesday night when the combination will sail for New Bedford to start a series of exhibition games through New England. This trip should put the players in excellent shape for the opening against Montreal, April 26.

Leo Kelly, of Brooklyn, who pitched for Jersey City and New Haven last season, may wear a Plainfield uniform this season. Kelly is a southpaw and pitched a ten inning game here July 4 last summer for the All Nationals, holding the locals down to three hits. Kelly has a good position in the subway and will not play league ball this season. He is only 2 years old and has a big assortment of speed and curves.

Ben Mumford received a letter from his old friend, Pete Cregan, last week, asking for a line on the local situation.

Catcher Vandergrift is a firm believer in Y. M. C. A.'s and always speaks a good word for that organization. He belongs to the Trenton Y. M. C. A. and recommends all ball players to become affiliated with the order. He maintains that it throws out a big moral influence which is beneficial to ball players and all young men.

How would you like to be the newspaper reporter this summer? They are the only individuals who will be allowed to pass through the turnstiles free of charge this summer. A kibosh has been placed on free tickets. Mayor Smalley says the grafters must come up this season as he will be on the gate. Good for you, Mayor.

"Dave" Driscoll recently told a friend that he would like to come back to Plainfield again.

If "Wally" Cosgrave doesn't get a swelled head over coaching the Princeton 'Varsity team for $2,500, it's ten doughnuts to ne that he will have a swollen pocketbook when he gets through his job.

Archie Brakeley, of Princeton, who is spending his Easter vacation at the home of his parents in Dunellen, is a loyal rooter for the 'Varsity team, and thinks Old Nassau stands a good show of defeating Yale this summer. Doyle, he says, is a wonder on the slab and is one of the most promising pitchers Princeton ever had. His home is in Pittsburgh and the Pirates have already made him an offer to join their team.

Young Reilly, who practiced with the Jersey Citys, has returned to Erie, Pa., where he will play ball again this summer. The Erie management refused to release him to Manager Murray unless the Jersey City manager paid a big price.

Jocko Halligan and friends, who have been spending two weeks at Hotel Iroquois, have departed, much to the regret of Kid Speer and other fans.

WHAT CAPTAIN BEAN SAYS.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In behalf of the Jersey City baseball team I desire to thank you for the courtesies extended to the different players while in Plainfield and also for the accurate and newsy accounts contained in your paper of our training work and practice. I can say that The Daily Press has the best sporting page and baseball news of any other paper in this section, and the boys read it in preference to Jersey City papers during their stay in this city. The news was always fresh and accurate. The boys also appreciate the kindly treatment received at the hands of Landlord Leary and other local ball fans who made our stay in Plainfield very enjoyable.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH BEAN,
Captain Jersey City Baseball Club.

Fairview A. C., 17; Hustlers, 15.

The Fairview A. C. defeated the Grandview Hustlers on Saturday afternoon, by a score of 17 to 15. The playing of Edmund Kenney was the feature.

POLITE TO THE GIRLS

MALE STUDENTS OF YALE ON THEIR GOOD BEHAVIOR.

Manifest No Displeasure at Having to Study with Young Women—Cupid Is Not Busy at Present.

The Yale students are more polite than the Harvard students, at least that is what the 25 or so Yale co-eds say, reports the New York Sun. Although the Yale men did not grow enthusiastic when it was announced a few years ago that Yale was going to follow the example of the Cambridge university and allow the women to study with them, at least in the graduate school, they didn't make any violent objection to the plan, and started in at once to take the change as pleasantly as possible. Now they have grown accustomed to reciting before an occasional schoolma'am or a young college alumna, and apparently they are more at ease than the young women themselves.

"The Yale men, even if they don't like us around," said one of the girl students of the graduate school, "are too polite to show it, at any rate, and in that they are one ahead of the Harvard students. They don't like us in the class room up there, and they are not so careful to hide their preferences," she laughingly added.

The young women who come here generally are interested only in their work, and are not looking for any social features incidental to college life. Thus one young woman who graduated from Mount Holyoke college in 1905 and is taking work in economics here is studying sociological problems by living at a mission hall.

There she has an opportunity to study practical problems in sociology. She lives among the people whom she is studying, and her daily round of pleasure or work, when not on the Yale campus, is among the foreigners in that part of the city.

But although the Yale co-eds don't mingle much socially with the Yale undergraduates or the graduate students or young professors, they have their own club. "No men allowed," is the club's motto. Some of the club members do a good deal of their studying and writing there, while others only go there at rare intervals for recreation.

In the last winter the co-eds have held some social affairs away from the club; generally at the boarding houses where the young women live. Occasionally the wife of a young professor has been invited to one of these gatherings, but she was always obliged to leave her husband at home, for the motto of the club has been strictly enforced at these gatherings.

The men students, on the contrary, welcome their associates among the young women at their classical, mathematical and other clubs here, and frequently the paper of the evening is read by one of the co-eds. These clubs are, however, societies for research, and the members are interested more in the intellectual side of the affair than the social.

Although Cupid can hardly be said to do a land office business among the Yale co-eds, a romance is sometimes the result of study here at the graduate school. Last year two of the members of the school surprised their friends and even the instructors under whom they had worked together by sending out wedding announcement cards just about commencement time when both were taking a degree. They are teaching together this year in a school in Texas.

Attention Moves the World.

"Knowledge," it is said, "begins in wonder." But wonder is the result of attention, and by attention the world is moved, beneficently, or madly, as in the blind and bloody turmoils of the Russian people, attentive at last to their wrongs and the possibilities of liberty. Without the attention of individual and collective minds, nothing goes forward on an earth so full of objects and ideas that selection must be forced from the outside, or deliberately exercised from the inside, before anything good or bad can be done. It is the business of the good man to study means of attracting attention to good causes, to necessary betterments, and to all that is fair and lovely and wholesome in this distracting, distracted and multitudinous universe.—Century.

Into a Society Pitfall.

Modern society is full of pitfalls and perils, as a certain smart young man realized to his sorrow the other day.

"Oh, I've met you before," he declared to a pretty woman, whose name, of course, he had not caught. Ignoring the warning frown from a friend, he rushed on. "Why, of course, I used to see you around a lot with Blank-Dash; now, didn't I?" And he smiled triumphantly.

"I can't deny it," she returned, sweetly, "but I couldn't help it. I used to be married to him."—N. Y. Sun.

Dignity.

Mr. Q. Ponze—No, sir! My daughter would starve if she married you.

Mr. Nocoyne—Oh, well, if you're the sort of man that would let your own daughter starve, I've no desire to become a relative of yours. I withdraw my request, sir.—Cleveland Leader.

How Indeed?

She—I guess you didn't know that violets [illegible] bouquet [illegible]

He—[illegible] give you [illegible]

—Cleveland [illegible]

TAYLOR KILLED HIMSELF

IN MT. VERNON, N. Y

Ill Health Believed to Have Been the Cause—Took Charge of New Branch Ten Weeks Ago.

Herbert S. Taylor, until a year ago manager of the local branch of the Swift Beef Company, shot himself to death in a boarding house in Mt. Vernon, New York, early this morning. He went to Mt. Vernon ten weeks ago to take charge of a new branch of the Swift Company. Ill health is believed to have led to the act.

Word of the suicide came to this city in a telephone message to R. I. Tolles, manager of the Armouh house, from the New York office of the Swift company.

Taylor roomed with a clerk at the beef house, in a residence opposite the branch. When his roommate got up at 6 o'clock this morning, Taylor told him he intended to lie a while longer. He complained of a bad night's rest, but did not seem to be unusually depressed. The clerk dressed and left him lying quietly on his side. A few minutes later, from the office of the beef house across the street, the clerk heard a pistol shot from the window of his room. When he reached the house, Taylor was breathing his last with a bullet hole through his temple.

The suicide left two letters, one to his roommate and the other to a Capt. Nicholson, his brother-in-law, who lives in Massachusetts. With the latter note he left a packet of money, papers and trinkets. The letter to the clerk gave no cause for the suicide; the other letter was not opened.

None of those associated with him in the beef house had any idea why Taylor shot himself this morning, but they said he had complained of poor health ever since he came to the branch and his friends here believe that the cause lay there. His wife died here two years ago, and it is not improbable that grief over her loss contributed something to the gloom of mind that killed his desire to live.

Taylor lived here ten years, in charge of the Swift branch all that time. He left the Swift company's employ a year ago to go with another corporation in Philadelphia. He came back here on a visit, shortly after he took charge of the Mt. Vernon branch.

He belonged to the Elks' lodge here, and a query as to the disposition of the body was received very soon after the suicide by Exalted Ruler William N. Runyon from Wm. A. Syme, a Mt. Vernon lawyer. The lawyer's message said no relatives of the suicide were known, and he wanted help in tracing them. No arrangements for the disposition of the body had been made up to noon.

52 CHARTER MEMBERS IN JR. O. U. A. M. LODGE

WM. H. MIERS AND REV. J. MORGAN REED MAKE ADDRESSES.

The charter members and others interested in the institution of the new Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended an open meeting in Junior Hall, last night. About 100 were present. Most of the evening was taken up with addresses by State Council Secretary William H. Miers and Rev. J. Morgan Reed, who spoke at some length on the objects of the order and giving the leaders of the new council some advice relative to their work in forming the lodge.

The charter list was opened: Fifty-two signers have been secured. This list will be kept open until tomorrow night. It was decided to meet on Monday night at Junior Hall when officers will be elected and the organization completed. On Monday night, April 30, State Council Secretary W. H. Miers and Rev. J. Morgan Reed will be present to institute the new council. The number of the new organization will probably be 293. At last night's meeting there were representatives from Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, of this city.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hassell, of West Seventh street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen R. Hassell, to Joseph Pemberton Welles Taylor, son of Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, of Park avenue.

Eagles Will Entertain.

The local aerie of Eagles will entertain the aeries of New Brunswick and Elizabeth tonight. A lively programme of amusement has been prepared by the committee.

GERMANS' MUSIC FEAST

Eight Singing Societies From Various Cities Compete For the Trophy.

NEWARK THE WINNER

Arion Club Makes Best Showing—Dancing Follows the Contest—Saengerbund Thronged.

Vocal music of the sort that is seldom heard in this city, delighted a gathering that filled Saengerbund hall to the doors, last night, when the Gesang and Turn Verein gave its annual Easter musical and dance. In a programme of interesting numbers, singing societies from various parts of the state competed for a prize and their efforts to combine harmony and quality were rewarded with outbursts of applause. The Arion club, of Newark, with sixteen men, was declared the winner and was awarded a handsome statue of Schiller. This organization gave two selections, "Muttersprache" and "Sandmaenchen," both of which were remarkable for sweetness of tone.

Among the other societies which took part were the famous Concordia of Carlstadt, numbering twenty-five, which won the state trophy at Trenton recently; the Phoenix society, of Newark, twenty men; The Aurora, of New Brunswick, twenty men; The Eintracht, of New Brunswick, fifty men; the Maennechor, of Elizabeth, twelve men, and the Leiderkranz, of Jersey City, which brought its prize-winning double quartette. The individual solos were given by Herman Eichorn, of Elizabeth, the possessor of a splendid tenor voice, and Edward Johannimman, of Carlstadt, also a tenor. The Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein singing section proved its right to be listed among the best in the state and the audience was not satisfied with the allotted two numbers but called for more. In the end the competitors united in a massed chorus. The programme in detail as rendered in charge of Henry Haurand was as follows:

Overture, Prof. B. A. Paroubek's orchestra; In Mai, Silcher, Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein; bass solo, Was Hassest Du, Carl Dresselt; Weinrise, Zollner, Aurora, New Brunswick; baritone solo, Fluestere Linde, Kreutzer; J. Franckfurter, Arion society, Newark; (a) Einkehr, (b) Mei Mutter Mag Mi Ni, Concordia, Carlstadt; tenor solo, selection from Der Meistersinger, Prof. H. Eickhorn, Elizabeth; (a) Muttersprache, (b) Sandmannchen, C. Hoin, Arion society, Newark; tenor solo, Am Rhein Beim Wein, Schubert, Edward Johanimann, Carlstadt; violin solo, Phanthasien, B. A. Paroubek, accompanied by Herbert Harold; Heimweh, J. Heine, Eintracht, New Brunswick; Kaiser Preis Lied, Melamet, Phoenix, Newark; Mach Auf, Spicker, Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein; Daheim, Gounod, massed chorus.

With the closing of the programme, the floor was cleared for dancing and when Paroubek's orchestra struck up the first waltz, almost every bit of available space was taken by the devotees. Fritz Schmidt and Charles F. Meyer, Jr., acted as floor managers and under their guidance the dancing was kept up until an early hour this morning.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Henry Haurand, William Classen and Otto Keller.

MISS LUCY RUCKMAN'S WEDDING IS ANNOUNCED.

Now the Wife of Francis C. Pursell, of this City—Ceremony Saturday Night.

Miss Lucy Pearl Ruckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Ruckman, of 204 Plainfield avenue, and Francis C. Pursell, also of this city, were married Saturday evening by Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church. The ceremony was performed at the home of the officiating minister in Central avenue.

The couple was attended by a number of relatives who witnessed the marriage. Miss Georgianna Ruckman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Frank F. Ruckman, a brother, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception and supper were held at the home of the bride's parents. Later the couple left for a ten days' trip to Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping at 961 Arlington avenue, in a home presented to the bride by the groom as a wedding present.

Will Parade on Memorial Day.

Co. K met last night, elected five new members and accepted an invitation to parade with Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., on Memorial Day morning. It was announced by Captain Martin that the inspection would be held on Monday night, May 14.

EASTERTIDE MASQUERADE

First Post Lenten Society Affair Is Gay and Successful.

THEY UNMASK EARLY

Some Striking Costumes on the Floor—Several Dinners Precede the Dance—Supper at Midnight.

Gay music and gayer costumes, laughter, light and flowers, at the casino last night marked local society's ending of Lenten retirement. From the Via Dolorosa and the simple life, the Country club set threw itself into the mazes of Terpsichore. The latter once had something to do with religion herself, and she beamed a cordial welcome on the pleasure-seekers who had eschewed her pleasures for forty nights in deference to the Church.

Which means that the subscription masquerade dance, first important affair of the Easter season, was a great success. It was not as large as some of the casino dances have been, but it lacked nothing of the enjoyableness, the color and the animation expected of it.

Between 140 and 150 dancers were on the ballroom floor, and eighty or more of them were in costume. The costumes ranged over all the usual field of choice, from Colonial to wild and woolly Western and the baggy motley of Pierrot. The music was excellent.

The dance was more simply conducted than others of its kind have been. There was no march, and the dancers unmasked at 11.30. A delightful supper, catered by the casino restaurant, was served at midnight.

The committee was made up of Lewis G. Timpson, Dr. F. C. Ard, Thomas R. Van Boskerck and Owen H. Fleming. The patronesses were Mrs. John B. Dumont, Mrs. Chapman Fisk, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. Orville T. Waring, Mrs. Joseph W. Reinhart, Mrs. Henry McGee and Mrs. J. Edgar Corlies.

Some of the striking costumes:

Dr. F. C. Ard, Pierrrot; Dr. Norman Probasco, Chinaman; Owen Fleming, cowboy; O. G. Waring, Colonial; Elston M. French, domino; William Bull, Robin Hood; James D. Middiedith, domino; Miss Waring, Colonial; Thomas Van Boskerck, clown, "The biggest ever," said one of his admiring friends; Miss Marjory Fleming, peasant; Miss Otterson, Pierrette; Miss Martin, Colonial; Miss Titus, summer girl; Miss Burt, summer girl; Mrs. George A. Beaton, Bo-Peep; Miss Beaton, Spanish girl; Mrs. E. W. T. Maxwell, Night; Miss Bushnell, French maid; Willard Wadsworth, Dark Secret; Augustus R. Fisk, bachelor, in pink.

GRAND COMMANDER INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS.

Right Eminent Sir Kirkner Officiates at Trinity Commandery Ceremony.

Right Eminent Sir Jacob Kirkner, of this city, Grand Commander of the State of New Jersey, assisted by Sir Knight Henry Woodland, installed the officers of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., last night, as follows:

Eminent commander, Robert Rushmore; generalissimo, George Kirkner; captain general, W. A. Pinto; senior warden, Clarence Goss; junior warden, J. Z. Hatfield; prelate, B. Frank Coriell; treasurer, Calvin H. Rugg; recorder, Henry L. Hall; standard bearer, Charles A. Shrtevant; sword bearer, Ralph T. Willis; warder, S. H. Craig.

After the installation the sir knights were entertained by a couple of professionals from New York, who gave a number of musical selections. his was followed by a smoker and general good time.

Entertains at Heart Party.

Miss Helen R. Hasselll, of West Seventh street, gave a heart party at her home yesterday afternoon to a company of forty young people, including a number from New York and Jersey City, as well as this city. At the conclusion of the play prizes were presented to Miss Halfley, of Jersey City; Miss Godwin, of Netherwood; Miss May Murray and Miss Titus, the last named receiving the consolation prize. Refreshments were served afterward.

Grand Master Workman Coming.

Grand Master Workman F. P. Folwe, of the A. O. U. W., will visit Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., on Thursday night, April 26, when it is expected he will have something to say regarding the amendment adopted at the Grand Lodge, whereby an emergency fund is established.

FLORAL VEHICLE PARADE

Spectacular Event to be Held In Connection With the Carnival.

PRIZES TO BE OFFERED

Everything Used for Locomotion to Be Represented In the Line—"Floral Symposium of Locomotion."

Progress in the preparations for the hospital carnival, which will open on May 19, is going on steadily. New features are being thought of, and planned, daily. When the affair in its entirety is opened to the public the people in this vicinity will have something to talk about for more than the proverbial nine days.

The latest scheme in connection with the event is a big floral parade of vehicles, business as well as pleasure, to be held the afternoon of the opening day. Charles J. Fisk announced it last night.

It is the aim of the carnival committee to have every possible form of carriage and wagon represented in the parade. It will be called a processional symposium of locomotion, or something like that. Automobiles, carriages, business wagons, bicycles, motorcycles and every other sort of things people use to get about, or deliver their goods, in will be drawn into line. If an ox-cart can be found it will have a place. Even a stray sedan chair or two will be welcomed to the procession.

All the vehicles are to be trimmed with flowers, and prizes will be offered for the best efforts at decoration. The judges' stands will be located at the carnival grounds.

The parade is to be an early afternoon affair. The various committees and sub-committees will be announced next week.

Two big free night acts have been arranged for the carnival. The first week an invisible wire rider will shoot through the air between two high posts. The week after a daring unicycle rider will shoot down a circular incline in a blaze of red fire, after a thrilling act at the top.

ROWLAND M. HALL DEAD.

Brother of David P. Hall Passes Away in New York.

Rowland Minturn Hall, brother of David P. Hall, of this city, died yesterday at his home, 15 West Eigth street, New York, of paralysis. He was the son of David P. Hall and Caroline Minturn Hall, of New York. Mr. Hall was graduated in 1856 from Harvard, where he was a member of the Hasty Pudding and Porcellian clubs. After graduation he studied law and practised with his father at 54 William street.

At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Hall joined the Third regiment, New York cavalry, as second lieutenant, and in 1863 was promoted to a capitaincy. He left the army in 1864 on account of illness and resumed his law business. In 1868, on the death of his father, Mr. Hall formed a partnership with his brother, David Prescott Hall, which continued eighteen months ago, when he was stricken with paralysis. He had a second stroke on Saturday. Mr. Hall was unmarried. A sister, Frances Minturn Hall, lived with him.

The funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow morning and interment will be made at Pomfret, Conn., Thursday.

SAINTS GET A REST.

Prophet Crowdy Calls Off Evening Service and Faithful Scatter.

There was a break in the chain or Passover services of the Church of God and Saints of Christ at Reform hall last night. The faithful were gathered, ready for worship at 7.45 o'clock, but Prohpet Crowdy gave forth the word thta no service was to be held. The people scattered to pass the evening as they saw fit.

Nobody knew what moved the prophet to call the service off. His followers never know what the prophet's orders mean.

"The order came from the prophet in his great wisdom," said one of the evangelists. "It is for him in his great wisdom to speak on these things."

Services were resumed this morning, as usual.

Dr. Huribut in Bloomfield Church.

Rev. Dr. Jesse L. Huribut, formerly of South Orange, and once pastor of the First M. E. church here, preached his first sermon as pastor of the Park Methodist church Sunday morning, and was greeted by a large congregation. The new pastor made a favorable impression. At the close of the services he was introduced to the members of the congregation by John W. Snedeker. A reception will be given Dr. Huribut in the church parlors the latter part of this month.

BURNED BY GASOLINE

FACE BADLY SCARED

Accident Followed Emptying of Tank on Hoyt & Woolston's Big Machine.

In an explosion of gasolene which occurred in Hoyt & Woolston's automobile shed, back of their store on North avenue, yesterday afternoon, "Jack" Hall, the popular attache at Timbo's restaurant, received burns which will confine him to the house for many weeks and may result in disfiguring him for life. A sheet of flame that enelosed him, seared his face and head, removing nearly all the hair; withered his eyebrows and lashes and stripped the skin from his neck, chest and arms. He was quickly removed in a cab to Dr. Dundon's office and after treatment was ordered to the hospital, but he insisted on going to his home on East Front street. He was reported today as resting easily but in great pain.

The automobile shed is also in the rear of Timbo's place and Marcus Hoyt invited Hall to take a ride. The former had just finished cleaning his big Rambler machine and gasolene which he had let out of the tank had trickled across the cement floor and into drain in the center. There was not very much of it but the fumes were sufficient to spread pretty much through the structure. As Hall came in the place, he lighted a cigarette and knowing nothing about the gasolen ethrew the lighted match toward the drain.

The fumes ignited in an instant and Hall received the full force of the flame that shot upward. He staggered to the open air but when he emerged he found that his eyes had not been injured in the least and he ran to Timbo's kitchen, calling for hot water. The chef, not knowing what the matter was, gave it to him and Hall plunged his head and arsm in it, only aggravating the burns. Aa soon as his plight was realized cooling lotions were applied and he was hurried to the physician.

A peculiar part of the accident is the fact that though Hoyt was but four or five feet from Hall, he escaped injury entirely. He was evidently at a point where the fumes had not collected. Hoyt also figured in the accident to George Voehl's automobile a short time ago and though Charles Woolston was badly cut and burned by the exhaust pan, the former emerged from the upturned machine without a scratch.

Hall is one of the most popular young men in the city and expressions of sympathy have poured in from all sides. He is a member of tne Gold Medal minstrel aggregation and was to have appeared with the troupe at New Market tonight.

TO REPEAT EASTER MUSIC.

Elaborate Programme at St. Mary's Church Next Sunday.

On account of the rainy weather, one of the prettiest features of the Easter service at St. Mary's R. C. church, the march of the children in the processional, was left out Sunday. The congregation will have an opportunity to see it next Sunday, however, when the service is repeated.

The children march into the church from the outside, dressed in white and garlanded with flowers, and Father Bogan did not deem it right to risk their health in the damp. Next Sunday, the whole elaborate service will be repeated, number for number, and if the weather does not again interfere, the children's processional will be one of the striking features of the repetition.

Miss Marguerite Palmiter Will Sing.

Miss Jessie Utter, who has charge of the arrangements for the eleventh annual musicale to be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church on Tuesday night, April 24, under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, has secured Miss Marguerite Palmiter, of Westerly, R. I., as the soprano soloist. She has studied abroad and has appeared in several well known operas with marked success. In addition to Miss Palmiter there will be selections by a double quartette of women's voices, concert movement for organ and two pianos and on stringed instruments. Admission to the musicale will be by card of invitation.

Hand Factory Leased.

Charles H. Hand has leased his factory on Watchung avenue to Nat. Levy & Co., the present occupants, for a term of years. The firm contemplates making extensive improvements to increase its business of manufacturing silk petticoats and underwear and will employ a large number of hands.

FANWOOD BOY'S CAREER

John Cort, Born in Plainfield's Suburb, Now "Klaw & Erlinger of the West."

HERE ON A VISIT

Came East to Watch His Production, "The Strength of the Weak," at Local Playhouse Last Night.

In connection with the presentation of "The Strength of the Weak" at the New Plainfield theatre, last night, Plainfield received a visit from one of the most influential theatrical managers in the country whose boyhood was spent in this vicinity. The individual is John Cort, owner of the show and known in stagedom as "The Klaw & Erlanger of the West." He was born at Fanwood forty years ago but went west soon after attaining his majority and entered the theatrical field, in which he has met with phenomenal success.

Mr. Cort and his firm control sixty theatres west of Denver, Col., and have a dozen or more productions on the road, all high class attractions. Miss Florence Roberts, who in private life is Mrs. Lewis Morrison, of "Faust" fame, was added to his staff of stars five years ago and she has since been touring the Pacific coast cities where she is a great favorite. It was Mr. Cort's wish to introduce her to Broadway and an eastern tour was accordingly arranged.

The "Strength of the Weak" company came directly from Seattle, Wash., to Plainfield, the stop here being made to break the rest. This city was selected by Mr. Cort because of old associations and though the production did not draw a large house, he was greatly pleased with the audience cordial reception of Miss Roberts and the treatment accorded him at the New Plainfield. He is an old friend of Manager Counihan, they haveing had business relations in the west for several years, and the two exchanged cordial greetings. The design of the local playhouse attracted his business acumen and he spoke highly of the splendid acoustic properties and the general design. He also secured a set of the plans to be used in connections with new theatres he has planned to add to his circuit.

As for the play in which Miss Roberts is being starred it may be said that no drama appearing in Plainfield this season made a better impression. It is in four acts, all replete with strong dramatic situations and set with heavy scenic effects, each one marking the other by contrast of general design and color scheme. Miss Roberts' acting is the acme of naturalness and she has a distinctive charm that will last, perhaps, long after the play is forgotten. Her support included several of the best known artists in the east, among them Miss Ruth Allen, who also won favor; Max Figman, the well known comedian; Tyrone Power, late of "The Redskin" company; Lucile York and Adelaide Manola.

RECEPTION TO EVANGELISTS.

Farewell Affairs at the Christian Church.

The revival at the Christian church, which has been in progress for six weeks, closed Sunday night and a farewell concert and reception was given last night.

The programme included: Vocal and violin solos given by Mr. Sturges, solos by Mrs. John Manley and Rev. Phil Parsons, a duett by Mr. Sturges and Mr. Parsons, and a male quartette consisting of Messrs. Spiegel, Martin, Sturgis and Parsons, readings by Miss May Smith and Miss Helen Woolley were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Siegel accompanied several vocal and instrumental numbers.

Light refreshments were served after the programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Spiegel and Mr. Sturgis have greatly endeared themselves to the members and friends of the church and many regrets were expressed at their departure.

DR. BUCHANAN PRESIDENT.

Chosen Head of Somerset Medical Society.

At the recent meeting of the Somerset County Medical Society Dr. B. Braden Kyle, of Philadelphia, read a paper on "Diseases of the Tonsils." A general discussion followed. The following officers were elected: President, J. H. Buchanan, North Plainfield; vice president, J. B. Beekman, Pluckemin; secretary, W. H. Long, Jr., Somerville; reporter, C. R. P. Fisher, Bound Brook; treasurer, T. H. Flynn, Somerville; censor, A. L. Stillwell, Somerville; delegate to State Society, F. B. Zandt, Harlingen. The visitors were Dr. F. C. Ard, of Plainfield; Dr. Clark and Dr. John Ward, of Trenton.

At the banquet, which was an elaborate affair, covers were laid for twenty.

SOMERSET COURT OPENS

Justice A. G. Garretson and Judge Louis H. Schenck Are on the Bench.

CIVIL LIST IS SMALL

Expected that Grand Jury Will Return Large Number of Indictments.

The April term of the Somerset County Courts opened in Somerville this morning with Justice A. Q. Garretson presiding. Judge Schenck was also on the bench. The civil list this term is not a very large one, but it is expected there will be a great number of criminal causes, after the Grand Jury has completed its labors.

When the civil list was gone over the following cases of interest to Plainfield were read:

Supreme—George Lees against Albert Wickman, tort, Geo. W. V. Moy, Louis H. Aff, filed April 4, 1906; Frank L. Dealaman against John F. Mundy, contract, Codington & Swackhamer, Reed & Coddington, filed April 6, 1906.

Justices' Appeals—Joel Codington ads. Lewis A. Williams, jury, tried March 25, 1905, Justice Smalley, Horace Codington, F. J. Blatz; Pasquale Tullo ads. Philip W. Mundy, jury, tried January 10, 1906, Justice Cooper, Beekman & Vosseller, Horace Codington; State Board of Health v. Fred. Brokaw, jury, tried February 16, 1906, Justice Sutphen, Robert H. McCarter, F. A. Pope.

Justice Garretson in his charge called attention to the railroad wreck at Lyons near Bernardsville, at which time a fireman was killed, and said that if the engineer, George Hopkins, was found to be negligent, he should be indicted. He also asked the grand jury to be careful in its investigation of evidence of illegal liquor selling in the county, and referred specially to the fact that there wo uld be a strict investigation of wholesale places, where it is alleged in many cases liquor is sold and drank on the premises.

In granting liquor licenses, the application of Adolph Bohren, of the borough, was laid oer until Friday. Hugo Maul and Charles Jensen were granted hotel licenses and the New Jersey Bottling company received a wholesale license.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FISK-COLLINGS WEDDING

WILL BE IN CINCINNATI SATURDAY, AT HIGH NOON.

Augustus R. Fisk, son of former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who is to be married on Saturday to Miss Edith Collings, of Cincinnati, will hold his bachelor dinner at the Hotel Waldorf, N. Y., tonight. A number of his classmates at Yale, besides some Plainfield men, will attend it.

The wedding will be performed at Calvary church, Cincinnati, at noon. Mr. Fisk and his family, and a party of friends, will leave for Cincinnati tomorrow afternoon, on the 6:25 train from New York over the Pennsylvania R. R. They will travel in a special car. The train is due to reach Cincinnati Thursday afternoon, early.

A round of pre-nuptial entertainments will start as soon as the Fisk party reaches the city. A luncheon will be held to await their debarkation, and from then on until the eve of the wedding day a constant round of affairs will be going.

Charles W. Fisk, brother of the groom, will be best man, and Miss Christine Collings, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor. Miss Annie G. Fisk will be the only bridesmaid. The ushers will be Louis Young, of the brokerage firm of A. O. Brown & Co.; Ralph Bloomer, the Yale footfall star of 1903-04; J. A. Moorehead, Pittsburg; Joseph Gatins, Jr., New York; Morris Dumont, Plainfield; Harvey Fisk; and Shelby Bonnie, of Louisville, Ky.

Pat Will Do Better.

Patrick Cahill, 46 years old, a laborer, whose home is on Clinton avenue, who was arrested yesterday for drunkenness, was released under suspended sentence by Judge Runyon this morning on his promise to reform.

Glove Cutter Arrested.

Auguste Eberlen, 29 years old, a glove cutter employed at the Perrin et Cie factory, was arrested on a grave charge this morning. He will be arraigned before Justice Mosher this afternoon.

Third Week of the $20,000 Bankrupt Stock Sale purchased from J. J. Varley & Co., of Scranton, Pa., at 50 and 60 cents on the Dollar. This remarkable sale started two weeks ago, and instead of diminishing, is growing to such an extent, that the longer it is continued the more people it brings in. THREE TIRED OF LIVING, COMMIT SUICIDE

ONE KILLED HIMSELF BECAUSE WIFE CHIDED HIM FOR NOT GOING TO WORK.

Three victims of suicidal mania was the record of yesterday for Newark. Two of the self-murderers were old men; the third was only thirty-three years old. They were Conrad Niebergal, sixty-seven, of No. 63 Boyd street; Joseph Kenibily, sixty, supposed to be a resident of Montclair, and Frank A. Beck, of No. 183 Avon avenue. The suicides all were committed between midnight Sunday and 9 a. m. yesterday.

Neibergal was ill and despondent. He swallowed carbolic acid and died an hour later in St. Barnaba's Hospital. Kenibily shot himself in the head in a secluded nook in Branch Brook Park. He had been a patient at the city hospital, with an incurable disease and had been permitted to leave the institution on his promise to return. A letter in his pocket was addressed to Miss Jennie Kenibily, of No. 172 Glen Ridge avenue, Montclair. A young woman at that address said that the description of the dead man, as given to her, convinced her that it was her father, who had been missing for some time.

Beck's death was the result of taking a dose of carbolic acid at his home after a quarrel with his wife. He was employed at the Central Stamping Company's plant, and when his wife awakened him yesterday he told her he did not feel like working.

Mrs. Beck chided her husband, telling him if he did not desire to support her and their two children she would go back to her mother's home to live.

"I'll soon give you the chance to do that," Beck replied.

He then arose and ate his breakfast, after which he left home, apparently to go to work. An hour later Beck returned. His wife noticed that he acted queerly. He bade her and the children goodby and went into his bedroom. His wife heard him cry out in pain and fall to the floor. He had taken poison and death came soon afterward.

FAVORS MOSQUITO BILL.

Mayor Stoy Sends Favorable Opinion of the Measure.

Atlantic City, April 17.—Governor Stokes has asked for the opinions of the Mayors of all New Jersey coast cities before he passes upon the bill recently passed by the Legislature appropriatng $350,000 for mosquito extermination.

In a letter to Mayor Stoy, who is president of the New Jersey League of Seashore Municipalities, he has requested a plain statement relative to the Mayor's views of the proposition.

Mr. Stoy's reply was a strong indorsement of the bill, qualified by the explanation that the Mayor is not speaking for the City Council, which must appropriate an amount equal to that obtained from the State to make the extermination plan applicable.

TERM OF PARDONS COURT.

Cases of MacQueen and John P. Murphy to Be Reported.

Trenton, April 17.—The April term of the Court of Pardons will begin this week, probably Thursday. The court's committee, which has charge of examining applications for pardons and parole finished its work Friday.

Two important cases considered by the committee were those of William MacQueen, who was convicted of inciting riots in Paterson during a silk mill strike, and John P. Murphy, of this city, who is serving seventeen years for the murder of his wife.

Both of these applications have been before the court before, but it is understood that some new data has been placed at the disposal of the investigating committee, which will report when the court meets.

Famous Fishing Schooner Sold.

The Asbury Park fishing schooner Emma B. was sold at auction at the yard of the Perth Amboy Dry Dock Company last week to Captain Henry F. Pierce, one of its owners, for $2,200. The sale was held by United States Marshal for New Jersey Thomas J. Alcott as part of proceedings instituted because the owners had been unable to agree upon a settlement in dissolving their joint ownership.

On a platform of "the people before the bosses and graft" Assemblyman Alexander R. Fordyce, Jr., of Dayton, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for State Senator.

The Easter service of the Baptist, postponed on account of the weather, will be held next Sunday morning. Rev. Frank Fletcher will deliver an address.

Mrs. Charles Underhill, of New York, has returned to her home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbert L. Pierce, for a week.

Mrs. Stanley Day showed a decided improvement in her health last week. She seems to be gaining strength steadily.

Miss Annie Loudoerfer, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a week's visit to Miss Josephine Reusch.

The stage will be run from North and Washington avenues, tonight, to Friendship Hall for the minstrel show.

Frank Fletcher, Jr., sang a solo at the morning church service of the Baptist church Sunday.

The Misses Mary and Nettie Baldwin spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Van Alstyne have returned from a visit to friends in New York.

Mr. Hathaway returned yesterday from a two days' stay in New York.

Paul Carpenter will take possession of the Stelle house May 1.

Miss Reta Meeker is recovering from a several days' illness.

William Coriell has had his house repainted.

Mrs. J. Y. Ruppell is ill with the grip.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Aid Society will hold its annual meeting with election of officers Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Watson Payne's.

Albert Springer will soon remove to Asbury Park, where he will build a house on the lot recently purchased by him.

The weekly prayer meeting of the Baptist church will be held tonight in the lecture room.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church will be held in the chapel tomorrow night.

The third meeting in the series of Bible study, conducted by W. D. Murray at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "The Storm at Sea."

Auto Line Incorporators Meet.

The incorporators of the new Elizabeth-Rahway auto line met Saturday in Rahway. A temporary organization was effected to facilitate the preliminary operations. The entire field of auto transportation cars will be looked over with a view to securing the best and most reliable machines for the new service. It is desired to make the project a purely local enterprise, and a part of the stock will be put out for popular subscription.

Who Will Head Union Democracy.

Elizabeth, April 17.—It has not yet been decided who will succeed John Moody, of Cranford, as chairman of the Union County Democratic executive committee. Former County Clerk John L. Crowell, of Rahway, is talked about, but he seems averse to taking the job. He was chairman for several years. Colonel Dennis F. Collins, president of Elizabeth's City Council, is also spoken of for the vacant place.

Colonel Collins Sues for $5,088.

Elizabeth, April 17.—Colonel Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, has brought a suit in the Circuit Court for $5,088 against Joseph Nizolek, of Union county. The suit is to recover the amount of a promissory note for that amount given by the defendant, December 26, 1905, on the Union County Trust Company for thirty days, which was indorsed by Colonel Collins. It went to protest, hence the suit.

—The State Exempt Firemen's Association will hold its annual convention at Nutley on Wednesday, May 16.

SAY ALLEGED BIGAMIST LIVED IN NEWARK.

West Kinney Street Said to Have Been Address of Dr. P. R. Robinson.

Atlantic City, April 17.—Against Dr. Philip Randolph Robinson, the Cuban under arrest here, who is said to have lived at one time in West Kinney street, Newark, the charges of wholesale matrimony seem to be growing hourly from several cities. Captain of Detectives Maxwell has received telegrams asking for a more complete description of the prisoner and requesting that he be held until detectives from these cities can see him. Robinson is already under $2,000 bail upon charges preferred by five New York women, who say he wedded them, secured their money and valuables and then disappeared.

Robinson declares he is a much-persecuted man. All his troubles, he says, are due to his having a twin brother, Fitzgerald Robinson, the exact counterpart of himself, whose nuptial dealings have extended to many Eastern cities. "Put us side by side," he said last evening, when seen in his cell, "and you could not tell my brother from me."

Robinson is a puzzle to the police. He apparently knows more about his brother's life than his own, but the police place no credence in what they style his "twin-brother tale." He acknowledges he has not lived with his first wife for several years and does not know where she is at present.

"The police say you have twenty wives," Robinson was told.

"I never had but one real wife," he replied; "a common law wife is a real wife, and if I became enthused with other women after I separated from the first that isn't a legal marriage."

Robinson paled when told that he was accused of robbing his many alleged matrimonial victims. "Before God," he said, "I never did that. I'll make somebody pay for all these false charges preferred against me."

When arrested in a local hotel Robinson was acting as agent for a hair restoring and electric vibrating massage.

PRINCETON SECURES OPTION.

Wants Nassau House and National Hotel Property.

Princeton, April 17.—Princeton University has secured an option on the Nassau House and the old National Hotel, just across from the campus, and unless there is a change of the present plans the buildings will be used as dormitories by the incoming freshman class. The price agreed upon is $155,000.

For a long time the college people have felt the necessity for more dormitories for the students. Under the present conditions the students are trying to get into the college buildings that they may partake more and more of the student life and get something more out of their course than is afforded within the confines of a small college town.

The lot is 180 by 500 feet, and besides the smaller outbuildings and a four-story building with dining-rooms and kitchens, the hotels have eighty rooms, so that a part of the incoming freshman class can be accommodated.

ANCHORS THAT FOLD.

MODERN MUDHOOKS THAT OCCUPY LITTLE SPACE.

Constantly Increasing Demand for Them Occasioned by the Growing Numbers of Pleasure Craft.

"Folding beds are not the only things made to shut up," said the marine hardware man. "There is, for instance, the folding anchor.

"Originally all anchors were made with the stock stationary, and as the stock, at one end of the shank, was set at right angles to the shank and in effect parallel with the arms and flukes at the other end—the object of the stock, of course, being to tilt the anchor and make one of the flukes engage—a big anchor would take up a lot of space.

"The fixed stock of the old anchors were made of wood. Later they came to make them of iron, and these iron stocks they made movable so as to occupy less space when not in use. This was the first folding anchor.

"In these anchors, while the stock folds down, the arms, with flukes attached, still extend rigidly from either side at the foot of the shank. Then came the patent anchor, without a stock, and with flukes in line at the ends of an arm pivoted through the end of the shank.

"Thus pivoted the flukes can swing to either side of the shank, and the flukes are forged in such shape that when the anchor is dragged on the bottom their points are inclined downward and made to bury. With no stock attached, the shank of this anchor is pulled right in through the hawsepipe, the flat flukes lying snug against the side of he vessel.

"And now we have for smaller vessels folding anchors, anchors that actually fold up—of which there are a number of styles.

"One sort has no stock, but has four arms, somewhat like a grapple, so that one or more arms will engage on whatever side the anchor may fall. These four arms are each hinged where they are joined to the shank. They are held outward in place by a collar that slips down the shank upon them and locks them at the base.

"When the anchor is not in use the collar is slid back and the arms folded up against the shank, the collar being then slid down over their points to hold the arms there. So the anchor can be folded up completely.

"Another folding anchor is of the typical anchor form, with two arms terminating in flukes and with a stock in the regulation manner at right angles to the arms, with arms and stock both hinged where they join the shank. A pin holds the arms in place when extended and in like manner another pin holds the stock.

"When the arms are folded up against the shank their pin holds them in place there, and when the hinged stock is folded down against the shank the stock pin holds that there.

"Folding anchors all of galvanized iron are made in sizes ranging in weight from six pounds to 200 pounds. A six-pound folding anchor, folded, you could carry in your pocket easily. It might make your pocket sag a little, but there would be plenty of room for it there.

"How much of a boat an anchor will hold depends of course on the kind of boat and on the waters in which it is used, but that little six-pound folding anchor would do for a rowboat.

"Folding anchors are, of course, so made in order to save space. They are used on small boats, launches, power boats, yachts, pleasure craft of various sorts and often as spare anchors. Folded they can be stowed in a locker or in any convenient place. In this form they occupy but very little space.

"We have been selling folding anchors for some years, but now we sell more than ever, what with the constantly and greatly increasing numbers of pleasure craft in use."

Somewhat Fishy.

The best fishermen in the world are preachers, doctors and actors. And some of them are mighty hunters. Dr. Rainsford was without a peer. Good old Dr. Robert Collyer once said: "I think a trout really loves to be caught by a nimble angler and breathe out its life on the beautiful green grass." Bishop Dudley, of Kentucky, lived in the mountains a part of each year and was regarded as the crack shot of the blue grass state. Joseph Jefferson was one of the most expert anglers President Cleveland ever knew. It used to be said of Jefferson: "The fish held a meeting one day while Joe and Grover were wetting their lines and the spokesman said: 'Fellows, I want the first nibble at the old man's bait. All of you stand back. He may be smarter than I am, but I don't believe it. However, accidents happen in the best regulated families. If Rip lands me don't worry. It is always an honor to be a straphanger on his line.'"

Not Important.

"Here is a letter for you. I've carried around in my pocket for two weeks," said the trembling husband.

"That's all right," said his wife, with a smile, "it's only my dressmaker's bill."—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT COLBY MOVE DID

Fight Will Go Right on Until September Primaries.

BATTLES LOOKED FOR

Machine's Sidetracking of Reform Party's Bills Generally Understood—Talk Through the State.

There will be no interregnum in Jersey politics this year. Nobody in the business will get a vacation. The contest that resulted in the reform victory in the legislative session just closed goes right on. In almost every county there will be a battle from now until the primaries are held, in September, and from the primaries until elemtion. The man who stops to dream or idle will soon find himself out of the ranks.

There is only one opinion regarding the recent session. Had it not been for the Colby movement there would have been no equal taxation, limited franchise, maximum tax, municipal ownership or anti-corporation acts of any kind. That is admitted by the oldtime regulars as well as by the people. Only a few backwoods bigots refuse to recognize the purport of recent events. This can be stated without in the least reflecting upon the men who came in and helped the fight along. Edward C. Stokes and Frank O. Briggs, and especially the latter, accomplished wonders when they went to work, but they would not have gone to work on the current lines had it not been for what is termed the Colby movement. There would have been no such message as the Governor issued. There would have been no corporation defeat. There would have been no Perkins act had there been no Colby last fall and no Colby and Fagan sweep in Essex and Hudson.

This all goes without argument. The public understand it in North Jersey, and the public will understand it all over the state before summer is over. The reform campaign has really been in progress all through the session. Quiet meetings have been held in half a dozen counties, and organizations have been effected for the advancement of reform and the downfall of bossism. Now that the Legislature has adjourned, active and unceasing canvassing will begin. Men formerly identified with the machine are leaving the organization and joining the "progressive Republicans," as they are called.

Runon, of Union, and Fordyee, in Middlesex, are the latest adherents, and they promise to shake things up in great shape. Gradually the intelligent and representative newspapers in the country districts are leaving the old parties and coming into the liberal lines. One of the most prominent, and decidedly one of the ablest, rural weeklies in the state is expected to come out against the county machine and for the Colby movement in less than a month. The letters received constantly by Colby, Martin, Sheriff Sommer of Essex, and Fagan, of Hudson, indicate how rapidly yet quietly the people are grasping the trend of affairs.

Of course there will be many pitched battle and some setbacks for the reformers. Really the machine surrendered weeks ago, but the surrender was a shrewd one. The machine played the old but often effective game of asserting that all the great measures were its own. While Colby and Martin introduced about all of the measures whose principles were cut, the machine sidetracked them all in committee or on the floor, and then an organization man promptly introduced almost the identical bill and had it named after himself.

Hillery was substituted for Colby in the Senate and Perkins for Martin in the House. It all became too palpable, and the public is not deceived.

So far as the House was concerned, Martin became the real leader before the first month had passed. He stood so far above his fellows that the organization had all it could do to keep its men in line. It can be said with a good deal of truth that had the session lasted another month the machine would have lost control of the House. Nothing proved this more conclusively than the bitterness displayed by the machinites in the last week. Not being able to answer Martin, Morgan, Miller and others of the reform side, they resorted to ridicule of a stale kind and to abuse that almost bordered on billingsgate.

These unpleasant episodes aside, the session was really the best in results for years. Probably the greatest victory was in the defeat of the great corporations. Bill after bill was passed which was opposed to the best of their power by the corporations. The railroads, the water companies, the traction combination and all the large organizations went down, one after another. They fought hard, and they had a lobby here, despite the anti-lobby sentiment. But it was useless. With one exception, there was not een an intimation of bribery or attempted bribery. It was the cleanest session for years.—New York Tribune.

MR. WHIDDEN CHOICE FOR GRAND COMMANDER.

Trenton Man Will No Doubt Be Chosen as Leading Officer.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the annual meeting of the Grand Commandery, Knights of Malta of New Jersey, which meets in Trenton Wednesday, May 2. The most important matter to be brought before the convention is the election of a grand commander to succeed Right Eminent Sir Jacob Kirkner, of this city.

This officer is usually elected by the votes from the eight commanderies in the state before the annual meeting. This year there were four candidates and they all failed to get a majority. Consequently this yeaves the matter in the hands of the grand commendery. George W. Whidden, of Trenton has been named as a candidate and his friends will endeavor to secure him the office, although Mr. Whidden, it is believed, will not be able to fight the competition himself because of a recent serious illness.

The order in this state publishes a paper quarterly and the convention will decide whether this is to be continued or discontinued. There are a number of unimportant matters to be brought up. About 60 delegates from all parts of the state will attend.

STATE COMMANDERY, COLORED, MEETS HERE.

At Annual Election Wm. Jones Is Chosen Grand Commander of the State.

The annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, K. T., colored, of New Jersey, was held in the rooms of Cypress Commandery, this city, last night. The most important business was the election of officers: These were chosen:

Grand Commander, William Jones, Plainfield; deputy grand commander, William Noble, Trenton; generalissimo, Arthur Venable, Plainfield; captain general, William Scott, Newark; prelate, Edward Robinson, Newark; treasurer, William Douglass, Plainfield; grand recorder, Nathan J. Williams, Fair Haven; grand senior warden, Edward Johnson; grand junior warden, Wm. Randolph, Plainfield; grand warder, Nelson Batts, Plainfield; standard bearer, Charles Irby, Plainfield; sword bearer, Frank Jones, Trenton; inner guard, Joseph Dunham, Plainfield; outer guard, William Brown, Trenton; associate outer guard, Joseph Derry, Westfield.

Twenty-eight representatives attended the conclave and after the transaction of business Cypress Commandery entertained the visitors at a banquet.

PRESBYTERY IN SESSION.

Rev. W. T. St Stuchell, Is Elected Moderator.

The sixty-third annual meeting of the Elizabeth Presbytery convened today in the German Presbyterian church, Elizabeth. There are about seventy-five delegates, including several from this city. Rev. W. T. Stuchell, of Rahway, was elected moderator, succeeding Rev. Dr. Stanes, of Westfield.

Two candidates presented themselves for examination for the ministry, Henry A. Pearche, of this city, and Rev. Ernest R. Brown, of Carteret. The examination will probably last all of the afternoon.

In College Musical Clubs.

Erwin Briant Leland and Harold A. Nomer, members of the Williams College mandolin and glee musical clubs, now on an Easter week tour, appeared at a concert given last night at the Berkeley Lyceum, 44th street and Fifth avenue, New York. Tonight the clubs will lgive a concert at Englewood.

NEW JERSEY'S AUTO LAW

OLD LICENSES EXPIRE

Entries to Close Tomorrow for Big Beach Tournament at Atlantic City.

As the Frelinghuysen bill has been signed by Governor Stokes and will be a law in New Jersey after July 1, motorists are very much interested in its provisions. It has been amended so often since its introduction that some uncertainty exists as to just what is required by it. Succinctly stated, the new law provides:

Two brakes on cars of mare than ten horsepower.

There is to be a new automobile department with the assistant secretary of state as chief commissioner at $1,500 a year. This commissioner has authority to revoke licenses and to renew them at his pleasure.

Applicants for licenses must not be less than sixteen years of age, and must pass an examination.

All motor inspectors, seven in number, are given the power to arrest without warrant, provided they wear their badge of office conspicuously.

Cars must bear only the numbers of the New Jersey license, both front and rear, as at present.

Motor vehicles at less than 30 horsepower are to be licensed at $3 a year. Those of more than 30 horsepower are to be licensed at $5 a year. Where hyphenated horsepower is given the greater horsepower is recognized.

Transfers of automobiles make licenses void, but the license may be validated upon payment of the fee of $1. Motor cycles must be registered in the same way at $1 each.

Manufacturers' and dealers' licenses good for five cars, may be obtained for $20, in which case, the letter M must be displayed on the license number tags.

Chauffeurs are license for $1 per year for cars of less than 30 horsepower, and $2 a year for cars of greater horsepower.

Registration numbers must be kept clean and free from dust or grease, and must be not less than four inches high.

In case of an accident, the automobilist must stop and give his name and address, and the names and addresses of each male occupant of his car.

Speed is limited to one mile in seven minutes on curves, one mile in four minutes at crossings in the open country, one mile in five minutes at crossings in cities, one mile in four minutes within 200 feet of horse, and twenty miles an hour in other places. Automobilists must step for horsemen to pass if the latter so request with the uplifted hand.

Motor vehicles may be accepted as bonds. Defendants may appeal from the rule of magistrate by giving a bond not exceeding $500, such an appeal to constitute a stay.

Arrests may be made without warrant.

Penalties include a fine of not more than $100 for failure to properly register or display numbers, failure to pay which means ten days' imprisonment. Double penalties are provided for a second offense. Fines or imprisonment are also provided for failure to give information and address when required, for failure to make a service registration with the secretary of state, and for driving on a wager. All old licenses are void after July 1, when the new act becomes operative. All moneys derived from the license fees shall be used for road improvement except $3,000 that may be expended for the erection of guide posts, warnings, etc.

Chief Murphy's Play Produced.

Chief of Police Benjamin Murphy, of Jersey City, returned yesterday afternoon from Hot Springs, where he attended the annual convention of the chiefs of police. He reached Jersey City in time to supervise the first performance of his new playlet, one of the series he has written, under the title of "Scenes in the Station House." The play was given for the benefit of the Police Mutual Aid Association. It was well received.

Petit Jurors.

The petit jurors for the next term of court from this city will be Cyrus Boice, Hugh McDonald, Henry Paul, William R. Mellick, Cornelius van-Herwerden, M. J. O'Keefe and Lewis Randolph. Deputy Sheriff Weaver served the papers this morning.

Exempts' Relic Moved.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

By Tom Muir.

"The Prince of Pilsen" will be greeted by a big house tonight, which is no more than it should be. It is the largest and costliest production that Manager Counihan has yet brought to the city and comes directly from its New York theatre run with principals and chorus intact.

The appearance of Miss Adele von Ohl, the Hippodrome plunger, on North avenue, Sunday, created something of a sensation on that usually blase thoroughfare. The daring young equestrienne sported a jauntily tipped sombrero and a fawn-colored whatche-may-call-it coat that caused more discussion than the three hundred per which comes her way every week. If poor old Dick Foote, who first recognized Adele's aptitude for the stage, could have seen her, he would have gone to his reward with a great weight lifted from his heart.

Mr. Hotchkiss, the author of several novels of Colonial life in America, has written to the management of "The Strength of the Weak," which appeared in Plainfield last night, reminding them that he published a book under that title several years ago, and implying that he intends to have his rights in the matter protected legally. The novel in question deals with the French and Indians in lower Canada in pre-Revolutionary days. As the play of the same name is a modern problem play dealing with the life of a young college woman of today, it may be supposed that the two stories are entirely separate and that the similarity of title is merely a coincidence. Whether Mr. Hotchkiss can and will secure an injunction against the play at the last moment is a matter of considerable interest. In the meantime, Miss Florence Roberts' management have instructed their lawyer in the matter and further developments may be expected before the production opens up an engagement at the Liberty theatre in New York tonight.

PROF. BEVIER ON POETS

SOME CLASSICAL MUSIC

Master Pasquale Tallerico Gives Exhibition at the Piano—His Work Arouses Enthusiasm.

An evening of music and poetry was enjoyed by the members and friends of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church last night. The programme opened and closed with several classical selection by Master Pasquale Tallerico, the gifted boy pianist, and his performance aroused the much enthusiasm. Although but sixteen years old, this youthful musician executes the difficult compositions with true expression and in the rendition of one of his own selections there was perfect harmony and a peculiar charm that won hearty applause. He was obliged to respond to two encores, in addition to the five regular numbers.

The greater part of the evening was occupied with an informal talk by Prof. Louis Bevier, Jr., teacher of Greek and literature at Rutgers College, who spoke for over an hour on "Two American Poets—Holmes and Lowell."

Prof. Bevier briefly sketched the career of Holmes first, stating that he was graduated from Harvard in the Class of 1829, which afterward became famous because of the fact that Holmes was a member of it. He then told of his efforts to save the frigate, "Constitution," through a poem which he wrote. Prof. Bevier declared this same poem to be responsible for the recent action of Congress in appropriating $10,000,000 for the construction of a new "Constitution," which will be even bigger than the "Dreadnaught," the largest and newest battleship in the English navy, and to appropriate $100,000 to preserve the old "Constitution."

The professor then said that Holmes started to study medicine, going abroad to complete his education. Upon his return to Boston he began to practice, but with little success. He afterward became a professor in Harvard Medical School, when the faculty consisted of seven members. After a service of thirty-five years the faculty increased to seventy.

The speaker referred at some length to "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," one of the best known writings of Holmes and commented upon it, also reading extracts from the book. He also spoke of "Over the Tea Cups," written by Holmes in 1888, and said that he could write a metrical essay, something rather difficult to do.

Particular reference was made to the class poems written annually by Holmes that would lift one out of occasional verse to real poetry. He read some of the best known poems, including "Bill and Joe," "Boys," "The Last Leaf," and "Aunt Tabatha," all of which illustrated some of the poet's best endeavor. In the opinion of the professor Holmes could not be dull no matter how serious.

Regarding Lowell, he said that he was born in 1849, like Holmes was a graduate of Harvard and destined to be a literary man. He began to study law, but had a distressful time in doing so. He received his inspiration in hearing Daniel Webster plead a case, but finally gave up the law and began to write for the "Literary Freeman," at a salary of $500 a year. He was married soon afterward and Prof. Bevier said, "his wife steadied him to his true life purpose, but the death of three children gave Lowell a certain pathos which is plainly seen in his poem 'She Came and Went.' He was a little austere and was never able to get in close touch with students and that fact saddened him. He was a man of the greatest versatility. In 1848, at the age of twenty-nine years, he wrote the famous 'Biglow Papers,' and 'A Fable for Critics,'' in which there is much true literary merit. I consider him the most profound of our nature poets."

In his concluding remarks about Lowell he read his well-known selection, "The Courtin'," and in his comparison of Holmes and Lowell he said it would be difficult to find two poets more unlike. Holmes was polished to the last degree, while Lowell was rugged and critics even objected to the spirit of some his writings. While Holmes was a versatile man he was not so as a poet. He gives one the impression that he wrote all that was within him, while Lowell, who had a wider range, there appears a spirit of mourning on his part that he didn't do the great things that he might have done.

Prof. Bevier said in closing that he had often been asked whether there were any great American poets, and in reply stated that while possibly there were no American poets as great as the English, the American poets all served great causes.

Mr. French has rented the Blackmore house for Miss Hoyt to H. Herndon, a New York lawyer, who will take up his residence here with his family, about May 1.

Mr. French has also renewed the lease on Mrs. Negley's property on West Seventh street and Hobart avenue, to John H. Greene, Jr., for another year. R. F. Goldsborough, of New York, has rented the house owned by Henry G. Atwater, No. 1107 East Front street from May 1. Mrs. Charlotte Fritz has rented the house owned by Charles P. Sebring, No. 37 Prospect place, in Washington Park. Richard Boardman, a Jersey City lawyer, has rented the property owned by Mrs. Swinton, No. 914 Putnam avenue.

Among the recent purchasers of lots at Highland Park are Mrs. Harvey R. Linbarger, of this city, and Thomas N. Brandon and John I. Brower, of New York. Charles Kofoed, of this city, has bought two lots of the Inter-Urban Realty Company, on McCrea place, and Angus Allen, also of this city, has bought two lots of the same company, on Wiley avenue.

John C. Byrnes, of this city, and Mrs. J. Saurez, of Porto Rico, have moved with their families in the New Madison. Richard P. Elliott has bought the property formerly owned by Calvin Neighbor on Cottage place. Emil Brazard has removed his place of business from Park avenue to No. 113 East Fourth street. D. Danzinger, formerly living on West Second street, has rented the house owned by Mr. Martens, No. 329 East Third street.

COAL PIRATES ACTIVE.

Robberies Off Elizabethport Are Growing More Frequent.

Elizabeth, April 17.—Inspired by hope of greater gain because of a threatened strike in the anthracite fields, coal pirates of the Kills have been so active of late that almost every tow of barges up from the Amboys has to be conveyed past Elizabethport. For years the pirates have been a source of annoyance and loss to coal shippers, but it was not until lately that their depredations became so extensive as to rouse the police authorities to action.

Instead of working singly or in couples, the pirates now have a more or less closely knit organization, and have established several supply depots on the banks of Elizabeth Creek, just this side of the Baltimore and Ohio bridge, between Elizabethport and Staten Island. In abandoned boathouses and in piles along the creek they have been storing coal and holding it against an expected big advance in price.

Captain Tighe, in command of the harbor squad, has had a police boat in the Kills almost continuously for weeks, and on Friday he personally took command of the situation. Yet even under the eyes and actually under the guns of the police the pirates managed to steal a few tons. To call these men pirates is not a mere figure of speech. They come within a strict interpretation of the federal statutes defining piracy, the closing words of which are "and the penalty shall be death."

High School Alumni Dinner.

Among the speakers at the annual dinner and reunion of the Newark High School Alumni, to be held in the Continental Hotel in that city Friday night, will be Frank Vanderlip, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; John Brisbin Walker, Mayor Doremus, President David A. McIntyre, of the Board of Education; Dr. Addison B. Poland, city Superintendent of Schools, and Principal Wayland E. Stearns, of the High School.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Parker, of Grove street, are stopping in Chicago for a short time.

JUDGE VOORHEES SITS IN CIRCUIT.

Hunterdon Circuit First and Then in Middlesex County Court.

Chief Justice Gummere yesterday filed in the office of the supreme court the first assignments of Circuit Court Judge Foster M. Voorhees, the former governor, who was nominated for office as judge by Governor Stokes last week and confirmed by the senate.

Judge Voorhees is to sit in the Hunterdon county circuit from April 16 to April 21 and in the Middlesex circuit from April 21 to April 30, inclusive.

Judge Voorhees and Governor Stokes have been warm personal friends for many years, and the appointment of the judge was considered a personal one, though the standing of the judge is such that it is one reflecting great credit on the entire bar of the state.

Wherever human beings live, struggle, love, hate, plan and suffer, the comedy drama will always be the most popular form of theatrical entertainment. It is simply because the comedy drama appeals with a wonderful directness and intimacy to the average person by its close affiliation with everyday human life. It is said that truth is stranger than fiction and the same applies to plays as well as to books, and while there are enacted about us every day little plays, comedies or tragedies, that equal and often excel in interest or pathos the plays put upon the stage, it is not always that playwrights succeed in presenting no less interesting stories to the theatre patron. In the case of that great masterpiece of modern high class up-to-date comedy drama, called "A Ragged Hero," the author, Maurice J. Fielding, has with rare skill succeeded in furnishing a play that has all the naturalness of reality with the thrills, comedy and romance of a stage production. It will be presented at the New Plainfield threatre tomorrow night.

That whirlwind of fun and nonsense, "Girls Will Be Girls," headed by the Prince of Fun-makers, Al. Leech, assisted by his three charming Rosebuds and a company of forty singers will appear at the New Plainfield theatre on May 5.

"The Prince of Pilsen," a musical comedy perrenial of charm and beauty, will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tonight by a cast of remarkable individual and collective ability and attractiveness. It is now in its fourth year of unexampled success, and so long a term of popularity rarely falls to the lot of this evanescent style of theatrical entertainment.

Kyrle Bellew, the celebrated English actor, who will appear in "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, while he is in no sense of the word a faddest, has one hobby. It is a boat. Nine months of the year he works hard, hard and faithfully on land. Three months he lives at sea. When the season closes he rushes to the first outgoing steamer and sets his face toward England. "I'm going home," he said. But home means no sumptous apartments in London. It means no box-hedged country place in the lovely English country. It means his sailing yacht, the Moonstone.

"Some day," he says, "I suppose I shall have to get me a little place somewhere in England to settle down in and call home in my old age, but it seems to me that a boat will give me all the home I shall ever need or want."

Each summer he almost literally steps from the steamer to the Moonstone, and save for an occasional brief visit, earth does not know his tread again until the call comes for another stage season.

Wants $5,000 from Brewing Co.

Elizabeth, April 17.—Terence Drum, of this city, has brought an action in tort in the Union County Circuit Court against the Rising Sun Brewing Company of Elizabeth, from which corporation he wants $5,000 damages. He has not yet filed a stated declaration as to his alleged grievance against the defendants. Drum formerly conducted a saloon at Berkeley Heights, in New Providence Township.

—Tickets for the entertainment to be given by the Ithaca male quartette and Miss Flora Stoll, reader at Y. M. C. A. hall, on Saturday evening, may be obtained at the drug stores without charge. A silver offering will bereceived. Ickets for the concerts to be given by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, April 24 and 30, may be obtained in the same way.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

"It cost me my day yesterday. You owe me $400. But never mind, I forgive you for the story's sake."—Mark Twain to Harry Leon Wilson.

The above is what the most genial of American humorists says of the most typical of American stories which this paper will begin running as a serial within a short time. It is called

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Author of "The Lions of the Lord," Etc.

The Spenders is a story of the third generation, and the leading characters are an old man who made his money in the West, and his grandson who is spending the family fortunes in the East. It is the ideal American Novel, and every one of our readers will find it intensely interesting.

THE OPENING CHAPTERS WILL BEGIN IN THIS PAPER WITHIN A SHORT TIME

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." LITERARY.

"The Man With the Muck Rake" is the title chosen by Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the American Magazine, for a vigorous editorial in the May number protesting against the excesses of the "literature of exposure." After indicating the courses advocated for the nation by the extremists, both conservative and radical, the editor points out a third cause—that of the "square deal," which, he says, in the end will prevail. The cover of the magazine gives picturesque notice of the feature of this number; the first installment of "The Mystery," a novel of adventure by Stewart Edward White and Samuel Hopkins Adams. The "mystery" begins with the first chapter when the shaft of light shoots out of the sea and the schooner that "steers herself," without a soul on board, is sighted. Interest in the new serial by no means overshadows the other contributions to this number. "Purged by Fire" is an attractive account of the training and life of New York firemen by Harvey O'Higgins. The article is illustrated with some exceptional "fire" photographs. Another article, profusely illustrated, is "The Finger Tips of Allah," a new picture of the East, by Broughton Brandenburg. "I Am Nothing: Freedom is All," the story of Ivanovitch Narodny, reported by Leroy Scott, is the story of Russia's struggle for freedom epitomized in a personal narrative of absorbing interest.

A writer in the March Architectural Record Magazine recently looked in vain through the revivified city of Paterson for some evidence of the realization of hopes that in reconstructing the business quarter after the fire some general architectural scheme would be followed. What he saw in what seemed to be the main street, was the kind of commercial architecture that one sees in any American town of the size of Paterson, an architecture pretentious, squalid and depressing. It is mainly depressing, one notes, by reason of the intensity of the individualism displayed in it. Each builder or, in this case, each rebuilder, does what he will with his own, does what is right in his own eyes, without the least sense of common decency or good neighborhood. And what is good in his own eyes is to make his confounded place of business conspicuous at the expense of everybody else. The great object of commercial art, Ruskin says somewhere, is conspicuousness.

The April-June Forum, just out, maintains the high position of this authoritative American quarterly review of politics, finance, science, literature, and art, and prints in addition several special articles of important and timely interest. Henry Litchfield West, writing of "American Politics," discusses the great questions now before Congress, including the Philippine tariff, the statehood bill, and that for the regulation of railroad rates. "Foreign Affairs" are reviewed in illuminative style by A. Maurice Low, with special reference to the sweeping Liberal victory in the recent general election in Great Britain; and to the international conference, at Algeciras, on the Moroccan matter. Alexander D. Noyes, on "Finance," is unusually instructive, especially in his analysis of the Armstrong Committee. "The Educational Outlook," according to Ossian H. Lang, shows research and "investigation" as likely to become ruling fads in the school world; and this experienced writer urges the adoption of some plan for teaching morality in the common schools of the United States. Prof. W. P. Trent's literary paper treats entertainingly of the late Dr. Birkbeck Hill and his posthumously published edition of Johnson's "Lives of the Poets." "Applied Science," with particular attention to transportation problems, occupies the able and alert pen of Henry Harrison Suplee. Joseph Sohn, in his review of "Music" during the past season, will delight music-lovers.

HERESY TRIAL NEAR.

Case Against Dr. Cropsey, Who Once Preached Here.

Buffalo, April 17.—One of the most important heresy trials in the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America begins at Batavia, N. Y., today, in the parish house of St. James' church, of that city. The Rev. Dr. Algernon S. Crapsey, rector of one of the most influential parishes in Rochester, N. Y., who preached in Grace church, Plainfield, less than a year ago, is to be tried for alleged violation of his ordination vows by five clergymen of the Episcopal Church selected by the council of that denomination. The coming trial has caused wide controversy not only in the United States and Canada, but in England and other foreign countries.

In Rochester the people, without regard to religious affiliations, are declared to be much in favor of the accused rector. Dr. Crapsey and his friends say that it is not he but the Church that is on trial. He contends that he has taught nothing in his sermons and writings inconsistent with the Scriptures, and that he will prove his case by them.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The motorcycle season in the East will be formally opened on Sunday 22d inst., by the New York Motorcycle Club's open century run from Brooklyn to Patchogue, L. I., and return. The start will be made from Bedford Rest at 8:30 a. m. The maximum time limit will be ight hours and the minimum six hours. Silver medals will be awarded all who survive within those limits.

The Brooklyn Motorcycle Club's century over the same course will occur on May 8. Instead of medals, the Brooklynites will inaugurate an innovation by awarding the survivors gold lettered blue ribbons and rosettes and by making the entry fee good also for dinner at Patchogue.

GOLF.

The Plainfield Country Club is preparing to open its course and the clubhouse for the season. The links are in excellent condition and with a little work it will be possible to have regular play on them. The clubhouse has been undergoing a general renovation and will be in readiness when the active season begins.

TROLLEY FREIGHT LINES.

Four Trenton Companies and New Law.

Trenton, April 17.—As a result of the passage of a law recently by the legislature empowering trolley companies to carry freight all of the four trolley companies running into this city—the Trenton Passenger Railroad Company, the Camden and Trenton Trolley Company, the Johnson Trolley Company and the New Brunswick Fast Line—are preparing to take advantage of the law and are having their cars equipped for that purpose.

The freight business on the trolley lines running into this city will have the advantage of a great many other cities because of the fact that the New Brunswick line connects with the Delaware River Navigation Company through the Trenton Passenger Railway Company.

The Delaware River Navigation Company recently passed into the hands of New York and Philadelphia capitalists, who, in anticipation of the passage of this law, began to make preparations to handle the freight from the trolley. New boats are to be placed on the rier and other extensive improvements are under way. Among the reports current concerning the sale of the company are that C. W. Morse, of New York, is behind the scheme. Mitchell Perkins and Henry V. Massey are interested in the concern, the purchase price of which is said to be $500,000. The ony boats now in use are the Columbia, Twilight, Bristol and Burlington. The old company carried more than 300,000 passengers last season and is said to have received $150,000 for carrying freight.

Arrested for Entering Own House.

Perth Amboy, April 17.—Peter Costello was committed to jail Sunday in default of $1,000 bail on a charge of breaking and entering the house at 23 Mechanic street, occupied by his family. Until recently Costello was prominently identified with the clay industry and for ten years he was a justice of the peace. He has not supported his family recently or had any communication with them. Saturday he went to their home, broke through three doors and was arrested in their apartments. They fled before him, the children securing a policeman. Mrs. Costello found refuge in a neighbor's house.

THE SOMERVILLE SERIES

Dyed-in-the-Wood Sports of Somerset Want to See Old Rivalry Revived.

ONE CRANK'S BIG WAIT

Holiday Games Would Be Profitable to Both Clubs—Mathewson on the Mend—High School Reverses.

Will a series with Somerville be arranged? That is the absorbing question of the hour. Will the cranks of Somerville be content with the salve that oozes forth after a victory over a weakling club? Not by a jug full. The old time enthusiasts, those who went through the exciting era of fifteen years ago, in the days of John Harkins the Great, Carbonell, George Gore, Jack Farrell, Tommy Esterbrook, and other old West End idols, want to see a series with Plainfield. To beat Plainfield there is glory. Defeating Garwood, Bound Brook, and teams of Dunellen calibre is very tame sport indeed for these old veterans of the late 80's and early 90's to look forward to.

The Somerville situation was laid bare by a native of that burg last night who paid a visit to Timbo's Amen corner. This is what he said in part: "Conkling wants to play Plainfield but there is a clique of tenderfoots down our way in the club who are satisfied with school-boy baseball, and they out-number the genuine sports. Conkling is all right and I am not afraid to bet ten dollars that a series between Plainfield and Somerville will be arranged before many moons."

The Somervillian was getting along very good in his argument, but was choked off in his conversation by Charlie Butts, the local humorist, and John Venable, who started a lively debate over the merits and demerits of Crowdy and his feet washing belief.

But this fellow from Somerville has got the right idea. He says he is backed up by Chester Cawley. If Cawley is in for the series and Conkling anxious, the two C's should get together and start to saw wood right away.

There should be no dilly dallying on the part of Somerville. Get together, show your sporting blood, get a team together and beat us if you can. The crowds will come either way.

If games are arranged with Somerville on Decoration Day and July 4 the coffers of both clubs will overflow with gold. The situation is this. Manager Daab is anxious to arrange a six game series (so was Manager Conkling last January). Mr. Daab has written the Somerville management suggesting that Plainfield play in Somerville Decoration Day morning and Somerville come here in the afternoon; Somerville to play in Plainfield July 4 in the morning and Plainfield play in Somerville in the afternoon, the other two games to be played on Saturdays or Labor Day. The biggest baseball attraction ever offered in these regions for a holiday. The fans would swarm about like bees around a honeysuckle vine.

Warry MacLaughlin started for New London yesterday with bats and baggage.

Lou Wiltse reported in York, Pa., yesterday, but expects to return and spend Sunday in Plainfield.

Christy Mathewson is gradually recovering from his illness. Yesterday he took a short walk with Dr. Cregar. He doesn't expect, however, to be able to pitch before at least two weeks.

Captain Joe Gavett's High School aggregation will take a trip on the Essex circuit Saturday. In the morning they play Montclair and go to Orange in the afternoon.

Thus far the record of the team has been an inglorious one and sad to its followers. One game has been won out of four played. Critics of the team say that a coach is necessary. Last year the team had one and won games. This season it started off without a coach and is losing them. Quite a contrast.

P. H. S. IS SHUT OUT BY CAMP BOWSER

MINFORD'S PITCHING EFFECTIVE, AND BOWSER WINS BY SCORE OF 8 TO 0.

The base ball team representing the Plainfield High School was shut out for the first time this season in the annual game with Camp Bowser, a team composed of collegians residing in this city. The game was played yesterday afternoon on Crescent Oval, the final score being 8 to 0.

"Lev" Minford, of Hotchkiss school, was on the slab for the Bowser team, and his delivery was a puzzle to the high school lads from start to finish. Failure to connect with his curves caused the high school's defeat. But two hits were secured from his delivery, and seventeen of the high school team bit the dust. Minford was well supported by his teammates, not a misplay being chalked up against them.

Stuart Freeman pitched a good game for Plainfield High School, and the heavy hitting members of Camp Bowser could only manage to hit him for seven bingles. Captain Davis was back again in the game, behind the mask, and with Loizeaux and Brakeley in the field the team proved to be much stronger. Douglass and Harding played star games for Plainfield High School, while Craig, of last year's high school team, and Brown and Overton did some brilliant work for Camp Bowser.

Captain Davis will have his team out most every day this week and he will try to bring about better results in the team's batting before the locals journey to Orange and Montclair, on Saturday, to play a double-header with the high school teams of those places.

GUN CLUB WILL HOLD BIG SHOOT NEXT WEEK

FIRST EVENT OF THE YEAR—CRACK SHOTS WILL EXHIBIT.

This city will be the Mecca for well known professional shooters in this section next Tuesday. On that day the Plainfield Gun Club will hold a big shoot on its ground, East Second street. It will be the first shoot of the year, and arrangements have been made to start the new season, through the coming shoot, in a way that will add activity and interest to the club and the sport in general for the rest of the year.

Clubs all about this vicinity have been invited to take part in the shoot, and a big attendance of ambitious and capable amateurs are expected. The prizes will all go to the amateur shooters, and none of those who shoot outside of the professional ranks need hesitate to enter for fear some professional mug-hunter will be up against him all the way.

The professionals will appear merely as exhibition shootres. Shooting as such, they will serve as a great drawing card. They ought to, because some of the cleverest marksmen in the country are among those who have already signified their intention of taking part. The list of cracks who will smash the blue rocks includes Apgar, Elliott, Heere, Waters, Fanning, Glover, Snyder, Nichols, Keller, Jr., Butler and Wells.

Ten events are on the card, with a full line of prizes. Two of the events will carry merchandise prizes; the others will be sweepstakes.

PERSONAL.

The Misses Shreve, of Grove street, have gone to Philadelphia to spend Easter week with friends.

Fred Hankinson, of Newark, was visiting his aunt, Mrs. L. C. Phoebus, of Plainfield avenue, Easter Sunday.

Miss Mabel Hamilton, of Verdon street, is spending three weeks with relatives in New York and Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Worth, who have spent the winter in New York, have returned to Plainfield for the season.

SKEEING IN THE HIGH ALPS

Expert Jumpers Sometimes Make Phenomenal Leaps from the "Hop."

In Technical World Magazine, Fritz Morris describes the use of skees, for both business and pleasure, in all the European mountain countries. In Norway one of the great events of the year is a national meet of skee-runners and jumpers.

"The skeeing track lies on the face of a hill rising from a frozen lake to a height of nearly 160 feet. The length of the track, on the slope, is 190 yards; and the "hop" or platform from which the leap is taken is located about two-thirds of the way down. The angle of the hill above the "hop" is about 15 degrees, and that of the lower portion 24 degrees; and the time occupied in descending from summit to base, when the snow is in perfect condition, is about 15 seconds. On a recent occason one man, a noted jumper, Olaf Tandberg, made a grand leap of 102 feet—the longest on Holmenkolen track—but fell. The best "standing jump," by which is meant one in which the man keeps his feet on alighting, and continues to the end without falling, was made by Leip Berg, who covered 93 feet. On such a day the falls, as might be expected, were numerous. During the first run, in which 140 men took part, only 64 kept their feet after leaping."

Doubling Up Battleships.

First England, as a result of observations of the Russo-Japanese war, began building an 18,000-ton battleship. Next Japan laid the keels of two such vessels. Then France decided that she would have three of them. Now we are told that Germany will increase to that size two which she is about to build. As our readers will recall our having observed before, the era of big battleships does not seem yet to be past.—N. Y. Tribune.

Music at the P. H. S. Tonight.

The fifth entertainment of the musical clubs of the Plainfield High School will be given tonight in the auditorium of the school.

—The postponed auction sale of real estate and personal property belonging to C. J. Ackerman, of Clinton avenue, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock.

ELIZABETH PRESBYTERY

73rd Meeting Opened in the German Church, Elizabeth.

PLAINFIELDERS THERE

Henry A. Pearce Admitted to Examination — Other Business Transacted.

The seventy-third stated meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth held yesterday in the German Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, was largely attended. Among those in attendance were Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel; Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church; Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, and Elders Leander Lovell and William H. Shotwell, of the Crescent Avenue and First church respectively. Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First church, could not attend on account of illness.

The moderator, the Rev. William B. Stuchell, of Rahway, called the session to order and in the absence of the Rev. Dr. John E. Kerr, the Rev. Mr. Reeve, of Westfield, was elected active clerk. The Rev. Samuel Parry, of Pluckamin, the stated clerk, read the minutes as recorded in the book.

The roll call, the hearing of excuses and the dismissal and reception of members, the election of a moderator, which resulted in Dr. Stuchell being again chosen; the election of a temporary clerk and other routine business was then taken up.

The Rev. Eben B. Cobb, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Elizabeth; the Rev. W. W. Casselberry, of Dunellen, and the Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, of this city, were elected a committee to nominate members of a standing committee, and the Rev. Dr. Joseph B. Ferguson, pastor of the Greystone Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, was elected chairman of the committee on sessional records for a term of three years.

Ernest R. Brown, the local evangelist who has been doing good work at Carteret, was admitted preliminary to ordination.

The reports of standing committees from the Revs. Hamilton, W. T. Stuchell, Condit, J. O. McKelvey, Wirth and others were read.

Henry A. Pearce, of this city, presented himself for admission to the ministry. His examination was deferred, however, until next June. Leander N. Lovell, of this city, was elected commissioner to the general assembly to be held at Des Moines the middle of next month, and Rev. L. R. Howard was elected alternate to Rev. Samuel Parry, of Elizabeth

BIG EARTHQUAKE AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Buildings Wrecked, Lives Lost and Many Fires Follow Shock.

A report received from New York early today states that a severe earthquake wrecked many buildings and caused loss of life in San Francisco this morning. The shock was felt at 5.13, San Francisco time.

Following the wrecking of the buildings many fires broke out. The Postal Telegraph office was wrecked and communication was lost at 8.50 New York time.

Chicago, Ill., April 18.—The telegraph companies are entirely without wires to San Francisco. The Sacramento office of the Western Union reports a very heavy earthquake on the Pacific coast with heavy damage in San Francisco.

Considerable damage from the earthquake is reported as having occurred in the city of Sacramento.

Retail Druggists Elect.

The Plainfield Retail Druggists Association elected the following officers yesterday: President, Clayton M. Nagle; vice president, John P. Powers; secretary and treasurer, Dudley Miller. A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual banquet to be held next month.

Co. K Invited.

Co. K has been selected as one of the State military organizations to attend the unveiling of a monument at Phillipsburg on May 10 and to attend another celebration at Red Bank in June. At the latter place there will be pick companies from Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania.

When you want butter that is surely good butter, ask for either Rockdale print or creamery, or Elgin creamery. They represent the best in the market.

—For headache and neuralgia look to your eyes. Eye strain is generally the cause. Consult Stiles & Co., eye specialists, at 105 East Front street, tomorrow, Thursday. Free examination.

CHARGED TROLLEY RAIL

Front Street Business Men Say It Knocks Down Horses.

OLD MAN BOWLED OVER

Langton Harral, seventy-one years old, of 139 West Front street, was knocked down by one of the horses attached to Otto Ahrens' carriage, and run oer, at Park avenue and Front street, this morning. He was bruised and shaken up, but not hurt seriously enough to require the services of a doctor.

The police were told by storekeepers about the corner that the accident resulted from a charged trolley rail. Eyewitnesses agreed that the horses gave a sudden leap as the carriage crossed the track to turn into Park avenue, and broke from the driver's control. The business men said two horses within two weeks have been knocked down as they touched the rail at the corner.

The driver of the Ahrens' carriage, who succeeded in pulling his horses up halfway down the block, said he couldn't understand the sudden jump. The pair is staid and unexcitable, and something very unusual must have started them.

Chief Kiely investigated the charged rail stories, and learned that sparks come from it. He decided that it was time the P. S. C. did something about it, and sent Officer Overbaugh to the district office on Watchung avenue to order immediate attention to the case.

"Tell them this rail is charged, and it has to be fixed at once," said the chief.

It hadn't been attended to an hour later, but a man at the office told a reporter who asked about it that the trouble would be remedied "right away."

The reporter asked how the rail could become charged and the official explained that it wasn't and couldn't. He scoffed at the notion of a current leaking into the steel rail.

"Only the return to the power house goes through the rail," he said. "The sparks up there were caused by a broken bond wire. We'll fix that."

The reporter asked a district inspector of the telephone company, who holds his job because he knows a lot about electricity, whether a trolley rail could become charged. He said he didn't want to say anything like that about the trolley company. "Ask them," he advised, in the careful tone a man uses when he is discussing a friend's faults with an unfriendly critic.

IGNORED THE SUMMONS.

Board of Health Will Now Take Further Steps Against Mrs. Ruggles.

Mrs. Ruggles, the aged colored woman against whom a complaint was made before the Board of Health for maintaining a home that was considered unsanitary, did not appear before the board yesterday afternoon the time set for a hearing in the matter. The complaint was made by health officer Leon R. Thurlow, who, at the request of the board is trying to rid the city of old rookeries of the undesirable type, and the failure of Mrs. Ruggles to take cognizance of the summons to appear, will undoubtedly result in the matter being placed in the hands of Corporation Counsel Marsh for an opinion.

The Board of Health is acting in accordance with ordinances governing its duties and it will now be up to Mr. Marsh to further instruct the board as to what action can be taken. There are other places in the city in the same condition as that of Mrs. Ruggles and the board proposes to get after the owners of the property and see that they make them sanitary and fit to live in.

Books for P. H. S. Library.

Among the books recently presented to the Plainfield High School library are: Gordon's History of New Jersey, Lewpriere's Classical Dictionary, Mrs. I. Renwick Glen, and Report of the U. S. Geological Survey, Mrs. C. A. Fitz-Gerald. F. O. Herring has recently presented to the school a valuable bronze bas-relief medallion showing the head of Abraham Lincoln.

Missing Maid at Saints' Service.

Julia Suarez, a maid employed in the New Madison flats, was reported missing yesterday afternoon to the police. She was found later at the Church of God and Saints of Christ meeting in Reform Hall.

Announce Engagement.

The engagement is announced of Miss F. Ursula Krewson, daughter of Frank C. Krewson, of this city, and H. Clifford Brokaw, of New York.

PROGRAMME OF CIRCUS

Thrilling Acts to be Seen at the Boys' Club Show.

FIVE FUNNY CLOWNS

Difficult and Dangerous Feats Will be On the Bill—Roman Ladder Stunt to Climax the Performance.

All preparations for the first amateur circus of the Boys' club, Sycamore street, have been completed. The final rehearsal of the different acts will be held tonight, and tomorrow evening the first of the two-nights' performance will be presented at the club gymnasium.

A strong bill has been arranged. All of the turns will be thrillers, and the best semi-professional and amateur gymnasts and acrobats will appear in them. Nine acts are on the programme, and five funny clowns will keep the audience amused with their quips and merry antics all during the show.

Three of the acts will be of unusual nature, not at all the kind ordinarily seen at amateur circuses. Frank Shepherd, well known as a clever gymnast, will perform difficult slackwire and juggling acts. To be able to walk inside of a bicycle run, pick a handkerchief from the wire while balancing in a difficult position, and walk up a ladder held by the teeth with the wire in full swin, as he does easily, stamps him as an artist of ability.

Louis Rhodier will be seen in the most dangerous of gymnastic acts. Although this is his first public exhibition, he will do a difficult flying trapese turn. Some of the work he does would do credit to professional performers. Bertie Hanson, who has long been recognized as champion acrobat of Plainfield, will do his acrobatic specialty, and a new act of his own creation, on a set of steps, standing on his hands on cigar boxes, chairs, walking up and down the steps with apparent ease, and other difficult feats. Walter Morley's pyramid troupe will conclude the performance, presenting a series of pyramids requiring great strength and dexterity on the Roman ladders.

Other acts include work by Walter Morley and Louis Slocum, clever gymnasts, in combination acrobats; the original Frank Leonard, baton twirling; Louis Slocum, equilibrist, in contortion extraordinary; Morley's Roman ladder troupe will consist of Louis Rhodier, Charles Southard, Herbert Hoover, Walter Morley, Charles Rhodier. The clowns will be Richard Day, Albert Renwanz, James Richardson, Louis Coriell and Walter Southard.

The general staff of the circus is made up of Clarence Pope, general director; Charles Hunt, treasurer; Charles Southard, manager of properties; Charles Rhodier, wardrobe master; John Brown, David Rogers and Joseph Burke, ring grooms.

TICKETS FOR OSHKOSH SHOW SELLING RAPIDLY.

Major Edwards Looks for Packed Houses at Both Performances.

Tickets for the Oshkosh's club's annual entertainment are selling like hot cakes. The first load of scenery, specially prepared for the production, arried today and is being placed on the casino stage.

The show promises to be as fine as any amateur performance ever given in this city. Major Maze Edwards, the casino manager, says that he expects the house to be sold out for both nights long before the time set for the first production. Originality is the distinctive feature throughout and there is not a stale line in the whole show.

S. P. C. A. COMPLAINT.

Nicholas Delnero, an Italian living on Forest road, Scotch Plains, will be arraigned before Justice Hand Saturday morning, charged with cruelty to his horse. The complaint was sworn out by William N. Pangborn, agent for the S. P. C. A., yesterday, and Constable Manley served the warrant at Delnero's house.

It is charged that Delnero beat a bay horse, attached to one of his wagons, over the head with a club last Wednesday. It is alleged by Pangmorn in his complaint that the Pangborn in his complaint that the insufficiently fed. Delnero is well known about Scotch Plains.

Miss Shirreffs to Sing.

Miss Grace Shirreffs, of Fitzehburg, Mass., will render several soprano solos at the free organ recital to be given at Grace Episcopal church tomorrow night. She is the guest of Mrs. R. F. Stockton.

—Well, we are all going to hear Billy Redmond and Miss Parker at Band Carnival, Saengerbund Hall, April 21 to 30.

SAYS POLICE WERE SLOW

Assistant Head of Groszman School Protests to the Chief.

PRINCIPAL VEXED, TOO

They Believe the Police Have Not Been Active Enough in Searching For Daniel Norton, Missing Pupil.

W. Henry Groszmann, son of the head of the Atypical School, Watchaung Crest, called on Chief of Police Kiely this morning to register to protest against the school management considered the indifference and inactivity of the department in searching for Daniel Norton, the atypical youth who disappeared from the institution two weeks ago. No trace of the youth has been discovered, and Dr. Groszmann and his son think the police here have not done all that was to have been expected of them in looking for clues.

Dr. Groszmann himself expressed his vexation with the police over the telephone to Chief Kiely last evening.

Young Groszmann told the chief that he could not get no satisfaction from the subordinates left in charge of headquarters during his, the chief's, absence at the police convention in Arkansas, last week. He complained that the attitude of the desk men was high-handed in some ways, and that almost complete indifference in the search was manifested.

"Nothing has been done, except what was suggested by us," he said. "Your men did not even call up to find out if the boy was located."

Chief Kiely told the young man, with some sharpness, that the police were doing, and were always ready to do, their utmost in helping the school to trace the lost youth. When Mr. Groszman left he seemed to feel more confident that the police would prosecute the search for Norton.

Mr. Groszmann was not aware that the Plainfield police department was in a different county than the Groszmann school.

Not the slightest hint of what happenedd to the missing youth has been devolved from the search. Circulars have been sent to all the police departments in this section, but the school is handicapped in preparing them by the lack of a photograph. Norton's father, who is an Idaho ranchman, refuses to have photographs prepared. The family say they received no word from the boy, and had no hint that flight from the school was in his mind.

It is the theory of both the school management and the police that Norton is at work on some back country farm in this neighborhood, where the papers do not circulate and news of the disappearance has not been commented upon. A disappearance of that sort is the hardest to unravel, the police say, because the missing person does nothing to attract attention to himself.

BURGLARS ENTER TWO WESTFIELD RESIDENCES.

A gang of thieves visited Westfield at an early hour this morning, gaining entrance to two homes and making pretty good hauls. They first went to the residence of P. T. G. Sjostrom on Elm street, where they secured sliverware worth $150. Next they forced a window at the home of George B. Dickerson at Prospect street and Dudley avenue, where they appropriated $40 that had been in Mr. Dickerson's trousers and also a gold watch valued at $100. They were frightened from this place by the sudden awaking of Mrs. Dickerson.

Two other houses were looked over, as the occupants reported hearing them on the premises, but the burglars evidently were scared away. The Westfield police are working on the case and have asked the assistance of the local force.

DANCE FOR MISS McCUTCHEON.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McCutcheon Give Delightful Affair for Their Daughter.

One of the delightful post-lenten events was the dance given at the Park club, last night, by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. McCutcheon, of Plainfield avenue, for their second daughter, Miss Verna McCutcheon. About 150 guests attended the dance. Prior to the affair at the club, Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon entertained at dinner about thirty friends from New York, Brooklyn and Boston.

Dancing began at the club about 8.30 and was continued until 1.30 this morning. The club was decorated in pink and green, the arrangement being very effective. Music was furnished by Austin's orchestra.

TO FORM COLBY LEAGUE

Union County Organization to Be Effected Saturday Night, April 28.

COMMITTEE AT WORK

Likely to Adopt Constitution and By-laws Similar to Those of the Essex County League—To Choose Officers.

Plans are being made by the committee on arrangements for the Colby meeting at Elizabeth on Saturday night, April 18, to have a permanent organization effected at that time. The idea is to form a Colby League for Union county and from what can be learned the scheme will be adopted. In many respects the league will answer the purposes of a county committee and will be made up of representatives from every voting district.

Chairman William N. Runyon has been in communication with Gardner Colby, a cousin of Senator Colby, who is president of the original league in Essex county and is said to have obtained some valuable points on such an organization. The officers will consist of a president, vice president, corresponding and recording secretaries and a treasurer. There will also be the usual committees.

It is reported that in all probability the constitution and by-laws of the Essex county league will be adopted by the Union county organization. One of the rules of this league is that no candidate for membership can be voted on until his application has received the approval of a majority of the members in his own voting district. This has the effect of preventing those, whose purposes would be merely to keep the regular political organizations posted on what is being done, from getting into the councils of the Colbyites.

The meeting at Elizabeth is an invitation affair and only those who have already been enrolled and others who are to be especially asked will be allowed to participate in the session. Speeches will be made by Senator Colby, of Orange; Counsellor Record, of Jersey City; Mayor Mary Fagan, of Jersey City, and Judge W. N. Runyon, of this city. In addition it is probable that there will be one or two others to address the meeting but their names have not been announced.

The meeting at the county seat is to be followed by one in Plainfield at which Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City, will be the principal speaker. The place for holding it has not been selected but the committee has its eye on Reform Hall. After the meeting here, similar ones will be held in Rahway, Summit, Westfield and other places until the "gospel of reform" is heralded throughout the county.

CHURCH WOMEN HOLD A DELIGHTFUL TEA.

Congregational Society Enjoys An Eastertide Affair With a Missionary Motive.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Congregational church held its annual Easter tea at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Weeks, yesterday afternoon. The affair was well attended and a delightful success. The decorations were pink and white.

Addresses and music were features of the afternoon. Miss Griswold, a Japanese missionary, was the principal speaker. She gave an interesting account of mission work in the Island Kingdom. Mrs. Curtis Bates, the president, spoke on the aims and outlook of the society.

Miss Alberta Waterbury played a piano solo, and rendered a duet with Miss Van Fleet. Mrs. Ralph Miner sang.

Mrs. Alexander Millar poured tea and Mrs. Charles Rice poured lemonade. Members of the Young Ladies' Missionary Club served as waitresses.

The Lenten envelopes were turned in, and a large sum was realized.

Receptions to Methodist Pastors.

The local Methodist congregations are planning to give their ministers an annual reception. The first will be held tomorrow night when Grace M. E. church will tender a reception to Rev. D. C. W. Parson, who has been returned as patsor for another year. On Friday night the congregation of the First M. E. church will give Rev. A. C. McCrea, who has also been returned for his second year, a reception. On Tuesday night, April 24, the congregation of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will welcome its new pastor, Rev. E. E. Robeson, of Bound Brook, who succeeds Rev. George Mooney.

Eberlen Committed.

Auguste Eberlen, the young Frenchman arrested yesterday for an unnameable crime, was held without bail this morning by Justice Mosher, to await the action of the grand jury. He confessed his guilt.

REFORMED CHURCH CLASSIS IN SESSION HERE

THREE CANDIDATES FOR POLITICAL JOB

SENATOR ACKERMAN FAVORS F. H. ANDREWS FOR TAX BOARD POSITION.

The City Republican Executive Committee will meet tonight and probably the most important business will be the endorsement of a Plainfielder for appointment on the new county board of equalization of taxes. Harry C. Runyon, Charles H. Hand and F. H. Andrews are mentioned as candidates for the position. The board will consist of three members, two Republicans and one Democrat, to be selected from various parts of the county.

It is understood that Senator Ackerman favors the appointment of Mr. Andrews, while the other candidates have their friends and supporters in the committee as well as the party at large who are working for them. It is not certain that Plainfield will have a representative on the board. A prominent Republican stated yesterday that he doubted very much whether a local man would be chosen.

There are a large number of candidates seeking the position, and it is said that it will be a difficult matter to make the selections. Thus far the members of the local committee have shown no preference for any candidate and until a conference is held it cannot be said who is to receive the support of the Plainfield organization.

A HOSPITAL ROMANCE LEADS TO THE ALTAR.

Young Couple Who Met in Muhlenberg to Be Married Saturday Afternoon.

A romance that had its beginning in old Muhlenberg hospital, several years ago, will result Saturday afternoon in the marriage of George Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Meyer, of South Second street, and Miss Rilla Hand, of North Branch.

The young man was the victim of an accident and while undergoing treatment at the institution was attended at various parts of the day by Miss Hand. Acquaintance ripened into love and when Meyer was discharged he had received permission to call at Miss Hand's home. Their engagement was announced recently and the wedding will take place at the residence of the bride's parents.

Photograph Swindle.

Chief of Police Kiely issued a warning to householders this morning against Thomas J. Marsh, an old photographer, who is said to be engaged in working a swindle about here. Marsh's graft, for working which he has been arrested for in Newark, is to offer six photographs for $1, and collect half the money under promise to deliver the pictures a few days later. Mrs. Robert Lee complained to the police last week of a swindle like that, and her description of the man leads the police to believe that he was Marsh. The latter is an elderly man, five feet, five and a half inches tall, with a large nose which has been broken and turns to the left. His eyes are hazel in color.

Veteran Amateur In Cast.

Considerable interest is being shown in the amateur performance of "On Change," to be given at the Park Club, Friday night, May 4, by the Comedy Club. William R. Cock, a veteran in local production, will surely make a hit in his latest character sketch, considered the best he has undertaken. He takes the part of "Landlord Mouser," and the way he attacks the "know-it-all professor" is amusing in the extreme.

Mission Work in Alaska.

Before the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon, Miss Coles read a very instructive paper on "Alaska," telling of the latest efforts being made there in the cause of missions. There was an informal discussion of plans for the coming year and the prospects of greater endeavor are excellent.

Preparing to Move.

Rev. George Mooney, former pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, is planning to move to South Orange the latter part of the week. Afterward, Rev. E. E. Robeson, the new pastor at the local church, will take possession of the parsonage vacated by Mr. Mooney.

An Extra Rehearsal.

There will be a rehearsal for the comic opera, "Patience," at the Casino, on Friday night. Excellent progress is being made in the rehearsals for the show which will be given at the Casino on Thursday and Friday nights, May 3 and 4.

Big Gathering of Both Clerical and Lay Delegates at Trinity Church Today.

COMMITTEES NAMED

George L. Bosterle Received As Candidate for Ministry—Newark Pastor Gets Letter of Dismissal.

The spring meeting of the Newark Classis of the Reformed Church convened in Trinity Reformed church at 10 o'clock this morning, the session opening with prayer by Rev. Albert Schleider, of Montclair Heights, after which Rev. Uriah McClinchie, of Irvington, was chosen president. He appointed these committees:

Synodical Missions—Rev. H. Merle Mellen, Christ church, Newark; W. E. Bogardus, Brookdale; Elder S. S. Smith; finance—Elder Charles Van Cleef, Newark; C. H. Nevius, East Orange; supplies—Rev. Dr. D. H. Martin, Clinton Avenue Reformed church, Newark; Rev. Orville Fisher, Hyde Park; Elder William Stevenson; doctrine—Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, North Reformed church, Newark; Rev. W. W. Connor, Belleville; Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, Plainfield; president's report—Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, Plainfield; Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, Newark; Elder William Jacobus.

George L. Bolsterle, of this city, a student in Rutgers College, where he is preparing for the ministry, presented himself before the Classis for examination. This proved very satisfactory, Mr. Bolsterle giving his religious experience in a clear and forcible manner. He said that it was while serving as a volunteer in the Spanish-American War that he was impressed with the idea of entering the ministry and this feeling continued to grow until he was led to give up his position at York, Pa., and begin his studies in preparation. After a few questions, the Classis voted to receive Mr. Bolsterle under its care as a candidate for the ministry.

Rev. A. F. Todd, of the New Brunswick Classis; Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, of the New York Classis, now at Marconnier chapel; I. W. Dawson and Adolph Franz, of Newark, were invited to attend the sessions.

A letter dismissing Rev. Stewart Nye Hutchinson from the Presbytery of Steubenville, Ohio, to the Newark Classis, was received and Mr. Hutchinson was welcomed in due form. He has accepted a call to the First Reformed church, of Newark, and it was announced that his installation will be held on Monday night, May 14. Rev. Dr. James I. Vance will preach the sermon, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, of this city, being secundus; Rev. Dr. Henry Everson Cobb, of the Harlem Collegiate church, New York, will deliver the charge to the pastor, Rev. W. W. Connor, of Belleville, being secundus. Rev. Dr. John W. Kerr, of the Presbyterian Board of Publication, will deliver the charge to the people, Rev. John N. Morris, of Newark, being secundus.

An important part of the morning session was the presentation to the Classis of the resignation of Rev. John S. Allen, who has been pastor of the Newark Avenue Reformed church, Newark, for fourteen years, and he asked to be dismissed from the Newark to the New York Classis, the same to take effect July 1, 1906. He also resigned his position as stated clerk. Mr. Allen resigns his pastorate to become the associate to Rev. Dr. Burrill, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Reformed church, New York. The matter was laid on the table at the close of the morning session and taken up the first thing this afternoon, when Mr. Allen's request was granted. The afternoon session was taken up with the reception of reports of committees and other business of more or less importance.

In the report of the various churches in the Classis, the condition of Trinity Reformed church, this city, was stated as follows: Number of families, 274; received during the year, eighteen on confession, twenty-two by letter; dismissed, eleven; died, eleven; total in communion, 597; baptized, fourteen adults and six infants; Sunday-schools, two; total membership, 640; raised for denominational objects, $1,197.81; other objects, $513.73; for congregational expenses, $6,158.69. The report for the German Reformed church showed twenty-eight families in the church, two received on confession, one died, two dismissed, total in communion, thirty-seven; three infants baptized and $750 raised for congregational expenses.

Miss May Pierson, of New York, has been visiting Miss Addis, of Orange place.

A. F. Naylor, of this city, who has been in Charleston, S. C., for his health, expects to return here May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Serrell, of Brooklyn, are visiting Mr. Serrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Serrell, of Myrtle avenue.

Mrs. H. A. Todd, of East Third street, who underwent an operation at the hospital a few days ago, is steadily improving.

Miss Sheldon, of Cranford, who will take the part of "Patience" in the opera of that name to be given at the Casino May 3 and 4, has recovered from an illness and is able to attend rehearsals again.

Charles W. Krausse, of Vine street, is planning to go abroad with Henry Leifke and B. Frank Coriell on May 8. They will be away nearly two months, visiting interesting places in England, Germany and France.

Louis Apgar, of North avenue, has returned from Philadelphia, where on Monday he attended the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. H. B. Apgar. She was a very active worker in John Wanamaker's Sunday-school in Philadelphia and the great merchant was one of the speakers at the service.

GOVERNOR'S HAND OFF SHRIEVALTY FIGHT.

Decides Under Advice that He Cannot Issue a Certificate.

Trenton, April 18.—Gov. Stokes declined yesterday to interfere in the Monmouth county shrievalty contest either by revoking the commission already issued to C. Asa Francis or by issuing a new commission to Charles E. Close.

The governor's decision is based on an opinion by Attorney-General McCarter and former Justice Bennett Van Sickel, who say that the governor exhausted his jurisdiction in issuing a commission to Francis. It appears now that Close has his only remedy in quo warranto proceedings.

Francis was declared elected on the face of the returns last November and received his commission from Gov. Stokes. A contest was made by Close and after a recount of the votes by Justice Hendrickson he was declared elected sheriff by a majority of six votes. Close appeared before the governor yesterday and applied for a commission to enable him to oust Francis, who has been holding the office.

HE MUST PAY ALIMONY.

Woman Lawyer Asserts Husband Broke Agreement with Wife.

In the Chancery Court, at Newark, Vice Chancellor Pitney made yesterday an order directing Robert Leslie, of South Orange, to pay his wife, Mrs. Mary Leslie, $8 a week alimony pending decision in her action for divorce.

According to Miss Mary Phillbrook, who appeared for Mrs. Leslie, an agreement was entered into by the defendant some time ago, by which he was to give his wife for the use of herself and her daughter a house at No. 14 Vose street, South Orange, and to pay her $8 a week.

Miss Phillbrook said Leslie failed to pay the money and caused the furniture to be removed from the Vose street house.

John Dux, a Pole employed by the Lehigh Valley Railroad at New Market, was held up and robbed of $2 by hoboes near New Brunswick shortly before daylight Monday morning. He was on his way home from a visit to New Brunswick when the tramps stopped him and forced him to give up the money, all he had with him. He rushed back to New Brunswick and told a tale of coal mine strikers turned highwaymen that resulted in the formation of a posse that had a quick march for its pains. It found no trace of the highwaymen.

Miss Susan Guyre, of Washington avenue, will be married to Joseph Edward Little, of New York, at 8:30 o'clock tonight, at the home of her parents. Rev. A. S. Phelps, rector of Holy Innocents' church, will perform the ceremony. Few Dunellenites will attend the ceremony, most of the invitations having gone to New York. It is expected that the attendance will number between 150 and 200.

The bowling alley is about ready for its season of innocuous desuetude. Interest in the game has died out, and not even the thrilling tales of high scores and close matches from Plainfield appear to arouse the one-time enthusiasts. Cornelius D. Taylor says he will put up a pool table in the alley shortly. Pool leads bowling as a popular sport in the borough by several lengths.

Within a day or two the big improvement work on Washington avenue, involved in its extension from the borough line to the Lehigh Valley road in Edgerton Park, will be completed. Its completion carries the thoroughfare, sixty feet wide and macadamized all the way, from the borough line right into the park.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry was in Elizabeth yesterday, attending the annual meeting of the Presbytery. He had a good report to make of the year in his charge, which saw the organization of two new societies among the young people, as well as the study class.

The street cleaning work was begun yesterday. The scraper was operated on both sides of North and Washington avenues and it will be worked over Grove street today. Every street in the borough will be cleaned up and smoothed.

An expert in the employ of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company went through the borough yesterday testing every wire. He carried three different instruments.

A faucet has replaced the pump before Taylor's hotel. It fills the watering trough in one quarter of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Garretson are entertaining out of town friends.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The trustees of the Baptist church, in whom is vested the control and management of the cemetery grounds, have resolved to put in effect the plan of perpetual care of the historic old burial ground, employing a competent man who shall have full charge of all the work done in the cemetery, thereby securing uniformity and continuous attention, a thing it has never had before. A circular has been sent all the plot owners, asking their co-operation in the work, by subscribing their proportionate share towards the expense or if any one so desires they may contribute a sum, not less than $50, the interest of which shall be used for the fund. The trustees intend, if the work is supported, to erect a new fence around the grounds. All plots are to be graded to a uniform grade, pathways will be cut and kept cleaned and the grounds kept in the condition they should be. The old plan of each plot owner taking care of their own plot has been a failure, as but few ever cut the grass in summer. The plan as suggested by the trustees has been tried and worked to the advantage of all in other towns and there is no reason why the owners of plots here should not fall in line and lend the support needed to make the plan a success.

The Bishops' law which goes into effect in May will compel the local hotel keepers to show an open barroom on Sundays, the same as is now done in Plainfield. All curtains must be up so as to enable a full view of the bar to be seen from the street.

The small boy has started the summer game of baseball, but prospects of the town being represented by any regular team this season is very poor.

Joseph Thys, of Terrill road, has purchased a house on Grandview avenue, North Plainfield, and will move to the borough shortly.

The Misses Hueston, of Brooklyn, have been visiting their cousins, the Misses Marsh, of Park avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr., have been entertaining friends from out of town.

Frank Hengler, of Bound Brook, has been visiting friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Earl Darlington spent yesterday visiting his mother in New York.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley has returned from Brown University, Providence, where he visited his son, Hollis Cubberley.

A number of persons residing here attended the Glee Club concert of the Plainfield High School at Plainfield last night.

Miss Mabelle Cubberley, Philip Smith and John Linnabury took part in the fifth annual concert of the Plainfield High School Musical Club last night at the High School auditorium, Plainfield.

TESTS PATIENCE.

The Most Patient Plainfield Citizen Must Show Annoyance at Times.

Nothing spoils a good disposition,
Nothing taxes a man's patience,
Like any itchiness of the skin.
Itching piles almost drive you crazy.
All day it makes you miserable,
All night it keeps you awake.
Itch! Itch! Itch! with no relief.
Just the same with eczema.
Can hardly keep from scratching it.

You would do so, but you know it makes it worse.

Such miseries are daily decreasing.

People are learning they can be cured.

Learning the merit of Doan's Ointment.

Read the testimony of a Plainfield citizen.

Thomas Haskard, of 941 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was a member of Co. A, First Regt., N. J. Vols., under Col. Montgomery. I was out in 3½ years of the Civil War and was wounded once in the leg and once in the neck. During the Rebellion I contracted itching piles and they bothered me off and on ever since. No one who has not suffered from this trouble knows what the irritation is. I tried about every salve, wash and ointment known in the hope of finding a cure but nothing helped me until I got Doan's Ointment and it took just three boxes to put me in shape so I could rest nights and cure me so that I have been free ever since from any trouble arising from piles."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The attraction at the New Plainfield theatre on May 5 will be Wm. A. Brady's big musical company, headed by Al Leech and the three Rosebuds, who will appear in the funny, fussy comedy, "Girls Will Be Girls." The company is composed of forty artists, with an exceptionally strong chorus of pretty girls.

Stories of stage life always make interesting reading and the following told by Mr. Herbert E. Denton, who plays the part of Willie Wildflower in the great comedy drama, "A Ragged Hero," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre to-night. "The first night this season," said Mr. Denton, "we opened in Philadelphia. I am always a nervous actor, that is, I always try to please my audiences, and therefore go to my work feeling that everything I do is real. We came to the great scene in the second act where I rescue the child from the burning building, the scene is really thrilling even to those behind the footlights. I was all right until I got on the swing and there looked up at the child in the second story window of the burning house, thirty-five feet above my head. I jumped on the swing and then everything seemed to get black. The child must have felt my nervousness for suddenly I heard her baby voice calling 'Willie, Willie, save me.' I pulled myself together and swung up and caught her as she jumped into my arms. I am always glad when that scene is over and I have the little one safe in my arms.

"Escaped From Sing Sing" has been booked by Manager Counihan for an engagement of two performances next Saturday, matinee and night. The play of the sensational order is one that is well written, and abounds in exciting stage pictures and strong dramatic climaxes, with a bright vein of comedy running throughout its five acts.

Kyrle Bellew, who has made such a success in "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," and who will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night, has an interesting story to tell of how he got his first engagement on the stage. He had just returned from the Australian gold fields and was alone and penniless in London.

"Seated in the hotel coffee room," he says, "I came across an advertisement in the Daily Telegraph from a man named Charles Barrington, who wanted a light comedian in 'Clancarty,' to act with Helen Barry. I went down to the Adelphie, and curiously enough Mr. Barrington never asked me directly if I had been on the stage.

"'Where have you come from?' said he.

"'Australia,' I said.

"'Pretty hard work there, isn't it? Change their bill pretty often? Lots of experience, eh?'

"'Heaps,' said I, 'every kind,' which was true enough.

"He engaged me at a salary of ten dollars a week, and I signed under my christian name, 'Harold Kyrle.'"

The Wonder Workers of the Orient Send Us These BEAUTIFUL RUGS.

There is an indefinable something about an Oriental Rug that gives it a charm all its own. It creates a quiet, restful atmosphere, mellowing and harmonizing the furnishings of almost any room no matter whether it be simply or elaborately equipped. People are coming to recognize the worth and beauty of Oriental Rugs as never before, and we are selling a great many of them.

Oriental Rugs are not juggled with in stores like this as they are when handled by auctioneers and those stores who care not how much profit they ask. We treat Oriental Rugs as we do Domestic Rugs and Carpets—as we do all merchandise—and sell it according to its cost. It is true, no doubt, that Oriental Rugs have an art value apart from their intrinsic worth, but we are not charging you for art. If your taste leads you to select the better patterns and colorings, count that your good fortune, but, in every case, depend upon getting the full worth of your money in any rug you buy of us.

No store in the State shows a more comprehensive collection of beautiful rugs from the Orient than is shown here. You are not offered a mere handful to choose from, but liberal assortments, embracing practically every wanted size, from the little 16x30 inch mat to large room sizes, in a variety of patterns equaling the number of rugs in stock—for there are no two Orientals alike! The price range is large, running from $1.65 to $325.

You will find the prices quoted very low indeed, when compared to the prices usually asked for high grade rugs.

Carabaugh Rugs—Average size 3x3½ feet, at $7.98, $9.75, $11.50.

Shirvan Rugs—Average size 3½x5½ feet, at $18.50, $27.50 to $45.

Afghan and Bokhara Rugs—4 to 6 feet; very rare collection of antiques and modern pieces; beautiful colors and lustre, at very reasonable prices—$25 to $50.

Large Room Sizes.

Cashmere Rugs—7½ to 8½ feet wide; 9 to 11 feet long; $59 to $75.

Afghan Rugs—6½ to 8 feet wide; 7½ to 9 feet long, $70 to $90.

Persian and Turkish Rugs—7½ to 10 feet wide; 10½ to 13 feet long; $100 to $150.

Summer Draperies.

Cottage Window Curtains—Ruffled Bobbinet Curtains of the best quality English Bobbinet with pretty insertion and edge, in four different patterns, full deep ruffles, 40 inches wide and 3 yards long; not a pair in the lot the value of which is less than $2.75, many of them are worth up to $3.50; yet we are going to group the lot regardless of the usual price and sell them by the pair at $1.95

Cross Stripe Curtains—These are most effective for over-draperies, window and door curtains for Summer or city homes. They are in the snowflake or Shaikai weave, backgrounds are white, ecru, green, red and blue; cross stripes in contrasting colors; curtains finished with either tassel or knotted fringe.

The same goods by the yard at 20c to $2.00.

Fine Portieres—Handsome mercerized fringe or cord edge portieres; in pretty floral designs and in colors that you will like; a generous variety to choose from; regularly at $12.00 a pair, will be offered tomorrow at just half price $6

Portiere Special—400 pairs of Oriental Striped Portieres in eight excellent designs and color combinations, made with deep lattice and tassel fringe, Oriental effects in reds, blues and greens; good for portieres, couch covers or piano scarfs; special price, the pair $3.75

CONSTIPATION CURSE OF MANKIND.

Dr. Oldman's Liv-r-oids never fail to cure Constipation, Billiousness and all Liver Complaints. They destroy the germs and thus remove the cause.

You May Try a Full-Sized Bottle Free.

Constipation is the starting point of all kinds of dangerous and distressing diseases, such as Appendicitis, Piles, Billiousness, Sick Headaches, Dyspepsia Female Troubles and scores of others. If your bowels are strong and healthy they will act properly and disease cannot enter or remain in the system. A sound Stomach means sound lasting health.

The true way to cure constipation, Billiousness, Sick Headache and all those diseases arising from a Torpid Liver, has been discovered by Dr. Oldman, and his prescription is known as Liv-r-oids. We ourselves know that Liv-r-oids will cure the worst forms of constipation and all the dangerous diseases of the Bowels and Liver, which are such a great menace to life. If you have never tried Liv-r-oids before, we will send absolutely free to every one sending name and address, a 25 cent bottle of this great remedy. Liv-r-oids make you feel right, and make you look on the bright side of life.

Liv-r-oids are not a patent medicine but an eminent physicians prescription in tablet form (formula on bottle). There is no element of doubt in the curing power of Liv-r-oids. They are not a miracle, but only science working along on natural lines assisting nature. We want you to try Liv-r-oids to-day, they sell at 25c. a bottle, but if you have not tried them before, send your name and address and you will receive a full-sized bottle free—no obligations—nothing to pay—merely recommend them to your friends if they do what we claim. CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet in the chapel tomorrow afternoon and study "Africa."

The Women's Guild of Grace church will hold a supper and dramatic entertainment in the parish house on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 1-2.

William E. MacClymont will assume his position as organist and choirmaster at Grace church May 1, succeeding Mrs. William Freeman, who has held this position for many years.

Persons desirous of uniting with the First Baptist church will have an opportunity to meet the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, and the deacons of the church, tonight, prior to the mid-week prayer service.

The Junior Society of the First Baptist church will meet in the lecture room Friday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. D. R. Douglass, superintendent. An attractive programme has been arranged.

The Men's Club of Hope chapel will meet at the chapel tonight to perfect an organization, and receive the report of the committee on by-laws and constitution of which Donold McInness is the chairman.

The Men's Club of Grace church will hold its postponed meeting in the parish house on Monday night, when Drs. W. H. Murray, B. vanD. Hedges and Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow will informally discuss matters pertaining to health.

Under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church a strawberry festival will be held in Vincent chapel, Thursday night, April 26. There will also be an illustrated lecture by Rev. J. L. Hurlburt, formerly pastor of the church, but now of Bloomfield.

Invitations have been extended to the members of the local churches to attend the organ recital to be given at Grace church tomorrow night by Gottfried H. Frederiein, assisted by Miss Mary C. Hubbell, contralto, and Dr. Leonard Waldo, 'cello.

Elaborate preparations are being made by the women of the First M. E. church for the reception to be given to Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea in Vincent chapel, Friday night. There will be an informal programme of music and other features.

These officers have been elected by the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughter's, of the Park Avenue Baptist church: President, Miss Elma Runyon; vice president, Miss Cora Brokaw; secretary, Miss Olive DeLany; treasurer, Mrs. Charles F. Dayton.

FEW LAWMAKERS ON HAND.

Trenton, April 18.—For the first Tuesday after the Legislature's final adjournment the gathering of the statesmen at the State Capitol yesterday was disappointing and not more than a dozen appeared in the corridors. President Bradley and Speaker Robbins were among the number, looking none the worse for the trying ordeal of the last week of the session. Mr. Bradley said that there was no significance in his visit, as he only stopped over in Trenton while on his way to attend a dinner which the Senate gave to Governor Stokes last night in the Union Club, New York. He was satisfied, he said, with the work of the Senate during the last session and with his share in it, because he knew that he had done his duty.

The Speaker said that the happiest moment in his whole legislative career was the one in which he brought his gavel down upon the final adjourment of the House. He, too, expressed himself as satisfied with his course during the session as presiding officer, and repeated his assertion of the closing night that he had not knowingly held up a single bill.

Mr. Wakelee, of Bergen, was the only other Senator here up to noon, and the Assembly was represented by Tillman, of Union, and Heck, of Bergen.

U. S. GRAND JURY SWORN IN.

Two Newarkers Among the Panel—Late Trains Delay Two Members.

Trenton, April 18.—The grand jury for the April term of the United States District Court was sworn in yesterday morning and charged by Judge Cross. There was no special comment in the charge. State Senator Barton B. Hutchinson was chosen foreman; Edwin C. Long, of Trenton, clerk, and William Jackson, of Trenton, sergeant-at-arms of the jury.

The members of the jury are Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Somerville; Theophilus P. Price, Tuckerton; Thomas E. Hunt, Penn's Grove; William Howell, Blairstown; John D. Johnson, Mt. Holly; William Jackson, Edwin C. Long, Richard H. Smith, Barton B. Hutchinson, Trenton; Thomas J. Gray, Princeton; E. Burd Grubb, Edgewater Park; William F. Ferrell, Mt. Holly; George J. Coe, Plainfield; Joseph A. Schuster, Newark; John H. Cable, Jersey City; George A. Bowne, Middletown; Stacy B. Gray, Lambertville; Nathan Haines, Burlington; Albert Z. Bogert, River Edge; Horace P. Barnard, Long Branch; Charles E. Hill, Red Bank; Oscar F. Gifford, Newark; Edward S. Grosscup, Wenonah; Johnston Cornish, Washington.

At any rate the "muckrake" brand of editorial is preferable to the "subsidized" kind.

The Home News works itself up to a great frenzy because it has remained for the Newark Evening News to tell the plain truth regarding political conditions in Middlesex county.

Having no sound argument to present against the merits of the movement, strict party men through the county try to undermine the reform element's efforts by asking: "What is Colby's game?" Of course their purpose is to attack the sincerity of the movement and give the impression that the leader is actuated by purely selfish motives. In this way they show that they judge others by themselves and probably place as low a standard on Mr Colby's purposes as are attributed to their own.

YEGGMEN ROB POSTOFFICE.

Manasquan, April 18.—The postoffice at Holmdel was entered by yeggmen early yesterday morning, and more than $200 in stamps and money was stolen. The postoffice is in the general merchandise store of J. Alexander Guy, who is the postmaster. Mr. Guy lives next door. He was awakened by an explosion. Getting out of bed he saw a horse and carriage in front of the postoffice. A man was standing on the porch.

Mr. Guy fired a shot at the man, the latter shot back, and then ran into the store and almost at once came out with a companion. Mr. Guy fired again. The one who had been outside drove away. The shots aroused the neighborhood, but the robbers had fifteen minutes' start and the chase was given up. The horse had been stolen from one farmer near Holmdel and the carriage from another.

WANT DIVORCE LATE IN LIFE.

Couple Married Thirty-nine Years Bring Counter Suits.

Trenton, April 18.—After having been married thirty-nine years and having lived together for all excepting seven years of that period, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Gordon, of New Brunswick, now both advanced in years, have applied to the Court of Chancery for divorce.

The husband alleges that his wife deserted him in 1899, and the wife makes a counter charge to the effect that he closed their home and told her to live with one of their adult sons. The couple have four grown children.

COLBY LEAVEN IS STIRRING OLD UNION

KINK IN G.O.P. MACHINERY DIAGNOSED AS POLITICAL APPENDICITIS.

One Elizabeth Republican who has recently given unmistakable evidence of Colby tendencies yesterday morning entered the office of another Republican who is noted for his genial disposition and courtly manners. He remained but two minutes. When he came out he said to a correspondent: "He's got 'em. It's what I call the Colby shakes. Grumpy as a bear with a sore paw. But the shaking is spreading and something is going to drop. Wait till after the next meeting. Then the affliction will be more fully developed. The medicine is bitter but powerful and results are sure."

Ever since the coming of Senator Colby to Elizabeth the contingent results of his next appearance here have been the cause of much anxious speculation. Observant persons are agreed that there is a spirit of uneasiness in local Democratic and Republican circles that no amount of sophistry can put to rest. This uneasiness is perhaps less manifest among the leaders of the Democratic cohorts, but, it is pointed out, it is nevertheless there as it is wherever there is any clinging to old line bossism. Every man interested in the movement is sounding his neighbor, and but few men will not admit that the chances for a surprising Colby demonstration at the proposed meeting on April 28 are extremely good. As a result there is a general belief that the Republican party leaders particularly are having a gloomy season.

The number of Republican voters who have been quietly pondering for sometime the question propounded by Frank Smith, the chairman of the Republican county committee, after the meeting last Tuesday night, "What is wrong?" is surprisingly large and men who have heretofore been guarded in the expression of their views are daily becoming more outspoken in their denunciation of the present regime. There seems to be a belief among the well-informed that there is a kink in the Republican organization that has become a sort of political appendicitis.

Local Democrats profess to be unable to understand just what Senator Colby is after, and the cry is raised that he is seeking to swing the voters of that faith into line for the advancement of his own ambitious schemes. The friends of the Senator smile quietly as they give assurance that when the proper time comes all doubts will be swept away.

Be that as it may, it is apparent that every effort is being made to spread the gospel of the newest awakening in the interest of popular legislation, and that, too, by some men of solid business standing who have grown old in the councils of the Republican party. Some of these men, notwithstanding the announcement of the Senator that he will make his fight as a Republican, have not hesitated to approach prominent Democrats in heart-to-heart talks in favor of a joint fight for clean politics, but the fact that Colby is to keep within his party lines seems to be the principal stumbling block for local Democrats who are inclined to fight shy of any proposition that might place them before the public as a tail to any Republican kite.

POSTMASTER EXCHANGES SHOTS WITH ROBBERS.

Had Previously Entered Building and Secured $200.

Keyport, April 18—Burglars broke into the postoffice of Holmdel, a small village, six miles south of this place, Monday night and got a little more than $200 worth of stamps and money. The postoffice and a general merchandise store are in the same building, J. Alexander Guy being postmaster and proprietor of the store.

Mr. Guy, who lives next door, was awakened by an explosion early yesterday morning and on looking out of his front bedroom window discovered a horse and carriage in front of the postoffice and a man standing on the porch. After watching for a few minutes he saw that they had broken into his store and he shot a revolver at the one on the stoop, who returned the shot as soon as he saw where it came from.

The man entered the store and came out hurriedly with a companion. Mr. Guy fired a second shot at the two men and they shot back at him again as they drove away. The neighborhood was aroused and pursuit was started as soon as possible, but the robbers had too good a start and the chase was given up.

Mr. Guy found, upon investigation, that nothing in the store had been disturbed, but the safe in the postoffice had been blown to pieces, and pieces of the iron had smashed nearly everything in the office. The floor was covered with blood, but Mr. Guy does not know whether he hit one of the thieves with a bullet, or whether he was hurt by the explosion.

The horse and carriage had both been stolen from farmers nearby, the horse and harness from Harry Stryker and the carriage from Huldale Holmes. Neither of the shots fired by the burglars hit Mr. Guy, but both just missed him.

CHARGED WITH STABBING WIFE WHEN INTOXICATED.

Used Bad Language in Woman's Workroom and Was Ordered to Leave.

August Hoppe, Sr., forty years old, was arraigned yesterday before Recorder Luzarus, at Bayonne, on the charge of having committed a murderous assault on his wife at their home, No. 661 Avenue D.

Hoppe formerly was a skilled machinist, but is said to have been out of employment for a long time on account of his dissipated habits. His wife conducts a dressmaking establishment and employs a number of girls.

It is alleged that Hoppe went home intoxicated Monday night, and entering a room where the girls were at work used language which caused his wife to order him out. Then, it is charged, Hoppe drew a penknife and stabbed his wife twice in the left side, one of the wounds being serious.

Hoppe's son, August, Jr., who is twenty years old, reached home soon after the stabbing and notified the police, who arrested the father.

Hoppe was remanded to await the result of his wife's wounds.

MUSICAL CLUBS' AFFAIR

Glee, Mandolin, Banjo and Orchestra Organizations Give a Good Programme.

MR. HOWE DIRECTOR

Last of Series of High School Clubs Enjoyed by a Large Audience Last Night.

An appreciative audience gathered last night in the auditorium of the Plainfield High School to witness the fifth entertainment of the school's musical clubs. The programme consisted almost entirely of music and song, Samuel B. Howe, of the school faculty, acting as director.

The programme provided a full two hours' entertainment, and so pleased was the audience that encores were frequent. The quartette, "On the Levee," received the greatest favor, and the encores rendered by its members, Malcolm Davis, William Flanders and Guion and Gideon Fountain, were equally pleasing. The banjo solo, "Yankeeland," by William Briggs, was also very good.

This will probably be the last individual entertainment to be given by the musical clubs this year, but one will be rendered early next season.

After the entertainment the floor was cleared and the young folks enjoyed dancing for about an hour. Miss Mabel Maxson, of the school faculty, assisted by Clarence Heaume and Percy Mygrant, furnished the music.

The programme rendered follows: Piano duet—King of the Carnival, Deshayes, Misses Dickerson and Knowlton; a, The Pantomime Dance, Haines, b, Lady Rose Waltzes, Stevens, Mandolin and Banjo Club; a, The Mariners, Randegger, solo parts taken by Miss Tillotson, Messrs. Davis and Guion Fountain; b, Out on the Deep, Lohr, Glee Club; a, Turtle Brigade, Steele, b, Gertana Waltzes, Haines, orchestra; recitation—"Me 'n Charlie," Riley, Miss Ostrom; cornet solos—a, "The World is Full of Sunshine," accompanied by Miss Brouwer and Mr. Heaume; b, selected, Mr. Mygrant, piano accompanist, Miss S. Louise Mygrant; a, Sorella, Borel-Clere, b, Dream Thoughts Waltzes, Arnold, Mandolin and Banjo Club; quartet—Levee Song, Messrs. Davis, Flanders, Guion and Gideon Fountain; banjo solo—Yankeeland, Hoffmann, William Briggs, piano accompanist, Miss Berry; a, Daybreak, anning, b, "Hey, Laddie, Hark!" Hadley, Glee Club.

The clubs are composed as follows:

Glee Club—Pianist, Florence Dickerson; sopranos, Avis I. Aldrich, Agnes I. Brown, Florence Brousse, Mabelle Cubberley, Miriam C. Carman, Edna Eckert, May T. Hallett, Carola E. Hart, Jessica T. Hill, Kate Huntington, Clara L. Kanen, Julia Q. Fitz Gerald, Marian F. Pierson, Bertha A. Jones, Queena Tillotson, Eleanor Van Tuyl; altos, Antoinette L. Aalholm, Ethel M. Boice, Frances T. Flanders, Clyde Doane, Henry De Brigard, Guion Fountain; basses, Louis De Brigard, Walter B. Caldwell, J. Malcolm Davis, Paul Collier, C. Bertram Leggett, Philip P. Smith, Gideon Fountain, Louis De Brigard, David Thickstun.

REFORMED CHURCH CLASSIS

Every church in the Classis but the one at Linden is represented at the Classis and the past year's work is considered encouraging and hopeful.

The Ladies' church Work Society of the church provided a most appetizing meal at 1 o'clock and during the speechmaking that followed, the ladies were congratulated for the excellent dinner served and a standing vote of thanks was tendered them. Dr. Schenck responded for the women and thanked the Classis for their attendance in Trinity church.

USE FOR THE SAINTS IN BASIN ARISES.

Two Converts, With Feet to Be Washed, Baptized in Greenbrook.

The tin basin of the Saints of Christ will be put into commission at Reform hall this afternoon. Two converts were baptized in Greenbrook this noon, and the foot-washing part of the sacrament of admission will fo llow as soon as the faithful gather for the afternoon service at three o'clock.

The converts are both women, who accompanied the Providence, R. I., delegation to this city to be admitted under the eye of the prophet himself. No others have been won to the faith here.

Evangelist Joseph Crowdy, during the closing period of the service last night, took a whack at the newspapers, scoring the reporters for inaccuracies in writing up the faith. Some of the New York papers have been poking fun at the Saints. The evangelist didn't talk long, and didn't exhibit nearly as much rage at the press as ex-Elijah Dowie was wont to show.

SUICIDE'S FUNERAL FRIDAY.

Taylor's Body to Be Shipped to Family in Massachusetts.

The body of Herbert S. Taylor, the former Plainfielder who shot himself in Mt. Vernon yesterday, will be shipped to his family in Chatham, Mass., for burial. The funeral will be held there Friday afternoon.

A. I. Smalley, who came up from his southern home on a visit yesterday, made a statement this morning that strengthens the belief that Taylor committed suicide because his health was shattered.

He visited Mr. Smalley a year ago, and suffered from acute almost an incessant headache then.

"He would sit and hold his head in his hands until some one spoke to him and took his mind off it," said Mr. Smalley.

GOLD MEDALS SCORE AGAIN.

Local Minstrel Troupe Appears Before a Big Audience.

The Gold Medal minstrel troupe, of this city, appeared before a large audience in Friendship hall at New Market, last night, and again scored a big success. The programme differed slightly from those of previous performances, new specialties being introduced in the olio. William Doud, who has been one of the end men, presented an original acrobatic skit entitled "The Ruby Red Flip Flop." It was received enthusiastically and will be retained as a feature of the show.

The performance was given under the auspices of Friendship council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and was successful from a financial as well as artistic standpoint.

Musical Comedy's Scores a Hit.

"The Prince of Pilsen," the ever tuneful and mirth-provoking musical comedy, made its bow to Plainfield, last night, and scored an instantaneous hit with a capacity audience at Manager Counihan's cosy playhouse. In point of cast and chorus and scenery carried it is the largest company that has visited the city in years. The musical pieces "The tale of the sea shell" and "The message of the violets" were received with enthusiasm while the "Song of the Cities" caught the popular fancy, especially when Plainfield was represented. Jess Dandy as "Hans Wagner" was a feature of the show.

Westfield's First Game.

The Westfield base ball club will open the season at Recreation park on Saturday, April 28, with the All-Brooklyns. This team is considered one of the fastest traveling aggregations in New York state, having defeated the All-Nationals, Laughlin Lyceum, Murray Hills and Ridgewoods. Manager Charles Nicolas, of the Westfields, would like to arrange a series of three games with Manager Daab.

Special Four's Whist Gathering.

The Social Four held its regular whist gathering at the home of Adam Seals on West Fourth street, last night, and incidentally enjoyed its usual social session. The prizes were won by Mr. Seals and Mrs. Stryker, first and second women's, and Mr. Seals and Horace Conover, first and second men's.

The Ladies' Aid society of the German Reformed Church will hold its monthly meeting at Mrs. Hook's on Watchung avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Paterson's Unions Getting Restive.

Paterson, April 18.—Bricklayers and masons have informed the Master Builders' Association that they will demand an increase in wages of five cents an hour on May 1. The scale now in effect is 50 cents an hour. The tinners have demanded an increase of 50 cents a day. The journeymen plumbers have demanded new regulations regarding the employment of apprentices. None of the demands have as yet met with favorable replies.

Bursting Steam Pipe Fatal.

Paterson, April 18.—James Clark, a fireman in the employ of the American Silk Dyeing and Flushing company, at Hawthorne, near Paterson, was scalded yesterday morning by the bursting of a steam pipe in the boiler room, and died soon after being admitted to the hospital. When the big pipe burst Clark was hurled through a door and he was found on a pile of ashes in front of the boiler room. County Physician McBride will order an investigation.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, April 5, 1906, at 2:30 p. m.

The meeting was called to order by the clerk, and roll call showed all members present except Director King and Freeholders Connoly, Kline and Meisel—4.

Owing to the absence of the director, the clerk called for nominations for director pro tem., and Freeholder Krouse nominated Freeholder Cady. There were no other nominations, and Freeholder Cady was unanimously elected as director pro tem.

The minutes of the previous meeting (reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

PETITIONS, COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

The following petition was presented and read:

Union County, New Jersey, Elizabeth, N. J.

We, the undersigned, respectfully petition your honorable body to build a larger culvert or bridge on Leland avenue, where it drains what is known as the Cole property, between East Second street and Midway avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The present culvert is much too small, and during heavy rains the water is backed up over a large area of ground which is now being developed into building lots, and a number of dwellings are to be erected this spring on this property.

Trusting you will have the culvert inspected, and that you will comply with this request, we are

Very respectfully yours,

Elston M. French, Highland Park Realty Co., John I. Brower and eighteen (18) others.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and placed on file.

The following communication was presented and read:

Short Hills, N. J., April 3, 1906.

To the Honorable Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Under instructions of the Township Committee of Springfield, N. J., we wish to install a fire hydrant on Westfield avenue, at the corner of Brook street. This will make it necessary for us to extend our main 100 feet southerly along Westfield avenue, and we respectfully make application for your permission to do this work.

We are ready to comply with whatever rules govern such work, and would appreciate a permit at an early date.

Respectfully,

On motion of Freeholder Krouse, received and referred to County Road Inspector, with power.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Elizabeth, N. J., April 5, 1906.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee, appointed to examine the condition of the bridge over the raceway on Madison avenue in Rahway, would respectfully report that they duly and carefully examined the said bridge, and found it in very bad condition.

Your committee would therefore recommend the construction of a new concrete arch bridge at said point, with a 70-foot span 75 feet long, at a cost not to exceed $1,100.

Adolph H. Gruener, S. P. T. Wilbur, Committee.

Freeholder Wahl moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the Committee on Mountain Ave. Bridge, New Providence Borough:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee, appointed to inspect bridge on Mountain avenue, New Providence, respectfully report that they have inspected said bridge, and find necessary the rebuilding of walls on the bridge and the placing of an iron railing on same for safety, at a cost not exceeding $550.

(Signed) John F. Wahl, W. H. Swain, Committee.

Freeholder Darby moved that the report be received and recommendation adopted, which was so ordered on roll call by an unanimous vote.

By the Committee on Elizabeth Drawbridge, as follows, viz.:

Resolved, That the Elizabeth Drawbridge Committee be, and is hereby, authorized to have South Front street bridge in the city of Elizabeth replanked, at a cost not to exceed $441.

(Signed) Chas. J. Jensen, W. A. Westphal, Dennis S. Murphy, Committee.

Freeholder Gruener moved the adoption of the foregoing resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Cady:

Resolved, That a committee of three (3) be appointed to confer with a like committee of Morris county in regard to the advisability of building a new bridge over the Passaic River at Elkwood, the committee to report at our next meeting.

Attached to the foregoing resolution was a letter from W. T. Kirk, attested by St. John Clark, consulting engineer, stating that the present bridge was an excellent one of its kind (wooden), but did not meet present requirements, and probably would not last much longer; also advising "that a new bridge be built according to modern standards" as soon as practicable.

On motion of Freeholder Swain, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and Director pro tem Cady appointed the following committee, viz.: Freeholders Swain, Wahl and Meisel.

By Freeholder Gruener:

Resolved, That the Committee on Rahway Drawbridge be authorized to make a contract with George Ball, as bridge-tender of the Milton avenue drawbridge in Rahway, for the term of one year from April 1, 1906, at a salary of $200 per annum.

Freeholder Chandler moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Wilbur:

Resolved, That the director appoint a committee of five (5) to investigate the condition of the Leland avenue bridge, also the Scott avenue bridge at Plainfield, and report the same at the next meeting of the Board.

On motion of Freeholder Gruener, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director pro tem appointed as the said committee Freeholders Wilbur, Kline, Westphal, Cladek and Robison.

By Freeholder Scudder:

Resolved, That a committee of three (3) be appointed to inspect bridge on Picton street, near Lenox avenue, Westfield, N. J., as to the advisability of widening said bridge, and to report at the next meeting, with the estimated cost.

On motion of Freeholder Wahl, the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the director pro tem appointed as the said committee Freeholders Connoly, Scudder and Adams.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read and, on roll call, unanimously ordered paid, viz.:

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

Health Talks.

The Men's club of Grace P. E. church will hold its postponed monthly social meeting at the parish house, Sixth and Sycamore streets, next Monday night. The principal feature will be a symposium on public health, in which Drs. Hedges and Murray and health inspector Leon Thurlow will speak. An informal smoker will add to the pleasure of the meeting.

Fall Scraped His Shin.

While playing on the Berckman and railroad bridge this morning, Morris Somerset, colored, thirteen years old, of 1213 Cottage place, fell to the street. He was dazed, and the passerby, who went to his assistance, thought he was badly hurt and rang up the ambulance. At the hospital the only thing they could find the matter with Morris was a scraped shin. He was sent home.

The cantata, "The Story of Calvary," and all of the Easter music will be reepated Sunday morning at Trinity Reformed church by the chorus choir under the direction of organist Arthur L. Titsworth.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The next meeting of the automobile class at Y. M. C. A. Hall will be on Thursday evening, April 26. There will be no meeting tomorrow as Mr. Brokaw will be unable to be here.

In 1900, the value of all the automobiles in America was only $5,000,000. From June, 1904, to June, 1905, 100 manufacturers in 14 different states, produced over 26,000 automobiles, valued at $25,000,000.

Upwards of 80 automobiles per day (over 2,500 per month) are manufactured in this country, and there is now one automobile to every thousand inhabitants of the United States.

BALL TEAM IS COMPLETE

Manager Daab Bags First Baseman Henriquez and an Outfielder.

BALL STOCK BOOMING

Manager Daab announces that he has completed the lineup of the Plainfield team. Yesterday he received word from First Baseman Henriques that he has accepted the terms and is pleased to play on the team. Manager Daab experienced some trouble in getting the big first baseman owing to an arrangement he made in midwinter to play with the Manhattans. Henriques played a few games here three seasons ago with the Alls club and last year he covered the initial bag for Dover in the Lackawanna League, playing with the Manhattans on Sundays. He is a fast fielder and strong hitter and will be at least a 100 per cent. improvement on Driscoll. This is not knocking Dave any. He played the bag all right last season but was weak in hitting. Manager Daab has also filled the right field vacancy by signing Heffron, of Jersey City. Heffron was tried out by Providence on its training trip but as the team was well provided with fielders "Jack" Dunn advised him to see Manager Daab and remain under his care this summer and report again to him next season. Heffron for the past four seasons has played right garden for St. John's Catholic College, of Jersey City, and has the reputation of being a heavy slugger. He reported Sunday to Manager Daab, but as the game with Jersey City was postponed, he returned to St. John's and got in the game. He swung the stick with good effect and came out of the game with a single, double and triple. He is a well built fellow and looks like a leaguer. With Heffron, Mallen and Bertwhistle in action, the trio will be a hard combination to beat. The remainder of the team include O'Neil, catcher; Deegan, Smith and Kelly, pitchers; Brogan, second base; Curley, short stop, and Leonard, third base. Russell will also be given a try-out.

Have you purchased your block of ball stock yet? If not, do so right away and by so doing you become a member of the Plainfield Baseball Association as well as an active participant in the game. This season, as last, Plainfield will stand at the top of the baseball column. To occupy this proud position a first-class team is essentially necessary, and to provide the best attraction available the united support of every baseball fan is necessary.

It therefore behooves every lover of the national game who wants to see the best possible article of baseball in Plainfield, if he can afford it, to subscribe for at least one share of stock to boom the sport along.

The Plainfield Baseball Association is not asking for alms or trying to do the begging act. The sum of $1,300 has already been raised and more is promised, but it would be a good thing to start off with $2,000.

Persons desiring to purchase stock can obtain same by handing in their names to the committee or to Judge Runyon, president of the association, or to Charles W. Runyon, treasurer.

"Every little bit helps."

Owing to the rain last Sunday it was necessary to postpone the Hoboken-Jersey City game. Manager Daab has cancelled the game with Dan Brouther's Newburgh team and, weather permitting, the game with Jersey City will be played Sunday.

The newly organized Westfield team will open the season April 28 with the Garwood A. C. It is understood that a challenge will be sent along to Manager Daab in a few days.

Hurrah! Press Agent Vanderbeek, of the West End Baseball team, has been born again and is now out heart and soul for a series with Plainfield. With Manager Conkling and Chester Cawley behind the movement the proposed series will be a go.

Manager Burke, of Elizabeth, is a worried man these days over Manager Daab's offer to bet $200 that Plainfield can beat the Stars. The Elizabeth papers are also rather timid in taking the matter up.

"Jakey" Wall, the well known baseball enthusiast of Westfield, has embarked in the news business.

"Old Mossback" Bassford is still in the game. Last season he was fast enough for Morristown and the baseball natives of that way think he will last out another season.

There was great rejoicing among the high school students yesterday. It was brought about by the announcement of Principal Travell to the effect that Phil Smith had passed his examinations, which would permit him to take his place on the ball team. The announcement was greeted with cheers by the girls as well as the fellows and chapel decorum was lost sight of for the time being. The players are inspired with confidence over Smith's return and look upon him as a Moses who will lead the team out of the wilderness of defeat.

GOLF.

Among the improvements planned for the Baltusrol golf club course this season are additional sand traps. While the present hazards are well placed, with the new ones it will be hard for poor play to go unpunished. The summer greens are now in commission for the season.

The Western golf association now realizes that it has made a mistake in fixing its annual championship to July 3 to 7, as the national amateur championship is to be held at Englewood a week after the western tournament. H. Chandler Egan, who holds both titles at present, says he cannot compete in both events, but is almost sure to play at Englewood.

The unusual activity shown by the women in this vicinity has stirred their western sisters to renewed energy. The latter realize that unless they "get busy" their chances of making a respectable showing in the first annual team match will be small.

The Nassau Country club has purchased a gasolene grasscutter and roller. It is capable of getting up considerable speed and can do the work of several horses. A putting green can be put in shape in about four minutes.

John Young, the professional golfer, formerly at Bernardsville, has been engaged for the summer by the Hollywood golf club. James Maiden, another well-known professional in this vicinity, will return to the West for another season.

GETTING READY FOR TENNIS.

New Y. M. C. A. Courts Are Being Prepared for Tournament.

Work has been begun by the Y. M. C. A. on its tennis courts, Brook and Norwood avenues. It is expected that the courts will be ready for play by the first of the month.

As soon as the members get their arms and wrists into shape, a tournament will be arranged. Entry rules, schedule and other details of the tournament will be definitely settled at a meeting to be held in two weeks. The courts are roomy, and among the best in this vicinity.

Basket Ball Replaces Base Ball.

There will be no base ball team in the Y. M. C. A. uniform on the diamond this summer. All hope of a combination has been abandoned, and outdoor basket ball has been substituted on the roster of sports in its place. The outdoor field is being put in first-class condition, and it is hoped to arrange a series of fast games with outside teams. It is not known now just what the make-up of the Y. M. C. A. five will be, but the line-up will be strong and fast enough to assure good sport.

Bridge Plank Dropped Out.

A plank fell from the Washington avenue bridge, over Greenbrook, late last night and left a dangerous gap in the roadway. The police learned of it before an accident occurred and hung up a warning lantern. They notified Freeholder Wilbur this morning. The latter said the county authorities paid $250 recently for repairs to the bridge.

Ira Travell to Talk to Mothers.

A mothers' meeting will be held at the High School building on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Travell, principal of the High School, will make an address. All mothers are invited to be present.

On "Problems of Mothers."

Mrs. G. A. Powell will speak about some of the "Problems of Mothers" at the meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. All are welcome to attend.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Compton, of Metuchen, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Martha H. Compton, to George Herman Hagodorn, also of Metuchen.

The Missionary and Aid society of Warren chapel will hold a meeting Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HEARS BREWERS WILL ATTACK BISHOPS' LAW.

Jersey City's Counsel Also Says Test of Excise Section Can't Be Made Yet.

Jersey City, April 18.—Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of this city, said yesterday that he did not believe that any steps would be taken by the Jersey City Excise Board to test the constitutionality of the clause in the new excise law until the act became operative, and Judge Blair appointed a new board for Jersey City. This will occur on July 24, next.

"I cannot see," said Mr. Record, "any way of testing the law so far as it affects the Excise Board until some step is taken under it to take away the power of the present board. That will enable the present board to attack the constitutionality of the clause that places in the hands of the Common Pleas judge the appointment of Excise Board members where Mayors or Common Councils now make the appointments.

AN INVASION OF ELKS

Delegation of 150 From New Brunswick Entertained By Plainfield Lodge, No. 885.

A FINE PROGRAMME

Feast of Song, Music and Addresses Followed By a Banquet—George O. Stevens in Charge.

Plainfield was invaded by an antlered host, last night, in the persons of 150 members of the New Brunswick lodge of Elks who came over on invitation from Plainfield lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E. They made the trip in special trolley cars and arrived in town amid a streak of red fire that lighted up the streets for blocks.

The visitors were met at Park avenue and Front street by a reception committee and escorted to Knights of Columbus hall where the festivities took place. George O. Stevens acted as master of ceremonies and under his direction a delightful programme was rendered. The features included humorisms and vocal and instrumental selections by a quartette of professional artists from New York, Messrs. Jones, Skidmore, Gift and Roue. The last two named are clever imitators and they kept the big audience laughing for nearly an hour while they recited, impersonated and sang.

The Minion brothers, who were a feature of the recent Elk show, gave several vocal selections with mandolin and guitar accompaniment, and Exalted Ruler W. N. Runyon delighted with excerpts from his song repertoire. The New Brunswick lodge gave a minstrel show Monday night and the delegation included several o f the artists who contributed to the programme.

Interspersing these numbers, addresses dealing with affairs in Elkdom were given by Exalted Ruler Runyon and George O. Stevens, of Plainfield, and Exalted Ruler Burt and Past Exalted Ruler Peter F. Daly, of New Brunswick. At the conclusion of this part of the entertainment, adjournment was made to the banquet hall where supper was served by Caterer Timbo. The visitors left for home shortly after midnight.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of Herbert W. Stover, chairman; Geo. O. Stevens, S. P. T. Wilbur and Clarence Teel.

MISS WENZEL NOW MRS. FRED DAYTON

NEW MARKET MAN COMES TO PLAINFIELD FOR A BRIDE.

Miss Anna Louise Wenzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wenzel, and Fred Dayton, of New Market, were married at 7.30 o'clock last night at the home of the bride's parents, 1143 South Second street, in the presence of about sxity relatives and friends. Rev. George Mooney, former pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of which the bride is a member, performed the ceremony. The groom's pastor, Rev. Frank Fletcher, of New Market, also Rev. E. E. Robeson, the new pastor of Monroe Avenue church, attended.

The bride was gowned in white Persian lawn and lace and carried bride roses. Her attendant, Miss Mary Cumberson, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of white dotted Swiss and hand embroidery and she carried pink carnations. John Wenzel, a brother of the bride, was the best man. The wedding march was played on the piano by Miss Irene Day, of New Market.

The parlor, where the ceremony was performed, was decorated with palms and flowers. In the dining room pink carnations and ferns were used effectively.

After congratulations, supper was served and at 9 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Dayton left on a wedding tour. Upon their return they will probably reside at the home of the groom in New Market for the present.

The bride received a large collection of handsome and costly presents, including silverware, linen, cut glass, china, furniture and a check for $25 from the fellow-employees of the groom in Newark.

Mr. Dayton is employed as a bookkeeper in the business office of the Newark Evening News.

Mr. Randolph to Retire.

The announcement has been made that former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, president of the Consolidated Exchange, New York, would not be a candidate for re-election at the annual meeting in June. It is said Mr. Randolph will take a trip abroad, accompanied by his wife.

MISS SUSAN GUYRE BRIDE OF NEW YORKER

PRETTY HOME WEDDING HELD IN DUNELLEN LAST NIGHT.

Before a large gathering of friends and relatives, Miss Susan Guyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan F. Guyre, of Dunellen, was married last night to Joseph Edward Little, of New York. The ceremony was performed at the Guyre home, on Washington avenue, at 8:30 o'clock.

Between 150 and 200 guests were present. Several Plainfielders were among them, but the majority of those present were New Yorkers. Some of the guests, however, came from points as distant as Florida, Alabama and Michigan.

The house was charmingly decorated with palms, smilax, carnations, roses and ferns. In a corner between two broad windows of the parlor was a bower, beneath which the young people were united.

Rev. A. S. Phelps, rector of Holy Innocents' P. E. church, Dunellen, performed the ceremony. Miss Guyre's maid of honor was Miss Mabel Rossell, of Jersey City, a close friend, and the best man was Hiram Carroll, of New York, an intimate friend of the groom. The ushers were J. Frank Guyre and Charles Guyre, brothers of the bride.

When the bridal party marched in, Mrs. G. E. Twaits, of Brooklyn, played the Lohengrin march. She sounded soft harmonies through the ceremony, and greeted the close of the ceremony with the crashing volume of the Mendelssohn march.

Miss Guyre was gowned in white silk mull over white satin, trimmed with Irish point lace, and wore a veil caught up with lilies of the valley. She carried a trailing bouquet of lilies and bride roses. Miss Rossell was dressed in white mull, over white silk, trimmed with thread lace. She carried bridesmaid roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Little will spend two or three weeks on a bridal trip through the South. On their return they will live for the summer in Dunellen, leaving the decision as to their permanent place of residence until fall. Mr. Little is employed in the general ticket office of the New York Central Railroad Company, in New York. The bride received many handsome gifts, one of which, a chest of silver, was from fellow-employees.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ENDS GOOD YEAR

COLLECTED $5,216; SPENT IT ALL BUT HAS NO DEBTS.

Pure routine, unenlivened by even the mildest discussion, was the keynote of the annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church last night. The two sessions—church and parish—were made up of a succession of reports and elections. The reports weer all good; the church begins the new year free of debt and stronger spiritually.

Rev. C. E. Herring, the pastor, presided over the church meeting, with J. M. Bettman clerk.

Elder L. H. Gates and Deacon Hummer were re-elected. At the parish meeting, over which E. M. Cave presided, and of which H. A. Pope was secretary, John Abbott, A. V. Searing, Jr., and Frederick T. Dickerson were elected trustees for three years. The two first named succeeded themselves and Mr. Dickerson fills the vacancy created by the state law that increases boards of eight members to nine.

The treasurer's report, read by W. H. Shotwell, showed total receipts of $5,215. The envelope system realized $2,230; pew rents, $1,064; collections, $644; and special Easter collection last year, $500. The disbursements balanced the receipts. The two biggest single items were pastor's salary and church music. The latter cost $1,000. The pastor's salary was voted at the same figure, and the amount of money to be expended on music was left like last year, with the music committee.

The moneys received and expended by the various societies of the church during the year were as follows:

Home missionary society, receipts, $215; expenditures, $215. Foreign missionary society, receipts, $149; expenditures, $149; Y. P. S. C. E., receipts, $101; expenditures, $85. King's Messengers, receipts, $10; expenditures, $10. Little Light Bearers, receipts, $3; expenditures, $3. Deacon's fund, receipts, $180; expenditures, $175. Missionary fund, receipts, $451; expenditures, $390.

FEARED BIGAMY CHARGE

UNCERTAIN OF STATUS

Mrs. Elizabeth Bull's Husband Wandered Away Four Years Ago—She Wanted to Get Married to Frank Fallon.

Frank Fallon, a Newark machinist, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bull, a young widow—at least, she hopes she is a widow—of the same place, came to Justice Hand's office yesterday afternoon to be married. They weren't, because the bride to be backed out at the penultimate minute.

Fallon and the bride to be explained to the justice, as soon as they reached the office, that they wanted to get married but that the lady had scruppies as to her right to take part in the ceremony. Her husband skipped and left her with two children four years ago, and as she heard nothing directly from him since. She got word indirectly, however, not long after he left, that he had died in Pennsylvania. She believes the information was correct, and she ardently hopes it was, but she has never received positive confirmation of it.

Fallon tried to get trace of the husband and failed. He felt, after the fruitless search, that the unappreciative Bull was dead enough for him, and he urged Mrs. Bull to marry again. He said he had advice from lawyers that convinced him the second marriage contained little or no risk to her. Mrs. Bull finally consented. They had read of some of the marrying feats of Justice Hand, and they decided to take the trip and combine an outing with the nuptials.

Mrs. Bull's fears of bigamy grew large as they approached the Justice's office, and when she finally reached it, she was afraid to proceed with the ceremony. She wanted a week in which to think it over. Fallon begged her to keep her promise, but she pleaded for another week's delay, and finally insisted on it. When the couple first came in and mentioned marriage, Justice Hand's round face beamed like that of a mature and mellow Cupid, but as the bride spoke for delay and showed that she meant to get it, the Judge's smile faded before a disapproving frown. He is an irreconcilable enemy to celibacy, and he strongly supported the pleading young man. He quoted law, philosophy and the Scriptures at the bride to prove that she ought to get married and that delays were dangerous.

But the bride, a bride no longer, set her foot firmly for delay, and left the office with the disconsolate young man following. Fallon was discouraged, and showed it. "I'm through," he said hopelessly. "I'll never try you again."

Justice Hand was almost as disconsolate as the disappointed groom. "This is the first time in all my career as a marrying justice that I have ever taken this book down and put it away unused," he sighed, as he gazed sadly at his sheaf of blank certificates. "If anybody was to come along right now and offer me twenty-three cents for my marriage business I'd give it to him and skidoo."

WHIRLWIND STRIKES PART OF THE BOROUGH.

Raced Up Harrison Avenue and Lifted Delivery Wagon in the Air.

With the reports of the terrible disaster in San Francisco appalling them, residents of upper Harrison avenue were more forcibly reminded of the vagaries of nature yesterday afternoon. An embryonic whirlwind suddenly made its appearance in the middle of the thoroughfare and swept straight toward the mountain, raising a great cloud of dust and picking up small objects as it went. A delivery wagon belonging to Herman Delke was directly in its path and witnesses assert it was lifted two feet in the air and then turned around.

Where the avenue ends at the base of the mountain, the whirlwind grasped the trees and swung them violently but none were uprooted. It was observed to continue up to the summit and possibly went down into Washington Valley.

DYNAMITE USELESS IN STAYING FLAMES

EIGHT SQUARE MILES OF BURNING RUINS AND HUNDREDS BURIED.

New York, April 19.—A dispatch from San Francisco to the New York World today says that earthquakes and flames have practically destroyed the city of San Francisco.

The march of fire cannot be checked. All through the night and early today men hurled dynamite at buildings in the hope that the explosive would cheat the advancing fires.

There is no water to be had. Even drinking water is at a premium and the city is at the mercy of the flames.

Today there are eight square miles of smoking, burning, ruins, and beneath the ruins are hundreds, possibly thousands, of dead.

Fleeing inhabitants can see from around the pillars of fire towering skyward. The crash of falling ruins and the muffled reports of exploding dynamite reach the ear at regular intervals.

A disaster that staggers comprehension, and in point of terror and damage is unprecedented on the coast, has not yet reached its culmination.

The loss of life from the falling buildings immediately following the earthquake disturbances has been equalled and possibly exceeded by the number who have been killed in the fires.

At this time it is impossible to even give an estimate of the dead. By some it is said that at least 2,000 men and women have perished. Others, more conservative, fix the loss of life at 1,500.

The Los Angeles Times fixes the loss of life at 1,000 and the property loss at $250,000,000.

The Los Angeles Herald says 2,000 are dead and the property loss about $200,000,000.

Gen. Funston, in charge of the troops, estimates the loss of life at 1,000, with 100,000 persons homeless.

EAFENED ONE EAR WITH A TOOTHPICK

SERIOUS RESULT OF WM. DEALAMAN'S USE OF MAKESHIFT EARSPOON.

Something in his ear bothered William Dealaman, proprietor of a large grocery in Dunellen, Monday afternoon, and he poked a toothpick at the seat of the trouble. As a result of his use of a makeshift earspoon, the ear has gone deaf and he is under treatment from Dr. F. C. Ard for a broken ear drum.

It was while he was traveling home from New York on a Central train that a bit of foreign matter, probably a cinder, got in his left ear. The only thing he had with him that promised relief was a toothpick. The trouble seemed deep seated, and he used the pick vigorously. Something snapped suddenly in the ear as he worked the toothpick about, and a few minutes later he discovered that the ear was deaf.

Mr. Dealaman sought the assistance of Dr. T. H. Platt, of Dunellen, as soon as he reached home. The physician tried every treatment for restoring the hearing with which he was familiar in vain, and yesterday he advised Mr. Dealaman to consult the specialist. Dr. Ard told Mr. Dealaman that his ear drum was fractured, and he stood a good chance of being deaf on one side permanently. There is hope of a cure, however, and the specialist believes it can be effected.

MAIN STEM BILL A LAW.

Act Takes Money from State and Gives It to Cities.

Trenton, April 19.—Governor Stokes signed yesterday the Perkins bill redefining main stem railroad property. The act takes out of the main stem all passenger, freight and terminal stations. It gives to the municipality the tax on all railroad property which forms any considerable part of the real estate of the municipality, and leaves to be taxed under the Perkins Equal Tax bill only the right of way, not exceeding one hundred feet in width, known as the main stem.

E. Maxwell Honeyman Married.

Edward Maxwell Honeyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, of Grove street, the borough, and Miss N. Elizabeth Coggeshall, of New York, were married at 8 o'clock last night, at the home of the bride's uncle, John C. Hatzel, of 119th street, New York. The couple will reside on 157th street, New York. Mr. Honeyman is employed by the Wynkoop, Hallenbeck, Crawford Company, New York publishers.

FEAR NOW THAT ALL SAN FRANCISCO WILL BE DESTROYED BY RAVAGES OF FIRE

Flames That Sprung Up When Business Blocks Were Tumbled Over By Earthquake Are Now Eating Up the Fine Residential Section and Dynamite Fails to Put a Check to the Catastrophe.

ESTIMATES ON LOSS OF LIFE AND PROPERTY IS GUESS WORK NOW

San Francisco, April 19.—Fire born of the terrible cataclysm of yesterday is still raging over the city, and the metropolis of the Pacific coast faces complete destruction.

With water cut off, firemen and citizens helpless against the hell raging around them, the city sits on her funeral pyre waiting for the end.

Already the city is practically destroyed. Not a building has been left standing in the business section, and the flames have begun to eat up the residences. The spread of the fire is appalling.

Nothing seems effective in the attempt to still the roaring furnace that sprang from the ruins as the buildings toppled over into the quaking streets. Dynamite has proved useless.

The exact situation is yet unknown. The city is still in the throes of the terror, and every minute adds to the tale. The soldiers are doing police duty, but martial law has not been proclaimed.

More than 500 lives have been sacrificed in San Francisco alone. The value of property that has already met destruction is now estimated at $100,000,000 by some and as high as $200,000,000 by others. The sources of food supplies have been destroyed and the survivors are facing starvation.

Federal troops, in command of General Funston, who are in general charge of the situation, have already found it necessary to shoot down several ghouls found robbing the dead or pilfering from wrecked buildings.

The number of homeless is placed at more than 100,000, and despatches say the scenes of suffering are indescribable. From all lover the nation offers of aid and money have been sent to Mayor Schmitz.

At other points in California there has been great loss of life and heavy damage. In Santa Rosa 10,000 are homeless, and it is known that hundreds are dead. It is feared the death list will reach into the thousands.

Salinas and San Jose have also suffered severely, and all but two of the Stanford University Buildings, at Palo Alto, have been destroyed. The State University buildings at Berkeley are badly damaged.

Offers of aid from mayors of cities all over the country have been received by Mayor E. E. Schmitz. Every large city in the east has sent word that funds are being gathered for the relief of the sufferers. The Chambers of Commerce of New York will hold a mass meeting of business men tomorrow afternoon, at which a great sum will undoubtedly be contributed. The military, under orders from the government, has already begun to help in the relief work. Tents willl be provided for the homeless, and rations, medicines and medical service will be furnished as long as there is need of them. Churches undamaged by the earthquake are being used as hospitals.

Gov. Pardee declared today a holiday, to give the demoralized business interests of the city and the surrounding districts a chance to survey the outlook and recover something of commercial order. Mayor Schmitz has issued a proclamation warning all citizens to remain in doors after dark. He has authorized all the regular and special police officers to shoot to kill whenever a looter is discovered.

The State Insane asylum at Agnews is a total wreck. Many of the 600 or 700 inmates in the building were buried under the ruins. One hundred and twenty bodies have been taken out, and there are probably 150 more corpses in the ruins.

Hardly had the building fallen, before there issued forth a wild-eyed and dishevelled army of maniacs, the survivors of the calamity. Many of them were rounded up and taken care of by the citizens, but scores are still wandering around the countryside to the great terror of the inhabitants.

In half a dozen of the smaller villages near San Francisco have almost nearly been completely wiped out.

The Western Union Telegraph Company this afternoon reported the entire district up as far as the new Fairmont Hotel at the top of Nob Hill, California street, between Powell and Mason streets, all gone. It is also reported that 100,000 peopde are homeless and at 6.30 o'clock this morning, San Francisco time, the fire was not under control and the water supply was again cut off. Los Angeles shows little loss of life.

ANXIOUSLY AWAITING WORD FROM RELATIVES

Plainfielders, residents of Scotch Plains and of New Market are among the thousands in the East who are anxiously awaiting word of relatives or friends who lived in the area affected by the worst shocks of the San Francisco earthquake. They were still waiting, unsatisfied, this afternoon. Only the general intelligence contained in the newspaper reports reached them up to that time.

W. E. Hazell, of East Second street, is worrying over the fate of two sisters. The latter lived in the business section of San Francisco. Late reports this morning declared that the entire business section was wiped out, either through shock or flame.

Mrs. William Ackerman, of New Market, is waiting for tidings of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis, who live in Ocean Park, Cal., eighteen miles from Los Angeles, which was rocked by the earthquake and suffered considerable damage. Mr. Davis left New Market three years ago to go into the grocery business at Ocean Park, and was joined last year by Charles Ward and Fred Ward, of New Market. Ocean Park is the seaport of Los Angeles, and the relatives and friends of the ex-New Marketers fear that a tidal wave has or will strike Ocean Park if it escaped the horror of the seismic shock.

Col. William Edwards, a brother of Maze Edwards, manager of the Casino, is in business in San Francisco, and lives on Nob Hill there. Mr. Edwards learned last night that another brother in New York was telegraphing to San Francisco for news, and looks for intelligence of some sort from him as to Col. Edwards' fate. Col. Edwards was one of the most prominent brokers of San Francisco, and if anything happened to him the news should be among the first to find its way into the casualty lists. Col. Edwards is president of the California Oil and Stock Exchange and managing director of the San Francisco Stock and Exchange Board.

William Spencer, formerly of Duer street, is in the dry goods business in San Francisco. His place is believed to have been among those wiped out.

George Stillger, Jr., son of George Stillger, a Scotch Plains shoemaker, conducts a general store at Taylor and Post streets, San Francisco. It was said this morning that Taylor and Post streets lay in a district outside the city proper and was not seriously affected by the shocks. Stillger was East on a visit a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, who were greatly concerned about the welfare of Captain and Mrs. Chauncey Humphrey, received a telegram this morning stating that they are safe and well. They are located at Alcatraz Island, where Captain Humphrey is stated with the 22d Regiment, U. S. Infantry. Mrs. Humphrey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waring.

Lieutenant Llewellyn Bull, son of Charles P. Bull, of East Ninth street, who is also stationed at Alcatraz Island with the 22d Regiment, U. S. Infantry, was heard from this morning and he states that he is all right.

There is much concern felt for Rev. Louis Walz, of this city, who has been engaged in mission work in San Francisco. He was located in the burning district and his father has been unable to secure any informa-

BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE FIRST DAY IN STRICKEN CITY

First shock felt at thirteen minutes after 5 o'clock in the morning. Second shock three hours later.

Business part of the city, covering eight square miles and about two hundred blocks, wrecked.

Residence portion of the city shaken, but not badly damaged.

Citizens rushed to the streets in panic as fire breaks out at various points.

Fire Department discovers that entire water sysetem is ruined and that there are no means to fight the fire.

San Francisco Call, Examiner, Postal Telegraph, Western Union, Telephone, Rialto, Mutual Life and nearly every modern business building in the city is wrecked to a greater or less extent and left in the path of the flames, which are swept onward by a fierce west wind.

In the absence of water recourse was had to dynamite to check the flames.

Soldiers and policemen injured while using giant powder to blow up buildings.

Mayor Schmitz appointed relief committee of fifty citizens and established headquarters in the Hall of Justice, the nine million dollar City Hall having collapsed.

Ferry docks slipped into water and panic stricken inhabitants forced to escape from city in tugs furnished by the Union Pacific Railroad.

View from top of Telegraph Hill showed twenty-five fires blazing in various parts of the city.

Missionary Society Delegates.

Among the delegates from this place who attended the anniversary of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society held this week in Philadelphia are Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, Miss Emma Brokaw, Mrs. Reuben Knox and Mrs. Judson Bonnell.

Musical Concert at Levy Bros.'

Levy Bros. will have a special sale in all departments Saturday. There will be a musical concert under the direction of Prof. Suhr. ***

CLIFF HOUSE SWEPT AWAY INTO THE SEA.

San Francisco, Cal., April 19.—From the Cliff House comes word that the great pleasure resort and show place of the city which stood upon a foundation of solid rock, has been swept into the sea.

Not a thing stands to tell where the monster stone building one stood. It has been leveled to the foundation and only the rock lining the sea coast remains intact.

ODD CHARACTERS ON THE DIAMOND

HUMOROUS INCIDENTS IN LIVES OF WELL-KNOWN PLAYERS IN THE PAST.

Base ball as a profession develops more queer characters than any other sport. In the first place, it brings a great crowd of half-developed men into the limelight of publicity and affords the best opportunity to develop their cranks and conceits. Besides, they have plenty of spare time to accentuate their peculiarities.

It seems to me sometimes that the day of the "character" is past, and that never again will the game reproduce the unique figures that are historic. We have now no Mike elly, no Brudder Bill Gleasons, no Dad Clarkes, One-Armed Dalys, Gladiator Brownings—or that kind of fellows. True, we have Rube Waddell—but where can the present game find the duplicates of Pat Tebeau, Bill Joyce, Bad Bill Egan, Tony Mullane; his catcher, Kid Baldwin; Tacky Tom Parrott, Dave Orr, Scissors Foutz or Cherokee Fisher? In those days it seemed is if every prayer was an individual character, known both on and off the field, while nowadays a ball player is much like any other worker. He plays the game, doffs his uniform, and little more is known of him until the next day.

Tacky Tom Parrott was one of the greatest characters that ever broke into the game. He could pitch some, and when he landed on the ball he ticketed it for the fence. One day in Cincinnati Tom caught a fast straight one on the piccolo and sent it into the corner of the lot for a home run. He completed the circuit of the bases before the ball came back into the field, but, instead of stopping, he started for first again, and, still going at top speed, went around the bases again. The crowd was howling when he finished the second circuit, so Tom started around again. Four times he raced around the bases, and then one of his team mates caught him and led him to the bench.

Tom was a cornet player—and a good one. When he was pitching for St. Louis one afternoon Von der Ahe employed a female band to discourse sweet music between innings, and the plan made a hit with Tom. He would pitch the inning; then, after retiring his opponents, he would climb up the front of the stand, take his place in the band and play a cornet solo, after which he would go out and pitch some more.

One night—at 2 a. m.—we were in the Gault house in Louisville when I was awakened by a great uproar. Curses, yells and imprecations filled the air, and aboe the curses rose the notes of a cornet. Tom's room connected with mine, and, rushing into his room, I found him in his nightshirt, with his bare feet in the window and a cornet to his lips, playing away for dear life.

"What in thunder do you mean, waking up everybody in the hotel?" I demanded.

"I just remembered a tune I hadn't thought of for years," said Tom, "and I was fixing it in my mind."

Scissors Foutz was another odd one. He drank some, and also he played poker, and on one occasion this combination beat a crowd of San Francisco sports out of a big bunch of money. Scissors was pitching for a Louisville aggregation wintering on the coast and he was carded to pitch against Chicago the following day in Central Park. He got drunk during the afternoon and sat in a poker game that eevning in the Baldwin Hotel. He was still drinking, and late in the evening the story got out among the sports that Foutz was drunk and playing poker. So they began to bet heavily that Chicago

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

A. R. Fordyce, Jr.'s candidacy for the State senatorial nomination is arousing a lot of comment about the State, especially in this section. Politicians say it may mark the beginning of the Colby crusade for the possession of Middlesex. The machine is certainly warmly interested.

An amateur entertainment, to be held May 11, is being arranged by the young people of the Presbyterian church. All the entertainers will be local, and a long programme, spicy with variety, will be presented.

Charles Robinson will go into truck farming. He has purchased a horse and wagon. Part of his time will be spent in gardening for different people about the borough.

Bartholomew Kelly, who was brought home from the hospital at Newark a week ago, is steadily regaining his strength. He says he feels as well as he ever did.

William B. Smith, of Caldwell, visited Charles Thornton yesterday. They went for a drive to New Brunswick in the morning.

E. H. Craw, who joined the Aluminum Press Company force last week, has taken a room at Mrs. S. C. Fisher's house.

A dime sociable will be held by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church at the home of Mrs. Sanford tonight.

Court Dunellen will hold an entertainment next Monday night. A lively programme has been prepared.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, of Brooklyn, have been visiting Mrs. Josephine Vance for a few days.

Fred Kirchner has left the chair factory to study carpentry with Apgar Brothers.

The front of the Brakeley building has been repainted.

E. W. Bolles is boarding at Mrs. S. C. Fisher's house.

W. S. Haselton is riding a new saddle horse.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Girls' Club connected with the Industrial School, gave an entertainment last night in the school room. A pleasing programme of recitations and stereopticon views were enjoyed by the club and its friends.

The annual encampment of gypsies has arrived and have pitched their tents for a short stay on Mountain avenue, near the bridge.

The local trap shooters will be well represented at the big shoot to be held Tuesday by the Plainfield Gun Club.

Miss Mamie Gallagher, of Metuchen, is spending the week with Mrs. William H. Lee, of Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walpole have returned from a visit with relatives and friends at Kearny, N. J.

Frederick K. Clark has been detained at home for several days suffering from a severe cold.

The Suburban Club holds the first of its series of after Lent dances tonight in the club's hall.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the Library rooms.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

George Arrowsmith, whole working in Rahway, caught his arm in a belt and broke the arm in three places. He is now at his home here and is recovering.

Farmers are pushing along their work while the ground is in fine order for working in preparation for sowing and planting.

Mrs. B. F. Harris and son and daughter spent yesterday in Newark.

By Tom Muir.

Al. Leach, who is booked to appear here on May 5, was taken very ill at Lancaster, Pa., Tuesday night. His condition is still serious but the tour of "Girls Will Be Girls" is being continued.

The splendid notices that the New York papers gave Miss Florence Roberts and "The Strength of the Weak" after the opening at the Liberty, Tuesday, serve to accentuate the fact that Plainfielders missed a "good thing." Her appearance here Monday night was witnessed by one of the poorest houses of the season and the size of the audience was a great disappointment to Manager Cort, who brought the show to Plainfield because of old relations.

Firm in the belief that the early bird catches the worm, Manager Counihan has lost no time in getting attractions for the season of 1906-07 at the New Plainfield and already has booked a score or more of the best productions on the road. His membership in the Green Room Club has enabled him to get plays that seldom visit cities of this size and the contracts call for only original casts and full equipment. Among those he has secured are Modjeska, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," "The Lion and the Mouse," "Beauty and the Beast," all of George M. Cohan's attractions, including "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," "George Washington, Jr.," and "Little Johnny Jones;" Chauncey Olcott, Elsie Janis in "The Vanderbilt Cup," "Holty-Toity," originally produced at Weber & Fields', "The Rollicking Girl," Fritzi Scheff in "Mlle. Modiste," Frank Daniels in "Sergeant Brue;" Al. G. Fields, Primrose and Haverly's minstrels, "The College Widow," "The Beauty Doctor," "David Harum," Julia Gray in a new offering; "Simple Simon Simple," Creston and Clarke, "The Prince of Pilsen," "'Way Down East," "The Old Homestead," "Buster Brown," with Master Gabriel in the cast, Barney Gilmore, "York State Folks," Billy Van in "The Errand Boy," Hap Ward (formerly of Ward and Vokes) in "The Grafter," George George in "The Richest Girl in the World," York and Adams in "Bankers and Brokers," Florence Bindley, "The Tenderfoot," Willie Collier, May Irwin, Madame Blauvelt, Henrietta Crosman, James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering, Richard Carle, John Drew, Nat Wills, James O'eNil, Wilton Lackaye, Robert Edeson, Blanche Walsh, Bickel, Watson and Wrothe in "Tom, Dick and Harry," "Robin Hood" and "The Heir to the Hoorah."

PRESIDENT PROMPT TO OFFER ASSISTANCE.

Washington, April 19.—President Roosevelt sent yesterday, immediately upon receipt of the news of the earthquake disaster, these telegrams:

"Washington, April 18, 1906.

"Hon. Eugene E. Schmitz, Mayor, San Francisco, Calif.

"Hear rumor of great disaster through an earthquake in San Francisco, but know nothing of the real facts. Call upon me for any assistance I can render.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"Hon. George C. Pardee, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"Hear rumors of great disaster through an earthquake in San Francisco, but know nothing of the real facts. Call upon me for any assistance.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

At 11:30 o'clock last night the President received the following reply from the Governor:

"Sacramento, April 18.—Owing to the interruption of telegraphic communication, the extent of the disaster in San Francisco is not well known here; but no doubt the calamity is very serious.

"The people of California appreciate your prompt inquiry and offer of assistance. State troops are now doing patrol duty and if Federal assistance is needed will call upon you.

"GEO. C. PARDEE, Governor."

would win, qualifying the bet with "if Foutz pitches for Louisville." As he was the star pitcher many of the bets were snapped up.

At 7 o'clock the next morning Foutz still was playing poker and drinking, and the betting was lively. The game broke up shortly before 10 o'clock in the morning. The betting then was 3 to 1. Foutz went to bed, slept two hours, and that afternoon let Chicago down with two hits.

One-armed Daly was a real character. His left arm was cut off just above the elbow, and he wore a leather pad, hollowed a bit, on the stump, and with it and his good hand he could catch fly balls and field grounders excellently. He was the greatest hit that ever happened in the south during training seasons, and the negroes would come for miles to see the one-armed man pitch and field.

The trouble was that the stump of his arm was tender, and he hated to catch thrown balls, which was a source of constant trouble between him and his catcher. Tom Deasley, who always returned the ball hard.

"Ach 'em, Tom; arch 'em," pleaded Daly, but Deasley continued to put on the speed until one day Daly called him down into the diamond and swung the stump of his arm against Deasley's jaw, dropping him to the ground, and remarking, "Now will ye arch 'em?"

One spring Rasty Wright and Big Head Miller were playing in the outfield of a southern team. Both had arms deader than Brooklyn's pennant chances and neither of them could get the ball back to the infield in two heaves. Suddenly they received the startling news that Billy George had been signed to play the other outfield position.

"That guy'll come down here and show us up throwing," remarked Rasty.

There was consternation in the outfield when Billy showed up and the dead-armed duo approached the new man anxiously.

"How's the whip, Billy?" asked Big Head.

"Finer 'n silk," said Billy, swinging his throwing arm. "It's zingo, to the plate, on the line."

That afternoon the trio took their places in the outfield. In the first inning some batter caught the ball square and drove it a mile out over Billy's head. He gave one look at the flying ball, and, turning, pleadingly toward Rasty and Big Head, he called "Help—men!"

OVER 27,000 SMALL EQUITABLE POLICIES LAPSED.

New York, April 19.—The new management of the Equitable Life Assurance society through its efforts ot restore the polices which were allowed to lapse in the last year has discovered that it was the small policy-holder who suffered most from the fear inspired in the long period of scandals.

It has found that the agitation of the last year resulted in the lapsing of 27,385 policies for $1,000 or under in the Equitable Life. Of the total number of lapsed policies in that institution eighty-four per cent. were for $3,000 or less. Only one policy for $250,000 was allowed to lapse.

The new management of the Equitable is doing everything that it can to reinstate the policy-holders who allowed their contracts to lapse. President Paul Morton announced recently that the society would renew the lapsed contracts of the last year on the same footing as they were when discontinued, provided the premiums for the intervening time were paid up and the former policy-holders were able to pass a satisfactory physical examination.

The management of the Equitable reports that the response of this proposition has been most encouraging and indicates beyond doubt a strengthening of confidence in life inhurance affairs. In the last ten days the management of the Equitable has, it is said, received more than 4,000 applications for reinstatement at the home office. Many others are applying to the society's agents throughout the country. On an average the applications are coming in at the rate of 200 a day.

Look Out for the Swindler.

A petty swindler has been working various New Jersey towns, fleecing people out of small amounts by representing himself to be an agent of Hahne & Co., Newark, and selling tickets calling for photographs at reduced price. This man, who is described as a smooth-tongued individual, secures a deposit of 50 cents for the ticket. He works only a few days in a town, so that by the time people discover that he has misrepresented himself and secured their money under false pretence, he is out of their reach. As Hahne & Co. employ no agents whatever to canvass in this way, people are advised not to pay money to anyone selling photograph tickets, and representing themselves to be with Hahne & Co, Newark.

Thomas C. Aldrich, of Grove street, who has been critically ill at his home, is improving slowly.

George L. Bolsterle, of this city, a student at Rutgers College, has returned to New Brunswick, after a short visit in town.

Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, gave a luncheon at her home Tuesday in honor of Miss Alberta Waterbury, of Syracuse, who is her guest.

"It cost me my day yesterday. You owe me $400. But never mind, I forgive you for the story's sake."—Mark Twain to Harry Leon Wilson.

The above is what the most genial of American humorists says of the most typical of American stories which this paper will begin running as a serial within a short time. It is called

Author of "The Lions of the Lord." Etc.

The Spenders is a story of the third generation, and the leading characters are an old man who made his money in the West, and his grandson who is spending the family fortunes in the East. It is the ideal American Novel, and every one of our readers will find it intensely interesting.

HAHNE & CO.

Suits Full O' STYLE.

Despite tremendous selling the past few weeks, especially last week when the trading seemed to have no bounds, our collection of Suits, Dresses, Skirts and Coats seems to have kept perfectly intact so far as variety of style goes. Our stocks are so vast that, with the biggest kind of selling, it is practically impossible to cause gaps in it—besides there is a never ceasing flow of the newest things the best makers produce, keeping the stock full, fresh and fine.

POPULAR PRICED SUITS—Most attractive models indeed; made of beautiful new gray all-wool plaids and mixtures, with Eton coats having elbow sleeves beautifully trimmed; with skirts in circular shape with cluster of plaits and two bands around the bottom; suits that most stores would mark at from $16.50 to $18.50, for they look worth those prices; sold here at..... $10

PRETTY PANAMA SUITS—Four new models, made with handsome Eton jackets; charmingly trimmed with braid, lace or tailor straps, with circular, circular-gored and Princess skirt effects, with cluster plaits, straps and bands employed in various ways; in Alice blue, gray, old rose and reseda, at these very low prices:
$16.50, $18.50, $19.50, $22.50.

WHITE LINEN SUITS prettily embroidered; especially nice for summer resorts—shore or mountain; would look stunning at a tennis tourney, etc. Price $32.50.
Many similar styles in our Suit Store.

WOMEN'S FANCY PANAMA SUITS—In gray and Alice blue, with silk-lined skirt; beautifully made; a style that is most pleasing; regular value $35.00; at..... $25

Sunburst Skirts of black and white checks and all black, $4.98.
Sunburst Skirts of fancy plaids and shadow plaids, $7.98 and $9.98.
Sunburst Skirts of black taffeta, $12.50.
Sunburst Skirts of fancy plaid silk with velvet trimming, $14.50 and $18.98.

WALKING SKIRTS in plaited and gored circular style, made of Panama, voile cloth, cheviot, fancy mixtures and a particularly large variety of plaids, at these low prices:
$4, $4.50, $6, $8.50 and $9.98.

SMARTLY TAILORED COATS of covert, broadcloth, cheviot, fancy plaids and mixtures, in tight-fitting semi-fitting and loose box effects; up to this store's highest standard in every particular; beautifully finished in every way; goods you can be proud of; on sale this week at these low prices:
$6, $8, $9.98, $12.50, $15.50, $19.50, $29.50.

PRETTY HATS WE SELL At $4.75.

There are few houses that take the pains we do in making up popular-priced stock. A good many content themselves with the products of the manufacturers and, as a result, the cheap hats you buy in most stores are commonplace indeed. Not only are they low in price, but very ordinary in appearance.

With us it is different. We put some of our best trimmers at work on our low-priced hats. And you get in our hats at $4.75 a dash and style equaling many of the higher-priced ones. The shapes are there, the trimmings are there, and the colors are there. The difference between the low-priced and the better hats is in the quality of the materials used, not so much in the appearance.

The hats we sell at $4.75 are very satisfactory indeed.

The hats we sell at $7.75 meet the requirements of a multitude.

We invite your attention to these popular-priced hats. We make a big display of them. There are lots of styles to choose from, and the values are not matched by any other house in the city. In New York you would pay very much more for equal quality hats.

SAN FRANCISCO HORROR

300 Killed in Santa Rosa; San Jose's Big Loss—Reports From Other Towns.

Sacramento, April 19.—Dr. Stone, Superintendent of the Napa State Hospital, telephones the Governor's office that an autombile arrived there with news that Santa Rosa is ruined and that between 200 and 300 persons were killed.

Los Angeles, April 19.—A report from San Jose, fifty miles south of San Francisco, says that the Vendome Hotel annex was wrecked, ten or fifteen persons being killed there. The Doherty Block was burned and one woman was killed. Dr. Degrow was killed and his wife was injured.

Every business building in San Jose was damaged or demolished. The Mayor deputized 500 men to watch property. It is estimated that fifty persons were killed in San Jose. The postoffice was nearly wrecked.

The First Presbyterian church was demolished, and the Court House is a wreck.

Passengers from many other cities in California bring tales of death and disaster. Santa Cruz, Monterey, Gilroy, and Hollister, they say, are wrecked. The death list at Santa Cruz is reported to be large.

A report says that Santa Rosa is a wreck, 10,000 being homeless. The loss probably will reach into the hundreds. Main street is piled many feet deep with fallen buildings. Not one business building is intact. The four-story Court House is a pile of broken masonry. Identification of the dead is impossible. What was not destroyed by the earthquake was swept by fire.

Citizens fled to the fields and hills to watch the destruction of Santa Rosa. The water system was destroyed by the earthquake.

Eight dead Italians were taken out of an Italian hotel at San Jose. At that place the Presbyterian church, St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the High School were destroyed. The new Hall of Justice at San Jose, just completed at a cost of $300,000 was demolished.

At Loma Prieta, eighteen miles from Santa Cruz, a mine house slipped down the side of a mountain, burying ten men in the ruins.

THE BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

A Partial List of the Structures Torn Down or Injured.

San Francisco, April 19.—The following is an incomplete list of the buildings destroyed or injured:

Call Building, entirely destroyed.

Claus Spreckels Building, burned out.

Hearst Building, collapsed.

New Chronicle Building, hardly damaged.

The White House, walls badly cracked; all plate glass windows gone; every piece of stock in building removed before 9:30 a. m.

Winchester Hotel, Third street, totally destroyed by earthquake shock.

Grand Opera House, entirely restroyed.

Claus Spreckels house and stables, Van Ness avenue, badly damaged and will have to be largely rebuilt.

St. Luke's Episcopal church, Van Ness avenue, will have to be pulled down.

Lick House, walls and roof largely caved in.

Upham Building, Pine and Battery street, totally destroyed; loss, $550,000.

Fire house adjoining California Hotel in Bush street; Chief Sullivan and wife, sleeping in engine house, severely bruised by bricks crashing through roof from hotel.

The building in course of construction to be occupied by the Hamman baths will have to be rebuilt. It is in Post street near the Olympic Club. The walls are badly warped and twisted and the roof has fallen in.

San Francisco Gas and Electric Company's Post street plant, only slightly injured.

St. Francis Hotel, exterior slightly cracked and seamed, but noe seriously injured.

Pacific Union Club, Post and Stockton streets, front injured and fissures in rear wall.

St. Dominic's Church in Pierce street, total loss. The interior of the church is wrecked and there are fissures in the walls. The structure will have to be pulled down. The parochial house in the same block is nearly a wreck. It is estimated that the loss to the parish is $300,000.

The ornamental top on St. Dunstan's, the apartment house at Sutter street and Van Ness avenue, fell into the street.

The Concordia Club building in Van Ness avenue has several fissures in the side, and rebuilding will be necessary.

The Hotel Grinado, badly damaged; stone coping about roof feel.

Mrs. Edgar Williams and daughter, of East Sixth street, are spending several days in Washington.

AMERICA MOURNS.

Never in the history of America in times of peace has such a catastrophe visited this country to compare in magnitude to the calamity at San Francisco and other parts of California yesterday. The people of Pompeii had some warning of their impending fate when Vesuvius destroyed that ancient city, but the death-dealing horror at the Golden Gate came in the twinkling of an eye, bringing with it untold destruction to property to say nothing of the hundreds of precious lives. From the heart of every American springs the deepest feeling of sympathy which will find its true expression in the measures of relief that will be afforded to the inhabitants of that stricken city.

NEW INCORPORATIONS OF LOCAL INTEREST

PLAINFIELDERS PRINCIPAL STOCKHOLDERS IN BLOOMSBURY WATER CO.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed in the office of the county clerk by the Bloomsbury Water Company, organized principally by Plainfielders. The incorporators named are John A. Staats, John F. Auten, Harry C. VanEmburgh, Clarence E. Teel, Ellsworth C. Westcott, Edward F. Newton, all of Plainfield, and John DeHart, of Bloomsbury. The total authorized capital stock is $25,000, divided into 250 shares at a par value of $100 each. The principal office will be in this city.

Another certificate was filed yesterday by the Mutual Benefit Society, Duke of Abruzzi, of Scotch Plains. The objects for which the corporation is formed are mutual aid, protection for its members and to practice benevolence and charity toward all who are in need and deserving of assistance.

REV. C. L. GOODRICH CHOSEN FOR THE AMERICAN BOARD.

Honored at the Meeting of the New Jersey Congregational Association at Washington.

At the thirty-eight annual meeting of the Congregational Association of New Jersey at Washington, D. C., yesterday, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, of this city, was chosen for the American Board, and E. L. Suffern was elected a delegate to the Home Missions meeting at Oak Park, Ill., on May 8, 9 and 10. At the close of the morning session, the members of the convention went to the White House, where they were received by President Roosevelt.

Rev. Dr. Oliver Huckel, of Baltimore, who was the moderator of the last meeting of the association, introduced a resolution, which was adopted, expressing regret because of the transfer of the affiliation of the Philadelphia churches from the association. In the possibility of a joint meeting at Philadelphia of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania associations at a future date was suggested.

At the last meeting last night, Justice Harlan, of the Supreme Court, made an address upon "The Judiciary in Relation to Public Morals." Commissioner West spoke on "The Honest Man," and Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver, of Iowa, delivered the concluding address.

Rev. A. H. Bradford, of Montclair, acted as moderator, and Rev. W. A. Wagner, of Asbury Park, was scribe. Next year's meeting will be held at Orange.

George Endicott, son of Dr. G. W. Endicott, of Park avenue, who has been visiting in Newark, returned home ill yesterday. An examination showed that he had scarlet fever and he was at once removed to the home of W. W. Rowley in Linden avenue.

CLASSIS FINISHES WORK

AID FOR MARCONNIER

Newark Classis Votes $200 Towards Support of Chapel—Next Meeting May 14.

With the opening of the afternoon session of the Newark Classis of the Reformed church in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, the resignation of Rev. John S. Allen as pastor of the New York Avenue Reformed church, Newark, was taken up. A committee comprising Rev. Dr. James I. Vance and Rev. Dr. Denis Wortman was appointed to draft resolutions expressing the deep feeling of appreciation for Mr. Allen's faithful work and sincere regret that he is to leave the Newark Classis.

These resolutions were prepared and presented later in the afternoon. They were ordered spread on the minutes and a copy will be given to Mr. Allen.

Rev. W. C. Connor, Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, Rev. Dr. Denis Wortman and Rev. Henry Merle Mellen were appointed delegates to attend the Particular Synod meeting to be held in Philadelphia, on Tuesday, June 19, and the same members, with the exception of Dr. Wortman, and Elders A. A. Clark, F. E. Smith and Philip Bach, the last two named of this city, were appointed delegates to attend the one hundredth session of the General Synod to be held the first week in June in the Marble Collegiate Reformed church, New York.

The Classis nominated Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, of Albany, as a candidate for the professorship of ecclesiastical history and church government at Rutgers College.

Rev. Henry Merle Mellen, of Newark, was elected stated clerk and treasurer to succeed Rev. John S. Allen, who tendered his resignation because of his intention to join the New York Classis.

An application was received to assist Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale in the new work he has undertaken as pastor of Marconnier chapel at Oak Tree. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck made a brief statement commending the pastor and work to the Classis and it was unanimously decided to vote $200 toward this work. It was also voted to aid the work at the Montclair Reformed church.

Rev. Dr. Wortman made a statement regarding the widows' fund and urged the ministers and laymen to give the matter their careful thought and attention.

In many respects the Classis was one of the best yet held and considerable was accomplished at the morning and afternoon sessions. When the afternoon session closed, it was to meet again at the First Reformed church, Newark, on Monday, May 14, when Rev. Stewart Nye Hutchinson will be installed as pastor.

TO REPORT FOWLER BILL.

Regulating the Deposit of Public Moneys in National Banks.

Washington, April 19.—The House Committee on Banking and Currency agreed yesterday to report favorably the Fowler bill, which makes important changes in the regulations governing the deposit of public moneys. A report to accompany the bill is being prepared, and the bill will come before the House at the earliest opportunity.

The proposed law strikes out of the Revised Statutes the provision which excludes the customs receipts from the sums distributed by the secretary of the Treasury among designated banking institutions.

Jersey Land Company Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the Union County Clerk's Office this morning by the Jersey Land Real Estate and Amusement Company. The capital stock is $25,000, divided into 2,500 shares at $10 each. The incorporators are Robert Walker, Frank C. Raub and H. C. Dixon, all of New York. The principal office of the company is at Jersey Land Park, Scotch Plains. The purpose of the company is to acquire the title of the amusement park at Scotch Plains, privileges, licenses, etc., by purchase, for amusement purposes. This is the park formerly conducted by Galvin.

Swedish Evangelistic Services.

Beginning tomorrow night at eight o'clock, evangelistic services will be held in the Swedish Pilgrim church, West Sixth and New streets, of which Rev. Theodore Englund is the pastor. The services will continue over Sunday. The ministers from out of town who will take part in these services are Rev. K. F. Philson, of New York; Rev. N. J. Wessell, of Brooklyn, and Rev. C. G. Ryden, of Hoboken. There will be special music at each service, and some New York talent is expected to assist the local talent in these services.

Wedded at St. Joseph's.

Miss Margaret Daley, of Manning avenue, and James Nash, of Perth Amboy, were married in St. Joseph's church, last night. The ceremony was performed by Father Miller and was witnessed by a gathering of friends. A reception followed at the bride's home.

WEALTH IN CRESSES.

GREENS SHIPPED INTO NEW YORK BY THE CARLOAD.

Swamp in West Virginia Produces Enough to Enrich the Gatherer—Easy Road to Riches.

"That fellow over there is the Watercress Croesus," said the clerk in an uptown hotel, nodding in the direction of the theater ticket stand, where a big, fine-looking man of 40, well dressed and apparently accustomed to New York hotel surroundings, was buying tickets for a party of friends, says the Sun.

"Fifteen years ago," continued the clerk, "he was a poor devil down in the mountains of West Virginia, with nothing but what he could earn as a laborer and no prospects. One day he went to Baltimore as a caretaker with a load of cattle.

"There he dropped into a barroom and saw a plateful of watercress on the bar. He made some inquiries about where it came from, what it cost, etc., and went back to the Wset Virginia mountains thinking.

"He knew a piece of swampy ground where watercress grew abundantly, and he figured that there might be money in shipping it to Baltimore. He made inquiries and found he could buy the ground for five dollars an acre. It was only a few hundred feet from the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, but the nearest shipping point was four miles away.

"He talked the venture over with the cattleman for whom he worked and got his promise to help him. On his next trip to Baltimore a deal was closed with a commission merchant to handle shipments of watercress, and the cattleman's influence with the railroad people was sufficient to exact a promise to put in a siding long enough to hold four freight cars.

"On returning home the cattleman advanced $100 and the whole swamp was bought. Within a month the railway siding was in and the watercress Croesus was gathering and shipping a carload a week.

"Croesus repaid the cattleman before six months. The next year he put up a little shop where his crates were made. He soon cleared out all the other growth in the swamp, planted more watercress and in another year had a solid bed of 20 acres. He found that by building a dam he could extend the swamp over nearly 100 acres further down the valley, but he didn't build it till he had got the ground.

"Watercress requires no cultivation and no replanting—nothing but water and harvesting. It produces throughout the year, and costs nothing but the wages of the men who gather it.

"Croesus soon extended his market to Philadelphia, New York and other cities and his fortune was made. Now he has nothing to do but spend his income and let the watercress grow.

"No, he is not the only watercress producer, but I guess he's the only one who ships it in carload lots and to all parts of the country."

THEIR DESPERATE HEROISM

Pioneers Who Fought Their Way Through the Wilds in Early Times.

The desperate intrepidity and warlike heroism of the early settlers of Illinois are illustrated by an incident narrated in a recently published volume, entitled "Historic Illinois." The early days were a time of hardship, danger and death. Every forest covert, every tuft of prairie grass might hide some skulking enemy. Among the early frontiersmen was a Capt. Whiteside, whose name became a terror among the Kickapoos.

A party of 14 white men, led by Whiteside, made an attack upon an encampment of Indians of greatly superior force. Only one Indian escaped. During the heat of the skirmish Capt. Whiteside was severely wounded, he thought mortally, having received a shot in the side.

As he fell he called to his sons to keep on fighting, and not to yield an inch of ground, or permit the savages to touch his body. Uel Whiteside, who had also been shot in the arm, so that he could no longer use his rifle, hastily examined his father's wound, discovering that the bullet had glanced along the ribs, and lodged against the spine.

With that daring and disregard for pain so often characteristic of border men, he immediately whipped out his knife, gashed the skin, extracted the ball, and held it up, crying:

"You're not dead yet, father!"

The old man leaped to his feet, renewed the fight, and bore his full part to the end. Many such instances of heroism distinguished the men who in those days of peril were called upon to defend the frontiers of Illinois.

COUNTRY CLUB ISSUES ITS TENNIS SCHEDULE

The tennis committee of the Plainfield Country club has issued an unusually attractive schedule for the coming season, showing that there wil be a sufficient number of events to interest the lovers of the game.

In addition to the special events there will be a continuous tournament extending throughout the season. The players of the club will be arranged by the tennis committee, primarily, as nearly as practically in the order of their playing ability. The first six players will constitute class one, the second six will constitute class two and the third six, class three, and so on for as many classes as may be necessary.

Each player may challenge any player rated above him, provided that the challenged player be within the same class or the next higher class. If the challenger wins two out of three sets, he takes the number of the defeated player, who drops back to the challenger's former number. If the challenger loses, both players retain their former numbers.

An unplaced player may challenge only members of the lowest class, unless by special permission from the tennis committee. Matches must be played off promptly. If the challenged player fails for more than two weeks to play, he loses his number to the challenger by default, unless the tennis committee, for good reasons, otherwise orders. If defeated, the challenger may not challenge the same player again for one month thereafter. The members of class one will be regarded as the regular club team, and of class two, as the substitutes therefor, but the tennis committee, may, in its discretion, make other selections for team matchss. Male members of the club, of any class, are eligible. A cup will be awarded to the player, who, in the opinion of the tennis committee, has maintained during the season the best standing in this tournament.

This is the schedule of events:

Saturday, May 5, 3 p. m., men's doubles; Saturday, May 19, 10 a. m., women's handicap singles; Saturday, May 26, 3 p. m., men's doubles tournament of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association begins. Cups offered by the association; Monday, May 28, 3 p. m., women's singles tournament of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association begins. Cups offered by the association; Tuesday, May 29, 3 p. m., women's singles continued; Wednesday, May 30, Memorial Day, 10 a. m., men's doubles and women's singles, continued; Saturday, June 2, 3 p. m., team match with Elizabeth Town and Country club; Saturday, June 9, 10 a. m., boys' doubles. Boys under 18 years are eligible; Saturday, June 16, 10 a. m., boys' singles. Boys under 15 years are eligible, cup presented by Henry L. Hall; Saturday, June 23, 10 a. m., girls' singles, girls under 18 years are eligible, cup presented by Henry L. Hall; Wednesday, July 4, 10 a. m., women's doubles; Saturday, July 7, 10 a. m., junior mixed doubles, boys and girls under 18 years who have never won a tennis prize at this club are eligible, cups presented by Henry L. Hall; Saturday, July 14, 3 p. m., Plainfield open tournament, men's singles, open to all players in Plainfield and North Plainfield, cup presented by Thomas M. Day; Saturday, July 28, 3 p. m., team match with Park club; Saturday, September 8, 3 p. m., men's singles for club championship, cup presented by George P. Mellick; Tuesday, September 11, 10 a. m., boys' handicap singles, boys under 18 years are eligible; Thursday, September 13, 10 a. m., women's singles for club championship, cup presented by Albert B. Beers; Saturday, September 15, 3 p. m., final rounds of men's and women's singles for club championship.

Other events will be arranged by the committee. Cups will be offered as prizes by the clubs in events, other than team matches, where cups have not been presented. All matches are scratch unless specified as handicaps. Entries should be made not later than 6 p. m., on the day preceding each tournament, to Miss Schuyler, 316 East Seventh street, in the women's and girls' events, and to Thos. M. Day, 740 Carlton avenue, in the men's and boys' and mixed doubles events. An entrance fee of fifty cents per head is charged in the men's events conducted by the club. An entrance fee is also charged in the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association eents.

The tennis committee of the Plainfield Country club comprises Thomas M. Day, chairman; Frederick W. Goddard, Owen H. Fleming, Wylie Brown, Henry J. Cochran, J. Hartley Mellick, Miss Sarah E. Schuyler and Miss Elsie Burke.

ANXIOUS OVER RELATIVES

tion about him.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis K. Hyde, who have been travelling through California, were herd from this morning, Mr. Hyde's mother, Mrs. Charles Hyde, of East Front street, receiving a telegram to the effect that they are safe. They are expected to reach home on Monday.

Miss Katherine F. Ball, daughter of F. H. Ball, is a student at Berkeley College, across the bay from San Francisco. Her family have heard no word from her, but Bert Ball, a brother, who is in business at Portland, Oregon, telegraphed last night that he was on his way to San Francisco as fast as he could speed. Miss Ball was a teacher in the high school and got a year's leave of absence last June to pursue a post graduate course at Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. DuFlon, of Woodland avenue, are in San Francisco, and their son is a student at Leland Stanford University. Thus far no word has been received here from there, but from what is known of their plants it is believed that they are safe.

Mrs. Augustus Feiring, Sr., of the borough, is among the local people who have relatives in the stricken city. Her niece, Mrs. John Bach, is the wife of a merchant who conducted a place on Market street, where everything has been wiped out. Mrs. Bach spent all last spring in Plainfield, returning to San Francisco the latter part of April. Mrs. Feiring also has relatives at Oakland, where the damage is correspondingly large.

EARTHQUAKE GENERAL

Enormous Loss of Property in Places Near San Francisco.

Oakland, which is across the bay from San Francisco, suffered considerable damage to property, but no fatalities were reported after the earthquake, according to a message sent to the New York office of the Western Union yesterday by one of its operators in Oakland. This operator reported that the trains were able to run in Oakland, but that they went very slowly.

Stockton, Cal., April 19.—A sharp earthquake shock was felt here at 5:15 o'clock yesterday morning. The Santa Fe bridge over the San Joaquin River settled several inches.

San Francisco, April 19.—At Napa many building were shattered and the loss will amount to $300,000. No loss of life is reported.

In Vallejo the damage was slight in comparison with that suffered in other prices. The loss will be about $10,000.

Salinas, Cal., April 19.—At 5:15 o'clock yesterday morning three earthquakes shook Salinas, lasting respectively five, three, and forty-two seconds. They came from the northeast and southwest. The damage is $2,500,000. No lives were lost in Salinas.

Opera Company Safe.

The Conried Metropolitan Opera House Company, of New York, which had just opened a two weeks' engagements at the Grand Opera House, San Francisco, lost its entire consignment of valuable scenery. The artists suffered heavily in the loss of personal baggage, but they are all believed to be safe.

CONVERTS HAVE THEIR FEET SOLEMNLY SAVED.

Ceremony of Admission Practiced at Reform Hall Yesterday.

The feet of the two converts baptized in Greenbrook were duly washed at Reform hall yesterday afternoon. The ceremony that marked their full and final admission into the church of God and Saints of Christ was performed by evangelist Joseph Crowdy, nephew of the prophet.

Four steps marked the admission of the candidates—two women from Providence, R. I.—into the faith. 1st, immersion in the brook. Following that the candidates were conducted to Reform hall, where the "breaking of bread, removal of the hats, the full acknowledgment," took place.

The "breaking of bread" is the Saints' communion service, which water takes the place of wine. The "removal of the hat," is the ceremony of breathing upon a candidate by the elder, in which the Holy Spirit is invoked.

The final step is the washing of the candidate's feet by the elder, as the full acknowledgment of membership in the faith. Evangelist Crowdy conducted the service.

The evangelist preached an argumentive sermon on the question of racial claims last night.

April 22: "Our Resources In Service." Phil. iv, 19; II Chron. xvi, 9; Ps. xxxvii, 23-25; Isa. xii, 10-13; Matt. vii, 7, 8; John xiv, 12-14.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

"There is no king saved by the multitude of a host. A mighty man is not delivered by great strength."

Numbers naturally give confidence and abundance brings a sense of security unless one thinks below the surface of things and has studied the lessons of history to some purpose. Then they are quite apt to bring anxiety and doubt as to the future.

Xerxes ought to have conquered Greece if numbers could decide victory. Grecian patriotism was a factor to be reckoned with in that case.

Napoleon should have conquered Russia if military skill and trained soldiery are the chief elements in warfare. But lack of horseshoes, fanaticism and fire with frost are sometimes disturbing factors which affect the solution of the problems of battle.

Great riches, the concentration of power in the hands of a few individuals, leagues and covenants for fraud and oppression appear as menaces of the poor, oppressed and weak, which it is almost impossible to resist and hopeless to expect to see overthrown.

So the temptation has often come and yet arises for the Christian church to seek alliance with the rich and influential in order better to carry on her work of redeeming this world to God.

The worship of the golden calf still goes on at the foot of the mountain while the prophet is busy communing with God at the top.

Satan failed to make league with Christ, though he offered all the world as bonus. Many followers of Christ have since then sold out completely to Satan for scarcely more than Judas himself received.

Our resources are not those of worldly wealth or power or learning; not that we underrate these in their place and time. But whoever expects to advance the cause of righteousness by any or all these and does not prefer truth and straightforward, honest right to them all when they are in any manner of opposition to justice and right makes a stupendous mistake and is heading straight for disaster.

"Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord," is impregnable, hard, eternal fact, against which all fraud and pretense dash themselves in ruin.

Our resources are Jehovah's eternal truth and righteousness. These are still the forces which rule in the moral universe.

Have you not learned that? You have studied, then, to little profit. If you have learned that in your heart and made it into every fiber of your being you have mastered all there is of learning here below; you have clasped hands with the Omnipotent and can stand.

What to Do With Trouble.

There are two kinds of people—some that live on the past and some that live on the future. You never saw people living upon the past all the time and always talking about the past that did not have a good many wrinkles on their brows. Instead of casting all their care on Him that careth for them, they are all the time thinking about their troubles. They go to a meeting, and when it is over they say: "Wasn't it splendid? I enjoyed it so much I forgot all my cares and all my troubles." They laid their bundle down under the seat, but the moment the benediction was over they picked it up again. Give your trouble to God. Remember that everything before the believer is glory.—D. L. Moody.

When Silence Is Not Golden.

It is the sins of omission that are likely to do the greatest harm in family life—the gentle words that lie on the tongue, but which we do not speak; the kindly acts which we feel the impulse to perform, but which we do not perform; the thoughtful things we might have done to give cheer and comfort, but which we do not do. We say silence is golden, and sometimes it is. It is golden when the word we might have spoken would have been a hasty word, sharp, cutting, bitter, but silence is not golden when the word that is in our heart is loving, cheering, comforting, inspiring. We sorely wrong our dear ones when we do not speak out such a word.—Rev. J. R. Miller, D. D.

The Fine Art of Smiling.

Why do we not always smile when we meet a fellow being? That is the true recognition which ought to pass from soul to soul. Little children do this involuntarily. The honest hearted German peasant does it. It is the magical sunlight all through that simple land, the perpetual greeting on the right hand or the left between strangers as they pass each other, never without a smile. This, then, is the "fine art of smiling," like all fine art, true art, perfection of art the simplest following of nature.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Sentence Sermons.

No mud can soil us but the mud we throw.—Lowell.

A Christian is what he is between God and his own soul.—John Mason.

As soon as we are with God in faith and in love we are in prayer.—Fenelon.

If to please men we would displease God we are their followers, not His.—Maltbie D. Babcock.

You may say the right word in the wrong tone; you may preach the gospel as if it were a curse.—Joseph Parker.

Cleanse us from folly and self seeking and let us draw back from no experience that shall be needful for the purposes of help through us.—Isaac O. Rankin.

THE REAL TEST
Of Herpicide Is In Giving It a Thorough Trial.

There is only one test by which to judge of the efficiency of any article and that is by its ability to do that which it is intended to do. Many hair vigors may look nice and smell nice, but the point is—do they eradicate Dandruff and stop falling hair?

No, they do not, but Herpicide does, because it goes to the root of the evil and kills the germ that attacks the papilla from whence the hair gets its life.

Letters from prominent people everywhere are daily proving that Newbro's Herpicide stands the "test of use."

It is a delightful dressing, clear, pure and free from oil or grease.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 22.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The Lord's day; how to keep it holy.—Luke vi, 5-10; Ex. xx, 8-11; Rev. i, 9-18.

The Lord's day is the title given in the New Testament to the Sabbath day. By the example of God and by His command it was observed in the Old Testament dispensation and until the resurrection of Christ on the seventh day of the week. But from the day of the resurrection the vast body of Christians have observed the first day of the week as the Christian Sabbath. No definite command for a change from the seventh to the first day of the week is recorded in the Scriptures; yet the actions of the apostles immediately following Christ's resurrection and their references in their writings to "the first day of the week" and "the Lord's day" are convincing proofs that such a change of days was made to commemorate the greatest event in human history—the resurrection of Christ. The Jewish Sabbath commemorated the finished work of creation and the Christian Sabbath may well commemorate the last great act in Christ's life, which assures us of the finished work of redemption through Jesus Christ. Instead of quibbling over the question of the change let us rejoice in it as a new reason for keeping one day of the week holy and sacred unto God.

The duty of keeping the Sabbath holy cannot be reasonably questioned. God commands us to do it, and His commands should all be obeyed. He Himself first kept it, as an example and an inspiration to all men to do so. Christ also observed the Sabbath in His day and taught men to do so, and, as He lived to give us a pattern of true living, His regard for the Sabbath should be an added reason for our keeping it holy. Moreover, human history abundantly proves that man needs the Lord's day. It was "made for man" and is absolutely necessary to his best physical, moral, mental and spiritual development. The man who strikes the Sabbath day out of his life is not only disobeying the command of God, but is doing himself an untold injury.

The method of keeping the Lord's day holy is the most difficult of all questions connected with the Sabbath. Some generations have been unduly strict in observing the letter of the law and others too liberal in interpreting the spirit of the Sabbath.

What, then, is a fair interpretation of Sabbath observance? What should we not do and what should we do to keep the Lord's day holy?

1. The Lord's day should not be a day of idleness. It should not be a day of idle lounging about the house, reading the Sunday newspaper or a day spent in sleeping the hours away. God has no use for the idler or the sluggard. And if we are spending the Sabbath in these ways we are not keeping it holy.

2. The Lord's day should not be a day of license. It was never "made for man" in the sense that on that day a man can do as he pleases—spend it in seeking personal pleasure or in visiting friends who are well and prosperous. But how many make it a day of pleasure seeking, a day of visiting friends, when the time is spent in idle gossip and in discussing secular affairs! And how many excuse themselves by saying, "It is the only day I have." This is not true. It is the only day man has not got. This day God has kept to Himself. Nor is it true so far as the man himself is concerned. Ten hours are a long working day in our age. Add to this eight hours for sleep and the average man has still six hours a day, or thirty-six a week, a day and a half in which to visit his friends and seek pleasure. Why, then, should he steal time from God for these things and in many instances keep others from God's house and service on this day? Sabbath visitation is one of the curses of our age. Hundreds are kept from God's house every Sabbath because friends "drop in" for the day or for the evening. Such visitors not only break God's law, but make themselves a nuisance to friends.

3. The Lord's day should be spent in Christian worship. The Bible should be read at home and prayer offered to God. The church should be attended by all. Unless prevented by a good excuse no one should be absent from God's house on His day. There are privilege, power, joy, instruction and inspiration in regular church attendance on the Sabbath.

4. The Lord's day should be spent in the spirit. John was "in the Spirit on the Lord's day." He was under the control of the Holy Spirit. Put yourself under the Spirit's direction, especially upon the Sabbath. John saw visions. So will you—visions of what to do and what not to do.

5. The Lord's day should be spent in Christian service; not in idleness, not in secular pursuits, but in Christian service—service to suffering mankind in His name. Go on the Sabbath, if you must go, where you can do good and not where you are a nuisance. Visit a hospital. Take flowers to a sickroom. Go to some unsaved man and ask him to be a Christian. Be a member of the church and serve it in the Sabbath school or some other of its organizations and you'll find the Sabbath day a day of worship, of rest and of glory, and when you kneel in prayer at the close of the day you will thank God for the day and arise on Monday morning refreshed in body, mind and spirit for the toil of the week, with God's blessing upon you and your labors.

BIBLE READINGS.

Alyce Kee Nan, the pretty emotional actress of the "Not Like Other Girls" company, who appears at the New Plainfield theatre tonight, takes after Sarah Bernhardt and other feminine stage celebrities, in that she is possessed of a mania for lugging all kinds of strange pets around the country.

She has a Havana Malese dog named "Dinty," a mocking bird, two parrots, a jackdaw, and an alligator, and it has taken much managerial thought and energy to devise schemes to get rid of her ornithological and zoological collections. Once last season she tried to smuggle into the train a small pet lamb that had been presented to her by some young lady admirers in Seneca Falls, N. Y., but manager Frederick Schwartz interposed a stern veto, much as did the school teacher in the historic case of Mary's juvenile sheep.

One of the most unique and pretty musical numbers in Wm. A. Bardy's "Girls Will Be Girls" is the song "And That Little Girl Is You." The entire company appear as sunflowers with beautiful electrical effects. The attraction will play an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre on May 5.

Lorena Atwood, formerly leading woman at Belasco's Alcazar theafre in San Francisco, is making a hit as Mrs. Vidd, supporting Kyrle Bellew in Liebler & Co.'s production of "Raffles," which comes to the New Painfield theatre tomorrow night. She will be remembered for her excellent work as Madge Larrabee with Gillette's "Sherlock Holmes." Miss Atwood is a California girl and for five years played leading parts in all the productions made at Belasco's Alcazar Theatre Stock company. At an early age in the east Miss Atwood fulfilled engagements with Louis Morrison, McKee Rankin, the late James A. Herne, Wilton Nobles and the late Edwin Knowles, and while under the management of these ablemen she gained vast experience which, together with her training in stock, has fitted Miss Atwood for the most important work.

No drama of the present day has had such a continuous run as "Escaped from Sing Sing," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre Saturday matinee and night. The secret of the success of the play is the manner in which the author has carried out his story, which is one with a moral to it, depicting life and incidents of an honest man, who loves his wife and family, but through the machinations of a villian is railroaded to prison upon a false charge and later makes a sensational escape. The play is full of exciting climaxes, with plenty of comedy element necessary in all well regulated plays. An excellent company is engaged in its presentations.

FOUND BRIDE IN HOSPITAL.

Trenton, April 18.—Seymour I. Peters, of this city, for five years night superintendent of nurses in Bellevue Hospital, New York, returned home yesterday, bringing with him a bride whom he won at the institution where she was visiting a sick relative. She was Miss Anna Parke, of Mount Carmel, Pa., and is said to have recently inherited an estate valued at $50,000. Mr. Peters will give up hospital work.

Mrs. Erskine M. Rodman, of East Seventh street, is detained at home with throat trouble.

Proposals For Sewers.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Common Council of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, April 11, 1906, notice is hereby given that the Common Council will meet on Monday, May 7, 1906, at 8 o'clock p. m., at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Common Council will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of such proportions of the sewers contemplated in the ordinances entitled, "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of a system of sewerage, approved July 25, 1894, "An Ordinance to provide for the construction of an addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 6, 1897, and "An Ordinance for the construction of a further addition to the system of sewerage already constructed in the City of Plainfield," approved November 16, 1905, as provided for in the plans and specifications adopted by the Common Council April 11, 1906, and filed in the office of the City Clerk, No. 151 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Council.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check for $200, payable to the treasurer of the City of Plainfield. The amount of bond required will be $3,000.

The Engineer's approximate estimate of the quantities of material required, and the work to be done, is as follows:

717 feet 8 inch Sewer under 6 feet deep.
4786 feet 8 inch Sewer 6 to 8 feet deep.
5506 feet 8 inch Sewer 8 to 10 feet deep.
1635 feet 8 inch Sewer 10 to 12 feet deep.
200 feet 8 inch Sewer 12 to 14 feet deep.
48 feet 8 inch Cast Iron Sewer under 8 feet deep.
6 Manholes, under 8 feet deep.
15 Manholes, 8 to 10 feet deep.
3 Manholes, 10 to 14 feet deep.
518 Branches, on 8 inch Sewer.
13 Flush Tanks.
2 Flush Tanks remodeled.
1500 feet 4 inch house connections.

Duplicate plans may be examined, and forms of proposals, specifications, contract and bond, may be obtained at the office of the Engineer, 151 North avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

Two Remarkable Suit Groups.

Thursday's sale will enable you to add another jaunty suit to your Spring wardrobe at a trivial outlay. Do not compare the $14.98 group with suits that you have seen before at this price, nor the $19.98 assortment with gowns usually exploited at such a figure. Both offerings are out of the ordinary we assure you.

SILK ETON SUITS—You may wear the coat with a light skirt and be modishly dressed, or wear the skirt with a waist and be equally well gowned. New models in splendid quality black and blue taffeta—very pretty Etons and plaited skirts. New York stores would exploit them as special values at $25..... $19.98

PRETTY CLOTH SUITS—Actual values $20.00. Sale price $14.98. Can you equal this? One hundred suits in all. Sixty samples which we have just secured and forty from regular lines. Eton and short coat styles. Plain Panama cloths and swagger mixtures—women's and misses' sizes. Actual value $20.00 Our price for one day only will be..... $14.98

NEED A SPRING JACKET? The ones we tell of here are extraordinarily pretty. Dainty silk Etons are included in the lot—jaunty and fetching. Broadcloths and pretty coverts. Some fitted, some Eton effects. All handsomely lined and strictly tailored. All sizes to start with. Extra special values at the following prices..... $7.98 and $9.98

JUNIOR SUITS—These pretty suits for girls come in both Eton and coat styles—all of the latest models—they are made of fancy materials in a number of rich effects, and are worth considerably more than our prices..... $7.98 to $20

CHILDREN'S COATS—Swell three-quarter and box coats for girls of all ages from 6 to 14 years—Made of plain coverts, cheviots, fancy checks and plaids—new models—all neatly finished—worth $7.50 to $12 each at..... $5.98 and $7.98

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

A. E. Hoagland is a truckman of energy and skill. He is prompt and efficient.

When you want to satisfy the inner man stop at Timbo's restaurant on North avenue. Popular prices.

In making your selections of spring and summer goods stop at Putnam & DeGraw's store and inspect the firm's desirable stock.

Carpenter work done by M. D. O'Keeffe, West Fourth street, will be done to give you satisfaction. None better can be done.

For any kind of legal work, including the searching of titles, drafting deeds and advice generally in law call on F. J. Huff, Esq., of West Front street.

You can always depend on the drugs you purchase at Clayton Nagle's drug store on West Front street. Prescription work promptly and accurately attended to.

Spring and summer hats for men, as well as a full line of furnishings can be found at O. M. Dunham's store in Park avenue. You will be pleased with the goods and prices.

More shoppers go to S. C. Peck's store every day. There is a reason. They get a square deal and a little more. The Peck stock is always up to date and the prices are as low as anywhere in Bargaindom.

For that tired, all-run-down feeling, there is nothing to equal Powers' sarsaparilla to bring about rejuvenation. It adds color to the cheek and brings lustre to the eye. Sold only at J. P. Powers' Somerset street pharmacy.

This is about the time of the year that one needs a good tonic and L. W. Randolph, the West Front street druggist, has the best on the market. His stock of drugs and medicines is large and complete, and he sells par excellent soda water.

Whenever you think of a depository for your savings, let your mind turn to the Plainfield Trust Company. The best kind of savings account is conducted there. The Trust Company is qualified under the law to handle trust funds and estates.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Rev. E. E. Robeson, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, took possession of the parsonage this afternoon.

—An extra rehearsal for the comic opera, "Patience," will be held at the Casino tomorrow night. All of the soloists will be present and every member of the chorus is urged to attend.

—All of the scaffolding has been removed from the interior of the Plainfield Trust Company's new building on Park avenue, and the work of putting the fixtures in place is progressing satisfactorily. George J. Tobin, who has the contract for the plumbing and heating, has about completed his work.

—The Rochester Democrat and Chronicle says: "Miss Stoll has pronounced dramatic ability and is possessor of a sympathetic and well modulated voice." Another Rochester paper says that Miss Stoll held her audience spellbound. She will appear with the Ithaca Conservatory of Music male quartette in the entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening of this week. Tickets may be obtained free at drug stores. A silver offering will be received.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a sale of fancy articles at the home of Mrs. S. A. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, on Wednesday, May 2, for the benefit of Bethel chapel.

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, is attending a convention of the Congregational church, at Washington, of which he is the corresponding secretary.

The male quartette from the Ithaca Conservatory of Music will furnish special music at the men's meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The admission will be free to men.

Miss Gilbert, of Crescent avenue, is the guest of Boston friends for a time.

Mrs. Charles Runk, of West Seventh street, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is slowly improving.

Miss Grace Shirreffs, of Fitchburg, Mass., who will sing at the organ recital to be given at Grace church, tonight, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stockton, of Central avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howard, of West Fifth street, have been called to Ilion, N. Y., on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Howard's father. Mr. Howard expects to return in time to take charge of the Sunday services.

Since this Company's inception in June, 1902, its growth has been continuous, until today the deposits amount to $1,800,000.00 and the number of its depositors to over 3,000.

Surely there can be no better proof of satisfactory service than that which is evidenced by constant growth.

BOUGHT BIG TRACT.

Plainfielders In Syndicate That Buys 126 Acres In Ewing Township.

Plainfield people are interested in the purchase of 126 acres of land in Ewing township, Mercer Co., to a syndicate of inestors. The property, known as the Hellings farm, cost about $16,000. Sixty acres of it are to be laid out for building lots at once, and work on grading and improving the tract will be pushed rapidly. Factories may be located on the other portion of the property.

Easton and Reading capitalists are in the syndicate with the Plainfielders. M. F. Gano is the Plainfield representative of the company.

MANY ENTRIES FOR AUTOMOBILE RACES.

Nominations Closed for Atlantic City Meet with All the Events Well Filled.

Entries for the automobile race meet on the beach at Atlantic City, N. J., on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, closed yesterday with a large list of nominations. All the stock car events are well filled, while several of the fastest machines in this country will be competitors in the open events and record trials.

The feature of the tournament will be a mile open dash for the Atlantic City trophy, value $500. Six powerful machines are nominated for this event, as follows: Walter Christie's 100 horse power direct drive Christie, C. A. Schroader's 80 horse power Darracq, S. B. Stevens' 80 horse power Darracq, W. H. Hilliard's 80 horse power Napier, N. S. Houpt's 60 horse power Thomas Flyer and a 40 horse power Grout steamer.

Walter Christie will drive his own car, William Wallace, Jr., will drive Mr. Schroader's Darracq, Guy Vaughan will handle Mr. Stevens' Darracq, H. Maynes will pilot the steamer, Mr. Hilliard will drive the Napier and M. Roberts the Thomas. Mr. Stevens' Darracq is the Vanderbilt Cup winner, the Christie car has been rebuilt since the Florida tournament, while great speed is predicted for the steamer.

All the races will be at one mile, with record trials at one kilometre and one mile. The beach course is about two miles in length, allowing a half mile in which to get competing machines into motion and a half mile in which to slow down. A grandstand to seat 8,000 persons has been constructed near the finish line and the entire course is to be roped off and guarded by police during the tournament.

OPERA COMPANY'S EXCELLENT CAST

PRODUCTION OF "PATIENCE" PROMISES TO BE THE BEST YET.

The Plainfield Operatic Association is confident that in the production of "Patience," at the Casino on Thursday night, May 3, with the splendid cast of soloists, a full chorus of seventy and an orchestra of thirteen, the performance will surpass all previous efforts.

Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon, who takes the part of "Patience," needs no introduction to the music-loving people of Plainfield, having been heard here in concert work. Miss Sheldon has appeared in like productions in New York, Orange and Cranford. The name of William N. Runyou, who will appear as "Bunthorne," the fleshy poet, need only be mentioned. His excellent work heretofore has made him a favorite. Mrs. F. M. Ward as "Lady Jane," is equally as good in this production as that of "The Pirates of Penzance."

Mrs. Ralph K. Miner, Miss Elizabeth V. Day and Miss Elizabeth C. Mathewson as rapturous maidens do ecellent work. Ralph B. Shipman as the "Colonel," Joseph C. Martin as the "Major," and Elmer D. Cutting as the "Duke" are at their best in the trio. "It's Clear that Mediaeal Art." William J. Tallamy, as "Grosenor," the idyllic poet, plays his part delightfully.

The rehearsals hae been excellent and under the careful training of William Holmes, the production is sure to be a treat to lovers of music. The seats will be on sale at Armstrong's drug store on Monday morning, April 23, at 9 o'clock.

The Mint Saved.

Washington, April 19.—The United States Mint in San Francisco, in which is stored a total reserve of $309,000,000 in gold and silver coin and bullion, is the only building left standing within as pace of several squares. Most heroic work by Superintendent Leach and his assistants saved the building from destruction.

GOSSIP ON TROLLEY CAR

Pauline, Nellie and Anna Discuss the Heroes of the Diamond.

Oh Joy! What a dee-lightful and charming base ballic conversation took place on a Front street trolley car last night. Who said the girls do not like baseball? If the members of the Plainfield ball team were afforded the opportunity of being on this trolley car, under the seats, or hanging on the bell strap, and sniffed in the chocolate eclair effusions, which were dealt out with no limit, somebody would have emerged from the electrical conveyance with a gigantic feeling way down in their chests that "he" was the real thing. Perhaps it is a good thing that none of the ball tossers were aboard, for the result would have been a case of "swelled head," or "swat staggeritis," i. e., inability to hit the ball, especially when a swat is needed.

Anyhow the seance started on Watchung avenue. Pauline declared that Jack O'Neill was the best looker on the team. Anna Belle took opposites and said "that if this Tom Curley is really what the newspapers crack him up to be, he will surely carry off the dress suit case at the hospital carnival this year."

"I think Jack is a prize and if I don't make him see me this season I'll drop out," declared Pauline. "I'm going to be on hand early at every game and perch myself up in the grandstand just back of Jack. I'm going to wave a green fan at him."

"Good for you Polly, I hope you win."

"Is he married?"

"No, gracious no. I wouldn't care if he was. I would jump over Niagara Falls just to get acquainted with him."

"I thought 'Cossy' was the best last season," chimed in Anna, "but when I heard a fellow shout 'piano legs' at him after muffing a fly I let him drop from my memory."

"But I think Jack O'Neill is the prince of them all. I've got a plan to capture him. My brother used to play on the high school nine and I think I'll put him wise."

While this gush was being exuded Nellie becamel nvolved in the argument. "I'll tell you the player who beats them all, got 'em all skun alive when it comes to winning ball games."

"Why who is that?" in unison.

"George Mallen."

Here Anna Belle and Pauline took a big gasp.

Pauline was the first to recover. "What, do you like George Mallen, the fellow who scraps so much, that old Westfield player?"

"Yes," proclaimed Nellie proudly. "I like a fellow who will scrap when it is necessary. He's the ball player for me. I saw him out his ball suit down Westfield on Saturday night last year and you wouldn't think he was the same fellow. He looks like a Fifth avenue sport and talks like a new minister who comes to town. I think Mr. Mallen is just the right kind of a ball player. If he comes to Plainfield I will bet on the team every game."

"Mike Leonard is another nice fellow," declared Anna Belle, "but I know the girl he goes with in Newark. I think they're going to get married this June."

"Oh fudge, that's hard luck," declared Nellie.

"Jimmy Brogan is my style too," said Nellie, "when he gets a little older he will be a good scrapper like Mr. Mallen."

And so it went on all the way to Dunellen. To get a complete account of the three cornered interview would have required at least half a dozen Supreme Court stenographers and twelve reams of note paper.

But this little incident only goes to show that Plainfield is going to have the biggest season ever this summer, and if the feminine fans are already talking up the game, it might be safe for Treasurer Runyon to increase his estimate for the attendance on the opening day to at least 1,800, as when he made the prediction, it is not improbable that he was not counting on the feminine sex.

DIAMOND DUST.

The opening contest should be interesting indeed with the All Cubans. On the Plainfield side will be Henriques, a Cuban, and Sergeant Mike Leonard, a fighter for Cuba's independence. The spirit of Cuba Libre should permeate the atmosphere in the vicinity of Crescent Oval on that occasion.

John Dunham, of John street, cracks up the Plainfield team to be a world beater this season. John knows something about baseball players as baseball blood runs through his veins. It must not be forgotten that he is the proud uncle of Billy Gilbert, the second baseman of the Giants.

Manager Daab was officially notified yesterday by Secretary Dolan, of the Somerville baseball team, that the association has voted against the proposition to play a series with Plainfield. It is reported that Manager Conkling is disgusted with the action of the association and nobody can blame him for his feelings. Manager Conklin is a sport and a square one at that, and is anxious to boom the game in this section by promoting a series, but his good intentions have seemingly been knocked to the winds by a few sports, of the tin horn variety, who exist in that bugg. Manager Daab has taken the matter up again, this time with Chester Cawley, who like Mr. Conkling, is strongly in favor of a series of games. It is to be hoped that Mr. Conkling and Mr. Cawley will succeed in bringing their erring brethren around to look at the matter in a proper spirit.

Two weeks from Saturday the shouting will begin. With good weather it will be one of the biggest baseball crowds in the history of the game.

Officials of the baseball association have started negotiations with W. C. Peckham, of Westfield, for the purchase of the fence that surrounds the grounds of the Carteret Gun Club at Graceland. Mr. Peckham has informed the association that he is anxious to sell and will submit figures in time for the meeting Saturday night. The fence is in excellent condition and practically new, it having been erected about three years ago before the pigeon killing bill was passed. According to Mr. Peckham there is between 3,500 and 4,000 running feet of the material which encloses the shooting grounds, comprising five acres of land.

Hoboken will be invaded Sunday with an exodus of Plainfield cranks to witness the first complete lineup of Manager Daab's combination in the game with Jersey City. Our baseball cousins in Hoboken express themselves well pleased with the outlook and all agree that it surpasses teams of past seasons not only in batting but also in fielding. Despite the fact that the Jerseys will have three weeks of steady practice in their favor Hoboken sports are going to back their team to win against the Eastern Leaguers. A team that wins from Plainfield this season will have to play ball every minute of the game. History will prove this assertion.

J. Walter Dobbins, of Newark, has had his annual baseball dream. From his past experiences in baseball he is considered the best dreamer that ever came over the pike. Now he has a state league idea in his cranium. Last year it was an idea to locate Elizabeth in the Hudson River League. The following item is clipped from the Newark Daily Advertiser on which Dobbins is a machine operator when not engaged in framing up baseball schemes.

"If present plans materialize there will be a New Jersey State Baseball League in existence next year. The circuit, as outlined at present, would be Elizabeth, Hoboken, Paterson, New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Trenton, Camden and Atlantic City. It is intended to be a regular professional league, under the national agreement if possible, outlaw if not. Arrangements are being quietly made all along the line, and those back of the movement are confident of putting it through.

"J. Walter Dobbins, of this city, expects to manage the Trenton team. According to one of the prime movers in the proposed organization, fair propositions will be made to the Newark Club for the privilege of playing in Elizabeth, which is within the Newarks' line of jurisdiction, and to the Jersey City Club for the right to play in Hoboken. If such arrangements can be made the league would make application for membership in the National Association. If Newark or Jersey City refuses, and the circuit is not altered, it is proposed that the league should pass as an outlaw organization."

William H. Martin Dead.

William Martin, aged forty-eight years, died at his home on New Brunswick avenue, yesterday. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

H. C. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, who has been ill with tonsilitis, is able to be out again.

George L. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, is not able to go to business on account of an attack of rheumatism.

FOR THE SEAMSTRESS.

Do Not Fit a Waist on the Wrong Side and About Marking Perforations with Chalk.

When cutting a bias ruffle, the work may be done more satisfactorily by cutting a bias strip of the goods four times the width desired for the ruffle; then, place the cut edges together carefully and baste with rather long stitches, then run a hot flatiron over the fold; cut the goods in the fold, and double, baste and press each half, and then cut as before. This will give you four strips, even edged and the right width for the ruffle.

Our best dressmakers condemn the practice of fitting the bodice on the person wrong side out, for two reasons: First, the body fitted is seldom equally developed on both sides, and what will fit one side, on being turned right side out will not fit the other; thus, the waist will fit badly when finished. A second reason is that the seams take up a certain amount of room, and after a bodice is fitted with the seams outside, the finished waist will fit a trifle too snug.

In marking perforations with chalk, it is well to remember that the chalk marks are but temporary, and must be at once replaced with what is called tailor's tacks. By this means, the marks are made through both thicknesses of cloth and each side is marked exactly alike. Thread a needle with a long end of basting thread through the perforation, catching both sides of the cloth, and cut off the thread, leaving about four inches in the cloth. Make a knot in both ends of these lengths. Treat every perforation in this way, and when done, very gently separate the two pieces of cloth and cut the thread in the center. This leaves a piece of thread to mark each perforation. If tucks are to be made, a "right-edge" may be laid along these threads and a pencil or chalk mark drawn the length of the tuck. By this means the tuck can be folded on the mark, true to the pattern.—The Commoner.

SEEMING AND SAVOR.

Fine Salad of Lettuce and Eggs, Delicious Dish of Rye Bread and Smoked Fish.

Bachelor's Salad (and really confected and devised by man).—Have a nice head of "apple lettuce," all leaves good and crisp. Make a dressing of oil and vinegar or with lemon juice, a little mustard, and beat well in a bowl. Have boiled hard four eggs, peel, put two eggs and the four whites aside. Take two yolks, rub to a paste with equal best American cheese, a little lemon juice, salt and cayenne, and roll into size of marbles. Chop the four whites and two yolks to dice, wipe dry all the lettuce leaves and coat all but the larger ones with the oil dressing. Line the salad bowl with enough leaves to hold the mixture, shred the larger ones and stir them into the dressing; lift out and put in the serving bowl; do the same with the chopped egg; macerate in the dressing and mix lightly with the little leaves. Above, in the tiniest leaves, put the cheese balls and pour on any oil dressing that may be left. This is already rich enough without any addition of mayonnaise.

Savory.—Is better known by its French name, canape. Cut thin slices of best fresh rye bread and spread evenly with the best butter. On these lay flakes scooped from smoked white fish. On this a moistening of oil and lemon juice, above olive chips (do not use forced olives) and a thin slice of lemon, with a fleck of chopped parsley in the center. A few capers may be used instead of olives.—Chicago Tribune.

Cotton Waste.

Why do not housekeepers adopt cotton waste as a cleaning agent? Watch the engineer pick up a bunch of waste, wipe off oil or dust and throw the cotton into a heap to be burned at his convenience. How much better than to use a cloth which some one had to hem and some one else would have to wash and iron. Why is not cotton waste the best possible stuff to use instead of so many floor cloths, wall cloths, dust cloths, stove cleaners and mops? It is cheap and it can be had anywhere. Cotton waste, by the way, is one of the best agencies for polishing waxed floors or furniture.

BRIDE-TO-BE ENTERTAINS.

Miss Cruikshank Gives a Dinner-Dance in Honor of Approaching Wedding.

Miss Cruikshank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simeon A. Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, whose marriage to H. Reeves Stockton, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stockton, of Central avenue, will occur on Wednesday, June 6, at Grace church, gave a dinner-dance last evening to which were invited many guests from this city and distant points.

Following the dinner a dance was given at the Park club which was attended by one hundred guests. A large orchestra presented a popular programme of dance music and the festivities were continued until a late hour.

THE BOYS' CLUB CIRCUS

Capacity Audience Witnesses the Efforts of the Youthful Performers.

A CREDITABLE AFFAIR

Appearance of Walter Morley's Roman Ladder Pyramid Troupe the Feature of the Evening.

An audience that tested the seating capacity of the club-rooms witnessed the first performance of the amateur circus given at the Plainfield Boys' Club, on Sycamore street, last night, under the direction of Kenneth Robbie, who is now acting as physical director for the Y. M. C. A. The performance will be repeated tonight.

The circus was a most creditable affair. Everyone taking part, with the exception of Louis Slocum, is a member of the club. Frank Shepherd opened the programme with a clever exhibition of walking on a slack wire. Walter Morely and Louis Slocum then displayed their ability as acrobats, the gymnastic feats winning much applause.

Bert Hansen, a local favorite, won rounds of applause in presenting his stair balancing act, a daring acrobatic feat. The original Frank Leonard, expert baton manipulator, gave an excellent performance, and Louis Rhodier, the champion trapeze artist, exhibited much skill and strength in his performance.

Louis Slocum appeared a second time in a contortionist act that displayed his skill as an equilibristic wonder. Bert Hansen also appeared again, presenting some of the latest feats in tumbling.

The feature of the evening was the appearance of Walter Morely's Roman ladder pyramid troupe composed of Louis Rhodier, Charles Southard, Herbert Hoover, Walter Morely and Charles Rhodier. It was one of the best exhibitions of the kind ever given here by amateurs, displaying strength, skill and daring. This number concluded the programme, but during the evening the audience was entertained by Richard Day, Albert Renwanz, James Richardson, Louis Coriell and Walter Southard, who appeared as clowns. Their work was of a high order and kept the audience in good humor by their actions.

The committee in charge comprised Clarence R. Pope, general director; Charles Hunt, treasurer; Charles Southard, master of properties; Charles Rhodier, wardrobe master; John Brown, Dave Rogers and Joseph Burke, ring grooms.

The circus is being given for the benefit of the Boys' Club, which was recently taken in charge by the Y. M. C. A., and the proceeds, in excess of the expenses, will be used to make some improvements at the club house so that the work can be carried on more successfully. Kenneth Robbie has succeeded in stimulating an increased interest among the boys and the prospects for a good work in this direction are bright.

PLAINFIELD LEGION ORGANIZED LAST NIGHT.

Charter Roll Signed by Forty-One Members—Officers Elected.

District Manager F. C. Meeker, of Paterson, organized the Plainfield Legion with forty-one charter members at Coward hall last night. It is a branch of the National Protective Legion with headquarters at Waverly, N. Y.

The following officers were elected and installed:

Worthy past president, Albert C. Rogers; worthy president, Mary A. St. John; worthy vice president, J. William Waters; secretary, Arthur C. Hunting; treasurer, Dr. Martha Rose Stillman; conductor, Lottie A. Walker; guard, Robert P. Mitchell; sentinel, Lewis W. Niles; trustee for one year, William Mosher; trustee for two years, Otto Moor; trustee for three years, Alfred Seidel.

The trustees were instructed to find a place for holding meetings and to report at a session of the legion to be held at the home of A. C. Hunting, 210 West Fourth street, Thursday, April 26, at 8 o'clock, when definite arrangements as to future meetings will be made.

The order is conducted for insurance and sick benefits and both men and women are admitted to membership.

—The fresh vegetable display at Neuman Brothers' tomorrow will include asparagus, spinach, green and wax beans, egg plant, oyster plant, beets, rhubarb, lettuce, water-cress, radishes, celery, dandelion, ripe tomatoes and cucumbers.

NEGRESS A CLEVER CROOK

Police Believe She Entered Two West End Houses.

IDENTITY IS UNKNOWN

Places Entered Boldly During Daylight Yesterday Afternoon—Door in One House Smashed With An Axe.

A nervy crook, whom the police believe to have been a negress, broke into two houses in the far West End yesterday afternoon. Considerable swag was secured.

The houses entered were those of Samuel Kriney, 2 Marriner's avenue, and L. B. Morgan, 45 Albert street. At both places the families were away at the time. Mrs. Kriney returned home, from a trip downtown, at 3 o'clock, to find every drawer and closet in the house ransacked and the contents turned upside down. Two children's banks, containing $5, a diamond ring, a woman's gold watch, and a lot of linen were missing.

Entrance had been gained through a cellar door. The door from the cellar to the kitchen, which had been left locked, was smashed open with an axe.

Not long after Mrs. Kriney's discovery, Officer Kelly, patroling the West End, found a window smashed on the ground floor of the Morgan house. Evidences of burglarious work were plain. The Morgan family was out of town, and the officer could not learn what had been taken.

Chief Kiely's sleuths got busy in the neighborhood of the two houses as soon as Kelly's report came in. They learned that a small, chunky colored woman, muscular looking and very black, had been seen hanging about both places. The description of the negress seen at the Kriney house tallied exactly with that of one noticed in front of the Morgan place. The latter was told by a neighbor that the family was out. "It don't matter," she said. "I was told to wait," and she held her place.

A negress of the same general description was afterwards seen in another part of the city carrying heavy bundles. The city and vicinity will be scoured for traces of black, chunky negresses.

POLICE LOOKING FOR MURDERER OF GIRL

CRIME COMMITTED AT BONHAMTOWN EARLY THIS MORNING.

Police headquarters received a general alarm from New Brunswick this morning to keep a lookout for Fred Laing, twenty-four years old, a Hungarian laborer, who shot and killed a girl at Bonhamtown, between Metuchen and New Brunswick, at five o'clock.

The victim was Katie Gordon, an American girl. The man shot her as she was about to board a trolley car. The cause of the crime, if it is known, and the details, were not stated. Laing fled after the shooting, in what direction is unknown. The New Brunswick police thought he might head this way.

Chief Kiely instructed all his men on post as fast as they rang up the signal boxes to watch the trolley cars and back streets for strangers answering Laing's description. The young man is described as five feet six inches in height, short and heavily built, with smooth face. He wore a black suit and a brown hat with a white band.

Plainfielders in Amateur Circus.

Arrangements are complete for the annual circus to be held under the auspices of the Summit Y. M. C. A. on Friday and Saturday nights, April 27-27. Physical Director Frank M. Marcley, of this city, has the matter in charge. Among the Plainfielders who will take part in the circus are Walter McNaughton, national champion high driver; Bert Hanson, as the Dutchman; W. Bentliff as the Irishman, and Robert L. Marcley, as the tattooed man.

Miss Overland Entertains Friends.

Miss Kate Overland, of West Fourth street, entertained a large gathering of friends at her home last night, in honor of the return of her brothers, Sergeant Richard Overland, formerly of Troop I, Fifteenth Cavalry. The guests numbered fifty in all and they passed the hours in dancing and enjoying vocal and instrumental music. A supper was served at midnight.

MRS. E. S. HOOLEY AND DAUGHTERS GIVE $300

FRANKLIN COUNCIL, JR. O. U. A. M. FIRST HERE TO DONATE

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., has pointed the way and it is now for the public in general to follow in its splendid expression of sympathy for the stricken people of San Francisco.

At its regular meeting last night, the patriotic lodge mindful of the laudable principles of the order, passed resolutions of sympathy and unanimously contributed ten dollars as a token of sympathy. The secretary was directed to send the contribution over to The Daily Press for transmission to the proper source. To this sum The Daily Press has added its mite, ten dollars.

Over the 'phone from New York this morning, Charles Sminck, of East Front street, requested this paper to accept five dollars for the benefit of the relief fund.

As fast as the money is received it will be sent in the name of the contributors to Mayor Schmidt, of California. Should the mayor appoint a special committee for relief work, the fund will be turned over to it instead.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company has sent its check for 100 dollars and Roth & Company have donated a similar amount.

Acknowledgement is also made of a contribution from Reed & Coddington and of W. L. Smalley, Jr., both being ten dollars each. W. L. Smaley, Jr.'s employes give five dollars. The Eastern Bottling Company donates $5. H. W. Marshall has sent in ten dollars for the fund.

Characteristic of the man, E. S. Hooley, who had already given $1,000 to the fund being raised in New York, telephoned The Daily Press this afternoon three contributions of $100 each in the names of his wife and two daughters.

From William F. Arnold comes five dollars, from the Hotel Iroquois a like amount. Woolston & Buckle give five dollars.

Injured Trying to Steal a Ride Home.

William Gregoscietz, a Polack, aged twenty years, residing at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., had the toes of his left foot cut off this morning while trying to jump a coal train at Fanwood, en route to his home. The young man was sent to the North Avenue station, where the ambulance was in waiting to remove him to the hospital. The injury is not considered a serious one and the man will probably not be detained here very long.

Crowdyites Hold Forth.

Evangelist Calvin Skinner, of Philadelphia, expounded the Scriptures according to the belief of the Church of God and Saints of Christ, at the service in Reform Hall, last night. This morning and afternoon there were addresses by several elders. Before the service this afternoon Prophet Crowdy, the elders and all the "saints" had a short street parade. The east of the Passover was concluded last night.

Spencer Heirs Lose Suit.

In the suit of the heirs of the late Surrogate H. N. Spencer, of North Plainfield, against John W. Mundy, a contractor, also of the borough, to recover a sum of money alleged to have been borrowed by the defendant several years ago, a jury in Justice Kitchen's court, Somerville, returned a verdict for the defendant.

Plainfielders Go to Michigan.

Joseph Packer and Russell Giles, both well known local young men, left last night for Michigan, where they will join a logging crew that is to invade the lumber district in the northern part of the state. They intend remaining until next fall.

George M. Griffen, of East Second street, is detained at his home with an attack of tonsilitis.

J. A. Smith, of Central avenue, who has been detained at home by illness, is able to be out again.

WOMAN KILLED ON NEW MRRKET CROSSING

VICTIM WAS RETURNING FROM VISIT TO THIS CITY.

Miss Annie Mulligan, who had been employed as a domestic in the family of F. Percy Vail at New Market for over thirty years, was killed by a Lehigh Valley train passing through the village last night. Her lifeless form, mangled almost beyond recognition, was found alongside the west bound track opposite the Prospect avenue crossing at 6 o'clock this morning. Appearances indicated that she had been struck at the New Market-Dunellen road crossing and that the body had been carried down by the engine and then dropped. Small articles and bits of clothing were picked up every few feet between the two thoroughfares. The remains were removed to the New Market section house and the county physician and coroner were summoned.

The Vail family went west on a visit a short time ago and during their absence Miss Mulligan had been working for Postmaster Charles S. Day. She secured leave of absence yesterday afternoon to do some shopping in Plainfield but spent several hours calling on friends in the village. She failed to return home in the evening and Mr. Day, who had remained until midnight, decided she had concluded to remain with acquaintances in this city. She evidently reached New Market at a late hour and was struck as she was crossing the tracks to the Day residence. There are gates and a watchman at the crossing and it is a mystery as to how she got in front of the train.

Miss Mulligan was sixty years old and a native of Ireland. As far as known she had no relatives in this country, and the body will be held pending instructions from Mr. Vail. Miss Mulligan had made seven trips across the ocean and had planned to go to Ireland again this summer.

SUPPLY TRAINS ARE SPEEDING WESTWARD.

Government Orders 1,000,000 Rations Purchased Near Stricken City.

Washington, April 20.—The ponderous wheels of the War Department are working fast today. Not since war times, when the department wos overwhelmed with the task of coping with the Spaniards in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, have there been such busy scenes in the big building on Pennsylvania avenue.

Formalities have been cast aside in this time of national calamity, for the Frisco disaster is considered as national now, and brigadier and major generals rush to and from their offices through the outer doors and into the private offices of the Secretary of War, who is one of the busiest men in Washington just now. There is no formality and any one having a news bulletin has the open sesame to almost anywhere.

SAN FRANCISCO IS REDUCED TO ASHES; PAUPERIZED VICTIMS FACING STARVATION

300,000 Survivors of Earthquake and Flames, Many of Whom Are Women and Children Begging For Food and Drink While Pestilence Threatens The City.

GENERAL FUNSTON PLACES SOLDIERS IN CHARGE OF ALL BAKERIES

San Francisco, April 20.—Before sunset today San Francisco will be gone. The fire is raging unchecked, and there is no hope of stopping it. Two-thirds of the city is in ashes, and the rest is in flames.

Hope of staying the fire became a fiction yesterday afternoon. At 2 o'clock, with all water gone and even the sewers sucked dry, the dynamite supply gave out. With the explosive, last resource of the stricken people in their battle against the red terror, gone, every chance to subdue the fire was wiped out.

Only a few outlying suburban districts, a few blocks of water front and a string of middle class residences in the neighborhood of Golden Gate Park were undestroyed this morning, and the flames were leaping on to the feast still uneaten. Whipped by a freshening wind, they roared defiance to every effort of man to say them. There is no hope of rain.

Starvation and pestilence face the people. Of the 400,000 in the city on Wednesday, it is estimated that not more than one-quarter escaped to Oakland. Close to 300,000 frantic, suffering people are penned between fire and water, homeless, and, for the most part, scantly clad. They slept last night, as well as a stripped and terror-stricken people can sleep, in the parks of the city and the Presidio reservation.

Food is at a premium and water is doled out in sips from little tin cups by the soldiers. Men and women are going mad from thirst, and the weak and sick are dying for lack of medicine and water. Bodies lie untouched in the streets, and beneath ruins where they cannot be reached. To the famine that already grips the sufferers is added the fear of pestilence.

The police have seized all the bakeries and groceries still standing, and money cannot buy food. The guards deal it out in small portions only. Last night crackers were sold for ten cents apiece and a loaf of bread for $1.25.

It is estimated that from 1,000 to 5,000 lives were lost in the earthquake and the fire in this city. The actual loss of life here and outside of the city will never be known. The property loss in San Francisco alone will foot up at least $300,000,000 in figures based on the unsentimental valuation of the assessors' books. Figuring from the losses that small depositors and the wiping out of savings, the snapping of ambition and the crippling of effort, the loss will reach nearer to $1,000,000,000.

In towns outside of San Francisco, 20,000 persons are homeless. The loss outside cannot be estimated, either as to property or lives. The loss of life will be very large.

The town of Santa Rosa has been destroyed, and other towns are damaged. Earthquake shocks were felt in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, but no damage was done.

NATION RESPONDS WITH HELP.

Money for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers is beink offered from every city of the country. Big and little places are giving what they can, with the spontaneous charity characteristic of the great heart of America. Almost before the full measure of the calamity was known, the people of the land had taken steps to succor their stricken fellows on the Pacific coast.

Supply trains are being hurried westward by the War Department. Orders are issued to rush supplies as speedily as possible to the stricken city.

The business men and philanthropists of New York contributed a fund amounting to half a million dollars, and many thousands from small contributions were not reckoned in the total given out.

Thousands were raised in other cities. Trenton gave $5,000, and Mayor Schmits was telegraphed to draw on the fund immediately.

Congress appropriated $1,000,000, and the President issued an appeal to the people of the country to contribute directly to the Red Cross fund.

More money will be added to the fund today and for many days following until the total will reach a figure of magnificent proportions.

Food for the immediate relief of the starving in the ruined city is being rushed forward by the government from the western reservations. There are now at Mare Island Navy Yard, outside of San Francisco, 450,000 pounds of provisions, equal to 1,000,000 meals. hey will be hurried to the city as fast as possible, and distributed. Doctors, nurses and medical supplies are being rushed along with the food from the government posts.

Mayor Smalley Suggests Convening Legislature.

"Governor Stokes should call an extra session of the legislature to vote money for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers," declared Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, this morning. "This is a calamity that touches the heart and the soul of every community in the whole country. It is a national blow, and every state should go to the help of California in caring for her stricken people.

"New Jersey should give a million dollars. We are a rich state and have a surplus of $2,000,000. We can spare a million for this purpose, and every citizen would approve the appropriation.

"Appropriation by the state is the proper method, I believe, through which the people of the commonwealth should give their aid. There are men of small means, business men who funds are tied up, who are anxious to give but cannot. Let the state pay for them, and get the money back through taxation. The citizens, I am convinced, would willingly pay taxes for four years for such a purpose. Temporary relief for the sufferers, during such time as it might require to put the state machinery into motion, can come from the wealthy."

NEW JERSEY'S AID IS OFFERED BY GOVERNOR

Trenton, April 20.—Governor Stokes issued a call to the citizens of New Jersey yesterday to assist in the relief of stricken San Francisco. He also sent telegrams to the Governor of California and the Mayor of San Francisco, expressing on behalf of the people of New Jersey sympathy in the great calamity of their State.

Here are the Governor's messages:

"To the people of the State of New Jersey:

"A great calamity has fallen upon the city of San Francisco, rendering homeless and destitute thousands of her citizens. I have sent the following telegrams to the Governor of California and the Mayor of San Francisco, tendering our sympathy and offering our aid:

"'Hon. George C. Pardee, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.

"'New Jersey sends sympathy and offers its aid to sticken San Francisco. Let us know in what practical way we can render assistance, that we may act effectively and immediately.

"'Signed E. C. STOKES,
"'Governor of New Jersey.'

"'Hon. Eugene E. Schmidt, Mayor of San Francisco, San Francisco, Cal.

"'The people of New Jersey are deeply distressed over the calamity and the suffering that have befallen your city. We stand ready to offer you every assistance in our power. Let us know what you are most in need of, that we may aid you immediately and in a practical way.

"'Signed E. C. STOKES,
"'Governor of New Jersey.'

"I know that the citizens of this State, through their proper local officials, will be prompt to render such aid and assistance as is within their power. Replies to my telegrams may indicate in what way this can be done most effectively.

"E. C. STOKES,
"Governor of New Jersey."

NEW YORK QUICKLY RAISED HALF MILLION

GENEROUS AID PROMISED FOR SUFFERS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

President Roosevelt, aside from approving the action taken by Congress, issued an official appeal yesterday for funds to aid the earthquake sufferers from California. Long before the Presidential appeal was issued, however, cities and towns in every part of the United States had been stirred extend practical sympathy. At the cisco, and had begun to send in contributions to relieve its sticken people.

New York led in these efforts to extend practicaly sympathy. At the close of business hours yesterday, nearly $500,000 had either been contributed or pledged from this city for the relief of the earthquake victims. The individual contributions to the New York relief fund so far exceed anything ever contributed to a similar cause.

Mayor McClellan, immediately after arriving at his office in the City Hall yesterday morning, presided at a meeting to consider ways and means to aid the stricken people of San Francisco. The Mayor had already sent a telegram to Mayor Schmitz offering help on behalf of this city.

N. Y. U. Banquet.

The twenty-second annual banquet of the New York University Law School, of which a number of Plainfielders are graduates, will be held at the Hotel Astor Saturday night. N. Douglas Drake, Asa F. Randolph and C. M. Dolliver will attend it. Judge Willard Bartlett will be the guest of honor.

Narrow Escape.

Mrs. S. W. Rushmore, 913 Putnam avenue, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday morning. She was standing on a step-ladder, when the frame structure collapsed and threw her against the lower sash of a parlor window. The glass was broken into many pieces, but fortunately Mrs. Rushmore was not injured.

—George H. Maurer arrived from Chicago last evening and is registered at Truell Inn. Mr. Maurer comes to Plainfield to accept the position of manager of traveling staff and inspector of agencies for the Siche Gas company.

LITTLE LET TO BURN.

San Francisco Practically Wiped Out by Fire.

Oakland, Cal., April 20.—What little was left of the city of San Francisco this morning was in a fair way to be consumed by the flames. Where there was no fire there stretched a desert of charred and smoking ruins, tangled masses of brick and twisted frames. Men black with grime, ready to drop in their tracks from exhaustion, were still fighting a hopeless fight without water.

Alvin E. Hoagland, of West Front street, is detained at home with a severe attack of eczema.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The sale of property for delinquent taxes will be held in the office of Tax Collector J. W. Murray, Jr., on North avenue, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—Miss Maizie Gray, of West Front street, has resigned her position at the City National Bank, and taken one with Holt & Co., of New York, book publishers.

—It is said that the natural talent of each member of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music male quartette and the artistic finish of its quartette are far above the average quartette now before the public. These men will appear with Miss Stoll, reader, in the entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. A silver offering will be received. The quartette will also sing at the men's meeting on Sunday afternoon.

—"On Change" will be presented by the Comedy Club at the Park Club on Friday night, May 4. Hard work and elaborate preparations on the part of the cast and the well-known coach, Alfred Young, promise to make this a fitting climax to the performances which have given so much pleasure to members and friends of the Park Club the past season. This is the only play for which admission is charged and as the expense is considerable, the entertainment committee would call the attention of all members of the Park Club to the opportunity of showing their appreciation of the organzation's work. Tickets are now on sale at Armstrong's drug store.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

In the history of successful amusement enterprises all records have been broken by the New York Hippodrome. Though but a year since it opened, its two magnificent productions, "A Yankee Circus on Mars" and "A Society Circus," the present attraction, have been witnessed by over 3,000,000 persons, while the receipts were $2,000,000. These figures are unprecedented. The great success of the Hippodrome, now an established institution of New York, is due to the combined energy and genius of two men young in years, but giants in ability—Frederic Thompson and Elmer S. Dundy—the managing directors of the big playhouse. Success makes for success and crowded houses continue to be the rule. "A Society Circus," the most magnificent spectacle of modern times, combining drama, opera and circus, shows an increasing popularity and patonage. Never was a better circus programme presented to the public, including as it does the world's champions, seen for the first time in America. The great chorus of trained voices; the gorgeous ballet; the beautiful Court of the Golden Fountains, and the dramatic scene introducing a herd of plunging horses, continue as the features of the big production. Matinees are given daily.

Will Build New Bridge.

The Union County Board of Freeholders will join with the freeholders from Morris county in erecting a new county line bridge for Elkwood Station, near Summit. The present bridge is forty years old.

Rev. Edward Love, of East Ninth street, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Garwood, attended the meeting of the Elizabeth Presbytery on Tuesday. Mr. Love is one of the oldest members of the Presbytery.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

No word has as yet been received from George Stiliger, who has been a resident of the ill-fated city of San Francisco for a number of years. His friends believe he has escaped the fate of many of the residents as his store was located in a part of the city but slightly damaged by the earthquake itself. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stiliger, are anxiously awaiting some word from him. John Mullin, another former well known resident here, has also been a resident of that city for a number of years. Neither one of their names has yet appeared among the dead or injured and their friends are hopeful that they have escaped the dreadful calamity.

The Suburban Club and its hosts of friends held forth last night in the cozy little club hall, the occasion being the club's first of a series of after Easter dances, Suhr's orchestra, which furnished the music for dancing, dispensing the tempting two step and waltz. Those who tired of dancing had the freedom of the club's bowling alleys, billiard room and parlors. At midnight refreshments were served, after which dancing was again resumed and continued until a late hour.

August Sheelen, of the borough, who has been detained at home for several days with a severe attack of tonsilitis, is able to be around again.

Kyrle Bellew in "Raffles, the Amateur Cracksman," is the attraction presented by Manager Counihan at the New Plainfield theatre tonight.

"Blessed Are the Pure in Heart for They Shall See God," will be the topic of the prayer and praise meeting tonight at the Baptist church.

The pupils and teachers at the public school are busy arranging the programme for the annual Arbor Day exercises.

James Fitzgerald has returned from Philadelphia, where he has been spending several days with his brother.

Trolley Sprinkler Out.

The Public Service Corporation trolley sprinkler made its initial appearance yesterday for this season. Although not compelled to sprinkle until May 15, the company decided to do the work earlier than that date.

Baseball and General Sports

BIG CROP OF BALL PLAYERS

Manager Daab Deluged With Applications From Nearly Every Part of North America.

Baseball players this reason are as plentiful as mosquitoes will be on the Elizabeth swamp bogs in summer time. If you don't believe it ask Manager Daab. The Plainfield manager during the past week has had enough applications from aspiring players to play on the Plainfield and Hoboken teams to run a circus.

They hail from all climes, and of course they come well fortified with good opinions of themselves, and granting them the benefit of the doubt, that they are all stars, Plainfield is in the power of Manager Daab to get a team that would easily beat the New York Giants nine games out of ten. Sure this is true. Every applicant swears by General Bingham's "nine Gods of war" that he is the best that came over the pike and can deliver the goods. Manager Daab doesn't attempt to discourage them in their belief and let them off by putting their names down on a list.

One of the applicants yesterday was Wilson, the stocky young catcher who practiced here with the Jersey City team. Wilson has played in leagues before and has decided to play independent ball in the future. Wilson is employed in the offices of the New York Steamship Company and is satisfied with his lot. Wilson is also a fast infielder and will most likely land a job if Drogan is taken by Jersey City.

"Jim" Skeggs, of Savannah, Georgia, was another applicant who sent his papers on last week. He has played in all parts of North America according to his letter and perhaps in South America too, but he didn't say so. He must be a terrible swatter for he said he "harpooned" a pitcher's curves for seven hits in a game down Texas last season.

Another fellow who wanted a job carried the name of Beggs, and his letter was postmarked Cohocton, Ohio. By trade he is a piano tuner. In addition to getting a position on the ball team he requested Manager Daab to look around in Hoboken for a job in this line to work at when not playing ball. Manager Daab wrote back to him telling him to come along if he had sufficient musical ability to lead a German band he might come East and he would at least be sure of a try-out.

A fellow by the name of Bob Heinkle from Flagtown (a suburb of Somerville) says he thinks he is fast enough for Plainfield and wants to take Jack O'Neill's place behind the bat. Outside of stating that he played on the Red Stockings, of Hackettstown, thirteen years ago, he also said that he stood six feet, 2 inches, in his stocking feet and wore a 38 belt. Manager Daab advised this aspirant to get some spring practice with New Market or Dunellen.

Strange to say there are few persons looking around for the jobs as umpires, the crop of aspirants in this direction being very limited.

DIAMOND DUST.

Bertwhistle appears very enthusiastic over playing in Plainfield this season. He assures Manager Daab that the team will be an unbeatable combination, which of course tickles the boss very much.

"Bertie" says furthermore that he is going to do some great stunts with the stick this season which means "heart disease" for no small number of pitchers in addition to battered ambitions and "reps."

"Bertie" is a nice fellow when you get to know him. He is very modest and was honest enough to admit last season that he didn't know what real baseball was until he had played in the Westfield-Plainfield series.

"When I got in that mix-up," he says, "I knew I was in a red hot baseball district. I know Plainfield people want first-class baseball and I am going to do my best to keep up my end of the job." That's the right spirit.

Charlie Denman must feel lonesome nowadays after six years of activity in the baseball business.

"Red" Waller has reported to Bridgeport and according to reports from Jim O'Rourke's training camp he is in better condition than the other twirlers.

The Clinton Avenue team has applied to the Plainfield Baseball Association for the use of Crescent Oval Saturday, April 28, to play Garwood. If the date doesn't conflict with the High School schedule the West Enders will be given the use of the grounds for that day.

Charlie Malay, the former Scotch Plains player who was faned out to the Columbus team of the Southern League by Brooklyn, is out of the game with a sprained ankle.

The biggest baseball score of the season was rolled up by the York Tri-State League team Tuesday in an exhibition game with Waynesboro. York won by the score of 31 to 1, and made 28 hits to Waynesboro's 2. Jack Hayden, formerly with Baltimore, led the York team with seven hits. Lou Wiltse pitched for the Yorks.

The Cincinnati Post says: "Christopher Mathewson's remarks on the Giants' training trip at Columbus, O., that he would beat the Cincinnatis in every game that he pitched, the same as last year, has aroused the ire of Manager Hanlon. 'If 'Matty' did say such a thing,' said Hanlon, 'he will be badly fooled. I do not believe the Cincinnatis will lose fourteen straight games to the Giants, as they did last year. With all due respect to Mathewson's ability as a pitcher, he cannot always be invincible.'"

The New York Sun has this to say about it: "Pitcher Mathewson, of the world's champions, is quoted as saying: 'Tell the Cincinnati people for me that they did not win a game from me last year and they won't this year, either. Tell them in Chicago that I will give the Nationals all the trouble they want this year, and if Cleveland asks anything tell that bunch if it should happen to win the American League championship, I will beat it out of the world's championship.' Mathewson is a great pitcher and a valuable aid to any team, but there is just enough faith in McGraw in this town to believe that even without Matty he could win a National League pennant and probably a world's series."

Now if "Matty" is able to talk baseball Daily Press readers would like to have his views on the matter.

"Jacky's" Little Lam.

Jack O'Neill had a little lam,
'Twas known both near and far,
And everywhere that "Jacky" went
The lam was sure to star.
It followed him to diamonds green
And while the awful jam
Of rooters howled with fiendish joy—
He gave the ball the lam!

This is the way Texan baseball cranks are compelled to figure out ball games in the newspapers in that section. The Houston Post describes a game in the following breezy manner, if not altogether classic: "Eddie Karger demonstrated to the satisfaction of everybody that he is the real jammy goods as a flinger of the horsehide. He let McAleer's Mutts down yesterday with three widely separated bingles, but nevertheless the Mutts rammed the keen harpoon into Harlow's hands, the score being 1 to 0. Karger is responsible for the one run scored during the matinee. Cook opened the pot in the first round with a cloudchaser that fell into Joe Briskey's doughnut hooks like a rock in a well. Koehler, the next gent to show up at the pan, worked Karger for a pass. Jones hit a vicious bounder into Pat Newman and was strangled at first, Koehler going to second on the play. Karger let Koehler take too much of a lead off second and he purloined the third corner. It was up to Harry Howell, one of the greatest 'spit ball' artists in the country, but not generally credited with being a great bludgeon wielder. Howell rose to the occasion and smashed a wicked grounder over third and Koehler raced over the finish mark with the only tally of the melee."

THE SPENDERS

Webster would tell us that the phrase means those who spend, and that is precisely what it does mean in this case. It is the third generation spending the money of a money-maker. The story is told in our new serial entitled:

The Spenders

Author of "Lions of the Lord," Etc.

It is the kind of a story in which every one of our readers will be interested. There is not a dull line in the entire story. It is a story of which the Louisville Courier-Journal says:

"If there is such a thing as the American novel of a new method, this is one. Absolutely to be enjoyed from the first line to the last."

HELP!

Hunger and thirst are fast killing the panic stricken people of the doomed city of San Francisco who escaped death in the flames following the terrible earthquake. To cope with the latest enemy that has visited itself upon the stricken inhabitants, funds are being raised all over the country to provide food and drink. Trenton is the first city in New Jersey to extend the helping hand and Plainfield should lose no time in emulating its example. No special committee having been appointed in this city, The Daily Press takes it upon itself to receive any contributions that citizens or organizations may desire to make. As fast as donations are received, they will be transmitted in the name of the contributors to the mayor of the city of San Francisco for use as he deems fit. Make a contribution NOW!

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL TO AMERICAN PEOPLE

ASKS THAT FUNDS FOR SAN FRANCISCO BE SENT TO THE RED CROSS.

Washington, April 20.—Here is President Roosevelt's proclamation to the American people for aid for the people of San Francisco:

"In the face of so terrible and appalling a National calamity as that which has befallen San Francisco, the outpouring of the Nation's aid should, as far as possible, be intrusted to the American Red Cross, the National organization best fitted to undertake such relief work. A specially appointed Red Cross agent, Dr. Edward Devine, starts today from New York for California to co-operate there with the Red Cross branch in the work of relief.

"In order that this work may be well systematized, and in order that the contributions which I am sure will flow in with lavish generosity may be wisely administered, I appeal to the people of the United States, to all cities, Chambers of Commerce, Board of Trade, relief committees, and individuals to express their sympathy and render their aid by contributions to the American National Red Cross. They can be sent to the Hon. Jacob H. Schiff, New York Red Cross Treasurer, or other local Red Cross Treasurers, to be forwarded by telegraph from Washington to the Red Cross agents and officers in California.

WILLIAM E. DAVISON DIES AT MUHLENBERG.

Taken With Chill a Week Ago That Rapidly Develops Typhoid-Pneumonia Symptoms.

Following an illness of about one week, William E. Davison, the well known Netherwood real estate dealer, died at Muhlenberg Hospital last night. He was first taken with a chill last Thursday and it developed symptoms of typhoid-pneumonia. Yesterday his condition became alarming and he was removed to the hospital but sank rapidly.

Mr. Davison was seventy-four years old and came to Plainfield from Hoboken twelve years ago, making his home in the Netherwood section. He had been for many years engaged in the manufacture of car springs but on removing here entered the local real estate field. He leaves a widow and two children, Ralph Davison, associate editor of the Railway Gazette, who resides in the Stillman building, and Miss Clara Isabella Davison.

The guests: J. B. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Martin, Miss Lottie Martin, Miss Gladys Martin, Mrs. E. F. Stoeckle and children, Edward, Charles and Ruth; Mrs. Nat. Henry and son, James; Miss Anna L. Martin, Irving DeHart, Norman L. Barnes, Jacob Henry, James Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Boylan, John C. D. Martin, of this city, and Miss Lillin Cockley and Miss Maudeline Adams, of Westfield.

TRINITY BIBLE CLASS PROVIDES ENTERTAINMENT.

Pleasing Evening Spent in Sunday School Room of Reformed Church.

For the purpose of promoting a more extensive acquaintance among the members of the Bible classes, an entertainment and social was given by Bible class No. 2, of which W. C. Leek is the teacher, to the other Bible classes at Trinity Reformed church, last night. Mr. Leek's class, the largest in the Sunday school, numbers thirty-eight, and he originated the idea of bringing the members of the other nine classes together for a social evening.

The programme opened with phonograph selections by William McDowell Coriell. William G. Tunison then sang "My Name is Morgan, But it Ain't J. P.," and this was followed with a soprano selection by Miss Edith Leek, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. W. G. Tunison. A piano solo by Miss Hazel Martin, preceded a vocal duet by Miss Edith Leek and W. C. Leek.

This concluded the programme and the intermission games of all kind were played, affording much amusement. During the evening brief remarks were made by Mr. Leek, who explained the object of the gathering and expressing the hope that it would result in other similar affairs being held from time to time. The members of Class No. 2 provided and served refreshments after the playing of games. All agreed that an evening of profit and pleasure had been spent and expressed the desire that the gatherings be continued.

—In tearing off some wrapping paper from a roll, Miss Katherine McLaughlin, employed at Schlief's bakery, Park avenue, cut her little finger severely Wednesday afternoon against the edge of the cutter on the roll holder.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

It is alleged that Senator Jackson is responsible for the smothering of the South Plainfield borough bill in the Senate, having refused to call the bill from the hands of the committee, who were perfectly willing to submit it for the Senate's action.

The new house being erected by M. W. Payne on Clinton avenue is finely located on an extensive farm and when completed will add a valuable property to that desirable section.

Philip Smith and friends visited the mountains yesterday, presumably to inhale mountain air and develope muscle for his coming baseball career for the season.

Assemblyman Fordyce is expected to speak here to the citizens of this place and Piscataway township in the near future.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Miss Elmira C. Runyon will lead the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tonight.

"The Storm at Sea" will be the subject of the third meeting in the series of Bible study, to be conducted by W. D. Murray at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tonight.

PERSEVERANCE LODGE ENTERTAINS FRIENDS.

Enjoyable Affair Arranged for Their Benefit and Given in Company K's Armory.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., gave an entertainment and dance in Company K's armory, last night, principally for the benefit of its women friends. The gathering was quite large, the feminine guests being in the majority.

A programme given under the direction of Donald McInness comprised the following numbers: Songs, monologues and imitations by John J. Ronney and James J. E. T. McLean, of New York, the latter formerly of this city; vocal selections by Judge Runyon, Thomas M. Muir and Harry Roberts, and an address by Donald McInness. Refreshments were served at the close and dancing followed, continuing until after midnight.

Organ Recital.

Music lovers filled Grace church last night at the organ recital by Gottfried H. Federlein, A. A. G. O., of Brooklyn. The programme, lightened by vocal and 'cello numbers, was excellent. Mr. Federlein's numbers contained nothing tedious to the untrained ear, as organ recitals too often do. Miss Mary C. Hubbell, contralto; Miss Grace Shirrefs, soprano, and Dr. Leonard Waldo, 'cello, assisted Mr. Federlein.

Annie's Jag Cost $5.

Annie Marando, described by the police as "the Irish woman that married an Italian," was fined $5 by Mayor Smalley in the borough court, last night. She was found by Marshal Dooley, early yesterday morning, calmly sleeping off a jag in the middle of Somerset street, near Greenbrook road. She paid the five.

Family All Ill.

Friends here have received word from Worcester, Mass., that John Crawlay, a former Plainfielder and an old Pond employe, is having a hard time. Mrs. Crawlay was recently paralyzed in both legs, Crawlay has been tied up with rheumatism for months and his daughter has contracted hip disease.

Trolley Car and Auto Collide.

A main line trolley car and a New York auto bearing the license number 12,728, bumped together on East Front street this morning. A party of tourists in the machine were severely shaken up and one of the mud guards was smashed; otherwise there was no damage.

HE THOUGHT THEY WOULD

And the Mashers Very Naturally Came to the Same Conclusion.

The two young men with the sway-backed overcoats and the nobby hats sat beside the middle-aged gentleman with the iron-gray mustache and goatee in the trolley-car. As it turned a corner, two handsome young women on the sidewalk turned and looked after it, and smiled. The two young men in the sway-backed overcoats lifted their hats and smiled and nudged each other. Then they turned and saw that the man with the iron-gray mustache and goatee was looking at them, relates the Chicago Tribune.

"Did you notice it?" asked one of the young men.

"Yes," said the man with the goatee.

"Peaches, huh?"

"Do you think so?"

"Sure. Say, that tallest one is a stunner!"

"Ever seen them before?" asked the elderly man.

"Say not. Just copped 'em out as we turned the corner. Got a notion to get off the car at the next corner and take another look at them."

"I would if I were you," said the elderly man.

"Used to be a sport yourself, eh?"

"Not very much of one."

"Mebbe not, but I see you've got blood in you yet."

"I have that, and my advice to you is to get off at the next corner."

"Believe we will. Say, did you notice the dimples in the smaller girl's cheeks?"

"No, but I have noticed them You're getting off here, aren't you?"

The car had reached the next corner, and the young men in the sway-backed overcoats were looking back along the street. The one who had been doing the talking replied:

"I dunno. Got a notion too, though."

"You'd better. Those young women are my daughters, and they were nodding good-by to me. If you don't get off at this corner I'll throw you off."

The young men got off—and walked rapidly in another direction from that which would have led them toward the young women. Then the man with the iron-gray mustache and goatee smiled grimly to himself and confided to a fellow passenger that he had never seen the young women in his life.

STYLES IN WALL PAPER.

New Patterns Produced Every Year by the Hundreds for Season's Trade.

"In England and Germany," said an American wall paper man, "they get out new styles, to be sure, every year, and plenty of them, but they continue more styles from year to year than we do. Here we get out practically all new styles every year.

"The people expect them and the dealers look for them and they must have them. If we carried forward the old styles a dealer looking over a book of samples would say when he came to an old style: 'Why, here's something we had last year.' And that wouldn't do.

"There may be a few styles that have particularly caught the fancy and that we run for a second season, but practically all the wall papers offered here at the beginning of a season are new.

"When a season closes, about July 1, we have worked our stocks down just as close and fine as we can, and after that we begin getting ready for the next season, almost a year ahead. There are many designers, men and women, who devote themselves solely to wall paper designing, working at that the year around, just as one might at any profession or calling; and now we begin getting out the new papers, with new designs, or new colorings and combinations of colorings, the new styles thus produced numbering hundreds annually.

"And when our styles are all ready and we have begun to print we make up our sample books for the trade; we get these out for the next season along about January 1. Like great atlases these books are; only bigger, each book containing hundreds of pages, each page a wall paper sample of the full width of the paper and in length of page a little longer than the width, enough to show the paper amply.

"Of these great sample books we send out thousands, tons in weight of them, annually, and with these books at hand the dealer begins ordering his wall papers of the new styles in readiness for the new season."

Reform in China.

It would have been hard to find, ten years ago, a more hopeless undertaking than that for which a little company of foreign ladies in Shanghai organized the Tien Tsu Hui, or Natural Feet society. For many years missionaries had been trying to induce their converts to give up a practice—the binding of the feet of young girls—by which one-tenth of the girls of China were tortured, and condemned to a life of suffering and comparative uselessness. The Natural Feet society gave and collected little sums of money, offered prizes for essays, printed and distributed tracts, held public meetings, beset officials and memorialized the empress dowager. Now the results are showing themselves. The empress issued an edict, one by one the great viceroys issued proclamations against binding the feet, and now the letters from the east declare that among the younger girls unbound feet are the rule.—Youth's Companion.

Kyrle Bellew in "Raffles," the Amateur Cracksman," at the New Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

Miss Clara Blandick, who has been Kyrle Bellew's leading woman for the last three seasons and who comes to the New Plainfield theatre tonight with him in "Raffles," is the latest example and proof that real merit, honest work and characters are the certain means for success on the stage as in other lines of professional effort. When asked how she accomplished such progress and in such an incredibly short period of time, Miss Blandick is said to have replied: "I was determined and I took the first chance that offered itself, unpleasant as it was. Then I plead, beseeched and demanded more work. I insisted on understudying every woman in the cast. This was my real method, and by it I won what little I have thus far achieved. By understudying everybody I increased my chances for a hearing. Edith Hardy, the principal boy in "The Walking Delegate," (my first engagement) was taken suddenly ill and I went on at three hours' notice and scored a success in my home city."

There will be plenty of excitement at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow when the sensational melodrama, "Escaped From Sing Sing," will be given with the usual matinee. The success of this play lies in the fact of its careful presentation to detail. The story is one that appeals to the masses, pointing a moral, showing how a devoted wife's mind is poisoned against her husband through the machination of a scoundrel, who also succeeds in sending the husband to prison upon a false charge, and his sensational escape and meeting face to face his traducer. Each act ends with a strong climax, while a bright vein of comedy runs throughout its five acts.

Manager Counihan will offer his patrons Wm. A. Brady's musical absurdity "Girls Will Be Girls" on May 5. The company is headed by Al. Leech and his three Rosebuds and a chorus of forty. Prominent in the cast are Madge Lawrence, Mary Karr, Aileen Flavin, Maud Gray, Christine Cook, Art Brock, Frank Bouman and Winifred Young.

VAMOS, JOHN!

John Chinaman, my jo, John,
You patient, pig-tailed cuss,
Why did you come across the sea
To interfere with us?
Why did you leave the flowery land
Where rice and tea plants grow,
To vex the pious hoodlums' hearts,
John Chinaman, my jo?

John Chinaman, my jo, John,
It fairly curls my hair
When I am told that you by Joss,
And not by Jingo swear,
And thus you are no Christian, John—
The hoodlums tell us so—
And much you shock their piety,
John Chinaman, my jo.

John Chinaman, my jo, John,
You still to Buddha cling,
While the hoodlums go to church and pray,
Which is a better thing.
The sand-lot civilization, John,
'Tis not your lot to know,
Hence you're a poor barbarian,
John Chinaman, my jo.

John Chinaman, my jo, John,
On our Pacific slope
They speak of you as most unclean—
The less they know of soap.
And they whose faces fertile crops
Of rare grog-blossoms grow,
Are shocked at such a leprous wretch,
John Chinaman, my jo.

John Chinaman, my jo, John,
When we a treaty made,
You should have known 'twas only done
For profit on your trade.
'Twas heads I win, and tails you lose,
With right to come and go,
But not to give such rights to you,
John Chinaman, my jo.
—Thomas Dunn English.

The Ballot.

A weapon that comes down as still
As snowflakes fall upon the sod;
But excites a freeman's will
As lightning does the will of God.
—John Pierpont.

Love.

A little boy, a little bow,
Shooting a very little shaft,—
'Tis they that make the gray old world
Go round, and broke and daft.—Puck.

Spring Suits

Of Dignity and Refinement For Men and Young Men.

The Marshall & Ball Store stands alone in the making of high-class ready-to-wear. Our "Londoncut" Suits for Young Men are unequalled for style and distinctiveness, except you count a very high-priced custom tailors. And yet M. & B. Clothing is economically priced.

Our "Londoncut" in the new grays is a feast for critical eyes. Coats are 34 inches long, fitted at the waist, with long flaring skirt, deep side vents, creased side seams and five-button cuffs. For those of less pronounced ideas of dress there is everything desired.

M. & B. "Frenchcut" Overcoats, also short and medium length top coats, prominently display those points of excellence which result from the highest tailoring skill.

"Londoncut" Suits, $12 to $25.
Other Suits, $10 to $25.
"Frenchcut" Overcoats, $15 to $30.
Top Coats, $10 to $25.

Garment Sale Extraordinary.

YOU BENEFIT BY OUR IMMENSE SPRING BUSINESS.—Every previous high water mark passed by our Easter trade—beauty, fashion and worth have never been so decisively approved—none have so merited it. But the tremendous selling has depleted many lines—leaving a few suits or jackets of a kind, which, though at the height of seasonableness and style, have been marked much below regular value; naturally the most desired sorts—or they would not already be sold down to one, two, three or four of a group. Many of bargains will be chosen quickly—be alert and come early.

A HUNDRED NEW $35.00, $40.00, $45.00 SUITS.—Choice materials—chiffon, broadcloths, beautiful chiffon Panamas, rich gray worsteds, voiles with silk drops; black, colors and novelty cloths; finest styles of Eton jackets; "Princess" and regulation skirts; pony jackets, close fitting coat styles; double breasted, semi-fitted box coats, with pique edge under collars—every new style in fact—all at a low price—unheard of for the time of year $30.00

A HUNDRED NEW $20.00 AND $22.50 SUITS.—Desirable styles and materials—colors and pretty mixtures; high quality Panama; some trimmed in self color, others in harmonizing contrast; ¾-sleeves that may be used as elbow sleeve if desired; too many styles of skirts to describe—suits that were marvels at regular—or they would not have sold down to a few of a kind to be marked at $15.00

A HUNDRED NEW $20.00 JACKETS.—No exaggeration—compare them with any other twenty-dollar coats in the city; fine Worumbo covert, and black Venetian; 20-in. length, variously fashioned as to strapping and stitching; notch collars, taffeta silk lined; will you choose one at $15.00

NEW $10.00 AND $15.00 JACKETS.—Nearly all sizes in this lot, only a size or two missing; fine American coverts and black broadcloths; 20-in. lengths; single breasted; fly front and buttoned through styles—fashionable, dependable coats—a group to come for quickly at $7.98

$2.00 HEATHERBLOOM TAFFETA PETTICOATS.—Come tomorrow if you want to take advantage of this bargain. Genuine Heatherbloom taffeta, not something "just as good"—black and some colors—a good style; all liberally full—always considered good value at regular price—$2.00; Saturday while they last $1.50

Housekeepers, Ahoy!

Here is a sale of the best kind of mattresses, the kind that particular housekeepers like to own, the kind that last for many years—at prices that will tempt all economical people to buy, not only for present needs, but for the future as well.

We are particularly careful about the make of mattresses we sell, and we assure you that the sanitary conditions under which they are made are as perfect as can be.

These offers for Saturday:

CORRECT BREATHING.

Reasons Why the Air Should Be Taken Through the Nose Instead of the Mouth.

"The nose is an organ with two important functions," says Mrs. Lindsay, in the Housekeeper, "it exercises the sense of smell, and acts as an air passage and an air strainer. Infectious disorders of the respiratory organs are usually caused by disease germs in the infected dust in the air inhaled. The air passages of the nose are provided with a special air-filtering apparatus which is so perfect in action when the nose is free and the glands and mucous surfaces normal, that no germ can escape alive beyond the outer opening. The cells from which project minute hair-like bodies; the nasal glands and mucus cells secrete a disinfecting fluid when healthy, and this mucus flows outward in tiny streams and washes the little, hair-like projections free from all matter, as well as killing all air-borne disease germs. Not only is the air filtered, but it is heated to a proper temperature for entering the bronchial tubes and lungs. The nasal air passage serves to protect the respiratory organs from infection and from irritation due to breathing air of too low a temperature. As most cases of mouth-breathing begin in infancy from repeated attacks of catarrh, the result of taking cold, or some disorder of digestion, mothers should appreciate the need of attending at once to a case of cold in the head of a nursing baby. Often this stopping up of the nose in a nursing infant leads to absolute starvation, the baby being unable to nurse when its nose is stopped up, because it cannot close its mouth without ceasing to breathe.

The predisposing causes of infantile nasal catarrh are, first, improper washing and dressing of the baby. Another is the inhalation of impure air loaded with dust and foul gases; another is the nicotine-laden atmosphere of father's pipes and cigars. Improper clothing, too much or too little; not suited to the changes of temperature to which it is subjected. Sleeping under the bed clothes, when compelled to sleep with parents and forced to inhale air reeking with foul excretions from the skin and lungs of two adults, are some of the causes which should be remedied."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Strong hot vinegar will remove paint from window glass.

Calicoes ginghams and chintzes should be ironed on the wrong side.

Glass should be washed in cold water, which gives a brighter and clearer appearance to it than when washed in warm water.

Very dirty, greasy towels should not be put into hot soapsuds. This sets the dirt and increase the difficulty of washing them. Wash in luke-warm water first.

A liberal supply of carbonate of soda placed around the kitchen hearth and any other favorite haunt of black beetles will cause their complete disappearance from those places.

Hot Tea and Coffee Stains.—Soak the stained fabric in cold water, wring, spread out, and pour a few drops of glycerine on each spot. Let it stand several hours then wash with cold water and soap.

Faded carpets should, after beating and sweeping, be rubbed with a cloth wrongside out of ammonia and water—a teaspoonful to half a gallon. The cloth should be turned as it gets dirty, and the water frequently changed.

As soon as a nail driven in the wall gets loose and the plaster begins to break around it, it can be made solid and firm by the following process: Saturate a bit of wadding with glue, wrap as much of it around the nail as possible, and reinsert the latter in the hole pressing it home as strongly as possible. Remove the excess of glue, wiping it off with a rag dipped in water. Then leave to dry. The nail will thus be firmly fastened in its place.—Good Literature.

DELICIOUS CODDLED EGGS.

Pour Boiling Water Over Eggs in a Hot Dish and Let Stand Covered a Few Minutes.

Until you have eaten a coddled egg you don't know how delicious a soft boiled egg can be. Have your water boiling, and have ready an earthen bowl or jar of some thickness, which you have previously made hot. Place your eggs in the bowl and pour on the boiling water. Then cover the bowl with a tight cover and put over it also a cozy or a folded napkin.

In five or six minutes the eggs will be done, soft boiled to a consistency that it is impossible to gain in the ordinary way. One beauty of this plan is that the eggs are placed on the table together with the fruit, cereal and coffee, and by the time one course is finished, the eggs are ready, without the necessity of watching over a stove or of getting up from the table to go after them in the absence of a maid.

To Renew Cane Chairs.

If the seats have become limp and stretched, so that they sink in the center, they may be made as good as new, if none of the strips of cane are broken, by well washing them in hot water and then placing them in a current of air to dry. This causes the cane to tighten up, and when dry, the seat will be quite flat as when first woven.

A Pleasant Odor.

Dried orange peel on a red-hot shovel or hot stove will kill any disagreeable odor and leave pleasant one.

On checking accounts 3 per cent interest is paid from the day of deposit until withdrawn, providing a balance of $200 or more is maintained. This interest is credited quarterly, June, September, December and March.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

The one mile Florida championship on the Ormond-Daytona beach course on April 12 was won by William A. Adraince, driving a 20 H. P. Stevens-Duryea; time 1.14 2-5.

Some of the most remarkable records ever made by a stock touring car, mark the performance of the fifty horse-power Thomas "Flyer" at the Atlantic-Pablo beach races, just finished. Not only did it make a mile in less than a minute, but in one race, J. G. Landeer, driving the car of G. S. Creelman, of Atlanta, Ga., covered a mile in fifty-seven and two-fifths seconds. On three different occasions the car was given an opportunity to show what it could do. In the five mile handicap the big car finished second, being placed on scratch. At the start and just as he was getting under way, Landeer's course was crossed by a typical southern fox-hound, which had meandered out on the beach. The car was almost upset and was brought practically to a stop by the accident. Notwithstanding this fact, the five miles were covered in four minues and fifty-five seconds, an average of fifty-nine seconds for the mile from a standing start. The only car which beat the Thomas out was a thirty horse power car that started from the 2.50 mark.

LEAL'S and P. H. S. TEAMS PLAY ABROAD TOMORROW.

High School in Double Header and Leal's Open at South Orange.

The Plainfield High School baseball team will leave this city tomorrow morning on the 8:36 train to play its annual out of town double-header. In the morning the local team will cross bats with the Orange H. S. team, at Orange Oval, while they will play the Montclair H. S. team at Montclair in the afternoon. The local boys will endeavor to break the hoodoo which has been following them recently and with "Phil." Smith again back in the game their chances for victory are bright. A number of rooters will undoubtedly follow the Plainfield High School team.

Leal's School baseball team will open its season tomorrow, crossing bats with the South Orange H. S. team, at South Orange. Last year Leal's beat this team, and the rooters of the local private school team look for a repetition of the trick. The battery for Leal's will be Bergen and Howard.

Rice Griddle Cakes.

One pint of milk, one and one-half cupfuls of cold boiled rice, one and one-half supfuls flour, two eggs, two heaping teaspoonfuls baking powder, one large teaspoonful salt. Scald the milk, and let it cool, press the rice through a sieve, and then add the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, then the salt, yeast powder and flour, blended, and beat well. Then add the milk, blending thoroughly, and finally the whites of the eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. Mix thoroughly and bake on a hot griddle.

For the Canary.

Green food is almost indispensable to canary birds, but if lettuce is scarce a good substitute may be had by planting a little of their favorite seed in small flower pots and allowing it to grow. The birds like it even better if they are allowed to pick the little green leaves themselves.

To Clean Lamp Chimneys.

If lamp chimneys are held over steam for a few minutes, then polished with a dry cloth, they will not break so easily as when washed.

RID CITY OF CROWDYITES

Bethel Chapel Pastor Suggests Departure of Negro "Saints" Be Hastened.

MAY BE STRANDED

"They Exalt a Much Afflicted Man to a Position of Equality With the Blessed Master," He Says.

Rev. F. D. Tildon, pastor of Bethel chapel which is under the supervision of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, sounds a note of warning to the people of Plainfield concerning the danger of allowing "Prophet" Crowdy's Saints of God and Church of Christ band to become stranded here. He says that these misguided men of his own race could not become assimilated with the negroes here were they left without resources and advises that their departure be hastened.

Mr. Tildon says:

Editor, The Daily Press:

It is to be hoped that the Plainfield public will do all they can to facilitate and hasten the departure of the Reform Hall worshippers to their own homes; otherwise their means may become exhausted and many of them may be left behind to be provided for in some way by the inhabitants of this city. This danger is all the more to be desired on account of the fact that the entire multitude go or stay at the command of their "prophet," of whose plans they have no previous knowledge and whose condition is such that he could scarcely be held responsible for any unwise doings of his followers.

It would be extremely unfortunate for Plainfield and especially for the colored population were these people to become stranded here. Plainfield is not large enough to assimilate any great number of them without serious detriment. Their doctrines and manners are averse to all our ideas of Christian propriety and Christian civilization. They oppose an educated ministry and slander all religious denominations. They exalt a much afflicted man to a position of equality with the Blessed Master. They take portions of the Scripture out of their natural relations to prove doctrines which are contrary to the plain teachings of the Bible.

I do not write this in any spirit of uncharity. In so large a company we may be sure that many of these people who have come here are sincere, but they are a sadly misguided set who seem to be most happy in their ignorance and lack of the truth. Their services present the saddest spectacle I have ever witnessed in the name of religion. Our churches cannot hope to do these people much good, and of they find comfortable quarters here in any great number they will create an environment outside the church which will be favorable to the spread of their noxious propaganda.

F. D. TILDON.

LETTERS WERE A HOODOO

Sign with a Bad Record Which Telegraphers Were Reluctant to Use.

Telegraph operators always have personal signs which they place on all messages they send and receive. Usually they use two or three initials or take two letters from their names. For instance, James Black will probably use "JB" as his sign. In many cases, however, they choose their signs in a peculiar way, says the Kansas City Times.

"We once had a man working here who signed 'KE' because he had taken the Keeley cure," said a Kansas City chief operator recently. "He afterward went back to drinking and then used 'BZ,' deriving it from 'booze.' Another fellow signed 'PS' because he used to say he received a poor salary.

"A woman operator we had here used to sign 'HK,' her initials, until one day her beau jilted her and married another girl. After that she signed 'BH,' which, we understood, meant 'broken heart.'

"In an eastern office where I once worked there was a hoodoo sign. It was 'KQ.' The first man who used it was killed by a train; the next one went crazy, and the third died of typhoid fever. After that nobody in the office dared use that hoodoo sign.

"The story about its being a 'jonah' traveled over the country, and to-day you'll find very few operators signing 'KQ.'"

PHOTOGRAPH SWINDLER CAUGHT AT HIGHTSTOWN

William Marsh, the veteran photographer who is charged with working a bunco photograph-offer game in this city, was nabbed in Hightstown yesterday afternoon by Chief Kiely and Detective Sergeant Clancy, of Trenton. He was brought to this city late last night, and will be arraigned before Justice Mosher this afternoon. The police say he acknowledges his guilt.

Marsh, as was reported in connection with the warning issued against him by Chief Kiely early this week, is an old hand at the picture swindle game. His graft is to offer six pictures for $1, future delivery, and collect fifty cents on account. A complaint from Mrs. Robert Lee started the police here on his trail, and it was discovered that a number of local people had been victimized. Chief Kiely went after Marsh because Mrs. Lee's description of the man who swindled her tallied exactly with that on a picture of him in the Rogues' Gallery, taken by the Newark police, who arrested him several years ago on the same charge and convicted him under it.

The clue to Marsh's whereabouts came to the chief through the reports on him in the Plainfield papers. A friend of the police spotted the man in Hightstown two days ago, after he had read of the search for him, and reported at once to Chief Kiely.

The chief went to Hightstown early yesterday afternoon, stopping off at Trenton to get Detective Sergeant Clancy, who was on the lookout for the man for the police of that city. When they got to Hightstown at 3 o'clock Marsh was out of town, but they learned that he was expected back at his boarding house early in the evening. They posted themselves before the house, and at 6:30 o'clock the old man turned up. He submitted quietly to arrest. After certain formalities had been gone through, and a roundabout journey over the Pennsylvania R. R., by way of Elizabeth, the prisoner was lodged in the jail here at 11:30 o'clock.

According to the police Marsh acknowledged that he worked his game here, but denied that the picture in the gallery was his. The description on the back of the picture fits Marsh exactly, but he stuck to his denial as to the photo even after the chief read the points and figures to him.

"I'm better looking than that," he insisted. "I'm too much of an artist to acknowledge such a bum piece of work as my likeness."

ANCIENT EGYPTIAN BELIEFS

Influence of Magic on the Lives of the People—Ideas of Heaven and Hell.

No nation in the world devoted so much attention to the subject of the future life as the ancient Egyptians, and yet, strangely enough, with so little effect upon their daily life in this world. It had, however, no morbid effect upon him, for, unlike any other nation of antiquity, the Egyptian had fully convinced himself that this life was but the ante-chamber to a "life of eternity and everlastingness."

Egypt was essentially the land of magic, and fully justified the Talmudic saying that "when magic was created out of ten parts, nine were assigned to Egypt. It is in magic, says the London Globe, that we find the whole key to the Egyptian ideas of heaven and hell.

The greatest work on the future state was that known as the "Book of the Dead"—a marvelous compendium of magic, religion and folklore. Its beginning is lost in the dark regions of the prehistoric age, for there is now no doubt that it had taken definite literary form long before the fourth dynasty, B. C. 3700, and was old by the time of the sixth, some centuries later.

The Egyptian's ideas of future life were the outcome of his magical belief that everything material or immaterial had its immortal double. The land itself, the Nile, the chief religious cities, the king, and the people, all had their doubles in the next world. Out of this grew the idea of a life in the future state of perfect happiness, the best on earth, in the Fields of Peace. There can be no doubt that this region of the blessed was regarded by the early Egyptians, and, indeed, for a long time by the common people, not as a celestial region, but as situated in the fertile and well watered regions of the Nile delta in the northwest of Egypt, where the blessed ever breathed the cool north wind.

Here he lived an ideal form of his life upon earth. He plowed his fields and grew the grain which supplied him with "bread that grew not stale and beer that never became sour." Here was situated the duplicate of his earthly town or village, and Heaven would, indeed, be a home to him.

The belief in ancestor worship, no doubt, was an important element in the religion of the Egyptians—but would the deceased meet and be recognized by those who had preceded him? On this point Dr. Budge describes how the deceased meets and is recognized by all who are near and dear to him.

As he truly remarks, it is an exact picture of the return of a long absent wanderer to his native village, such as may be seen any day in the Nile valley. It explains, also, the reason why the funeral inscriptions make so strong a feature of the family and social rectitude of the dead. Thus the expression: "I was one reverent to my father, favored of my mother, devoted to my brothers and sisters and united in heart with the people of my town."

The underworld was a region of fire, lakes of fire, rivers of fire, and the damned were treated as captives, bound, beheaded, and each day brought to life to undergo fresh torture. Space will not permit us to deal with this subject here, but in these terrible pictures we have, no doubt, the source from which the early Christian writers drew their vivid descriptions of the tortures of the wicked.

NEW ENGLAND FISHERIES.

Enormous Catch of Last Year Estimated at a Value of $15,000,000.

The result of the New England fisheries in 1905 broke all records. According to the Scrap Book Maine contributed to the food supply of the world 1,000,000,000 packed sardines, valued at $5,000,000, and in fresh fish alone Boston sold $4,000,000 worth.

The great "T wharf" in Boston handled 100,000,000 pounds of fresh fish, valued at $2,500,000. At this wharf as many as 50 fishing vessels have been moored at one time.

Gloucester, the home of the Grand Banks fishing fleet, provided for the world's consumption 125,000,000 pounds of salt fish, valued at $3,750,000, and handled fresh fish to the value of $2,000,000.

In the latter part of 1905 a revolution was promised in fishing methods by the addition of a new steam trawler to the fleet. Since fishing began on the Banks the work has been done by sailing vessels, which send out dories on the fishing grounds and which, in their voyages back and forth between Boston and the Banks, are at the mercy of storms.

There are now more than 500 vessels of all sizes in the fishing fleet, ranging in value from $1,000 to $15,000, the entire fleet being valued at about $3,000,000. If the Spray, the new steam trawler, does the work expected of her it may mean the passing of the old-time sailing fleet.

The new steamer cost her owners $60,000. She is equipped to permit of all fishing operations being carried on from her deck without the use of dories and the consequent loss of life attendant upon the old methods of fishing, when boats were frequently lost in the fog or run down by Atlantic steamers. The Spray drags her own trawl nets and is expected to make huge hauls and fast time between the fishing grounds and the home port.

Floors of Paper.

Paper floors are growing in favor in Germany. They have no joints to harbor dust, fungi or vermin, and feel soft under foot. They are also cheaper than hardwood floors. The paper is spread in the form of paste, rolled, and when dry, painted to imitate wood.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.

A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.

Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.

When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sure sign that these countless germs are busily at work.

There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs—that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.

ALL DERBIES LOOK ALIKE.

That Was Why a Traveling Man Came to Be Wearing a Second-Handed Hat.

A hasty man told this one to a Baltimore street hatter a few days ago, relates the Sun of that city:

"Late one night while in Washington I dined in a cafe on Pennsylvania avenue and took away some one else's hat. I did not discover the mistake until I got on the train bound for Baltimore. It had the other fellow's initials there in bright gilt letters on the inside and there was no excuse for the blunder.

"The next morning I began to realize that the hat did not fit me as well as it had seemed to, so I dropped in a hat store and bought a new one. The hatter asked me if I wanted my initials put in the new hat, and I told him yes. He perforated them into the sweatband with a big chopping machine. The next day at church I happened to glance in my hat. The initials were the same as those in the hat which I picked up in Washington. Of course, the hatter concluded that the initials in the old hat were my own.

"Every time I visit a house where there happens to be hats on the rack looking like mine I have to make this long-winded explanation. They are getting to doubt whether I ever have any but second-hand hats, especially the women. Funny, ain't it? Women think all derbies are alike."

"Yes; seems some men have trouble in distinguishing them," said the clerk.

BALTIC AMBER HUNTERS.

Work Only in the Roughest Weather and Earn But a Scant Livelihood.

The poor people who earn a precarious livelihood by gathering amber on the shores of the Baltic sea work only in the roughest weather. When the wind blows in from the sea, as it often does with terrific violence, the boulders are tossed and tumbled at the bottom and great quantities of sea wrack are washed up on the beach. This is the harvest of the waders, for hidden in the roots and branches of the seaweed lumps of the precious gum may be found.

In other parts of the coast divers go crawling on the bottom of the sea for the lumps of amber hidden in seaweed and under rocks. It is believed that once a great pine forest flourished here, where the great billows roll, and that amber is the gum exuded from the trees, of which not a vestige remains.

The finds are very variable. The largest piece known, weighing 18 pounds, is in the Royal museum in Berlin. The usual finds range from lumps as big as a man's head to particles like grains of sand. The larger pieces are found jammed in rocks or in tangles of marine vegetation. Divers work from four to five hours a day in all seasons except when the sea is blocked with ice.

VERBAL MESSAGE BY MAIL.

A Phonograph Record Invented by Frenchman Is Hard Enough for Transmission.

Instead of sending a cold and more or less formal written letter to a distant loved one, it is now possible to send by mail a verbal message, which may be as warm and thrilling as the sender desires, says a writer in the Technical World Magazine.

This has been made possible by the invention of three Frenchmen, MM. Bucherioux, Marotte and Tochow, who have perfected a phonograph record of sufficient hardness to go through the mails, withstand the hard usage of the post, and be ready to voice the message it contains upon delivery at its destination.

A material called "sonorine," which has all the advantages of wax, and the added quality of being indestructible, is spread upon cards, which conform to post office regulations and requirements. Then the chemically prepared card is laid flat and the voice is thrown into a small funnel, through which it passes to the registering needle. The record is made by a spiral, which begins writing at one edge of the card and travels toward its center, filling the card completely with the exception of a small circular spot in the middle. A card will hold about 80 words.

Sonorine has not as yet been introduced in America, but no doubt will be within a short time.

Robbery on Board Ship.

"Some exporters have a peculiar custom in shipping certain kinds of goods," said a merchant the other day. "They found out by sad experience that if they shipped a lot of shoes in pairs the longshoremen would manage to break open at least one box during the loading. Then they would pick out some and dump the rest back into the broken box. They did that for a long time until some one got onto them. Now when shoes are exported rights are packed together and sent out on one line of boats and the corresponding lefts are shipped in a different way. That stopped the graft and the number of broken crates and boxes is cut almost in half."

Society for Young Wives.

The Society of Whales is a new organization. Every young wife in town belongs and the title of the society is taken from the faith a bride has in her husband. She would believe him if he said he saw a whale swimming up Commercial street. After she has been married for a few months she drops from the club.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

BEARS CHAMPAGNE SCARS.

The Workman in the Cellars of Rheims Is Exposed to Constant Danger.

The Frenchman's face was hacked and notched, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Have you been a duelist?" one asked.

"No, no," the man replied. "I have been a champagne maker." He touched his face. "These honorable nicks," he said, "are champagne scars.

"Champagne scars," he went on, "decorate the visages of all the workers in the underground champagne mills of Rheims. They are caused by the bursting of the bottles. About one bottle of champagne in every ten bursts.

"There are miles and miles of champagne caves in Rheims, caves cut in the solid limestone rock, where, in a constant temperature of 45 degrees, millions of bottles of wine refine and ripen.

"The workers down there smell nothing but champagne all day long, champagne escaping from burst bottles. And as the turners move along the racks—each turns 35,000 bottles daily—they are continually saluted with explosions. Bang! And the glass splinters fly and a little fountain of champagne perfumes the damp air.

"Day after day each bottle must be turned, turned 50 times altogether, till the sediment in it has all mounted up and concentrated itself around the cork. Then the corkers remove the corks, let the sediment-thickened wine in the neck of the bottle blow off and skillfully replace the cork again.

"The corkers' and turners' work is dangerous. These men are nearly all scarred like me."

METAPHORICALLY SPEAKING

Sentence Delivered by a Representative That Resounded with Rumbling Phases.

"The use of metaphor in our speech is becoming such that in time it will be considered bad form and old-fashioned to talk pure English," said Representative Robert Adams, of Pennsylvania, as he recited the other day an instance of a speech delivered some time ago by a western congressman in which the metaphorical form was exclusively used.

"Politicians," said Mr. Adams, "are probably more addicted to the use of metaphor than any other class of people, and the house recently got a good dose of it in a speech made by a well-known Democratic representative from the west. In it he came out with a tremendous sentence, which ran, as nearly as I can remember, like this:

"'Spurious vulgar fossildom secretly urges members to oppose this nonparty measure. History shows that the same kind of rubber-brained vultures sit, owl-like, on the dying limb of the tree of reason, and by hooting and screeching attempt to impede the progress of every great representative of reform who climbs to the topmost peaks of the imperishable tree of indestructible Democratic knowledge.'

"Accustomed as we are to bewildering metaphor in speech," added Mr. Adams, "the house lost something of its accustomed placidity during that awful sentence; even Mr. Timothy Sullivan, who has quite a remarkable gift of picturesque language, sat up and blinked."

HIGH WINDS RARE IN ROME

An Average Speed of Five Miles an Hour Is the Greatest Attained.

Gales are very rare in Rome and never blow with extreme violence. The most striking peculiarity of the Roman climate is the absence of high winds. The air is pure and clear owing to the almost complete absence of smoke even in the winter months.

The average yearly movement of the air is only five miles an hour. This is of enormous advantage in winter, since the "tramontana" (north wind), which is the prevailing wind in this season, is, if strong, decidedly cold and bracing, but when under eight miles an hour is delightful for most people, including invalids. The south winds are essentially sea breezes. They frequently alternate with the tramontana.

The sirocco (southeast wind), which fortunately does not often blow, is moist and enervating. It gives rise to languor in most individuals.

Fat and Lean Men.

Modern scientific investigation in a medical way now declares that the plump man is not necessarily the "healthiest" or the best able to resist disease. The lean man not only enjoys greater resistance to weakness and debility, but he is stronger in the performance of a given task. In other words, a large fat deposit in the general tissue is no evidence of good general nutrition. The rich and girlish beauty of the plump man, sometimes called Fatty, may delight the eye, but when it comes to walking downtown in the morning or running four blocks to a fire Fatty blows out a fuse and is sent to the repair shop, while his lean brother is merely put into condition for the day by his little burst of exercise.—Minneapolis Journal.

Wrong Pew.

"Yes," explained the guide at the asylum, "this patient is perfectly aware that he is insane."

"He ought to exchange places with some people on the outside," said the visitor. "A whole lot of people in this world are crazy and don't know it."—Detroit Free Press.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." A GIRL'S OWN ROOM.

An Inexpensive and Lovely Bed Chamber Described, and What Pictures Are Now Favored.

Imagine for yourself a nook with white woodwork, a chintz pattern paper (floral) upon the walls. The chairs are of green enameled wood or wicker. There are large mattresses cushioned for the chairs of a cretonne or chintz matching or closely resembling the wall paper, and tied with large bows of ribbon. The bed has one of the new spreads, which goes over the counterpane made of chintz with a deep ruffle. I know of a room built on this plan. You wouldn't believe without seeing it, how pretty it is. And it was not expensive, either.

Never before has it been possible to get such exquisite patterns in upholstery goods as at present. Cotton and silkoline imitations which make very artistic curtains retail as low as seven cents a yard. Denim, burlap, holland, unbleached goods of several kinds and coarse toweling, costing in the neighborhood of ten cents a yard, are now embellished with stenciled designs, embroidery, or appliques of some other or their own material to make portiers, curtains, couch covers, table tops and cushions.

And speaking of lovely cushions reminds me of one I saw in a smart decorator's shop the other day. The price was ten dollars. Girls, any one of us could have made that ten-dollar pillow for nothing out of an old-fashioned potato sack! The material was coarse sacking, nothing more, finished perfectly plain all around without ruffles or cord as most of the new pillows are at present. On one side was a posteresque design of a purple garden flag.

For pictures for her room the modern girl goes in chiefly for photographs or prints of the old masters, costing all the way from one cent to 25 or more apiece, and which are usually framed in wood chosen or tinted to match the tone of the picture. These copies of old masters, even the cheapest ones, are pictures worth having, which grow in meaning from day to day as one comes to know them better, and which educate one's love of the beautiful.—American Agriculturist.

TO HAVE A GOOD LAWN.

A Moderately Rich Soil Is Essential as Grass Needs a Good Deal of Nourishment.

A moderately rich soil is essential to a good lawn, because grass needs a great deal of nourishment. If the nourishment is not already in the soil it must be supplied in the form of fertilizers. The proper fertilizer to use is a study in itself. Important as the question is, it receives in most cases only casual attention. That is one reason why grass does not grow up to one's expectations.

The top soil should be broken up so finely that in a handful there are few lumps of any size, and the subsoil also should be broken up. This is chiefly to secure perfect drainage for the grass and is a part of lawn making which is almost invariably slighted. As a rule, the subsoil is left undisturbed so that water may collect there to the detriment of the tender roots.

There are few harder sorts of work than digging with a spade in the garden, although lawn mowing is a good second to it. The safest plan is not to try to do too much. But be sure to do something. The more one does the more one will enjoy the result of one's labors; and of garden work, as of most other sorts of work, it is impossible to get results without effort.

There is no doubt that gardening is the fashion; many women who do not care in the least for growing things, are, nevertheless, discussing box borders and pergolas with conventional enthusiasm. But the woman who really does love flowers has also come into her own. The flower catalogues of to-day gather for her the treasures of the old and of the new, the bleeding heart and Canterbury bells of her great-grandmother's garden and the newest Japanese primrose and iris, while the poorest soil and bleakest exposure cannot daunt the vigorous varieties that are cutivated for all sorts of unpromising places.—Washington Star.

Unique Course.

If you want to serve something absolutely unique for the cheese course at dessert try the ridiculously simple preparation of Roquefort cheese and apples. To make it take a slice of Roquefort cheese and a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Mix them together into a paste and thin this down by the addition of three or four tablespoonfuls of cognac. When of a good spreading consistency spread it over slices of russet apples and you will have a novelty that will create both surprise and delight among your guests.

Scissors in the Kitchen.

A kitchen convenience which is not present in every household is a pair of sharp scissors. Scissors are used to trim lampwicks—which is a wrong—and to cut papers and string; but seldom for trimming bacon and ham rinds, skinning parts of fowls which need skinning, and trimming salads. These are proper uses for scissors, and the use of them saves much labor.

Lemon Cookies.

To two cups sour cream add two cups sugar and one teaspoon soda. Flavor with lemon or caraway seed, or both, add flour enough to thicken, roll thin and bake in a quick oven.

BOROUGH SEWER PLANS

Engineer Pierson Outlines Methods of Construction and the Probable Cost.

THE CITY DILATORY

Failure to Reply to Council's Letter Anent Using Plainfield Beds Holds Back the Investigation.

Meeting for the third time in joint session, last night, the Borough Council and Board of Health discussed the sewer project and received the report of Engineer George H. Pierson, who has been making the preliminary surveys. In this the probable cost was outlined and Mr. Pierson asserted that connection with Plainfield's disposal plant would be the least expensive but he had been hampered in his plans by the failure of the city to answer the borough's letter asking if the beds could be used. The communication was sent to Mayor Buckle and he in turn gave it to a committee which has it yet and is using Philadelphia methods in framing up a reply.

The engineer has gone over the ground thoroughly in the past few weeks and he has figured out four plans for the council and health board's consideration. The first details a system of sewers intended to provide for residences on streets where water pipes are laid, having the outfall terminate at a pumping station, from which the effluent can be pumped into the Plainfield beds. The second plans differs from the first only in that it calls for an independent outfall and disposal point. The third plan is much more extensive than either of the preceding two and is intended to cover the entire area of the borough. It calls for the establishment of grades from the base of the sewers in Plainfield, the outfall sewer being on grade to receive the sewage from Plainfield and Dunellen if required at any time. The fourth plan is one that is considered out of the question, calling for a gravity system to an outlet in the Raritan river.

In telling of the project, Mr. Pierson discussed the matter as follows:

"In contemplating this improvement we must not look at the actual requirements of North Plainfield as they now exist, but with a broader view that will include the best practical results for the future; with a system of sewers the future of North Plainfield may be looked upon with the full assurance that the advantages she possesses in the topographical lay of the land within the corporate limits and adjacent territory will be speedily appreciated, the high ground will become the best residential section, and the mountainside the estates of the wealthy.

"The location of an outfall sewer for the North Plainfield district has been provided by nature with a natural fall that eliminates expensive construction, and will be so situated as to be the most practicable receptacle for the sewage on both sides of Greenbrook.

"After careful study of the conditions I am recommending for your adoption the system of purification commonly known as the Bacterial system, embracing septic tanks and contact beds. Before the application of sewage to the proposed beds it is given a preparatory septic treatment, which will result in removing a substantial percentage of suspended matter. In this form of treatment the beds are laid out in units and filled with proper filtering materials, all of which are properly underdrained by means of which they can be aerated with great dispatch. The septic affluent is applied to the beds intermittently, a period of rest for aerating purposes being given each bed after each application, which results in an oxidation of the organic matters contained in the sewage, brought out by bacterial action.

"The first plan includes the location of a pumping station from which the effluent is pumped into the Plainfield purification beds. This station may be located at any point west of Washington avenue, and the effluent pumped into the main leading to the sewage purification plant, located on West Front street, in Plainfield proper, providing, however, that the consent of Plainfield be obtained to so deliver the effluent.

"The second plan presents a system of sewers, the outfall from which terminates in a system of sewage purification beds which may be located at any point west of the confluence of Green and Stony brooks. If the location of such plant be near the Plainfield beds it would seem that less objection would arise than if located at any other point, but from a business standpoint another location is suggested which might be more advantageous. Below the borough of Dunellen, being just as desirable so far as gradient lines are concerned, would offer a possibility of accomodating the sewage

ALL DANGER PASSED, MAYOR SCHMITZ SAYS

PROCLAMATION TO CITIZENS—APPEAL TO AID THE WORK OF RELIEF.

San Francisco, April 21.—Mayor Schmitz issued the following proclamation yesterday:

"To the Citizens of San Francisco:

"The fire is now under control, and all danger is passed. The only fear is that other fires may start should the people build fires in their stoves, and I therefore warn all citizens not to build fires in their homes until the chimneys have been inspected and repaired properly. All citizens are urged to discountenance the building of fires.

"I congratulate the citizens of San Francisco upon the fortitude they have displayed, and I urge upon them the necessity of relieving the authorities in the work of relieving the destitute and suffering. For the chief relief of those persons who are encamped in the various sections of the city everything possible is being done. In Golden Gate Park, where there are approximately 200,000 homeless persons, relief stations have been established.

"The Spring Valley Water Company has informed me that the Mission district will be supplied with water this afternoon, between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 gallons daily being available. Lake Merced will be taken by the federal troops and that supply protected."

CRUELTY CASE WAS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

DELENARO PAID $25 TO S. P. C. A. AGENT; LEGAL PROCEDURE.

Nicholas Delenaro, the Scotch Plains Italian who was to have been arraigned before Justice Hand this morning on a charge of cruelty to his horse, preferred by the S. P. C. A. through William Pangborn, its agent in this section, settled the case with the agent yesterday by paying $25. Settlements of such cases, on payment of the minimum fine, may be effected under the law, with the consent of the court. The necessary consent was obtained from the justice.

The settlement prevented a possible legal protest in connection with the case. Delenaro had retained "Count" Van Ness, a one-time practicing lawyer in New York, to defend him, and the lawyer's appearance in court would, it is said, have been objected to by a representative of the bar of Plainfield. Until three years ago, anybody might defend a case in a justice's court, but at that time a law was passed providing that only lawyers admitted to the New Jersey bar be admitted to practice in the small cause courts, except where the defendant desires to conduct his own case. Van Ness is a lawyer under the New York statutes, but he is not a member of the New Jersey bar.

AFRICAN M. E. CONFERENCE.

Representatives of New Jersey Colored Churches to Gather.

The annual New Jersey Conference of the African M. E. church will convene at Long Branch on Wednesday, April 25, and continue in session until the following Monday. Rt. Rev. B. W. Arnett will preside, assisted by Rt. Rev. L. J. Coppin.

Rev. H. C. Ashley, pastor of the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, now closing his second year here, who will attend the conference, has been unanimously invited by the trustees and stewards to return another year. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Maynard, also of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, will attend the conference.

Oshkosh—Casino.

Matters in the Oshkosh are assuming very tangible shape. Rehearsals are well advanced, and the various "stunts" nearly perfected. The special scenery—and all of it is entirely new—has arrived, and will be used in the rehearsals of the coming week. Reserved seat tickets at Armstrong's are in demand, and not to be outdone by wealthy firms, corporations or organizations, Oshkosh purposes making liberal contribution to sufferers of the great California calamity from proceeds of the entertainments to be given May 11 and 12.

First Festival of the Season.

A strawberry and ice cream festival and stereoptican lecture by Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut, "On the Rhine," will be given in the First M. E. church, Thursday, April 26. Admission 35 cents.

—Beginning Monday, Neuman Brothers will have a special sale of the superior Pillsbury and Hecker's flour. The price in either case will be reduced.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

'Frisco Disaster Recalls to Former Councilman Pray His Contact With a Big Quake.

IN SAME TERRITORY

Was 400 Feet Below the Earth's Surface When Seismic Shocks Occurred—Barely Escaped With His Life.

When former Councilman E. E. Pray, of West Seventh street, read the newspaper accounts of the San Francisco horror it recalled to his mind an experience he had with an earthquake in California thirty-five years ago. He hadn't thought of it much in all that time, but the descriptions of the terrific shock at the Golden Gate brought back his recollections vividly. He had thrills enough to remember and to spare. It was a tremendous earthquake, and he was thrown into intimate association with it for the short time it stayed in his neighborhood. The shock was greater, he believes, than the one that wrought the ruin in San Francisco, and he knows just about how the people of that city felt when the cataclysm of Wednesday occurred.

Mr. Pray met the earthquake 400 feet below the level of the earth. He was in Mono county, California, 250 miles east of 'Frisco, where he lived in his younger days, at the time. Although but twenty years old, he was manager of a big silver mine, and it was in the depths of this mine that he felt the quake.

The shock came just before midnight. Mr. Pray had been playing cards until after eleven o'clock in his office-cabin at the mouth of the shaft. After the game he went down into the mine to take a look at the indications along a new prospecting level. He took one of his assistants with him. Before he entered the mouth of the shaft, he noticed that the night was remarkably still and beautiful. That seems to be a conditions which always precedes great earthquakes at night.

Mr. Pray and the miner went down to the end of the main tunnel, 400 feet below the surface, and then up about fifteen feet to an ore chamber. Mr. Pray carried a miner's candlestick, and another one had been stuck in the side of the ore chute leading from the chamber to the 400-foot level. Mr. Pray was feeling about the walls for a place in which to stick his cards, when they heard a hollow rumble from a distance. The two men looked at one other. They thought the giant powder stored in the mouth of an abandoned shaft had blown up. They abandoned that theory a second later. The terrifying earthquake roar burst on them suddenly, in full, paralyzing volume, and with the earth trembling and shaking about them, and the sounds of cracking timbers and of falling rocks from the shaft in their ears, they were toppled from their balance. A few seconds later another tremendous shock came as the earth-crust settled back into place. That second shock was worse than the first.

As the great shock came, Mr. Pray's candle dropped from his hand and was lost, but the candle in the chute burned on, showing a path of light to the tunnel below. The two men made a simultaneous leap for the chute and flung themselves down to the level. They had no particular acquaintance with seismography, but they knew an earthquake when they met one; and they wanted to get out of that mine as fast as they could. They didn't stop to pluck the candle from the side of the chute, but felt their way along the tunnel by the beams that ran up its side. The beams were twisted, or down, pretty much all along the wall and their progress was slow, but they finally reached the shaft. They found the ladderway in useable shape and made their way to the surface.

When daylight came they learned the tremendous force the earthquake had exerted. A fissure had formed at the side of a stream forty times as big as Greenbrook at high water, so large and deep that it took the river months to wash it together. Cliffs had been torn loose from the Sierra Nevada mountains nearby, and boulders four times as big as an ordinary house were sent crushing down the mountains. All the stone and brick houses in towns about were wrecked, and a stage road was twisted and pushed back a good bit from where it was laid out. San Francisco felt the tail end tremor of that quake, but no damage was done there. Little tremors continued in Mono county daily for two months afterward.

Some scientific observer said at the time that if the Mono county shock had been felt in San Francisco the damage there would have been appalling. Mr. Pray believes that it would have done more harm than the one of Wednesday.

FIRE IS CHECKED

Three-fourths of San Francisco Reduced to Smouldering Ruins by the Catastrophe in Thirty-six Hours.

HUMAN VULTURES SHOT

Estimated That 600 Lives Were Lost in Cataclysm—Rushing Relief to the Stricken City.

San Francisco, April 21.—The fire has been checked. A turn of the wind which sprang up late Thursday night blew it back from the unconsumed portion of the city, after it had leaped the gap blown by dynamite, and the steady trade wind is holding it to a course back over the burned section. The flames started up again in the ferry district, but the new threat was met successfully.

Reports about the actual area of damage are conflicting. It is probable that three-fourths of, the improvements on real estate is destroyed. The fringe of the city, scattered suburban residences, stands. Except for a few mansions of the rich, some churches and probably some suburban hospitals, every important building in San Francisco is gone.

Relief for the starving, homeless thousands is pouring into the city, and the acute physical sufferings of the people will be over very soon. Water in abundance is promised for today. The burial of the dead has begun, and plans are being made for a search of the ruins as soon as they begin to cool.

Carloads of provisions are being seized by the military as they reach here, under orders from Mayor Schmitz. A carload of ice was commandered for the hospitals yesterday.

Looting its growing, and with its increase grows the irritation of the soldiers and citizen guards against the ghouls. A score or more thieves have been shot dead and many more wounded. Fourteen members of a gang that attempted to get at the $30,000,000 in the mint were killed by the guards there.

Estimates on the loss of life are becoming lower. It is said now that only between 500 and 600 died in the cataclysm and holocaust. These figures, however, are almost purely guesswork. Hundreds may have perished in the poorer districts for whom inquiry will never be made and of whom fire may leave no trace.

AMERICA'S CATASTROPHES.

The earthquake at Charleston, S. C., occurred August 31, 1886, and consisted of a successive series of shocks, beginning about 9 p. m. Fifty-seven persons were killed and the property loss amounted to more than $5,000,000.

The Johnstown flood, the most disastrous ever known in America, swept the Conemaugh Valley on May 31, 1889. The Conemaugh Lake, two and a half by one and a half miles in extent, being flooded by heavy rains, broke down its dam and a flood wave many feet high ran eighteen miles in seven minutes. Its course was arrested by the railroad bridge below Johnstown, which caused the waters to rise with terrific destruction to life and property. The total loss of life was 2,142, including ninety-nine entire families. Relief contributions were raised all the world over, amounting to nearly three million dollars.

The flooding of Galveston occurred September 13, 1900. Approximately 6,000 human beings were destroyed, 4,131 private residences alone were wiped out and the financial loss approached $18,000,000. It was caused by the rising of the Gulf waters during a severe storm and was not the first disaster of its kind to the city, whose entire eastern end had been wiped out by a tidal wave in 1872.

The Fraternal Hand Extended.

Rt. Eminent Sir Jacob Kirkner, grand commander Knights Templar, state of New Jersey, has wired the grand commander of California a message of sympathy and has tendered aid to the sufferers of San Francisco. He has also sent a circular letter to the commanderies of the state asking for subscriptions.

Templars to Aid.

A special conclave of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will be held in its rooms on Monday evening next, April 25, to provide assistance for the San Francisco sufferers. All Sir Knights are urged to attend.

MAYOR NAMES COMMITTEE

Mr. Buckle Issues Proclamation Naming City Treasurer Arnold Custodian of Funds.

Messrs. McCardell, Fisk, Closson, Newcorn and Ivins and the Newspapers on the Committee.

After holding conference with several friends, Mayor James F. Buckle decided today to follow the example of this paper in raising funds for the stricken city of San Francisco. He has named a committee to receive contributions and has appointed City Treasurer William F. Arnold custodian of the fund.

It is intended to send this fund to the Red Cross Society and as The Daily Press has been named by the mayor as one of the committee to gather donations, any sum sent to this paper will be acknowledged and turned over to Custodian Arnold.

The fund being raised by The Daily Press had reached such magnificent proportions by the time that the mayor took action, that no change will be made in our plans. The fund started yesterday will continue to grow, and anything that institutions or private citizens may desire to give will be promptly acknowledged and turned over to The Plainfield Trust Company, which volunteered yesterday to wire it to the proper destination in San Francisco free of charge.

Be sure and state whether you desire your contribution to go to the fund being raised by this paper or to the new fund started by the mayor.

Following is the mayor's proclamation:

MAYOR'S OFFICE,
Plainfield, N. J., April 21, 1906.

Pursuant to the request of numerous citizens, and with the concurrence of all branches of the city government, I have designed The Daily Press, and The Plainfield Courier News, and a committee consisting of Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, and Messrs. Charles J. Fisk, DeWitt C. Ivins, James T. Closson, William Newcorn and Andrew McCardell, to receive contributions toward the relief of those suffering from the results of earthquake and fire in San Francisco and other portions of California. The nature and extent of the unprecedented calamity is too well known to all out citizens to need any description in this proclamation, and the impulses of our citizens are too generous to require any appeal.

William F. Arnold, the cashier of the City National Bank, has consented to act as custodian of the fund. Contributions may be handed to either of the city newspapers or to any members of the committee, or to Mr. Arnold.

In accordance with the suggestion of President Roosevelt, the undersigned will undertake to see that all moneys contributed are placed with the American Red Cross Society.

J. F. BUCKLE,
Mayor.

"CHRISTY" MATHEWSON WELL.

Giants' Twirler Joins His Team in New York Today.

"Christy" Mathewson, the New York National League twirler, who has been detained at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. P. B. Cregar, during the past two weeks by illness, recovered sufficiently to go to New York yesterday to be present at the opening of the National League at the Polo grounds. Although he has practically recovered from his illness, he has not regained his strength and it will probably be a couple of weeks before he will be able to pitch a regular game.

The great pitcher's trouble started with nasal diptheria, contracted in the south and this together with a heavy cold produced inflammation in a cavity in the cheek bone. This affection has about disappeared and all that "Christy" needs now is the return of his strength.

Conference of Friends.

The local Friends propose holding what is known as a "week-end conference" at the Watchung avenue meeting-house. There will be a meeting for worship on First day morning, tomorrow, at 11 o'clock, when Joel Borton, a valued minister of the society from Woodstown, N. J., and others will be in attendance. At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there will be an address explaining the "Views and Testimonies" of Friends, by Henry W. Wilbur, a minister from Philadelphia, formerly from New York. The public is invited.

"One Thing Thou Lackest."

Rev. Dr. W. M. Brundage, pastor of Unity church, Brooklyn, N. Y., will preach at All Souls' church, tomorrow morning, on the subject of "One Thing Thou Lackest."

FUND FOR THE STRICKEN CITY OVER ELEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS

Contributions Flowing In For Relief of the Destitute Citizens of the Ruined City of San Francisco—Letters From Contributors.

PLAINFIELD PEOPLE RESPOND MOST LIBERALLY

Contributions are coming in fast for the San Francisco Relief Fund, started by The Daily Press yesterday. At 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, the magnificent total of $1,101 had been subscribed by local citizens. This amount will be increased before nightfall and by Monday it will not be surprising to find it leap to $1,500 or even $2,000.

The Plainfield Trust Company has generously offered to transmit the fund by wire to its fiscal correspondent in San Francisco and the latter institution will immediately turn it over to Mayor Schmitz. It is intended that the fund be placed in the hands of the stricken city's mayor without any restrictions, to be meted out by him to the needy as he deems proper. While the Red Cross and other associations are doing noble work, it is self evident that Mayor Schmitz can make good use of ready cash as he sees fit.

WHAT "THE CONSTITUTIONALIST" SAID OF 1884 EARTHQUAKE

The Constitutionalist, the weekly edition of The Daily Press, contained the following account of the Charleston, S. C., earthquake on August 15, 1884:

"That Seismic Disturbance."

"Sunday afternoon at a few minutes after 2 o'clock there was a slight spurt giving the existing condition of quiescent tedium then existing a faint rumbling occurred that jarred sufficiently the buildings to cause a rattling of windows, the swaying of pictures and the shaking of a few loose bricks from a dozen chimneys. By the papers of the next day we were informed that an earthquake had visited us and others.

"In North Plainfield it is said to have taken away the appetite of A. E. Faber, and one of the young Dupees left his second piece of pie untouched. Some of the Park House guests sought refuge in Evergreen cemetery, and a Seventh street resident swallowed a new set of teeth. On Clinton avenue a water-back was blown out, and the cracks in the floor of a neighboring stable opened and dropped a cow in the cellar. In The Constitutionalist office, Monday, a sign was hung up stating, 'We Felt the Earthquake,' and a gun was loaded for protection against numberless inquirers."

"Killed by the Shock."

"The sad death of Mrs. Charles Scheler at her residence on Madison avenue, Sunday, seems to have been indirectly caused by the earthquake. The lady was seriously sick, although slowly recovering from a terrible illness, and consequently the shock to a person in that condition was unusually severe. When the shaking commenced it is said those in the house with the patient rushed out and upon returning found her in spasms from which death resulted."

There will be preaching services at the Baptist church tomorrow at the usual hours, 10:30 and 7:45.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Dunbar, of Piscataway township, last Sunday.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

At the New Plainfield theatre tonight the sensational melodrama, "Escaped From Sing Sing," will be given. The play is well and favorably known from coast to coast. It is well and ably written and affords excellent opportunities for scenic display. The sensational escape of English Bill from prison, the fight for life, and an English mansion are the principal scenes shown. The matinees at this popular theatre are intended for women and children.

Harry Davis, the stage manager of William A. Brady's "Girls Will Be Girls" company, that plays an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre on May 5, tells this story of his twelve-year-old hopeful, David, who keeps him guessing. He is an unusually bright boy, and full to the brim of animal spirits. A short time ago, Mr. Davis received a letter from the boy's schoolmaster, complaining that David had been very unruly, with the suggestion that he receive parental chastisement. "Come here, sir!" said the stern parent. "What is this complaint the schoolmaster has made against you?" "Why, its just nothing at all Pa,—you see, Jimmy Brown bent a pin, and only just left it on the teacher's chair for him to look at, and he came in without his specs and sat right down on the pin, and now he wants to blame me for it."

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Kidney Troubles May Be Sapping Your Life Away—Plainfield People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Plainfield testimony to prove it.

Mrs. J. Mottley, of 546 Sixth St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "About two months ago I was seized with a severe backache and dull pains in the top and back of my head. I could not rest nights, and had little desire to do housework and my strength seemed to be about all gone. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's drug store and can truthfully say that they gave me relief from my sufferings. My back and head do not ache and I am strong and vigorous, rest well at night, and have some ambition again. I am convinced that Doan's Kidney Pills are a first-class remedy for troubles arising from the kidneys."

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., April 2, 1906.

AN ORDINANCE

To Further Amend An Ordinance Entitled "An Ordinance To Provide For the Licensing and Regulation of Peddlers, Hawkers, Cartmen, Hack, Omnibus, Stage and Truck Owners and Drivers," Approved March 14, 1882, as amended.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That section 8 of the ordinance referred to in the title of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 8. That every person so licensed shall, at all times while engaged in the business for which he is licensed, cause the number of his license, in figures not less than one and one half inches in height, to be conspicuously displayed on both sides of the vehicle for which such license shall have been granted, and every person so licensed and the driver of every such vehicle shall, while engaged in the business for which he is licensed, wear in the button-hole of the left lapel of his coat on the outside, so that the same may be easily read by persons approaching or passing him, a button, one and one half inches in diameter with the number of his license thereon in black figures one inch in height on a white surface, and shall also keep in a pocket within said vehicle a card or folder showing in plain printed type the number of said license and the rates of fare specified in the tenth section of this Ordinance, which said pocket shall be firmly affixed within said vehicle to the under side of the top of said vehicle, at a point vertically in line with the back of the front seat, with the words 'Rates of Fare' conspicuously displayed so that the same will be readily observed. Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section of the Ordinance shall on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars for each offense."

Section 2. That section 10 of said Ordinance be and the same hereby is amended so as to read as follows:

"Section 10. That any person licensed under this Ordinance to use for hire or wages any hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle for the carriage of passengers, may charge therefor the following rates, but no more, that is to say: for the carriage of any passenger or passengers from any point within to any point within that part of the city included within the following boundaries, that is to say: beginning at a point where the line of Johnston avenue produced would intersect Greenbrook, thence along said line and the line of Johnston to North avenue; thence in the same course in a direct line to South avenue; thence along South avenue to Woodland avenue; thence along Woodland avenue to Highland avenue; thence along Highland avenue to Hilliside avenue; thence along Hillside avenue to Randolph road; thence along Randolph road to Plainfield avenue; thence in a straight line to the intersection of Spooner avenue with West Eighth street; thence along West Eighth street to Grant avenue; thence through Grant avenue to the northwesterly city line; thence following the northwesterly city line to the intersection of said line with the line of Johnston avenue produced; the point and place of beginning, twenty-five cents for one passenger, and fifty cents for two or three passengers carried from the same point to the same point at the same time; and for the carriage of any passenger from any point within to any point without the aforesaid boundaries, fifty cents for one passenger and twenty-five cents for each additional passenger; provided, however, that after eleven o'clock at night until five o'clock in the morning, the charges may be double the said fares; and whenever any such hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle shall be engaged by the hour the person licensed to use for hire or wages such hack, omnibus, stage or other vehicle may charge one dollar for the first hour and seventy-five cents for each additional hour."

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., April 11, 1906.

AN ORDINANCE

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred and six, for the general purposes of said City, exclusive of School, Library, Poor, Fire and State and County Taxes, the sum of Fifty-two Thousand Dollars ($52,000), (this sum includes the sum of Thirty-one Thousand Dollars ($31,000) to be raised by general tax for street improvements); for the expense for said year for lighting the public streets and places, in said City, as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the Assessors of said City, the sum of Fourteen Thousand Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($14,250); for the principal of such sewer bonds (except obligations payable out of assessments and temporary obligations) as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Act of the Legislature, entitled "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7, 1890, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said City, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned Acts, the sum of Eight Thousand Eight Hundred Dollars ($8,800); for the support of the City Poor, the sum of Six Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($6,500) (included in the last named sum is the sum of One Thousand Dollars for the purpose of supporting and maintaining such indigent patients as may be sent to Muhlenberg Hospital by order of the City Physician, Overseer of the Poor, or other proper authority of the City, pursuant to Chapter LXXVI, P. L. 1886, payable December 31, 1906, pursuant to the contract between the Muhlenberg Hospital and the City); for the maintenance of the Public Library and Reading Room, the sum of Five Thousand One Hundred Dollars ($5,100); for the maintenance of a Fire Department, to be under the control and government of said City, the sum of Twenty-five Thousand Six Hundred Dollars ($25,600); for interest of School Bonds authorized under City ordinance, to fall due during the said year, the sum of Five Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($5,400); for principal falling due May 2d, 1906, of bond issued for purchase of land for garbage disposal purposes under Chapter XL of the laws of 1895 and supplement thereto, Seven Hundred Dollars ($700); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

WHAT BECAME OF POLICE COMMISSION BILL?

SENATOR ACKERMAN MAY TAKE THE MATTER UP WITH THE GOVERNOR.

Because the new police commission bill, which had previously passed the assembly, did not reach the senate before midnight last Friday night, Assemblyman Tucker, of Elizabeth, who was greatly interested in the measure, and Senator Ernest R. Ackerman are great disturbed. It is said that some funny things happened last Friday morning when the representatives from Union county were trying to locate the bill and have it brought up in the Senate for action. There was the receipt of James Parker, of Passaic, clerk of the assembly, showing that he had sent the bill to the senate, but he says he is not responsible for the unexpected appearance of figures "252" on the assembly receipt book as a proof that he had sent it to the senate.

Assemblyman Tucker spent the greater part of his time trying to find the bill and Senator Ackerman wanted the bill and was in an anxious way. After considerable time it was learned that Journal Clerk Meeker had not seen the bill. There were four bills on the receipt. The number of the police bill, "252," he declared, must have been written in after he signed the receipt, and before the bill could be found and brought up for action the gavel sounded and the senate went into executive session. It was all off. It is said that Senator Ackerman will take the matter up with Governor Stokes and learn the true reason for the trouble.

PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION OF VACUUM CLEANING.

System Amazes Plainfielders Watching Its Operation at Truell Inn.

A public demonstration of the vacuum system of house cleaning was given at Truell Inn, Park avenue, yesterday afternoon by the Vacuum Cleaner company, of New York, of which David T. Kenney, of North Plainfield, is the president, and W. G. Besler, also of the borough, one of the directors. The introduction of the vacuum system, which is the invention of Mr. Kenney, marks a new era in the history of renovation. It is a perfect system and affords convenience and comfort and safeguards health and life as well. By this method everything is thoroughly cleansed and the life of rugs, carpets and unholsteries is greatly prolonged.

From a horse drawn type of portable cleaning car, standing in the street, a line of hose was run into Truell Inn. The gasolene engine in the wagon furnished the vacuum and as the workmen ran the vacuum pipe over the rugs and carpets, onlookers stood in wonderment at the great amount of dirt that was taken up. A large glass jar allowed one to see this dirt pass on its way to the dirt reservoirs in the wagon. In one instance a penny was taken up. Not a bit of dirt remained where the vacuum pipe was used. The demonstration was witnessed by a large number of interested citizens and it was voted a complete success. Many of the largest hotels in New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburg employ this system. B. A. Mumford & Son, of East Third street, has made arrangements with the Vacuum Cleaner company to represent Plainfield and North Plainfield. See the firm's advertisement in today's Daily Press.

Plainfield, N. J., April 21, 1906.

Generous response has been made to this paper's appeal for funds for the stricken city of San Francisco. Already $1,101 is at hand and no doubt the fund will be considerably larger by Monday. The size of the total contributions is a great tribute to the patriotic and humanatarian impulses of the people of Plainfield. Those who have so kindly subscribed and have not sent in their checks will please do so as early as possible in order that the money can be transmitted to San Francisco without delay.

CHARLES R. VINCENT ESCAPED ALL INJURY.

Dispatch from San Francisco Reached Anxious Wife Last Night.

Mrs. Charles R. Vincent, of Fanwood, received a telegram from her husband, last night, stating that he had escaped injury in the San Francisco disaster. He was stopping at one of the hotels when the earthquake occurred and with hundreds of other gpests ran to the streets. As soon as he realized the extent of the damage he filed a telegram but owing to the haste in sending out newspaper reports it was held back until yesterday.

Mr. Vincent was in the stricken city on business and the dispatch indicated that he would return home as soon as possible.

Many Plainfielders are still waiting for news from relatives and friends who resided either in San Francisco or the adjacent towns but so far comparatively few telegrams have been received. It will be several days yet before anything like a list of dead, missing and injured can be obtained and the casualties are as yet a matter of guess-work. It was stated by a friend this morning that F. Percy Vail and family, of New Market, have been touring in the west, had left San Francisco last week and are in all probability on the way home.

Former Councilman Bullock, of East Second street, who is eastern business manager for the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco, which is the oldest and leading mining journal in the country, received a dispatch yesterday from Berkeley, California, notifying him of the safety of his immediate friends on the paper. Mr. Rickard, one of the owners of the Press, visited Mr. Bullock in Plainfield last month, and returned to San Francisco less than two weeks ago. In his telegram he states that nothing whatever was saved from the wreck of their building, but that he has already secured a large printing plant in Berkeley, opened offices, and will go right on with the business with the least possible delay.

CURE OF DRINK HABIT.

Mrs. Davis Will Speak on Her Work at Warren Chapel.

Mrs. Isabella Charles Davis, formerly secretary of the King's Daughters' Union of New York, will speak at Warren chapel next Wednesday night, April 25, on the treatment of the drink habit by the Oppenheim method. Mrs. Davis is a prime mover in the effort to establish free clinics for the treatment, where poor victims of the habit may take the cure.

Mrs. Davis seldom speaks in small places. She has been very busy working for the establishment of clinics in big cities, and only personal influence secured her promise to speak here. She is an eloquent talker, and her subject makes it certain that her address will be absorbingly interesting. She will tell of the treatment, which has had remarkable success, without any reaction, such as followed other methods. The cure is effected in three weeks and it may be taken in daily trips to the clinic, so that wage earners need not give up their positions to seek a cure.

RECEPTION TENDERED REV. DR. AND MRS. M'CREA

AFFAIR ARRANGED BY CONGREGATION OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

The members of the First M. E. church joined in giving Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCrea, the pastor and his wife, a reception in Vincent chapel, last night, recognizing their return to the church for another year. The affair was very informal, no attempt being made to arrange a set programme. The evening was given up almost entirely to sociability.

A short pragramme was presented which included a piano monologue by Clarence Rittenhouse, a piano solo by Clifford Braider and two tenor solos by Elmer D. Cutting, all of which were well received and afforded much pleasure Nelson A. Miller was master of ceremonies and helped to make the occasion one of enjoyment for all. An attractive feature were the decorations, consisting of palms, flowers and potted plants, arranged about the platform in the chapel. During the social features, the Ladies' Aid society and the Epworth League, under whose apspices the affair was given, served refreshments.

Rev. A. C. McCrea now begins the second year of a successful pastorate, and the members of the church and congregation took occasion last night to give him a cordial welcome and wish him continued success in his work for the coming year.

from that borough from which a certain revenue would be derived, which might be small at the start, but would gradually increase until the item would materially affect the fixed charge of your system. At either location an elevation is found which will permit of operating the plant by gravity."

Estimating the cost of construction, it was stated in the report that a system according to the first plan would cost $67,220, exclusive of real estate. The cost of a system according to the second plan, with purification beds and their equipment, less the cost of a pumping station and force main, would be $81,199. Plan No. 3 includes the general piping of the whole borough and a continuation of the outfall sewer to a point below Dunellen, embracing a total of over 19 miles, and together with the necessary purification plant and its equipment, would cost $118,490.

In concluding his report Engineer Pierson said it had only been possible for him to present it in its present state of advancement through the courtesy extended to him by way of assistance from the borough engineer and also for much valuable data that had been so cheerfully given by City Engineer Andrew J. Gavett.

Instead of presenting the ordinance authorized prepared by council at the last meeting, Counsel Chas. A. Reed sent a communication setting forth the process that will necessarily have to be gone through with before such an election can take place. "The matter if installing a sewerage system," the communication read, "is governed entirely by statutes and the decisions of the courts construing the meaning of such statutes. Incidental to the work is the assessment of damages and benefits to property taken or benefited and the raising of large sums of money by the issue and sale of bonds. In order that the assessments and the bonds shall be legal it is absolutely necessary that each and every step in each and every proceeding shall be taken with the greatest care and in strict accordance with the statutes and decisions."

The communication further set forth that it would be unlawful for council to adopt any ordinance for the construction of sewers until there shall have first been presented the consent in writing that such sewers shall be constructed, signed by a majority or all of the owners of real estate in the borough. This, it is thought, would prove a hard matter.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders was an interested spectator at the meeting and took an active interest in the discussion that followed the presentation of the report. Engineer Pierson will have more to say at the next session and if possible the preliminary steps toward getting the taxpayers' opinion will be taken.

Baptist Ministers Will Exchange.

Rev. H. Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the First Baptist church, Montclair, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, tomorrow morning and evening. At the evening service the choir of the church will repeat its Easter programme of music.

Rev. E. V. Stevenson at St. Stephen's.

Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, is improving from his illness, but is not able to take charge of the services at the church as yet. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, will officiate at the 4:30 o'clock service tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Bouton, of 262 East Front street, are parents of a nine pound boy, born to them this morning. Mrs. Bouton was formerly Emma C. Dodge. The mother and child are doing well.

LOCAL THEATRE OFFERED FOR BENEFIT PERFORMANCE.

Manager Counihan Extends Use of the Playhouse Free of All Cost.

In addition to the money contributions that have been pouring into The Daily Press office for the San Francisco fund, other offers of aid have been made all day. One of the most generous comes from Manager Counihan, of the New Plainfield theatre, who declares his playhouse can be used without a cent of cost for any benefit performance that might be arranged. He will provide his full staff of stage hands and employes and do everything possible to promote anything in the amusement line. It is possible that someone of the local organizations will grasp the opportunity and secure local talent for an entertainment.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinsts, decided at a special meeting last night to donate the receipts from its ball to be held in Saengerbund Hall next Friday night. Every penny received above expenses will be contributed to the cause. Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., at its meeting last night, appropriated $10 to be sent to the Grand Master Workman of California to be applied to the relief fund.

OLD SWINDLER HELD.

Photograph Flim-flammer Waives Examination.

Under the name of Andrew Cody, which the police say is the one his folks started him in life with, Thomas Marsh, the hoary photograph flim-flammer, was held to await the action of the grand jury by Justice Mosher this morning. He waived examination, through Counsellor Francis J. Blatz. Bail was fixed at $300.

Cody was confronted by eight complaints in this city. Chief Kiely says he has evidence enough to convict him six times over.

One of the complaining witnesses, with bitterness in her heart, came to court to see Marsh started for jail. She said Marsh promised to come back to take her picture the morning after he collected her fifty cents, and she sat around the house for hours, dressed in her going-to-have-my-picture-taken furbelows, waiting stiffly and in vain for the return of the smooth-tongued old scamp.

SEMINARY DANCE.

Affair In Honor of the Senior Class Given by Miss Kenyon.

Miss Kenyon gave a dance at the Seminary last night to the senior class. The affair went off delightfully.

The decorations were green and gold, the class colors, worked in daffodils, palms and ferns. The dancers numbered 100.

The seniors, who are the Misses Dorothy Averill, Lucie Budlong, Marie Perkins and Marion Hall, received with Miss Arnold and Miss Elvire Kenyon. The music was by Westervelt, of Newark.

The school commencement will be held on June 12. All the graduates will go to college.

Amateur Circus a Success.

The amateur circus under the auspices of the Plainfield Boys' Club was repeated at the clubhouse in Sycamore street, last night, with continued success. There was a large audience and the various numbers on the programme were well received. The only changes were that Bertie Hanson did not give his stair balancing act and Frank Shepherd in addition to giving a slack wire performance, gave an exhibition of swinging a baton.

Collection for Sufferers.

Rev. Dr. Chambliss announced today that a collection would be taken for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers in the First Baptist church tomorrow.

"THE FREE LANCE" A BIG HIT.

Klaw & Erlanger's New Sousa Opera Company Makes Sensation.

New York, April 21.—Klaw & Erlanger's Sousa Opera Company, headed by the clever comedian, Joseph Cawthorn, presented the new military comic opera, "The Free Lance," by John Philip Sousa and Harry B. Smith, at the New Amsterdam theatre last Monday evening and created a sensation, scoring the most pronounced the emphatic hit made in New York in many years by a production of this character. The following are opinions expressed by the metropolitan critics:

World—"'The Free Lance' is an amusing opera, well mounted and carefully rehearsed."

Daily News—"There were stirring marches and pretty melodies as few can write like the 'March King.'"

Herald—"'The Free Lance' is real comic opera, tuneful and humorous, without the slapstick methods too familiar to Broadway."

Times—"The lines of 'The Free Lance' are full of chuckles, the costumes are pretty, the music has the characteristic Sousa touch and go—and something more."

Evening Telegram—"The story is more closely knit than has been the fashion of late years in stage concoctions of this sort. It is prettily staged, well sung and well acted."

Evening Globe—"The lines are really funny. Harry B. Smith has not written so good a book in years, if ever, and the foolery of Cawthorn will make many merry for many moons to come."

Sun—"The house was crowded and the audience, which was most friendly, was enthusiastic in its reception of the players, recalling most of them several times and insisting upon a speech by the composer himself."

Commercial—"There was more in the piece than the triumvirate of comic opera virtues. The first act is one of the nearest approaches to real opera we have had this season and the second is full of genuine fun."

Evening Mail—"'The Free Lance' wins at the New Amsterdam theatre. * * * 'On to Victory' is not the only effective number Sousa has introduced in this work. He displays a versatility in composition not noticed in any of his previous outputs."

Tribune—"'The Free Lance' meets warm reception at the New Amsterdam theatre. With a vim that almost brought the applauding audience to its feet, orchestra and singers, under the leadership of John Philip Sousa, who led both, at the close of the first act at the New Amsterdam theatre last night, played and sang his new march, 'On to Victory.' It was the feature of the initial performance."

"MR. HOPKINSON" O. K.

Critics of New York Have Words of Praise.

New York, April 21.—At Fields' theatre, "Mr. Hopkinson," the brilliant farce which has set all New York laughing, now established in its new quarters, still continues to pack that playhouse at every performance. There is no doubt that this delightful farce will continue there long after the warm weather has set in.

The usual verbiage of the press agent, which, certain as death, always follows in the wake of such a great success as "Mr. Hopkinson" really is, in this case is dispensed with, and in its place a few excerpts from the Metropolitan critics are used, which readily establishes the quality of entertainment that "Mr. Hopkinson," built for laughing purposes only, certainly is.

"It has been so long since a really funny farce has been played in New York that 'Mr. Hopkinson' seems almost too good to be true. Here is one at least that you can laugh at honestly."—L. V. De Foe in The Morning World.

"There is no question as to the pleasure 'Mr. Hopkinson' afforded, and is likely to afford successive American audiences. The laughter was continuous, and the applause more pronounced than is usual."—Adolph Klauber in The Times.

"There is abundant mirth to be extracted from 'Mr. Hopkinson.'"—W. W. Winter in The Tribune.

"The farce, by R. C. Carton, called 'Mr. Hopkinson,' proved to be the best piece of theatrical entertainment that has been seen here in years."—W. W. Bullock, in The Press.

"'Mr. Hopkinson' is not only funny, but is also witty and clever, and is a 'go.'"—New York Herald.

"One of those rare, remarkable things that occasionally enliven a blue moon, happened when R. C. Carton's English farce, 'Mr. Hopkinson,' had its first American production. It was so good and funny that it would make a cat laugh."—Alan Dale, in The Journal.

"'Mr. Hopkinson' is not hackneyed. Its hero is shown in a fresh light. Welcome to our city!"—Rennold Wolf, in The Telegraph.

"'Mr. Hopkinson' will prove a success of laughter."—John Corbin, in The Morning Sun.

"A shriekingly funny farce is R. C. Carton's 'Mr. Hopkinson,' which convulsed audiences yesterday. 'Mr. Hopkinson' is one of the most amusing plays we have seen this season."—Glenmore Davis, in The Globe.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY
Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The Colby Wave Rising.

One of the prominent "regular" Republican organs of the State has announced that "prominent Republicans of Newark say that 'the new idea in politics' is getting played out in that city" and that "it is admitted among sagacious leaders that the 'insurgents' could not carry that city again, and there is widespread sentiment in favor of going back to the old regime when Republican victories in Essex were certain. Any one supporting the 'insurgent' movement this fall will be simply working for the success of the Democratic party, which is really behind the movement and doing all it can to help it along." This is interesting reading for the "regulars," but that does not make it truthful.

The facts are that the Colby movement was never so strong in Newark and Essex county as it is right now. This is admitted by every close observer of events with one or two exceptions. Those who do not admit it are politically blinded, just as they were last fall, when they asserted that no one could secure a nomination and election in this county without the indorsement of the Republican county committee. The shock of the revolution in politics last November has been followed by an exodus from the ranks of the old machine men, leaving but a handful of supporters of the old regime. This is particularly true in Newark, and the evidences of the spread of the movement in the county are numerous. The organization of the friends of Senator Colby in East Orange Saturday night is the latest outcropping of public sentiment there, where a resolution was adopted to organize a "Republican movement in sympathy with the platform of Senator Everett Colby." But the activities along this line are not being confined to Essex and Hudson counties. There is a strong tidal wave of reform setting in all over the State, and before the summer is ended it will be so manifest in every county that the "regulars" will be forced to swim for their lives on primary day.—Newark News.

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

CHAPTER I.

THE SECOND GENERATION IS REMOVED.

When Daniel J. Bines died of apoplexy in his private care at Kaslo Junction no one knew just where to reach either his old father or his young son with the news of his death. Somewhere up the eastern slope of the Sierras the old man would be leading, as he had long chosen to lead each summer, the lonely life of a prospector. The young man, two years out of Harvard, and but recently back from an extended European tour, was at some point on the North Atlantic coast, beginning the season's pursuit of happiness as he listed.

Only in a land so young that almost the present dwellers therein have made it might we find individualities which so decisively failed to blend. So little congruous was the family of Bines in root, branch and blossom, that it might, indeed, be taken to picture an epic of western life as the romancer would tell it. First of the line stands the figure of Peter Bines, the pioneer, contemporary with the stirring days of Fremont, of Kit Carson, of Harney and Bridger; the fearless striver toward an ever-receding west, fascinating for its untried dangers as for its fabled wealth—the sturdy, grave men who fought and toiled and hoped and realized in varying measure, but who led in sober truth a life such as the colors of no taleteller shall ever be high enough to reproduce.

Next came Daniel J. Bines, a type of the builder and organizer who followed the trail blazed by the earlier pioneer; the genius who, finding the magic realm opened, forthwith became its exploiter to its vast renown and his own large profit, coining its wealth of minerals, lumber, cattle and grain, and adventurously building the railroads that must always be had to drain a new land of savagery.

Nor would there be wanting a third—a figure of this present day, containing, in potency at least, the stanch qualities of his two rugged forbears—the venturesome spirit that set his restless grandsire to roving westward, the power to group and coordinate, to "think three moves ahead" which had made his father a man of affairs; and, further, he had something modern of his own that neither of the others possessed, and yet which came as the just fruit of the parent vine: a disposition perhaps a bit less strenuous, turning back to the risen rather than forward to the setting sun; a tendency to rest a little from the toil and tumult; to cultivate some graces subtler than those of adventure and commercialism; to make the most of what had been done rather than strain to the doing of needless more; to live, in short, like a philosopher and a gentleman who has more golden dollars a year than either philosophers or gentlemen are wont to enjoy.

And now the central figure had gone suddenly at the age of 52, after the way of certain men who are quick, ardent and generous in their living. From his luxurious private car, lying on the side-track at the dreary little station, Toler, private secretary to the millionaire, had telegraphed to the headquarters of one important railway company the death of its president, and to various mining, milling and lumbering companies the death of their president, vice president or managing director, as the case might be. For the widow and only daughter word of the calamity had gone to a mountain resort not far from the family home at Montana City.

There promised to be delay in reaching the other two. The son would early read the news, Toler decided, unless perchance he were off at sea, since the death of a figure like Bines would be told by every daily newspaper in the country. He telegraphed, however, to the young man's New York apartments and to a Newport address, on the chance of finding him.

Locating old Peter Bines at this season of the year was a feat never lightly to be undertaken, nor for any trivial end. It being now the 10th of June, it could be known with certainty only that in one of four states he was prowling through some wooded canyon, toiling over a windy pass, or scaling a mountain sheerly, in his ancient and best loved sport of prospecting. Knowing his habits, the rashest guesser would not have attempted to say more definitely where the old man might be.

The most promising plan Toler could devise was to wire the superintendent of the "One Girl" mine at Skiplap. The elder Bines, he knew, had passed through Skiplap about June 1, and had left, perhaps, some inkling of his proposed route; if it chanced, indeed, that he had taken the trouble to propose one.

Pangburn, the mine superintendent, on receipt of the news, dispatched five men on the search in as many different directions. The old man was now 74, and Pangburn had noted when last they met that he appeared to be somewhat less agile and vigorous than he had been 20 years before; from which it was fair to reason that he might be playing his solitary game at a leisurely pace, and would have tramped no great distance in the ten days he had been gone. The searchers, therefore, were directed to beat up the near-by country. To Billy Brue was allotted the easiest as being the most probable route. He was to follow up Paddle creek to Four Forks, thence over the Bitter Root trail to Eden, on to Oro Fino, and up over Little Pass to Hellandgone. He was to proceed slowly, to be alert for signs along the way, and to make inquiries of all he met.

"You're likely to get track of Uncle Peter," said Pangburn, "over along the west side of Horseback Ridge, just beyond Eden. When he pulled out he was talking about some likely floatrock he'd picked up over that way last summer. You'd ought to make that by to-morrow, seeing you've got a good horse and the trail's been mended this spring. Now you spread yourself out, Billy, and when you get on to the Ridge make a special look all around there."

Besides these directions and the telegram from Toler, Billy Brue took with him a copy of the Skiplap Weekly Ledge, damp from the press and containing the death notice of Daniel J. Bines, a notice sent out by the News Association, which Billy Brue read with interest as he started up the trail. The item concluded thus:

"The young and beautiful Mrs. Bines, who had been accompanying her husband on his trip of inspection over the Sierra Northern, is prostrated with grief at the shock of his sudden death."

Billy Brue mastered this piece of intelligence after six readings, but he refrained from comment, beyond thanking God, in thought, that he could mind his own business under excessive provocation to do otherwise. He considered it no meddling, however, to remember that Mrs. Daniel J. Bines, widow of his late employer, could appear neither young nor beautiful to the most sanguine of newsgatherers; nor to remember that he happened to know she had not accompanied her husband on his last trip of inspection over the Kaslo division of the Sierra Northern railway.

CHAPTER II.

BILLY BRUE FINDS HIS MAN.

Each spring old Peter Bines grew restive and raw like an unbroken colt. And when the distant mountain peaks began to swim in the summer haze, and the little rushing rivers sang to him, pleading that he come once more to follow them up, he became uncontrollable. Every year at this time he alleged, with a show of irritation, that his health was being sapped by the pernicious indulgence of sleeping on a bed inside a house. He alleged, further, that stocks and bonds were but shadows of wealth, that the old mines might any day become exhausted, and that security for the future lay only in having one member of the family, at least, looking up new pay rock against the ever possible time of adversity.

And so he loitered through the mountains, resting here, climbing there, making always a shrewd, close reading of the rocks.

It was thus Billy Brue found him at the end of his second day's search. A little off the trail, at the entrance to a pocket of the canyon, he towered erect to peer down when he heard the noise of the messenger's ascent.

Billy Brue, riding up the trail, halted, nodded, and was silent. The old man returned his salutation as briefly. These things by men who stay much alone come to be managed with verbal economy. They would talk presently, but greetings were awkward.

Billy Brue took one foot from its stirrup and turned in his saddle, pulling the leg up to a restful position. Then he spat, musingly, and looked back down the canyon aimlessly, throwing his eyes from side to side where the gray granite ledges showed through the tall spruce and pine trees.

But the old man knew he had been sent for.

"Well, Billy Brue, what's doin'?"

Billy Brue squirmed in the saddle, spat again, as with sudden resolve, and said:

"Why—uh—Dan'l J.—he's dead."

The old man repeated the words, dazedly.

"Dan'l J.—he's dead;—why, who else is dead, too?"

Billy Brue's emphasis, cunningly contrived by him to avoid giving prominence to the word "dead," had suggested this inquiry in the first moment of stupefaction.

"Nobody else dead—jest Dan'l J.—he's dead."

"Jest Dan'l J.—my boy—my boy Dan'l dead!"

His mighty shape was stricken with a curious rigidity, erected there as if it were a part of the mountain, flung up of old from the earth's inner tragedy, confounded, desolate, ancient.

Billy Brue turned from the stony interrogation of his eyes and took a few steps away, waiting. A little wind sprang up among the higher trees, the moments passed, and still the great figure stood transfixed in its curious silence. The leathers creaked as the horse turned. The messenger, with an air of surveying the canyon, stole an anxious glance at the old face. The sorrowful old eyes were fixed on things that were not; they looked vaguely as if in search.

"Dan'l!" he said.

It was not a cry; there was nothing plaintive in it. It was only the old man calling his son; David calling upon Absalom. Then there was a change. He came sternly forward.

"Who killed my boy?"

"Nobody, Uncle Peter; 'twas a stroke. He was goin' over the line, and they'd laid out at Kaslo fer a day so's Dan'l J. could see about a spur the 'Lucky Cuss' people wanted—and maybe it was the climbin' brought it on."

The old man looked his years. As he came nearer Billy Brue saw tears tremble in his eyes and roll unnoted down his cheeks. Yet his voice was unbroken and he was, indeed, unconscious of the tears.

"I was afraid of that. He lived too high. He et too much and he drank too much and was too soft—was Dan'l—too soft—"

The old voice trembled a bit and he stopped to look aside into the little pocket he had been exploring. Billy Brue looked back down the canyon, where the swift stream brawled itself into white foam far below.

"He wouldn't use his legs; I prodded him about it constant—"

He stopped again to brace himself against the shock. Billy Brue still looked away.

"I told him high altitudes and high livin' would do any man—" Again he was silent.

"But all he'd ever say was that times had changed since my day, and I wasn't to mind him."

He had himself better in hand now.

"Why, I nursed that boy when he was a dear, funny little red baby with big round eyes rollin' around to take notice; he took notice awful quick—fur a baby. Oh, my! Oh, dear! Dan'l!"

Again he stopped.

"And it don't seem more'n yesterday that I was a-teachin' him to throw the diamond hitch; he could throw the diamond hitch with his eyes shut—I reckon by the time he was nine or ten. He had his faults, but they didn't hurt him none; Dan'l J. was a man, now—" He halted once more.

"The dead millionaire," began Billy Brue, reading from the obituary in the Skiplap Weekly Ledge, "was in his fifty-second year. Genial, generous to a fault, quick to resent a wrong, but unfailing in his loyalty to a friend, a man of large ideas, with a genius for large operations, he was the type of indefatigable enterprise that has builded this western empire in a wilderness and given rich sustenance and luxurious homes to millions of prosperous, happy American citizens. Peace to his ashes! And a safe trip to his immortal soul over the one-way trail!"

"Yes, yes—it's Dan'l J. fur sure—they got my boy Dan'l that time. Is that all it says, Billy? Anyone with him?"

"Why, this here dispatch is signed by young Toler—that's his confidential man."

"Nobody else?"

The old man was peering at him sharply from under the gray protruding brows.

"Well, if you must know, Uncle Peter, this is what the notice says that come by wire to the Ledge office," and he read doggedly:

"The young and beautiful Mrs. Bines, who had been accompanying her husband on his trip of inspection over the Sierra Northern, is prostrated with grief at the shock of his sudden death."

The old man became for the first time conscious of the tears in his eyes, and, pulling down one of the blue woolen shirt sleeves, wiped his wet cheeks. The slow, painful blush of age crept up across the iron strength of his face, and passed. He looked away as he spoke.

"I knew it; I knew that. My Dan'l was like all that 'Frisco bunch. They get tangled with women sooner or later. I taxed Dan'l with it. I spleened against it and let him know it. But he was a man and his own master—if you can rightly call a man his own master that does them things. Do you know what-fur woman this one was, Billy?"

"Well, last time Dan'l J. was up to Skiplap, there was a swell party on the car—kind of a coppery-lookin' blonde. Allie Ash, the brakeman on No. 4, he tells me she used to be in Spokane, and now she'd got her hooks on to some minin' property up in the Coeur d'Alene. Course, this mightn't be the one."

The old man had ceased to listen. He was aroused to the need of action.

"Get movin', Billy! We can get down to Eden to-night; we'll have the moon fur two hours on the trail soon's the sun's gone. I can get 'em to drive me over to Skiplap first thing to-morrow, and I can have 'em make me up a train there fur Montana City. Was he—"

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the toe of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

That automobile owners and drivers are superstitious has been shown a number of times. One of the instances was when the A. A. A. racing board heeded the protest of Foxhall Keene last in the Vanderbilt cup race and replaced the No. 13, which had been drawn by a large "X."

The superstition was recognized by the E. R. Thomas Motor Company, of Buffalo, N. Y., and as a consequence no No. 13 car has been sent out of the factory this year. The cars shipped in the early part of the season jumped from No. 12 to No. 14, No. 13 being kept at the factory for experimental purposes. Some of the men at the plant who were to drive this car allowed their fears to get the better of them, but after the car had been out a few times there was no further difficulty. Now the number that is supposed to bring ill luck has been almost forgotten.

W. U. SENDING NEWS.

Ferry House, San Francisco, April 21.—The fire that started along the water front last night, which it was feared would consume the ferry-house at the foot of Market street, occupied by the Western Union Telegraph company operators, who have been supplying the only news that has been sent direct from San Francisco since they were driven out of the main office at Pine and Montgomery streets, immediately after the earthquake, is still burning.

As a precautionary measure to prevent the world from being cut off from San Francisco we are now arranging to carry our cables, which contain fifty wires, to Oakland and points east of there to a point up the bay, where we will be able to continue communication in case the present ferry-house is destroyed.

FOWLER TALKS AT THE YALE CLUB BANQUET

Congressman Gives Explanation Why Plainfield is Best Place in the State.

RUNYON TOASTMASTER

Dr. James R. Joy, Prof. C. M. Lewis and Others Speak—Dinner at the Casino.

The "Sons of Old Eli," members of the Plainfield Yale Club, to the number of about fifty, gathered at the Casino Saturday night and enjoyed their annual banquet and reunion. In every particular the affair was decided to be the most successful in the history of the club. A majority of the patrons were Plainfielders. The dinner was a good one and pleased all. The assembly room was appropriately decorated with the Yale blue.

City Judge William N. Runyon was the toastmaster, and the toasts were as follows:

"Plainfield Yale Club," James R. Joy; "Columbia," Henry L. Hall; "Yale," Prof. Charlton M. Lewis, of Yale; "Old Nassau," Owen H. Fleming; "Yale in Public Life," Hon. Charles M. Fowler; "Amherst," W. L. Righter.

One of the principal addresses of the evening was that by Congressman Fowler. By way of introduction he said that he had been trying to figure out why Plainfield was better than any other city in the State. He had found a solution to the problem when he was informed that there are between eighty and one hundred Yale men living here, which is ten to one the number to be found in Elizabeth.

The greater part of Congressman Fowler's remarks were devoted to the achievement of Yale men in public life, especially that of William H. Taft, Secretary of War. He referred to his unselfish devotion and sacrifice to his country in the various official positions he has occupied.

The Congressman referred to the fact that two Yale men are Supreme Court justices, Messrs. Brewer and Brown, that there are ten Yale men in the United States Senate and six in the House of Representatives, and the college is also represented in the President's Cabinet by Secretary of War Taft and Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Labor and Commerce. Mr. Fowler also complimented the Plainfield Yale club and of its loyalty to its alma meter.

Prof. Lewis, of the Yale faculty, spoke especially of the loyalty of the alumni; and that while a college is always in need of money and substantial aid, in reality it is the loyalty of the alumni that is of the greatest benefit to a college. In this respect he thought Yale would never suffer as the graduates from that seat of learning have always proved themselves to be worthy and readyy to stand by their college.

James R. Joy, who spoke for the Plainfield Yale club, gave a brief resume of the local organization and its objects, as well as its growth. He thought that every member was a loyal Yale man and spoke of the great advantage in such a club whereby the interest and enthusiasm could be maintained.

During the evening Mr. Joy offered a proposition which was carried unanimously that the members subscribe individually to a fund in aid of the San Francisco sufferers. In a few minutes about $200 was contributed to the worthy cause.

Brief remarks were made by Henry L. Hall, representing Columbia; Owen H. Fleming, representing Princeton, and W. L. Righter, representing Amherst, each one showing his devotion to his alma mater and congratulating Yale for her achievements.

A happy feature of the affair was the singing of famous Yale songs, printed lists containing thirty or forty such songs. These were sung many times during the evening. An interesting sight was witnessed when all hands joined in the singing of the "Omega Lambda Chi" song, both young and old clasping hands and marching about the hall displaying unbounded enthusiasm.

After the affair broke up the members of the club and their guests spent a social hour.

This was the menu enjoyed by the club:

Oysters. Blue Points.
Potage.
Cream of Asparagus.
Hore d'Ouevres.
Celery. Ollives.
Poisson.
Boiled Salmon, sauce Hollandaise.

STEVENSON R. HOPE DEAD, AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

HAD BEEN JANITOR OF THE BRYANT SCHOOL FOR TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

Stevenson R. Hope, for twenty-four years the janitor of the Bryant school and who was only recently retired by the Board of Education, died at his home of his son, John Hope, of East Fifth street, shortly after 6 o'clock last night. He had been ill for almost six months with a complication of troubles and had been steadily sinking for a long time. A short time ago Mr. Hope was made speechless by paralysis of the tongue and yesterday afternoon he kept beckoning with his hand in a way which led his attendants to believe that he wanted his only brother, Auctioneer William Hope, of Raritan. When asked if this was so, he nodded assent and a hurry call was sent for the relative. He reached the house fifteen minutes before death came and received a warm handshake as an indication that he was recognized.

Mr. Hope was born at Raritan in 1839 and removed to Plainfield forty years ago. On first coming here he was a salesman for Cook Brothers, the lumber dealers, eventually succeeded by Boice, unyon & Co. In 1882 he was appointed janitor of the Bryant school and served faithfully until his illness compelled him to relinquish his duties. In recognition of his faithful services the school board awarded him his pay until the close of the present school year and passed resolutions of regret that he was unable to continue. He was a special policeman for thirty years, an exempt fireman and a member of the First M. E. church.

Mr. Hope leaves one daughter, Mrs. E. R. Harris, of Roselle, and one son, John Hope, of this city. The funeral will be held from the son's residence Wednesday afternoon at 2.30.

FORMER LOCAL COLORED MAN MURDERS TWO

ESCAPES TO PHILADELPHIA AND THEN SURRENDERS.

William Perry, colored, a former resident of this city and who worked for a long time in the Pond shop, shot and killed his sweetheart, Alice Merrett, and also his rival for her affections, Lewis Williams, in New York, last Thursday. He escaped and fled to Philadelphia where he gave himself up Saturday night, induced as he says "by the girl's cries ringing in his ears."

Perry lived on Plainfield avenue at South Second street and left here a short time ago to enter the employ of Mayor Ten Broeck at Asbury Park. From there he went to New York where he had since been employed as a waiter.

Williams had been paying attention to the Merrett girl and last Thursday night as he was bound uptown on an "L" train, he saw them get aboard. He determined to kill both at once, but was prevented by the presence of a policeman, who sat directly opposite him. When the couple alighted at the One Hundred and Tenth street station he followed and began firing at them. The first shot struck the woman in the back and he then fired three more shots that struck Williams and caused him to pitch foremost down the stairs. Perry was chased by a mob but got awayy by jumping on a trolley car.

He tolld the police his only relative was his mother who lives in New York, but he also has a brother and sister who reside in Plainfield.

Police Court Notes.

Minor offenders were turned into the city court by the Saturday and Sunday dragnet, Michael Gleason, drunk, was fined $3. Peter Fulton, who drifted into town from Paterson, arrested for drunkenness, was fined $5 because he said rude and unrointable things to Detective McCarthy after he was locked up. Morris Sorensen, 36 years old, drunk, was released under suspended sentence, on his promise to take the pledge. Rose Redman and Martha Ringer, charged with fighting, were remanded, under their own recognizance, for hearing on April 30.

Report Night at Trinity.

Wednesday night at Trinity church will be "report night." All the auxiliary organizations of the church will present full reports of the work for the past year. Rev. J. T. Lansdale will be present to tell of the work at Marconnier chapel. A social hour, with light refreshments, will follow the meeting.

CARING FOR HOMELESS

Relief Poured Into San Francisco Yesterday by the Carload.

WATER IS PLENTIFUL

Sanitation Now the Chief Problem Before the Leaders of the Relief Corps—Rebuilding Talk Begins.

San Francisco, April 23.—San Francisco's homeless multitudes passed Sunday without suffering from lack of food or water.

Sanitation is now the chief problem, and it is growing more serious. The question as to the best method to adopt in disposing of garbage and the other refuse, which is a necessary part of such a great camp of refugees, is receiving the most earnest attention of the authorities.

Supplies of food and water are arriving in quantities sufficient to remove any peril from starvation.

Plans for rebuilding the city are already under consideration, and altogether a hopeful spirit is growing.

With the coming of Sunday the relief trains rolled into the city with great regularity. All were fed and the work of succor goes on with unabated energy. The water supply is rapidly being augmented and in a day or so 17,000,000 gallons, or about one-half of the usual supply, will be available daily.

The conditions in the camps are being improved, shelters are thrown up, all the stringency of material law has abated, and the dead are being buried and burned.

The distribution of food continued throughout the day and night. Men and women stood for hours in line before the stations where breakfast, dinner and supper were doled out.

It poured into the city in huge quantities, the trains and boats bearing thousands of tons of supplies. Provisions of all sorts were hurried to the distributing station. Crates of chickens, whole calves and hogs, quantities of dried fruits, barrels of flour, coffee, meal, hams, bacon, sugar and even hard-boiled eggs, formed the meals of the refugees today.

Water wagons continually run up and down the streets, supplying the needs of the campers. The milk supply was insufficient yesterday and for a time it was feared the children would suffer, but a trainload arrived early this morning and arrangements have been made for a regular supply.

Only one great foe yet stands unconquered. The question of sanitation is becoming an all important one, and the authorities are straining every nerve to remedy the conditions which will bring the greatest of all calamities—disease.

BON FIRE ACCIDENT RESULTS IN CHILD'S DEATH.

Hazel Morrison, the Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, the Victim.

As the result of peritonitis brought on by burns she received in an accident two weeks ago, Saturday, Hazel Morrison, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, of South avenue, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, Saturday afternoon. When first taken to the institution it was not thought her injuries were serious but peritonitis developed and her death had been momentarily expected since Thursday.

The child had been watching a bon fire near her home and getting too near her clothing ignited. Her screams were heard by her mother and the latter in beating out the flames was also badly burned. Both were taken to Muhlenberg but Mrs. Morrison was able to leave Saturday.

The funeral will be held from the parents' residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Eugene Cave's Mother Dead.

Mrs. Margaret Cave, mother of Eugene Cave, of Sandford avenue, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emma Space, of Whitehouse, Friday night. She was in her ninety-fourth year and was an only aunt of David and Peter Weaver, of this city, and John and George Weaver, of Somerville. The funeral will be held this afternoon at Mrs. Space's home and interment will be in Hillside cemetery, this city, tomorrow.

College President Here.

Dr. Rush Rhees, president of Rochester University, spent Sunday at the home of his uncle, Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue.

Three Days' Bazaar.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church, Craig place and Duer street, will open a three days' bazaar this afternoon.

—The twenty-fifth concert of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will be held tomorrow night.

ITALIAN SHOT DEAD IN A REVOLVER DUEL

Quarrel With Francesco Cerbo Leads Paolo Fusco to Sudden Death In Cottage Place Shack.

FORMER'S VAIN FLIGHT

Escaped to Elizabethport, Doubled On His Trail to Shake Off Pursuit, Only to Be Captured In Westfield.

Paolo Fusco, 30 years old, an Italian laborer, was shot dead by Francesco Cerbo, 24 years old, another laborer, in a quarrel at John Falconi's house, 331 Cottage place, at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Cerbo was captured in Westfield six and a half hours later. He was traced, after fleeing in the darkness two hours ahead of pursuit, through a passport that fell into the hands of the police.

The shooting was witnessed by five other Italians. One of them, Francesco Parmiero, who was found and held by the police, told the latter the only story of the affair they could gather through the night. According to Parmiero, Fusco died in a pistol duel, which arose out of protracted bickering between the two men. Fusco, Cerbo and himself were out together early in the evening, he said, drinking beer and having what they considered a good time. Shortly after 10 o'clock they went to Falconi's house, where Fusco boarded. That part of the story is corroborated by Patrolman McKeon, who saw the trio at Cottage place and Washington street about 10:30. Two fellow-country-men joined them at the house. Fusco and Cerbo started nagging one another, and then took to calling names. The clash grew warmer and the three others tried to separate them, but they persisted in quarreling and finally revolvers were drawn. There was a rapid exchange of shots, Parmiero says, and Fusco fell, with a bullet in his brain. Parmiero swears by all the saints that he does not know who fired first.

As Fusco dropped, Cerbo thrust his revolver into his pocket and leaped through a window to the yard, disappearing in the darkness. An hour and a half elapsed before the police heard of the shooting. The information came to them through Falconi, who, said he, was not home when the fight occurred, but had learned of it an hour later from Parmiero. When Chief Kiely, who was called out of bed as soon as the larm came in, heard where Falconi got his tidings, the dragnet was thrown out for Parmiero, and he was nabbed and brought to headquarters.

He denied all knowledge of the affair at first, but the chief clapped him into a cell and he weakened, and told his story of the shooting. Cerbo's room was immediately searched, and in his trunk a passport issued to him by the Italian government was found. The passport contained as complete a word picture of Cerbo and his physical peculiarities as anybody in the police business could ever use. They do those things well in Continental governments. Within half an hour Chief Kiely had every man on the force and the police of nearby and surrounding cities in possession of his full description and on the lookout for the fugitive.

Tidings of Cerbo came in at 4 o'clock, when the Westfield department telephoned that he boarded the 3:48 train, eastbound, there. The railroad police at Jersey City were telephoned to watch for him, but he had added two and a half hours to his freedom by getting off the train at the Spring street station, Elizabethport. The conductor reported that as soon as the officers approached him at the terminal. Chief Kiely, on receipt of that news, sent Detective McCarthy and Patrolman Higgins to Elizabethport, but Cerbo doubling on his trial, got by them; only to run into the grip of Chief O'Neil, of the Westfield force.

O'Neil, watching the railroad, shortly after 7 o'clock, saw Cerbo walking westward on the track. The Italian, haggard and weary, submitted quietly to arrest. Chief Kiely, with Sergeant Frederickson, went to Westfield as soon as they heard of the capture and brought Cerbo to the city jail. Parmiero, who was being held as a witness, identified him.

CHURCHES GIVE LIBERALLY

Crescent Avenue Congregation Contributes $422 and Others Respond Generously.

H. G. RUNKLE GIVES $250

D. H. Rowland and R. H. Depew Each Donate $100—Mayor's Committee Report of Subscriptions.

In some of the church offerings were received yesterday is for the San Francisco sufferers and the response was quite generous. In some instances the money has been sent to The Daily Press to be forwarded through The Plainfield Trust Company to the Mayor's committee in San Francisco, while other collections are being sent to W. F. Arnold, custodian of the fund being raised by the committee named by Mayor Buckle. In many instances yesterday the pastors of the churches made brief reference to the San Francisco calamity and urged large collections.

It was announced by Father Bogan at St. Mary's church that $5,000 had been appropriated from the diocesan chancery account and that a collection would be received at the church on Sunday and forwarded to the diocesan treasurer. This action was taken so os not to cause any delay in relief. The money was sent last Thursday to the Archbishop of California with instructions to use as he thinks best.

At the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church $422 was contributed to the relief fund and the amount was sent to William F. Arnold.

The Unitarian church received an offering of $64.05 which has been sent to the president of the National Association of the church to be forwarded.

The collection of $140 which was received at the First M. E. church has been sent to The Daily Press office to be included in its general fund. The sum of $10 appropriated by the Christian Endeavor society of the Seven-day Baptist church, and $25 appropriated by the Bible society of the Park Avenue Baptist church, have also been added to The Daily Press fund.

The Park Avenue Baptist church raised $100 yesterday.

Morris C. Van Arsdale, treasurer of the Congregational church, retions amounting to $11.25 which he forwarded to Jacob Schiff to be sent to the Red Cross society.

William F. Arnold, custodian of the fund being raised by the Mayo's committee, reports these contributions:

GIRL DISAPPEARS FROM FRONT STREET

MISS ELLEN KUENLEN MISSING SINCE SATURDAY NIGHT.

The police sent out a general alarm yesterday for Miss Ellen Kuenlen, twenty-seven years old, who disappeared from her home at 912 West Front street Saturday afternoon. No trace of her had been found up to noon today.

Miss Kuenlen lived alone with her widowed mother, Mrs. Marie Kuenlen. She has ben suffering with nervous trouble for three years, and is believed to have wandered away while temporarily deranged.

Miss Kuenlen saw the last of her daughter shortly before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when she dressed and left the house with the intention of taking a trolley ride. An hour later she was seen passing a Front street store on foot, and that is the last trace of her the police have been able to gather.

She is an only daughter, and Mrs. Kuenlen is prostrated over the disappearance. She had given up hope of seeing her alive at noon, and was praying only that the body might be recovered. The police were not so hopeless, however, although the girl did not have much money, with which to travel a long distance, with her. Chief Kiely was inclined to believe that somebody might be holding the girl for an offer of reward. Mrs. Kuenlen is wealthy.

School Talent to Help.

The High School Musical Clubs voted this morning to hold a concert for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers next Saturday night, April 28. The committee will arrange a programme with several new features.

ALREADY FUND IS OVER $1,300

Contributions Pour Into The Daily Press Office—Mayor's Committee Receives Over $1,000, Making Total Amount Raised in Plainfield Over $2,500.

THE YALE CLUB BANQUETTERS SUBSCRIBE $175

Contributions continue to come in for the fund being raised by The Daily Press for the stricken people of San Francisco. At 2.30 this afternoon the subscriptions amounted to $1,321.50. The sum received have been turned over to The Plainfield Trust Company to be sent to Mayor Schmitz's citizens' committee in San Francisco.

William F. Arnold, custodian of the fund being raised by the committee appointed by Mayor Buckle on Saturday reports that he has received $1,004 up to this time.

The Plainfield Yale Club at its dinner Saturday night raised 175 from among the members and the fund was sent today direct to Thornwell Mullally, a Yale man, who is a member of the San Francisco citizens committee.

That brings the grand total raised in the city of Plainfield up to $2,500.

Closing Week of the Great Bankrupt Stock of J. J. Varley & Co.

The enormous business done by us the last 3 weeks naturally leaves us with a large quantity of odds and ends, remnants, broken sizes, etc. This week will be devoted to closing out these lots without regard to original values. We must clear our counters, tables and shelves of these accumulations, therefore the present week will eclipse anything heretofore done by us in the way of value-giving. No thrifty woman in this city should fail to avail themselves of this money-saving opportunity, for values of this kind seldom come your way. Lack of space prevents us from enumerating the many good things we have placed at your disposal all this week.

REMNANTS of Dress Goods, Silks, Wash Goods, Linens, Sheetings, Towelings, White Goods, Embroideries, Laces, Ribbons. Also odd sizes in Waists, Suits, Corsets, Corset Covers, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Collars, Cuffs and Shirts, will be disposed of at less than cost of making.

The greater part of these goods will be displayed on our Aisle Bargain Tables at still greater reductions than they have been sold for the past 3 weeks. Look them over; there may be many things you can use. At less than 50 cents on the Dollar.

EVERY ARTICLE ADVERTISED BY US IS EXACTLY AS REPRESENTED. NO MISREPRESENTATION PERMITTED UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCE. IF YOU SEE IT IN A. E. FORCE & CO.'S AD. IT IS SO—EXACTLY.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Owing to the many request made to hold another TWO HOUR SALE, we have decided to have one on Thursday morning from 9 to 11 a. m. on the third floor. Odds and ends from the Hill & Shupp and the J. J. Varley Bankrupt Stock will be sold. Values up to 50c.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The Daisy Bell all star vaudeville company will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. The artists are all well known people and the entertainment they present has received high encomiums everywhere.

In Lewis Morrison's elaborate presentation of his new "Faust" much difficulty is experienced in one-night stands in placing the scenery, which is of an unusually elaborate and intricate kind. It is therefore customary for the advance agent to question the local managers as to the exact measurements of the stage, height, depth and width. He then notifies the stage carpenter back with the company who provides accordingly. Another necessary feature is a number of trap doors from which flames leap in the Brocken scene and Satan's imps disappear into the flames of the lower inferno at his command. In one western city, some seasons ago, after the usual inquiries as to measurements, which seemed to annoy the local manager for some unexplained reason (possibly because he "ran a dairy and didn't know much about the opry house"), the agent asked, "How many traps have you?" "Your folks needn't worry about their clothes bein' eat up. We don't need no traps here, there ain't been a rat or a mouse seen in the house since we had these here cats in," was the unexpected reply. Lewis Morrison himself will appear as Mephisto at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday afternoon and night in a splendid new production of "Faust."

The "Swing" song in "Girls Will Be Girls" is one of the latest and most popular hits of that musical cyclone. The inimitable comedian, the Sol Smith Russell of the musical comedy world, Al Leech, is still the principal funmaker, assisted by his clever associates, the three Rosebuds and a company of forty, mostly girls. The attraction will appear at the New Plainfield theatre May 4.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of Central avenue, has returned from Montclair, where he preached yesterday at the First Baptist church, in exchange with the pastor, Rev. H. Emerson Fosdick.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet at the home of Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue, Friday afternoon. The gathering will be of a social nature and every member is urged to attend.

The ushers for the present quarter at the First M. E. church are Arthur Humble, chairman; Maurice McGrath, David S. Dunavan, Leslie H. Backer, Leonard Mantz, Edward Mosher, William Palmer, Albert Steiner and Fred Martin.

Mrs. A. E. Giddes, of Grove street, who has been ill with typhoid at Muhlenberg Hospital, is steadily improving.

George Wiltse, the New York National League pitcher, accompanied by his wife, spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives here.

Mrs. Scott, of Cadiz, Ohio, wife of the mayor of that city, is spending some time with her brother, W. D. Williams, of East Front street.

—A progressive euchre party will be held at Truell Court on Thursday night under the auspices of the patrons.

—William A. Woodruff, the Plainfield agent for the Atlas Assurance Co. (Ltd.) of London, received the following word on Saturday from the company's New York office: "Our home office cables me to meet all San Francisco obligations promptly and honorably by drafts on London, also to subscribe $5,000 to relief fund.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The members of the Board of Education and the teachers of the two schools will meet at the home of Clerk T. W. Day next Thursday night for an informal discussion of the work involved in conforming the curriculum to the new high school arrangement. Social features will mark the meeting.

The following officers have been elected by the new board of trustees of the Presbyterian church: President, J. Travis Sutphen; vice president, George Cameron; recording secretary, Edward Pennock; financial secretary, H. J. Swackhamer.

Garretson & Gray have just secured a contract for furnishing 3,000 tons of crushed stone to be used in concrete under brick paving at Perth Amboy. The contract was awarded after open competition.

The blacksmiths of the borough have entered into an agreement to close their shops Saturdays afternoons during the warm weather. They started the Saturday just past.

A. N. Randolph has secured the contract for wiring several houses in Somerville for electric lighting. Mr. Randolph recently resumed business for himself.

Winfield R. Hetfield has leased his Greenbrook property to S. M. Ronaldson, of Brooklyn. The latter will take possession the first of the month.

Robert Nagle has returned to work after a severe attack of pneumonia. His nurse, Mrs. Tongue, has been ill at his home with the same ailment.

The Parker school lot has been staked out. Insurance on the proposed new structure, during the course of erection, is being arranged.

The postponed sociable of the women of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Mrs. William Sanford Thursday night.

Mrs. H. S. Garretson returned yesterday from a week's stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Benward, of Piscataway.

Mrs. T. W. Jones, of Bedminster, returned home Saturday after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Mary A. Brokaw.

Mrs. M. R. Dayton has returned from a week's stay with friends in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

The Methodist church will meet Wednesday night to elect two trustees.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains is doubly interested in the earthquake stricken city of San Francisco, not only from the standpoint of brotherly love and sympathy, but because a number of former as well as present residents here and of the borough were residents of the city at the time of the catastrophe. Word from two of these announcing their safety only has been received, they are Charles H. Vincent and George Hoar, both of whom were in San Francisco on business at the time. Relatives are anxiously awaiting some message from George Stillger, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Stillger, John Mullin, James Clark and family, brother of Joseph Clark, and the Patterson family, who removed from here nearly two years ago and settled in California, but it is said in the southern part of the state. Messrs. Clark, Stillger and Mullin were all engaged in business in the city and their friends are satisfied that their property has been destroyed, but are hoping that they have escaped the fate of many and are anxiously awaiting some word from them to relieve their suspense.

The sad calamity which befell the ill-fated city of San Francisco last week was spoken of by all the pastors here during their morning discourses yesterday. Rev. T. Moore-Smith, of the Baptist church, devoted nearly his entire sermon to the sad affliction which has befell the "Golden Gate City." No special collection was taken up for the sufferers, but Scotch Plains can generally be counted upon for its share in extending help to the needy. Any one desiring to contribute to the cause may do so by leaving their name and subscription at either Frank Anson's candy store or William Jamison's grocery. The names and amounts will be telephoned without cost to this paper and full credit given in its columns to the subscribers. Every little bit helps and now is the time to do it, while it is needed.

A few of the baseball fans who could not wait for the opening of the local season attended the game yesterday afternoon at Newark, between the Newarks and New York American League team.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Cooper and child spent yesterday with Mrs. Cooper's father, Loftus Hollingsworth, of Johnston drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Carpenter, of Plainfield, were the guests yesterday of William C. Stanbery, of Mountain avenue.

The weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The choir of the Baptist church repeated the Easter anthems at the evening service last night.

Miss Minnie Hosinger, of Park avenue, entertained Miss Hope, of Plainfield, over Sunday.

The members of the B. Y. P. U. held an enjoyable meeting last night in the church parlors.

The law for spearing or "gigging" suckers was up Friday. Look out!

Miss Sadie Lee entertained friends from out of town over Sunday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Philp Smith was pitcher for the High School ball team Saturday, playing against the Montclair team. Thes core was 8 to 0 in favor of the Plainfield High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Major entertained Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor, of Perth Amboy, yesterday.

Samuel Goff has taken the Ryno place on Brookside avenue and is now occupying it.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley supplied the pulpit of the local Baptist church yesterday.

LITERARY.

The current number of the "most beautiful magazine in the world," is now on all news stands. The cover is a fine portrait of that popular stage favorite, Miss Ethel Barrymore, and is presented in colors. Among the prominent people portrayed are Chancellor McCracken, the eminent financier, the late Susan B. Anthony, and the Emperor of Austria. Among the people famous for their work in the drama of opera are De Reszke, the famous basso; Lillian Blauvelt, of grand opera fame; Paula Edwards, Virginia Earle, Adele Ritchie and Yvette Guilbert, the celebrated French character actress who is now making a farewell tour of this country. Altogether this May issue is quite equal to any which precede it. Burr Publishing Co., New York.

George H. Ballentyne, of East Second street, who was operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital, recently, is now considered out of danger and is rapidly improving.

PLAYERS LOOM UP STRONG

TEAM LOOKS INVINCIBLE

Team Doped Out to Be a Heavy Hitting Combination Balanced With Fast Fielders.

That Plainfield this year will have the strongest team that ever represented the city this season is now beyond doubt. The exhibition of the players against Jersey City proves the belief of Manager Daab and the members of the association. Everybody is now anxiously awaiting the opening game on May 5 with the All Cubans.

It is not hard to dope out the strength of the team. Starting behind the rubber, where is the catcher who can play in "Jack" O'Neill's back yard? Jack is recognized as the best strike and foul tip receiver in the business, not by independent managers alone, but by Eastern League magnates. It would be an easy matter for Jack" to find a berth in the Eastern League if he so elected. His standing as a ball player and a fast man behind the bat has never been questioned. On the contrary, when clubs in the Eastern League are crippled in the catching department the first thing to do is to telegraph "Jack" O'Neill to come on and get in the game. Last season he helped out both Newark and Jersey City in painful periods. Where is there a catcher who can beat him. None to be found in this section, it is believed.

Manager Daab is well supplied with twirlers and on his staff are Deegan, Leo Kelley, Dwyer and Russell, in addition to Phil Smith of the High School. Deegan's status is also well known to local fandom. What he doesn't know in the art of curvology isn't worth knowing, declare the wise ones. Deegan has speed and a troublesome drop which is puzzling to all batters. When the warm weather opens up "Silent Willie" will be in his best fighting trim. Leo Kelley is a promising youngster. Last year he played with Jersey City early in the season. He was fast enough to stay with the team, but preferred to retain his grip on a lucrative position with the subway people in Brooklyn and play independent ball. He is a left-hander, 22 years old, with plenty of speed and curves.

Russell and Dwyer are "try-outs." Russell has never played in these parts, but claims a fast record in the northern New York State League, where he played last season with Jamestown. Russell is also a first baseman. He will be worked out with the team Sunday. Dwyer is a lanky chap, about 6 feet 2 inches in height. He hails from West Hoboken, and has twirled for a number of teams in this vicinity. He appears to have the proper quality of stuff that goes to make a twirler and will exhibit his prowess in practice tomorrow.

In Dave Driscoll's place on the initial sack will be Henriquez, who played with the Dover team in the Lackawanna league last season, and Sundays with the Manhattans. He is a fast fielder and capable of executing heavy stick work. Second baseman "Jimmy" Brogan, or "The Kid," as he is familiarly known, needs no introduction to the local baseball public. Manager Murray thought so much of "The Kid" that he tried him out with the Jerseys on their training trip. Brogan is in excellent condition and is sure to duplicate his brilliant and sensational work of last season, while substituting for Dalton during the latter's incapacitation.

"Tommy" Curley, the short field artist, is another new face on the team. He comes from Montclair and won his spurs playing on the strong professional clubs in and around Newark. Last year he blossomed out as a Lackawanna league star on the Summit team, where he played short stop. Curley is alive and aggressive throughout the game. In fielding he cannot be surpassed by his predecessor. He is an accurate thrower to bases and a reliable batsman. In the last game with the Cedars two weeks ago he distinguished himself by driving out four hits. Captain "Mike" Leonard, on third base, will complete the infield. Leonard is known by all managers as the premier third sack artist in these regions, and expects to add to his laurels this season by surpassing all past records. The infield is what can be termed as stonewall in its construction.

The outfield was never better. Bertwhistle, who is known as a terror to all pitchers in the metropolitan district, will be in "Pete" Cregan's place in left field. "Bert" takes all manner of chances and seldom misses what he goes after and then he is "Johnny on the Spot" when there is any plunking to be executed. George Mallen, in centre garden, is not an unknown quantity to followers of the national game in this city. He is aggressive, fast in the field and clever with the stick.

Manager Daab completed his outfield by signing Heffron, a Jersey City player who has made a record on the St. John's Catholic Club nine during the past two seasons. Heffron accompanied the Providence team on its training trip this spring. His work greatly pleased Jack Dunn, but his services could not be utilized at present because the Providence team is well stocked with outfielders. Heffron looks like a player and according to his record with St. John's Club he has developed the art of slugging and for two years has led the team in hitting.

MAJOR LEAGUE NOTES.

Jack Cronin, whose great pitching was such a factor in the winning of the Eastern League pennant for Providence, has come to terms with President Powers and signed his contract.

Left Fielder McFarland, of the Providence Eastern League team, has jumped his contract and gone to the outlaw Altoona Club. President Pat Powers, of the Providence Club, offered McFarland more money than he was getting last season. McFarland demanded more, which was also granted, but he failed to report with the team last month, and when next heard of was a full-fledged outlaw.

Last year was most successful in professional base ball. It is the general feeling that the season of 1906 will be more so. Never were more elaborate efforts made to strengthen the clubs all along the line. Money has been expended lavishly to secure the best players the market affords. It is recognized on every side that to the victor belong the spoils and that there is little sympathy and use for the clubs that bring up the rear. The two major leagues—the American and the National—vie with each other in the contention that every club in their organization made money last season. There was a wide margin, however, in the amount of profits achieved by the first and last clubs in both leagues.

More base ball clubs will be on the diamond of the United States this year than ever before played in the history of the country. There will be more leagues than there were in 1905 and there will be more independent clubs. Dealers in base ball supplies say that the demands for the summer trade are far in excess of any season in their history. Had they not anticipated such a possibility it might have been that some of them would have found it out of the question to supply advantageously all their customers.

Predicting winners in a race for a base ball championship is "mighty onsartin" pastime, but it has its charm. The speculative feature of sport is one of its most gratifying attributes. Now is the time for the partisan prophets to begin operations.

Here's a story on Laporte, the New York Americans' new third baseman. In Buffalo one day Laporte invited his landlady and her daughter to the game. "Come out and see me break a couple of bats," he grinned. "I'll leave passes at the box office." In the excitement of dressing he forgot the tickets until the game was just started. An usher notified him that two ladies were waiting. He had no time to see the manager so he gave the boy $1. "Tell them to buy seats." The usher followed instructions, but when the mother got that buck she asked her daughter if she wouldn't rather go somewhere and see something good. "Sure," replied the daughter. And they went.

Willie Keeler is a wonder. In eleven years he has not ranked lower than sixth in the batting list. In that time he led his league twice, was second once and was third four times. In thirteen years he has a grand batting average of .302.

GOLF.

Mrs. Lena Hellstrom will again have charge of the restaurant at the Plainfield Country Club this season.

Employes of the Plainfield Country Club are busily engaged in putting the course in condition for play. The use of the putting greens and tees is not allowed until notice is given by the golf committee.

According to a new rule of the Plainfield Country Club all caddies seeking employment at the club this season must register at the caddie house. Caddies will be furnished the players in the order in which they are registered.

The clubhouse of the Plainfield Country Club was opened on Saturday, although the active season will not begin until this week Saturday, when the course will be ready for play and the restaurant will be opened. There will be a clerk at the clubhouse this season and the members can secure all information from him.

Former Governor Voorhees declines the proffered judgeship according to current report. What is it the genial lawyer wants?

Catastrophes such as that at San Francisco make all mortals kin. Although nothing has been heard from Russell Sage, generous donations to the cause of relief have been made by John D. Rockefeller, W. W. Astor and others, all of whom have written out their checks for sums not less than $100,000.

The fund for the stricken city of San Francisco, started by The Daily Press on Friday, has now reached $1,321 and there is no sign of a let-up of contributions being brought in over the 'phone, in person and by mail. Those who have subscribed to the fund and have not already sent in their checks will please do so as early as possible in order to expedite matters.

SON OF MAYOR FISK WEDS CINCINNATI GIRL

BRILLIANT FUNCTION WITNESSED BY 500 FRIENDS.

Augustus R. Fisk, son of former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, was married in Cincinnati Saturday, to Miss Edith Collings, daughter of Critender T. Collings, of that city, a Standard Oil millionaire. The ceremony was performed at Calvary P. E. church, at high noon, by the rector, Rev. George B. Cox.

The wedding was brilliant. Over 500 guests attended it, and the day was perfect. The women were beautifully gowned.

The bride was dressed in white satin, princess, with high point yoke, and wore a tulle veil, caught up with a spray of natural orange blossoms. She carried a bonquet of lilies and white orchids.

The maid of honor was Miss Christine Collings, sister of the bride, and Miss Annie G. Fisk, sister of the groom, was the only other attendant. Both were gowned in pink chiffon and wore white Leghorn hats, trimmed with pink roses. They carried bonquets of pink roses.

The best man was C. W. Fisk, brother of the groom. The ushers were Louis Young, of New York; L. E. Waring, Plainfield; J. A. Moorehead, Pittsburg; Joseph Gatins, New York; Shelby Bonnie, Louisville, Ky.; Morris Dumont and Harvey Fisk, Plainfield.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Collings home after the ceremony. It was catered by Folger, famous throughout the South.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisk will spend their honeymoon in Asheville, N. C. They will probably live here, although plans for their permanent residence have not yet been made. The groom is connected with the Boston office staff of Harvey Fisk & Sons.

VIEWS OF THE FRIENDS

Statement of the Society's Belief and Worship at Conference.

A SQUARE DEAL FAITH

Fifty Friends From Six Out of Town Meetings Attend the Gathering — Supper Precedes First Session.

What the Friends believe and how they live their religious and religious-business life was the theme of a highly interesting address delivered yesterday afternoon by Henry W. Wilbur, of Swarthmore, Pa., at the close of the week-end conference, which opened Saturday night. The address was the chief feature of the conference. It was designed to make the basis of belief and practice in the Society plain to those outside the faith, among whom, it is felt, there is too much misunderstanding of what the tenets and worship of the Friends are.

There was a large attendance at the session, which was announced especially as a public one.

The speaker said that no one held a commission to state what the Society of Friends really believes, or the things for which it stands, and at the best he could only represent the case as it passed through the filter of his very imperfect mind. It may be admitted that in the beginning of the Society the founders believed the current theological propositions of the time. But they made a distinct contribution to the evolution of religious ideas. They revolted from both the arbitary authority of the church, and the arbitary authority of the book. They formulated the claim that the source of supreme authority was the spirit by which the scriptures were brought forth. In this claim of the immediate divine imminence the Society presents its one unifying principle. Regarding the disputed theological doctrines, the Society makes no demand and requires no assent, great diversity of opinion being allowed. Unfortunately Friends have been generally known by their peculiarities. But these peculiarities of speech and dress are no essential part of the Friendly system. The speech and the address at the beginning were magnificent protests against the class distinction in speech, and the almost vulgar ornament in dress that prevailed in the seventeenth century in England, but neither mean much now. Quakerism is really a fellowship, a unity of the spirit, in the midst of diversity of theological belief. We plant our feet firmly upon the existence of the common universal father, which establishes the universal brotherhood. If there is such a universal father, the most natural thing is that he should seek to and succeed in giving his children guidance, and this makes the logical zasis for the present divine imminence. The Friends' meeting for worship and for business is a pure democracy, all, both men and women, meet in a plain of absolute equality and mutual helpfulness. The Society is not a close corporation, but a broad fellowship, to which there is a constant invitation, and from which there is little forced severance. The Society of Friends stands for the "square deal" in the broadest sense. It ought to mean the widest spiritual, social and industrial opportunity for struggling men and women.

Joel Borton, of Woodstown, made a brief speech in compliment to Mr. Wilbur's address. He said there was too much misunderstanding of the Friends, and advocated a wider distribution of books and literature, of a modern kind, on the faith. William W. Williams spoke in the same strain.

The conference opened Saturday night at 8 o'clock, with a question-box meeting. Representatives of six meetings in other places to the number of fifty, attended. New York, Philadelphia, Media, Pa., Purchase, N. Y., and Trenton were represented.

A supper to the out of town delegates was served in the meeting house at 6 o'clock. A committee composed of Elveretta C. Vail, Marietta V. Adams, Mercy Vail, Clarence B. Vail and Margaret Vail was in charge.

Mr. Wilbur conducted the question box. The queries pertained to the Society and its officers. Yesterday morning a meeting for worship was held, at which Joel Borton spoke.

His text was "The Gift of God Is Eternal Life." He spoke of the spiritual relation between God and church.

Still Alarm for Chimney Fire.

Chief Doane and No. 2 hose company went out at 10:20 last night in response to a still alarm for a chimney fire at the home of Charles Sprigg, Second and New streets. The trouble was overcome by the use of a couple of extinguishers.

On Saturday, society notes of Lakewood reported that Leighton Calkins, secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association, was stopping at the Lakewood Hotel with a large party of golfers who were playing in the spring tournament.

are the best. The proof of this statement is ten years' selling of about two car loads a year. Could we furnish any better evidence? This year they are better than ever in style, construction and finish, and notwithstanding the great increase in cost of everything that goes to make up a refrigerator, our prices of all sizes and kinds are the same as last year. One important feature in connection with the "Jewett" Refrigerator that we wish to elaborate and one which will strongly appeal to every housekeeper this year especially, is that they will keep colder with less ice than any other make. The full line is now on the floor and ready for your inspection. 25 different sizes and styles. Prices from $5.98 to $95.00.

are here in endless variety, they are of the better kinds and will appeal to anyone who appreciates a good looking, comfortable and durable Rocker. The frames are of selected maple and the seats and backs are of durable rattan. The prices start at 78c and run up to $4.50.

THE SALE OF SAMPLE BEDS

is still on. You never had a better chance to buy a good bed for so little money. $9.50 instead of $12.50 and $15.00.

Jap-a-Lac

is a great reviver of old woodwork as it covers up all marks and scratches, producing a brilliant and lasting finish. You can use it on porch chairs, refrigerators, window screens and door screens and make them look like new, Jap-a-lac comes in all colors and sells for 15c, 25c, 40c and 75c a can.

The New Housewares Department

in the basement is now the busiest place in the store, completely stocked with everything to lighten the labor and worry of housekeepers. Nearly 10,000 feet of floor space devoted to this department, well lighted and ventilated, large roomy aisles and staircases; experienced sales-people to serve you; deliveries twice a day, and best of all everything sold bears the stamp of merit and the prices are extremely moderate.

AUTOMOBILE PARTY ABANDONS AN INFANT.

Child Left by Them Discovered on the Stoop of a Newark Man's Home.

Attracted by its cries Policeman Hoffman, of Newark, found early yesterday morning an abandoned babe on the front stoop of the residence of W. W. Chandlier, No. 555 Summer avenue.

The occupants of the house assured Hoffman that the infant did not belong there and he took it to the station house. Later Hoffman was informed by a neighbor of Chandlier's that a short time before he discovered the waif a party in an automobile stopped near the Chandler house and one of the occupants of the car left it, carrying a bundle in his arms to the stoop of the residence. A few minutes later the man returned to the auto without the bundle, and the party rode rapidly away.

The infant is a boy, bright eyed and apparently healthy, and about six weeks old.

ITALIAN SHOT IN A DUEL

with two chambers empty was found in his pocket.

Cerbo is unable to speak English intelligibly, and Chief Kiely made no immediate attempt to get a statement from him. The wound in his wrist and the appearance of the Falconi house where the body was examined bore out Parmiero's story of a heated quarrel and a revolver duel. The chairs in the room where the shooting began were overturned, and a lamp had been flung over. Half of the cloth on the table was burned, and part of the clothes and about five inches of the skin on Fusco's body showed where the fire that followed the overturning of the lamp had been at work.

Fusco's body was found in the hall, to where it was dragged by the witnesses, who put out the fire before fleeing after Cerbo. The body was lying face downward with a revolver beneath it. Two chambers were empty. The police found a flattened bullet on the floor and the mark of a ball on the ceiling.

Chief Kiely had his men at work all day yesterday in search of witnesses, and added Falconi and Francesco Zambella to his bag. It was learned that Falconi saw the shooting, although he pretended to have heard of it through Parmiero, and he was promptly corralled. Zambella was one of three witnesses the police started to look for yesterday morning. Two of the witnesses, Chief Kiely says, have skipped.

Both the new witnesses substantially corroborated Parmiero's story of the affair.

Through an interpreter late this afternoon Chief Kiely got a partial statement from Cerbo. As far as the chief could understand him, he said Fusco drew a revolver during their argument and he pulled his own weapon to return the fire.

Although a dirty and much used pack of cards was found on the floor of the room, none of the witnesses will acknowledge that they were playing.

Fusco's body is at the morgue. Assistant Prosecutor John English, who came to the city on the case this morning, said there was no need of either autopsy or inquest. The grand jury session is so near the coroner's inquiry is unnecessary. Cerbo will be taken to Elizabeth this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

The dead man has a wife and two children in Italy. Cerbo is unmarried. Both men lived here for about two years.

CROWDY FOLLOWERS END FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

LAST OF THE VISITING DELEGATIONS LEAVING THE CITY TODAY.

With the close of the Feast of the Passover, which came Saturday night, Prophet Crowdy and his faithful followers who have been holding forth in Reform hall for ten days, began leaving the city yesterday and since then almost every train going east or west has had a delegation on board. The prophet and the big southern representation, numbering several hundred, departed on the 3.40 express yesterday afternoon for Washington, D. C., where some sort of a conference between leaders is to be held. The Boston contingent, numbering 120, and the faithful from Providence, R. I., left at noon today and by tonight the Plainfield branch of the Church of God and Saints of Christ will be pursuing the even tenor of its way.

The final meeting of the conference was held last night and was in the form of a praise service led by Evangelist Joseph Crowdy, of Philadelphia, who is a nephew of the prophet. There was plenty of good singing and the elders gave testimony.

The next big gathering of the sect will be held at Pittsburg some time during July. It will not be like the one in this city as only officials will be admitted, the rank and file being commanded to remain at home.

The prophet's press representative, oswell Roles, of Boston, was unable to say today as to whether any future conferences would be held in Plainfield. Crowdy and his elders were well pleased with local conditions though they did not like the attitude of other colored congregations. This did not affect any of the followers, however, as they maintained a dignified demeanor and during their stay imposed on or bothered no one.

BUILDING CO. ENLARGING NETHERWOOD PARK.

Tract of Land Purchased by Mr. Thompson from Mr. Hand.

A. D. Thompson has purchased for the Plainfield Land and Building Company a tract of land from David Hand adjoining Netherwood Park, and will open it up at once as an addition to the park, which he opened up some years ago, and which is now entirely built up with handsome residences.

Mr. Thompson will extend Denmark road through the property and put in cross streets running into Ravine road. The property will be laid out in park style, with fine shade trees, streets graded and macadamized and all city improvements. This new addition to Netherwood Park will comprise about twenty acres. Maps are now being prepared, and can be seen in a few days at the office of the Plainfield Land and Building Company, 207 North avenue.

BAND CONCERT BENEFIT OPENS AT SAENGERBUND.

With a large crowd in attendance, Ben La Vere's Easter carnival opened up in Saengerbund Hall, Saturday night. It is to continue during the present week and the proceeds are to be for the benefit of the summer band concert fund.

Mr. La Vere has dispensed with the usual booths and outside of dancing will have a regular entertainment each night. Saturday Jack McCobe, of New York, sang George M. Cohan's latest song hits and moving pictures were given by F. M. Slater. Tonight there will be several professional singers, illustrated songs and moving pictures.

Suhr's Imperial orchestra is providing music for the dancing and John McDonough is the genial floor manager. Jed Smalley is doorman and a competent committee is taking care of the comfort of visitors.

Another commendable innovation of Mr. La Vere's is the doing away with all contests but one. Votes are taken for the most popular lodge in the city and the one securing the greatest number is to be awarded a handsome gavel.

KIPLINGS TRIP THROUGH 'FRISCO

TELLS OF AN UNSYSTEMATIC EXPLANATION OF THE STREETS.

Rudyard Kipling, in "From Sea to Sea," describes his visit to San Francisco. After detailing his difficulties in getting to his hotel, and incidentally relating his impressions of various persons he met, he says:

"Later I began a vast but unsystematic explorations of the streets. I asked for no names. It was enough that the pavements were full of white men and women, the streets clanging with traffic, and the restful roar of a great city rang in my ears. The cable cars glided to all points of the compass. I took them one by one till I could go no further. San Francisco has been pinched down on the sand bunkers of the Bikaneer Desert. About one-fourth of it is ground reclaimed from the sea—any old timer will tell you all about that. The remainder is ragged, unthrifty, sandhills, pegged down by houses.

"From an English point of view there has not been the least attempt at grading these hills, and indeed you might as well try to grade the hillocks of Sind. The cable cars have for all practical purposes made San Francisco a dead level. They take no count of rise or fall, but slide equitably on their appointed courses from one end to the other or a six-mile street. They turn corners almost at right angles, cross other lines, and for aught I know may run up the sides of houses.

"There is no visible agency of their flight, but once in a while you shall pass a five-storied building, humming with machinery that winds up an everlasting wire cable and the initiated will tell you that here is the mechanism.

"I gave up asking questions. If it pleases Providence to make a car run up and won a slit in the ground for many miles, and if for two pence half penny I can ride in that car, why shall II seek the reasons of the miracle? Rather let me look out for the windows till the shops give place to thousands and thousands of little houses made of wood—each house just big enough for a man and his family."

On a visit to the Chinatown quarter, Mr. Kipling says:

It was a bad business throughout, and the only consolation is that it was all my fault. A man took me around the Chinese quarters of San Francisco which is a ward of the city of Canton set down in the most eligible business quarter of the place. The Chinamen with his usual skill has possessed himself of good brick fire-proof buildings, and, following instinct, has packed each tenement with hundreds of souls, all living in filth and squaler, not to be appreciated save by you in India. That cursory investigation ought to have sufficed; but I wanted to know how deep in the earth the pigtail had taken root. Therefore, I explored the Chinese quarter a second time and alone, which was foolishness.

No one in the filthy streets(but for the blessed sea breeze San Francisco would enjoy cholera every season) interferred with my "cumshaw." I struck a house about four stories high, full of Clestial abominations and began to burrow down; having heard that these tenements were constructed on the lines of icebergs—two-thirds below sight level. Down stairs I crawled past Chinamen in bunks, opium smokers, brothels, and gambling hells, till I had reached the second cellar—was, in fact, in the labyrinth of a warren.

Great is the wisdom of the Chinaman. In time of trouble that house could be razed to the ground by a mob, and yet side all its inhabitants in brick-walled and wooden-beamed, subterranean galleries, strengthened with iron-framed doors and gates.

On the second underground floor a man asked for "cumshaw" and took me down stairs to yet another cellar, where the air was as thick as butter and the lamps burned little holes in it not more than an inch square. In this place a poker club had assembled and was in full swing. The Chinamen loves "pokel" and plays it with great skill, swearing like a cat when he loses. Most of the men around the table were in semi-European dress, their pigtails curled up under billycock hats. They were a picturesque set of fiends, and polite, being too absorbed in their game to look at the stranger. We were down under the earth, and save for the rustle of a blue-gowned sleeve and the ghostly whisper of the cards as they were shuffled and played there was no sound. The heat was almost unendurable

Manager Counihan has commenced billing the city and surrounding countryside for the hospital carnival. He has planned a vigorous advertising campaign that is sure to bring large crowds in from the suburbs.

The "Little Johnny Jones" company that appeared here a short time ago, was caught in a landslide while jumping from Fresno to Los Angeles, Cal., April 2. It caused a delay that required a special train to fill the date, a move that cost Sam Harris and Geo. M. Cohan $1,500.

Miss Florence Roberts, the actress who apepared in Plainfield in "The Strength of the Weak" last Monday, was one of the first contributors to New York's San Francisco relief fund. She gave her check for $1,000 and also offered her services for any benefit performance that might be arranged. Miss Roberts has always been a great favorite in the ill-fated city and also has property interests there.

Al. Leach, the comedian of the "Girls Will Be Girls" company, that is to play at the New Plainfield on May 4, tells how, when a beardless boy, he lost his "best girl." He was rather shy in the company of the fair sex but one night he screwed up his courage to the sticking point, and asked the young lady if she wouldn't let him spend the evening with her. "No," she replied, "I will not." "Oh," replied young Leach, "you needn't be so funny; I didn't mean this evening, but some stormy one, when I can't go anywhere else." And he wondered for a long time afterward why she never spoke to him again.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The High License Sentiment.

Montclair affords very pertinent evidence that the high license sentiment in this State is not satisfied with the "bishops' act" passed by the recent Legislature. Its license fee last year was $400, but retail dealers must, from this time forth, pay $600 for the privilege of selling liquors in that town. The age limit of legal purchasers has also been raised in Montclair from eighteen to twenty-one years in conformity with the State law, and there is little doubt that youngsters between the ages stated will encounter some difficulty in buying drinks, for the reason that the penalty for selling to them is the revocation of the license without power to secure a renewal for a whole year.

The increase in the license fee was made for good reasons. Montclair has been charging $150 a year more than Newark and $100 a year more than the minimum required by the new act. The effects there, as in East Orange, have been to reduce tne number of saloons and to compel a better observance of the law and a better class of saloons. The idea is to carry these advantages still further, and some of the town Councilmen were strongly in favor of placing Montclair on a plane with Plainfield, by increasing the license fee to $1,000.

The jump at Englewood from $150 to $500 has already been referred to, and now that Montclair has increased its license fee it is probable that other cities and towns will follow the example. The municipalities are benefited in many ways. The number of saloons is decreased, the police are not required to watch so many drinking places and are enabled to give better service and protection elsewhere. The saloon-keepers who pay high licenses are careful not to forfeit them, and, therefore, keep a better class of saloons. The cities and towns adopting high license do not, as a rule, lose much revenue, but if they do the loss is offset by better police service, better saloon management and better conditions generally.—Newark News.

SCHOOL LAW CHANGES

Governor Has Signed Three of Ten New Bills Passed

1,000,000 MORE FOR FUND

Conditions of New Teachers' Retirement Act—Distribution of State Moneys.

A summary of the ten acts concerning schools and school matters passed by the recent Legislature has been compiled by J. Brognard Betts, assistant superintendent of education of New Jersey, and sent to the various school officials in the several school districts of the State. Of the ten acts passed three have been signed by the Governor.

Under the Perkins' tax distribution act, House 274, half of 1 per cent. of the $4,000,000 the railroads will pay, will be retained for school purposes by the State and the balance of the additional revenue from new taxation will be devoted toward the reduction of the $6,500,000 raised locally for all taxation purposes. The additional revenue to the school fund will be about $1,000,000.

The new laws are Assembly bill No. 57, Assembly bill No. 204, Assembly No. 241, Assembly No. 274, Assembly No. 288, Assembly No. 300, Assembly No. 381, Assembly No. 414 and Assembly No. 447.

The last-mentioned bill is the new teachers' retirement fund law. It takes the place completely of the old law. Under it the trustees of the fund are to consist of the State superintendent, three persons, not teachers, chosen and appointed by the Governor and five teachers who are members of the fund at the annual meeting. The annual meeting of the members of the funds is to be held at the State House on the last Saturday in September. The investments of the fund are hereafter to be restricted to such securities as are authorized by la wfor savings banks.

Under the present law a person cannot be retired unless he is incapacitated from earning a sufficient livelihood. The amendment provides for the retirement in case a person is incapacitated from performing the duties of a teacher, and in order to be retired the annuitant must have first paid into the fund an amount equal to at least the amount of his annuity for one year, instead of an amount equal to one-half of the average annual salary for the five years immediately preceding retirement.

Instead of the percentage of salaries to be paid by teachers now in force, the new act provides as follows:

Two per cent. of the monthly salary of persons who have been teachers ten years or less when they joined the fund. Two and one-half per cent. of the monthly salaries of persons who have been teachers over ten years, but less than fifteen, when they joined the fund.

Three per cent. of the monthly salaries of all persons who have been teaching fifteen years or more when they joined the fund provided, that the amount paid any teacher shall not exceed $50 per annum. The deduction from the teachers' salaries are to be paid to the State Treasurer quarterly instead of monthly, as heretofore.

The new act is binding upon all persons who are not members of the fund, who shall, prior to January 1 next, signify their acceptance of its provision. Those teachers who are now members of the fund who did not signify their acceptance of the new law shall continue under the same conditions as heretofore. No teacher who is now employed in the schools can join the fund after December 31 next. A teacher appointed after the new law goes into effect and prior to January 1, 1908, cannot become a member of the fund after December 31, 1907. All persons who begin teaching after January 1, 1908, are compelled to become members of the fund.

Assembly 57 amends the act for special industrial schools by increasing the maximum amount of State aid from $5,000 to $47,00 per annum.

In Assembly 204 the teachers pension act is amended by decreasing the time a teacher must have taught from forty to thirty-five years, and by decreasing the time he has taught in the district by which he is retired from 40 to 20 years. The latter need not be consecutive. The act applies also to a principal or superintendent.

Assembly 240 amends section 121 of the old school law. It provides that a teacher or pupil may be excluded who has not been successfully vaccinated or revaccinated. If teacher or pupil be an unfit subject for vaccination a certificate to that effect must be furnished by the medical school inspector. The new act provides for the exclusion of a teacher or pupil who has been exposed to contagion from specified diseases, designated by the Board of Education.

Assembly 241 amends section 153 of the school law and adds arithmetic to the required subjects. It also prohibits the employment of any child between the ages of 7 and 14 years at any gainful occupation during school hours. The truant officer may visit and inspect all places in which gainful occupations are carried on. A penalty of $50 may be recovered for violations or for hindering any truant officer in an inspection.

Assembly 288, amends section 189 of the school law by requiring the custodian of school moneys to make reports to the Board of Education, as well as to the county superintendent.

Assembly 300 amends section 182 of the school law and provides the following method of apportioning school moneys by the county superintendent:

First, $600 to each district having a city superintendent or supervising principal; second, $400 for each assistant superintendent, each other supervisor, each permanent teacher in a high school having a four years' course approved by the State Board of Education; third, $300 for each permanent teacher in a high school having an approved three years' course; fourth, $200 for each permanent teacher in an ungraded school or in a kindergarten, primary or grammar department or in a high school department having an approved course of study of less than three years; fifth, $80 for each temporary teacher employed not less than four months; sixth, $80 for each evening school teacher employed according to the present law; seventh, $25 for each pupil attending a high school in a district not where he resides; eighth, $25 for each pupil attending other than a high school in a district where he does not reside; ninth, $200 for transportation as at present; tenth, the remainder of the money to be apportioned on the basis of total days attendance as heretofore.

Assembly 381 amends section 76 of the school law and increases the limit of bonded debt in a city school district from 3 to 5 per centum of the taxable property in the municipalities affected by that section.

Assembly 414 amends section 30 by giving members of the county boards of examiners $25 for each examination, instead of $10.

Piere Moore has just recovered from an eight weeks' attack of neuralgia. His condition was serious.

WASHING WITHOUT WATER
Is Like Trying to Get Rid of Dandruff Without Herpicide.
Did you ever see any one trying to wash themselves without soap or water?
If you did what would you say of him?
It is every bit as foolish to try to get rid of Dandruff and to prevent Baldness by feeding the germs which cause it, with Canthrarides, Vaseline, Glycerine and similar substances which form the principal ingredients of most so-called Hair Vigors.
Newbro's Herpicide is successful because it attacks and kills the parasitic germ which feeds on the hair roots.
It is the original and only genuine scalp germicide manufactured.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Dan'l J. has been took home—the noozepaper says."

They turned back down the trail, the old man astride Billy Brue's horse, followed by his pack mule and preceded by Billy.

Already, such was his buoyance and habit of quick recovery and readjustment under reverses, his thoughts were turning to his grandson. Daniel's boy—there was the grandson of his grandfather—the son of his father—fresh from college, and the instructions of European travel, knowing many things his father had not known, ready to take up the work of his father, and capable, perhaps, of giving it a better finish. His beloved west had lost one of its valued builders, but another should take his place. His boy should come to him and finish the tasks of his father; and, in the years to come, make other mighty tasks of empire building for himself and the children of his children.

CHAPTER III.

THE WEST AGAINST THE EAST.

Two months later a sectional war was raging in the Bines home at Montana City. The west and the east were met in conflict—the old and the new, the stale and the fresh. And, if the bitterness was dissembled by the combatants, not less keenly was it felt, nor less determined was either faction to be relentless.

The sole non-combatant was Mrs. Bines, the widow. A neutral was this good woman, and a well-wisher to each faction.

"I tell you it's all the same to me," she declared. "Montana City or Fifth avenue in New York. I guess I can do well enough in either place, so long as the rest of you are satisfied."

It had been all the same to Mrs. Bines for as many years as a woman of 50 can remember. It was the lot of wives in her day and environment early to learn the supreme wisdom of abolishing preferences. Riches and poverty, ease and hardship, mountain and plain, town and wilderness, they followed in no ascertainable sequence, and a superiority of indifference to each was the only protection against hurts from the unexpected.

This trained neutrality of Mrs. Bines served her finely now. She had no leading to ally herself against her children in their wish to go east, nor against Uncle Peter Bines in his stubborn effort to keep them west. She folded her hands to wait on the others.

And the battle raged.

The old man, sole defender of the virtuous and stalwart west against an east that he alleged to be effete and depraved, had now resorted to sarcasm—a thing that Mr. Carlyle thought was as good as the language of the devil.

"And here, now, how about this dog-luncheon?" he continued, glancing at a New York newspaper clutched accusingly in his hand. "It was give, I see, by one of your Newport cronies. Now, that's healthy doin's fur a two-fisted Christian, ain't it? I want to know. Shappyronging a select company of lady and gentlemen dogs from soup to coffee; pressing a little more of the dog-biscuit on this one, and seein' that the other don't misplay its finger-bowl no way. How I would love to read of a Bines standin' up, all in purty velvet pants, most likely, to receive at one of them bow-wow functions—functions, I believe, is the name of it?" he ended, in polite inquiry.

"There, there, Uncle Peter!" the young man broke in, soothingly; "you mustn't take those Sunday newspapers as gospel truth; those stories are printed for just such rampant old tenderfoots as you are; and even if there is one foolish freak, he doesn't represent all society in the better sense of the term."

"Yes, and you!" Uncle Peter broke out again, reminded of another grievance. "You know well enough your true name is Peter—Pete and Petie when you was a baby, and Peter when you left for college. And you're ashamed of what you've done, too, for you tried to hide them callin' cards from me the other day, only you wa'n't quick enough. Bring 'em out! I'm bound your mother and Pish shall see 'em. Out with 'em!"

The young man, not without embarrassment, drew forth a Russia leather card case which the old man took from him as one having authority.

"Here you are, Marthy Bines!" he exclaimed, handing her a card; "here you are! read it! 'Mr. P. Percival Bines.' Now don't you feel proud of havin' stuck out for Percival when you see it in cold print? You know mighty well his pa and me agreed to Percival only fur a middle name, jest to please you—and he wa'n't to be called by it; only jest Peter or 'Peter P.' at most; and now look at the way he's gone and garbled his good name."

Mr. P. Percival Bines blushed furiously here, but rejoined nevertheless, with quiet dignity, that a man's name was something about which he should have the ruling voice, especially where it was possible for him to rectify or conceal the unhappy choice of his parents.

"And while we're on names," he continued, "do try to remember in case you ever get among people, that Sis's name is Psyche, and not Pish."

The blond and complacent Miss Bines here moved uneasily in her patent blue plush rocker and spoke for the first time, with a grateful glance at her brother.

"Yes, Uncle Peter, for mercy's sake, do try! Don't make us a laughing-stock!"

"But your name is Pish. A person's name is what their folks name 'em, ain't it? Your ma comes acrost a name in a book that she likes the looks of, and she takes it to spell Pish. And she—s and names you Pish, and we all—s you Pish and Pishy, and then when you toddle off to public school and let 'em know how you spell it they tell you it's something else—an outlandish name if spellin' means anything. If it comes to that you ought to change the spellin' instead of the name that your poor pa loved."

Yet the old man had come to know that he was fighting a lost fight—lost before it had ever begun.

"It will be a good chance," ventured Mrs. Bines, timidly, "for Pishy—I mean Sike—Sicky—to meet the right sort of people."

"Yes, I should say—and the wrong sort. The ingagin' host of them lady and gentlemen dogs, fur instance."

"But, Uncle Peter," broke in the young man, "you shouldn't expect a girl of Psyche's beauty and fortune to vegetate in Montana City all her life. Why, any sort of brilliant marriage is possible to her if she goes among the right people. Don't you want the family to amount to something socially? Is our money to do us no good? And do you think I'm going to stay here and be a mossback and raise chin whiskers and work myself to death the way my father did?"

"No, no," replied the old man, with a glance at the mother; "not jest the way your pa did; you might do some different and some better; but all the same, you won't do any better'n he did any way you'll learn to live in New York. Unless you was to go broke there," he added, thoughtfully; "in that case you got the stuff in you and it'd come out; but you got too much money to go broke."

"And you'll see that I lead a decent enough life. Times have changed since my father was a young man."

"Yes; that's what your pa told me—times had changed since I was a young man; but I could 'a' done him good if he'd 'a' listened."

"Well, we'll try it. The tide is setting that way from all over the country."

"Well, now do me a last favor before you pike off east," pleaded the old man. "Make a trip with me over the properties. See 'em once anyway, and see a little more of this country and these people. Mebbe they're better'n you think. Give me about three weeks or a month, and then, by Crimini, you can go off if you're set on it and be 'whatever is finest and best in the American character,' as some feller puts it. But some day, son, you'll find out there's a whole lot of difference between a great man of wealth and a man of great wealth. Them last is gettin' terrible common."

So the old man and the young man made the round of the Bines properties. The former nursed a forlorn little hope of exciting an interest in the concerns most vital to him; to the latter the leisurely tour in the private car was a sportive prelude to the serious business of life, as it should be lived, in the east. Considering it as such he endured it amiably, and indeed the long August days and the sharply cool nights were not without real enjoyment for him.

They awoke one morning to find the car on a siding at the One Girl mine. Coupled to it was another car from an eastern road that their train had taken on some time in the night. Percival noted the car with interest as he paced beside the track in the cool, clear air before breakfast. The curtains were drawn, and the only signs of life to be observed were at the kitchen end, where the white-clad cook could be seen astir. Grant, porter on the Bines car, told him the other car had been taken on at Kasio Junction, and that it belonged to Rulon Shepler, the New York financier, who was aboard with a party of friends.

As Percival and Uncle Peter left their car for the shaft house after breakfast, the occupants of the other car were bestirring themselves.

From one of the open windows a low but impassioned voice was exhausting the current idioms of damnation in sweeping dispraise of all land areas north and west of Fifty-ninth street, New York.

Uncle Peter smiled grimly. Percival flushed, for the hidden protestant had uttered what were his own sentiments a month before.

Reaching the shaft house they chatted with Pangburn, the superintendent, and then went to the store room to don blouses and overalls for a descent into the mine.

For an hour they stayed underground, traversing the various levels and drifts, while Pangburn explained the later developments of the vein and showed them where the new stoping had been begun.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist, or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

"BEWARE OF THE NEGRO UPRISING."

The Rev. Dr. Holmes Warns the White Race in Speaking of Need of Education.

The Rev. Dr. Richard S. Holmes, of Philadelphia, editor of The Westminster, preaching in "The Race Problem and Higher Education of the Negro" to the congregation of the First Presbyterian church, Orange, yesterday morning, warned the white race to beware or they would be overwhelmed. Within a century, he declared, there would be 100,000,000 negroes in the United States.

"The Lord help the present dominant race when this great giant awakens," prayed Dr. Holmes.

Dr. Holmes said that the negro problem was well nigh impossible of solution because of three prejudices—that of the American people against the negro, which was greater than that of any other nation; that of the negro against the white, and that of the negro against his own race.

He likened the negro to a whip top. Previous to the civil war, he said, this great top was spinning pretty well; then came the emancipation which cut teh lash of the whip. The negro though had inertia, and the top keut spinning as a result of the inertia gained from the slave driver's whip, but it is now gradually dying down, and as it dies the race is not rising and the uprising is pending.

"Would you have this giant awake in ignorance and with a hatred for the white race?" inquired the minister.

Speaking of conditions in the south he said that few out of thousands of negro girls reached the age of thirteen with unblemished purity. The responsibility for these conditions he placed at the door of the white people.

Missionary Work.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Enclosed find our check for twenty-five ($25) dollars as contribution from our schools, for the relief of the stricken people of San Francisco. We consider this a practical missionary work.

Voorhees Declines Judgeship.

Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees has declined the Circuit Court judgeship. The former governor said to-day he had reached a decision with himself on the judgeship, but he was not prepared to make it public. He will first communicate with the governor. The names of Judge Benjamin A. Vail and Prosecutor N. C. J. English have been mentioned for the place.

—Neuman Brothers are quoting a special price by the barrel for Pillsbury and Hecker's superlative flours. The sale will be for this week only.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Some fears were entertained during the first part of the week that E. E. Thomas, the manufacturer of the Thomas Flyer, had been caught in San Francisco by the earthquake and disastrous fire that followed it. Mr. Thomas has been in California during the winter and early spring months and about two weeks ago went to San Francisco. It was known that he was to leave there the first of this week but there was considerable worry at the company's plant until a wire was received from him at Winnemucca, Nevada, announcing that he had left the doomed city on the evening before the earthquake.

The town of Chatham is laying itself liable to numerous damage suits, it is said, by reason of erecting in the center of the town on the main thoroughfare leading to Morristown a high embankment extending across the street from curb to curb. This, it is alleged, endangers the safety of the traveling public whether by horse and carriage, automobile or bicycle. Yesterday a Plainfielder while en route from this city to Morristonw in an automobile ran over the obstruction while passing through Chatham and damaged his machine considerably, so much so that he was obliged to spend the rest of the day with his machine at a nearby repair shop where he had it repaired sufficiently to enable him to get back home. Horsemen, bicyclists and automobilists, it is said, are greatly aroused over the act of the Chatham authorities in constructing such a dangerous obstacle. Any person, it is alleged, lawfully passing through Chatham whether by horse and carriage, on bicycle or in automobile and sustains injury to his person or property by reason of the obstruction above mentioned, it is said, will have a good damage claim against the municipality. The State Automobile Association has taken the matter up and in all probability legal proceedings will be instituted against the town of Chatham immediately.

HOBOKENS LOSE.

Daab's Team Defeated, After Hot Contest, by Jersey City.

Manager Daab's team opened its Hoboken season yesterday with a hot game against Jersey City. The Skeeter band won, 7 to 6, after a ninth-inning scare from the home team.

Hoboken played gingery ball. The men worked together fast, and swatted the leather with brawn and precision. They looked a whole lot more like a heavy-hitting aggregation than last year. Henriques, on first, put up a great game and landed for three long hits. Brogan, Curley and Leonard played fast and Heffron, in left field, caught two difficult flies and hit well.

Leo Kelly pitched for the home team. He was touched up freely. Mack and Munson were the Jersey City battery for seven innings, and Foxen and Vandergrift for the other two.

No Coal Shipped to Hoboken.

Hoboken, April 23.—Despite reports to the effect that the coal miners were returning to work in the Scranton district where the output of coal is controlled by the Lackawanna railroad, not a carload for domestic use has been received at the Hoboken docks in three weeks. About the only consignment received were a few carloads of "washery," used largely by manufacturing and lighting plants.

Musical Entertainment.

The Ithaca Conservatory of Music Concert Company gave a musical entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. One of the members of the quartette was too ill to appear, and the numbers were made up of solo and duet selections. Miss Stoll, the elocutionist, filled out the programme with some clever club swinging.

Amputate Child's Foot.

Elizabeth, April 23.—Edward Eckstein, five years old, while playing on the Central railroad coal tracks on Port avenue, at Elizabeth, late Friday afternoon was struck by a coal train and one of his feet was so badly mashed that it had to be amputated to-day at the Alexian Hospital. The child's parents live at 125 Pine street, Elizabethport.

Charles W. McCutchen and family, of Rockview avenue, are planning to sail for a two months' trip to Europe and will leave on Wednesday.

By Geo. E. Firstbrook.

"GAZOOKER" IS "O. K."

He is Playing a Good Article of Ball and Wants the People to Know It.

THERE ARE OTHERS

General News Notes for Plainfield Fandom Inspired by One of Timbo's Weeds.

A newspaper reporter finds the news stream rather shallow at times, especially the unfortunate individual who is expected to cull baseball news in a chaotic burg like here where there isn't anything doing in the excitement line until May 5. "The baseball column will be on the blink tomorrow," mused I, when I discovered one of Timbo's cigars in my vest pocket. I ignited the weed and stretching myself out on a Grant avenue porch I awaited the mystifying influence of the "Fourth Estate." All I could think of was whether or not the heavens would spring a leak and spoil all the ball games or would old Sol take a stroll on the avenue with his summer smile.

That was all there was doing for me in the B. B. line for 28 minutes, My period of tranquility was suddenly interrupted by the appearance of eight year old Mr. F., Jr., on the scene, then I dashed all thoughts of stories to the great Sahara desert.

Before going any further I must explain that Mr. F., Jr., is extremely fond of baseball. He started the season in February and since that time he has used up two fifty-cent balls, of the Junior League variety, two ten-centers, and one that was "pinched" at school makes five. In addition to the consumption of baseballs by this "promising youngster" I was notified a few days ago that one of Harry Dreier's ten-cent bats was split in two pieces by Mister F., Jr., while trying to belt out a home run.

However, getting down to facts, F., Jr., thinks he is a ball player. He is like some other ball players newspapers know of who always make it a point to hunt up a reporter or editor to get some good sized puffs of his prowess in the baseball column of the local paper.

"Say, Pop," he said, when he butted in my peaceful smoke.

"Well, what is it Kid?" says I.

"My gosh, I'm putting up a corking good game on second this year for 'Hoppy' Walls' team. I'm getting 'em down in fine shape."

"Glad to hear it son, are you stinging the ball any?"

"You bet, I soaked one of Grant Boos' curves so hard the other day that I cracked my bat and I'll have to get another one."

"Well, is that all?"

"No, I want you to put it in the paper tomorrow night."

"Put what in—about breaking your bat?"

"No, just say that I'm putting up a corking good game at second."

"By Jove," says I, "I got my story and something to start off old "diamond dust" with today—so here she goes—"

DIAMOND DUST.

"Gazooker" Firstbrook is putting up a corking good game at second base for "Hoppy" Walls' aggergation this season. If Christy Mathewson will take a walk down the block he may see some good timber which he can recommend to John McGraw.

The first real game of the season will be played next Saturday on Crescent Oval between the Clinton Avenue and Garwood teams. The Clinton Avenue management has arranged to have the grounds that day, and an opportunity will be offered hungry cranks to get an appetizer for the opening game on the following Saturday with the All Cubans.

One week from Saturday the bleacherites will shout their joys aloud. It will be a great day if Sergeant Neagle can induce the rain man to stay away.

However let everybody breathe a prayer of thanksgiving to the weather man for past kindnesses and blessings and hope for the best.

Howdy Mistah Weather Man,
Much oblige to you;
Lately you'se been doin'
Good as any one kin do.

You've acted sort o' stingy
In de past, de neighbors say,
But we's grateful foh de little
Dat you sent de other day.

We'd been a-axin for it
An' we thought you'd done foh got,
'Twas a satisfyin' sample,
You kin send along de lot.

Former Manager George Johnston is well pleased with Manager Daab's pick of players. Who isn't?

Manager Billy Murray declares that Clarkson, of the New York Americans, who pitched for the Jerseys last season, will rank with the top notchers in the Banjohnsonian league when taps are sounded at the close of the season.

The Garwoods have a strong lineup this season. Manager Woodhead is so confident in the ability of his team that he has filed an application with Manager Daab for a game with the champions. That's getting pretty chesty for a country team.

Wonders never cease. Jim Bolmer, the old "Cy Young" of these parts who has been pitching ball for twenty-five years or more, says he may go in the box for the Clinton Avenues before the season is very old.

Charlie Denman expects to diet on the second rate team in Westfield this season. Since the former Westfield magnate emerged from baseball he has been growing stout and it wouldn't hurt him to drop a few pounds of his avoirdupois.

(Other sporting news on page three).

—S. W. Merrillew, of Brooklyn, vice president and editor of Automobile Topics, has removed to Belvidere avenue.

THE BASEBALL OUTLOOK

Further Reports Made at Saturday Night's Meeting of the Local Association.

CHANGES AT GROUNDS

Those Who Have Not Yet Received Stock Certificates Requested to Send Money to Treasurer.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Plainfield Baseball Association was held at the Hotel Iroquois Saturday night. In the absence of President William N. Runyon, who attended the Yale Club dinner, Mayor Newton B. Smalley, vice president, was in the chair. There was considerable discussion of details in preparation for the opening of the season on Saturday, May 5, when Plainfield will meet the fast All-Cuban team.

The latter part of the week the work of repairing the grandstand and bleacher sets and making other improvements will be attended to and it is also the intention to lower the bank in left field, throwing that dirt into the hollow which has heretofore formed a basin for a lake. It is also planned to make different arrangements for autos and carriages entering and leaving the grounds, so that the former will not frighten the horses. It is proposed to make room back of the grandstand so that autos can stand on one side of the field and horses and carriages on the other. There will also be a path for patrons on foot.

The flag pole, fully equipped for the flying of the championship pennant on the opening day and every day there is a game, will be in position, the ground committee having charge of this work.

It was estimated that with a clear warm day there should be an attendance of one thousand or over at the opening game, and it is believed that the attendance at every game this year will average more than last season. Treasurer C. W. Runyon received additional subscriptions and distributed several certificates of stock. It is desired that those who have not yet received their certificates and who can conveniently do so, send their money or check to Charles W. Runyon and he will mail them their certificate at once.

The plan proposed this year is to have a sufficient fund on hand in the treasury to meet the weekly expenses so that the receipts from the games can be put in the treasury and not touched. By doing this there is little likelihood of there being a shortage at the end of the season, while on the other hand there is a strong probability of there being a profit.

It is urged that there be a full attendance of members at the meeting of the association on Saturday night at the Hotel Iroquois so that all details can be perfected for the opening one week later. Mr. Smalley, chairman of the ground committee, wants to see as many of the members as possible so that the committee can arrange with those who are to assist at the games. It was announced that the city will furnish two policemen for each game free of cost to the association.

PLAINFIELD TEAMS WIN

P. H. S. Shuts Out Montclair and Leals Defeat South Orange.

SMITH IN GREAT FORM

He Is a Puzzle to Montclair Boys, Striking Out Twelve, and Only Allowing Two Hits.

Baseball teams representing the Plainfield High School and Leal's School journeyed from this city Saturday morning to play opponents abroad. Both teams returned home with good-sized victories, P. H. S. having shut out the Montclair H. S., score 8-0, while Leal's opened the season by defeating the South Orange H. S. nine, score 6-2. The game scheduled to be played between Plainfield High School and Orange H. S. in the afternoon, was cancelled by the latter team at the last minute, because they could not use the grounds in the afternoon. A game between these two nines will be arranged for later in the season.

The Montclair team and that of the locals met at the close of last season on Crescent Oval, and after three innings had been played, rain put an end to what looked like a close game, with the score of 3 to 2 in Montclair's favor. Since the issue was left doubtful last year, both teams were anxious to do something decisive this season, and each team practiced hard during the past week in anticipation of a close contest. That the training which Captain Davis has been giving the local team was beneficial, was evident from the all-around excellent showing made by the Plainfielders. The greatest improvement shown by the locals was in the batting line, where there was a marked increase in hits made by the Plainfield team.

"Phil." Smith occupied the slab for Plainfield, High School and to him in a great measure falls the credit of the victory. "Phil." has not been up to the scholarship requirements of the school up to this time and therefore could not play till he passed off his conditions, but the lack of practice in games did not seem to effect him, for he pitched in this, his first game of the season, in midsummer form. The Montclair boys acknowledged that Phil. was the hardest proposition which they had ever met. He struck out twelve men and allowed but two hits to the heavy hitters of Montclair. Phil. also distinguished himself by hitting the ball for a triple, a double, and a single, out of four times at bat. Davis caught Smith in faultless style. Douglass, H. Freeman and Mahaffey, of P. H. S., accepted many chances faultlessly, the latter in particular making two phenomenal catches. Captain Harrison and Gates starred for Montclair.

The Leal's school team played a fast game, although this was their opening, and there is much credit due the local private school in winning a game from so strong a team as South Orange H. S. The final score was 6 to 2.

Murchie, of South Orange, who pitched against Plainfield High School two years ago so well, was pitted against Bergen, of Leal's, in the box, and the game resolved itself into a pitchers' battle. Murchie pitched excellently for South Orange, and had he received proper support from his team would easily have won, for he struck nineteen Leal men out. Leal's backed up Bergen in faultless style, and with men on base, always hit the ball. For Leal's, Howard, Wilcox and Glenny did brilliantly, while Murchie starred in all departments for South Orange.

Leal's and P. H. S. will meet on Wednesday, in the first game of a series for the city scholastic championship, now held by P. H. S. Judging from the showing of these teams on Saturday, the game will be a close one.

Choir Boys Win.

Holy Cross choir defeated Denton's team by a score of 17 to 5, on the Cricket field, Mercer and Girard avenues, Saturday morning. The batteries were: Holy Cross, Ira Vail and Earl Moran; Dentons, Louis Slocum, "Budgy" Clark and Earl Oakley.

Read Marriage Banns.

Father Bogan, of St. Mary's R. C. church, read for the second time at the morning service, yesterday, the banns announcing the engagement of Miss Catherine Honan and Joseph F. Burke, of this city.

Small Stable Damaged.

An alarm from box 42 at 4:15 Saturday afternoon called the hearquarters apparatus to the rear of J. W. Gavett's store on West Front street, where a small barn and storehouse had caught fire in some way. A brisk blaze was in progress and a hydrant stream was needed to put it out. The damage with reach $100, covered by insurance.

Mrs. H. A. Todd, of East Third street, who recently underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, was today reported as not doing as well.

Death of Patrick Lawler.

Patrick J. Lawler, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lawler, of John street, died at the home of his parents Saturday afternoon after a long illness with Bright's disease. He is survived by three brothers and two sisters. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and interment will follow in St. Mary's cemetery.

ADAM FRITZ SUFFERS HEAVILY IN CATASTROPHE

Boroughite Half Owner of $500,000 Worth of Property Wiped Out at 'Frisco.

PART OF AN ESTATE

Letter That Reached Him Yesterday Declared Not a Building in Which He Was Interested Had Been Saved.

By the terrible calamity that visited San Francisco and wiped out hundreds of fortunes, property worth half a million dollars belonging jointly to Adam Fritz, of the borough, and Charles W. Buhr, of Los Angeles, was destroyed. The former had feared it from the time he received the first intimation of the earthquake and fire and confirmation came in a letter that reached him yesterday. The property consisted principally of large buildings in the heart of the business district and not one of them was left. Mr. Fritz has sent on instructions as far as he is concerned and may leave for the scene in the near future.

The property was left to Fritz and Buhr only a short time ago by Adam Billinger, a one time resident of near Mount Bethel, who went west when a young man to make his fortune. He located on the Pacific coast and from the start prosperity smiled on him. As soon as he had amassed a small amount of money, he invested it in real estate in San Francisco, where values were increasing with great bounds, and he quickly found himself independently wealthy. He also bought business blocks and ground in Los Angeles and other places and invested large sums in mining property in Arizona and South America.

Billinger died recently and his will directed that the estate be divided equally between Fritz, who was named after him but not of kin, and two nephews, Charles and George H. Buhr, providing the latter could be located within a specified time. The executors made every effort to find eGorge but without success and a few months ago Fritz was informed by Charles, who is now at Los Angeles, that the property would soon be divided among them. Its estimated value was $750,000 and of this more than $500,000 worth was in San Francisco.

Fritz and Buhr, together with the executors, will have an inventory of the estate made as soon as possible in order to collect insurance and clear the ground. They have small hopes of realizing any large amount but the property in the adjacent cities and that in Arizona and South America will still leave them nearly $200,000 for division.

BEAT HIS WIFE ON SOMERSET STREET

WILLIAM H. CALLAWAY INTERRUPTED AND ARRESTED IN THE PASTIME.

Shrieks from Somerset street started Roundsman Flynn for the main entrance to the borough at 8.30 o'clock last night. He found W. H. Callaway pounding his wife in front of French's mill, while Mrs. Calloway registered shrill protest. Her five-year-old daughter, clinging to her skirt, mingled wails with her shrieks.

Callaway fled when he heard the officer coming, but was overtaken before he crossed the line. He told the roundsman his wife struck him first. He found her, with her sister and daughter in Blimm's saloon, and a row started there. Mrs. Callaway says he caught him winking at another woman and protested against that.

Husband and wife were charged with disorderly conduct and will be heard next Monday. The woman was released last night on the child's account. Callaway was locked until morning.

Reception for Mrs. H. W. Marshall.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will give a reception in the parlors of Masonic Hall, Babcock building, tomorrow afternoon in honor of Mrs. H. W. Marshall, who will present a paper on her recent tour in the West Indies.

TAX BUDGET TO BE ADOPTED ON MAY 1

BOARD OF ASSESSORS WILL THEN BEGIN ITS WORK OF ASSESSMENT.

The tax ordinance which was adopted on first and second readings at the last meeting of the Common Council will be passed on its final reading at the regular session to be held on Monday night, May 7. The finance committee has acted independent of the Hillery act which proposes a uniform tax rate for the State. In adopting the tax ordinance there is no interference with the Hillery act.

The finance committee secures the estimate from the various committees and departments as to the amount of money needed for the coming year and this is drafted in an ordinance. After the adoption of the ordinance the finance committee communicates with the Board of Assessors informing that body of the amount to be raised and the board acts accordingly in its work of assessing real and personal property. After that the Union County Board of Assessors meet at Elizabeth and go over the various estimates. The county rate is fixed and then follows the rate for the various cities and towns in the county. It is up to the Plainfield Common Council to pass on the books of the assessors and approve or disapprove the assessments and if one rate is made for the State the assessors will have to govern their work in accordance with that rate. Whichever way the matter is decided it will make but little difference to Plainfield taxpayers, as a certain amount will have to be raised and the assessors will be obliged to equalize the assessments accordingly.

W. S. ANGLEMAN NAMED AS FIRST COUNCILOR

NEW JR. O. U. A. M. LODGE COMPLETES DETAILS OF ORGANIZATION.

The charter members of the new Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met in Junior Hall, West Front street, last night, and completed the organization by electing these officers for the ensuing year:

Councilor, Winfield S. Angleman; vice councilor, George B. Cratsley; recording secretary, Julius G. Williams; assistant recording secretary, F. E. Sebring; financial secretary, Harry H. Webb; treasurer, George W. V. Moy; conductor, Dr. R. D. Tomlinson; warden, Daniel G. VanWinkle; inside sentinel, Theodore Lister; outside sentinel, Charles T. Leland; representative to State Council, Peter H. Bennett; trustee until July 1, 1906, Peter H. Bennett; trustee for six months, John Franklin; trustee for twelve months, Winfield S. Angleman.

There was a good attendance of members at the meeting and arrangements were made for the institution of the council on Monday night at Junior Hall, at which time the new officers will be installed and other details perfected. State Council Secretary William H. Miers and Rev. J. Morgan Reed will be present to institute the new body and it is expected that there will be representatives from other councils in this vicinity.

Police Will Contribute.

In pursuance with a suggestion in a circular letter sent out by Major Sylvester, of the Washington police department, president of the International Association of Police Chiefs, Chief Kiely will have a collection taken up among his men for the benefit of the San Francisco policemen. Many members of the force there lost all their belongings in the catastrophe, and all of them have suffered hardship and loss in battling with the conditions arising out of it. The contributions will be sent directly to Chief J. F. Dinan, of San Francisco.

A Birthday Party.

Miss Madeline J. Lewin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lewin, of Watchung avenue, the borough, was given a party, Saturday, in honor of her tenth birthday. Twenty-five of her young friends were in attendance and they passed several hours delightfully in playing games. Miss Lewin received a number of pretty presents.

Dr. Schaeffer to Lecture.

Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, Pennsylvania State Superintendent of Schools, will lecture before the teachers of the city and borough in the Plainfield High School Thursday night at 8 o'clock. It will be the second in the series on educational matters.

F. H. ANDREWS GETS PLUM

Senator Ackerman's Candidate Appointed By Governor to New Tax Board.

THE OTHERS NAMED

Caleb Pollard, of Elizabeth, and J. Williams Crane, of Union Township, Also Lucky—Each to Get $1,600 a Year.

Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Union County Republican committee, announced today the appointment by Governor Stokes of the new county board of tax assessors. Those appointed are Frederick H. Andrews, of this city; Caleb Pollard, of Elizabeth, who was chairman of the Union County Board of Assessors, and J. William Crane, of Union township, who was on the Martin Act commission. The salary of each assessor is $1,600, which is paid by the State. Thomas Hanna, of this city, is a candidate for the position of secretary to the commission. The salary of the secretary is fixed by the Board of Freeholders. The new board takes office May 1.

The appointment of Frederick H. Andrews as a member of the board is not a surprise. He was recommended by Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and it is understood that he was also favored by many others. Charles H. Hand and Harry C. Runyon, who are members of the Plainfield Board of Assessors, were both candidates for the position. Mr. Hand claimed to have the support of the local Republican organization and the promises of several persons of influence. He also received a letter from Governor Stokes this morning informing him that the appointment would not be made until due consideration had been given to his application. Mr. Hand's extensive knowledge of real estate made him a strong candidate for the position and many believed that he would receive the appointment. Mr. Runyon has also had considerable experience in this work and had the support of many friends who favored him.

The new Board of Assessors is appointed for the purpose of equalizing the assessment of taxes in the county and taxpayers who have any grievances that cannot be adjusted by the local Board of Assessors can appeal to the county board for relief.

The law provides that the board shall consist of two Republicans and one Democrat. Mr. Andrews and Mr. Pollard are the Republican members and Mr. Crane is a Democrat.

DIES FROM STROKE; UNCONSCIOUS 3 DAYS

ALBERT HENRY BOWMAN'S DEATH CAUSED BY APOPLEXY.

Albert Henry Bowman, for thirty years a prominent member of the New York Produce Exchange, and a resident of this city for that length of time, died at his home, 1114 Dunellen avenue, yesterday afternoon, after being in an unconscious condition since Friday afternoon. Death was due to apoplexy.

Mr. Bowman returned home from New York early Friday afternoon, and after conversing with his wife for a short time, went out to his garden, accompanied by his son, Harold Bowman, to take measurements for an outbuilding he proposed to erect. While engaged in this work he told his son that he would go to the tool shed and get a measure. His continued absence caused the son some anxiety and upon going to the shed was horrified to find his father lying in a semi-conscious condition across a wheelbarrow.

Mr. Bowman recognized his son and called him by name, but his speech was very much affected. He also called for his wife, who hastened to the scene to learn the cause of the trouble. Mrs. Bowman and her son carried Mr. Bowman into the house where he was placed on a couch. He at once lost all consciousness and remained in that condition until his death yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bowman is survived by a wife, three sons, Fred, Harold and Martin Bowman, and three daughters, the Misses Louise, Florence and Ethel Bowman. Miss Louise Bowman, a trained nurse, was in constant attendance upon her father during his illness. The funeral services will be private.

Odd Fellows Will Entertain.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., will hold an anniversary entertainment and "ladies' night" on Wednesday night, April 25, at 8:15 o'clock. All members and their families are invited to attend. A regular session of the lodge will be held at 7:30 o'clock that night and a full attendance is desired.

'FRISCO AGAIN SHAKEN

Shock Rocked the Shattered City Late Last Night.

PANIC BUT NO DAMAGE

Order Being Restored and Relief Work Systematized — Courts and Business Will Resume Tomorrow.

San Francisco, April 24.—There was increased uneasiness among the homeless thousands here today because of a new earthquake, which came upon the city of ashes and sorrow at 10.39 o'clock last night.

This last earthquake came just as did the big quakes of last week. The earth tremeled and quivered and buildings left standing after the ravages of tremor and fire staggered like drunken men and seemed ready to topple.

There was no one who did not feel the shock and through the tented parks and open squares came screams of fright.

Latest reports do not tell of loss of life or further damage to property.

There is no immediate danger of an epidemic from either smallpox or typhoid.

After six days of confusion the great task of sheltering, feeding and otherwise caring for the homeless thousands, complete order has been established and attention is now turned to the future.

Apart from the disarmament order another evidence of a speedy return to more normal civic conditions is the fact that regular business will be resumed in San Francisco tomorrow morning. All the superior judges will open their twelve departments of the court in the Jewish synagogue, California and Webster streets. Criminal cases will have precedence.

Gen. A. W. Greely took command of the Federal troops at this post, superseding Gen. Funston, who will act under Greely's orders.

A Double Surprise.

Miss Florence Churton, a teacher in the Whittier school, and Helen Ryder, of Central avenue, were tendered a double surprise by schoolmates of the latter at her home, last night. It was Miss Ryder's birthday and when plans had been completed to help her celebrate it, Miss Churton was also inveigled to the house and made a co-victim. Everyone had a delightful time playing games and enjoying piano selections and refreshments were served in conclusion. Miss Ryder received a number of pretty presents.

Among those in attendance were Ethel Rogers, Helen Smith, Joan Gillies, Elsie Tier, Corinne Tennyson, Adelia French, Amy Horner, Ethel Searing, Florence Ryder, Ralph Martin, Russel Abbott, William Fesmier and Edward Ryder. The affair was arranged by Amy Horner and Ethel Searing.

Jury for Contract Case.

The contract case of G. M. Morrill against H. Hansen, in Justice Hand's court, will be tried before a jury of twelve men tomorrow. J. P. Owens is lawyer for the plaintiff and F. J. Huff for the defendant.

PINKERTONS IN SEARCH

Mrs. Kuenlen Hires Private Sleuths to Hunt For Her Daughter.

CRITICIZES LOCAL MEN

Too Slow and Indifferent, Is the Complaint—Ponds Dragged In Vain Yesterday—Clue From Roselle.

Dissatisfied with the way in which the local police have conducted the search, Mrs. Marie Kuenlen, mother of the girl who disappeared Saturday afternoon, has placed the case in the hands of the Pinkertons. One of the detectives on the New York agency staff was put on it yesterday.

Only one faint clue to the girl's whereabouts has been discovered, and Mrs. Kuenlen's friends say the police here, acting with apparent indifference, did not secure that nor anything else that might shed light on the mystery. It was said by the friends that the department here made no effort to place the girl's description in cities nearby until complaints were registered this morning.

Chief Kiely stated this forenoon that it was not until 11 o'clock Sunday morning that the case was called to the department's attention, and that up to this morning he had been unable to secure a photograph of the girl. Mrs. Kuenlen says she gave a photograph to Officer Kelly yesterday. Orders for circulars were issued by the chief this morning.

Chief Kenny, of Roselle, furnished the one faint clue to the girl yesterday. He telephoned to Mrs. Kuenlen that he saw her daughter in Roselle Saturday night. Henry Liefke, who is directing the search for Mrs. Kuenlen, went to Roselle to see Kenny this morning.

All the ponds in this neighborhood were dragged without result yesterday. Messages from all the girl's friends in neighboring cities, to whom she might have gone, shed no light on the disappearance.

The family do not know how much money Miss Kuenlen had with her. It is not believed to have been much, but she may have had enough to carry her a considerable distance.

ITALIAN SLAYER HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY

CERBO WAIVES EXAMINATION BEFORE JUSTICE MOSHER—MORE WITNESSES.

Francesco Cerbo, who shot and killed Palolo Fusco, in a quarrel at John Falconi's house, Cottage place, early Sunday morning, was taken to Elizabeth this morning, to await the action of the grand jury. He was held after a formal arraignment before Justice Mosher.

Cerbo, who has acknowledged the shooting in a statement to Chief Kiely, waived examination through Francis J. Blatz, who was retained as his counsel. Quick action by the grand jury is expected. The police have five or six witnesses, four of whom saw the shooting, and the case will be ready for the prosecutor in a day or two.

Luigi Fusco, brother of the dead man, and Candolora and Elvira Falconi, eighteen and fourteen years old, who heard the quarrel and the shots from their bedroom upstairs, were added to the witnesses yesterday afternoon.

Cerbo, it is said, will probably be indicted for murder in the second degree. The shooting occurred in the midst of a heated quarrel, while both men were more or less under the influence of liquor. The presence of the wound in his wrist and the nature of Fusco's death wound, which makes it certain he must have fired at least one shot before he died, gives Cerbo the groundwork for a strong plea of self defense.

Casino Restaurant.

The members of the Yale College Club who attended the annual dinner at the Casino last Saturday night, speak in highest praise of the excellence of the delightful menu prepared by Manager Maze Edwards. From a gastronomical standpoint it was a great success, equalling Sherry's, Delmonico's or any other noted resort in New York. The cooking by Mrs. Freda Collem was artistic, and service unexcelled. The Casino restaurant is an attractive place, and is being patronized by many automobile parties and private families, who here find every comfort and convenience. Dinner and supper orders are specialties and to insure attention a telephone message will "do the rest."

Raymond Schmidt Surprised.

A surprise party was given to Raymond Schmidt, of Duer street, last night, in honor of his fourteenth birthday anniversary.

SWELLING STRICKEN CITY FUND

The Daily Press Fund Now Amounts to $1,390, Bringing Grand Total Up to $3,244 For the City of Plainfield; And More is in Sight.

CO. K. BOYS SEND IN A NICE SUBSCRIPTION

The fund for the relief of San Francisco, being raised by The Daily Press, now amounts to $1,390.50. Captain Martin's military boys, Co. K, the crack company of all New Jersey, voted $25 last night and this morning a check came to this office for that amount.

Custodian Arnold, of the Mayor's committee, reports $1,587 to date. The contributions of the Yale club and that of the Congregational church, both of which have been sent independently, together with what has been raised by The Daily Press brings the grand total up to $3,244.50.

Closing Week of the Great Bankrupt Stock of J. J. Varley & Co.

The enormous business done by us the last 3 weeks naturally leaves us with a large quantity of odds and ends, remnants, broken sizes, etc. This week will be devoted to closing out these lots without regard to original values. We must clear our counters, tables and shelves of these accumulations, therefore the present week will eclipse anything heretofore done by us in the way of value-giving. No thrifty woman in this city should fail to avail themselves of this money-saving opportunity, for values of this kind seldom come your way. Lack of space prevents us from enumerating the many good things we have placed at your disposal all this week.

REMNANTS of Dress Goods, Silks, Wash Goods, Linens, Sheetings, Towelings, White Goods, Embroideries, Laces, Ribbons. Also odd sizes in Waists, Suits, Corsets, Corset Covers, Underwear, Hosiery, Gloves, Collars, Cuffs and Shirts, will be disposed of at less than cost of making.

The greater part of these goods will be displayed on our Aisle Bargain Tables at still greater reductions than they have been sold for the past 3 weeks. Look them over; there may be many things you can use. At less than 50 cents on the Dollar.

EVERY ARTICLE ADVERTISED BY US IS EXACTLY AS REPRESENTED. NO MISREPRESENTATION PERMITTED UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCE. IF YOU SEE IT IN A. E. FORCE & CO.'S AD. IT IS SO—EXACTLY.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Owing to the many request made to hold another TWO HOUR SALE, we have decided to have one on Thursday morning from 9 to 11 a. m. on the third floor. Odds and ends from the Hill & Shupp and the J. J. Varley Bankrupt Stock will be sold. Values up to 50c.

BIG GOLF TOURNAMENT

Programme For Eighth Annual Contest of Metropolitan Golf Asssciation.

ON ST. ANDREWS LINKS

Big Golf Event Will Begin May 23 and Continue for Four Days—The Programme.

Announcement is made of the eighth annual tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association to be held on the links of the St. Andrews Golf Club, Chauncey, New York, May 23, 24, 25 and 26.

The "Metropolitan Championship" will consist of a qualifying round of thirty-six holes medal play; the sixty-four players making the lowest scores to compete at eighteen holes match play for the following events, except the finals, which will be at thirty-six holes match play in each competition:

The first thirty-two to compete for the championship and prizes. The third sixteen to compete for a prize. The fourth sixteen to compete for a prize. The defeated sixteen of the first thirty-two to compete for the President's cup. Players entering for this event must be certified by the secretary of a club as representing that club. Only players having a rating on the Metropolitan Golf Association handicap list of seventeen or less are eligible. Entries for the Metropolitan Golf Association championship must be made through secretaries of clubs and will close at the office of the secretary, Leighton Calkins, 25 Broad street, New York, Saturday, May 19, at noon. The entrance fee of $2 must accompany entry. Drawings and times of starting will be announced later.

"Metropolitan Club Pairs Four Ball Match." Eighteen holes medal play. Teams to consist of two players, both of whom must be members of the same club. Best ball of players at each hole to count. All members of clubs without regard to handicap, are eligible to compete in this event. Any club may enter more than one team. In addition to the individual prizes a banner will be given to the club represented by the winners. Post entries. Competitors will be paired at the tee.

"Metropolitan Handicap." Eighteen holes medal play. Open to all members of clubs belonging to the Metropolitan Golf Association. Handicaps limited to eighteen strokes. No association player is eligible to compete, except at scratch, unless he has an association rating. Players not having ratings can obtain them by applying to Secretary Calkins. No player will be allowed to start after 1:30 p. m. in this event.

Metropolitan Golf Association championship plate. On this plate shall be inscribed each year the name of the winner of the tournament of that year; and it shall be held during the rest of the year by the club which the winner may have represented. Should this plate be won three times by any player or players of any one club, it shall become the property of that club.

Metropolitan Golf Association championship gold medal. This medal to be awarded to the winner of the championship. Gold medals to be awarded to the runner up, for the best score in qualifying round, to the winner of the third sixteen, to the winner of the fourth sixteen and the President's cup to be presented to the winner of the defeated sixteen of the first thirty-two.

Metropolitan Golf Association club pairs four ball match. Two gold medals to be awarded to the winners of the club pair four ball match. A banner to be given to the club represented by the winners.

Metropolitan Golf Association handicap. A silver cup to be awarded to the winner of the handicap. A gold medal to be awarded to the player turning in the best gross score.

STEALING NOW IS A THING OF THE PAST

RIVAL BALL CLUBS DO NOT SEEK EACH OTHER'S SIGNAL'S.

"There is a pretty thorough understanding among the clubs of the American League," said Manager Armour of Detroit recently, "that it is bad manners to steal the signals of an opposing team. There is no formal rule to this effect in our organization, although I do believe the National has such a regulation. However, I doubt if there is anything of a systematic nature in the line of a signal service bureau now in operation at any American League park.

"Of course, there are times when pitchers who seem to have everything go in and get pounded in ways most inexplicable, yet there is always good ground for doubting the existence of any undue assistance to the batters.

"I don't suppose that it is strictly sportsmanlike, but base ball is a strenuous game, and there are times when a man may feel sorely tempted.

"The only bureau that ever reached a real stage of perfection existed at Philadelphia in the days when the National League team there had such batters as Delehanty, Lajoie, Flick, Thomas and a bunch of others, with Dick Cooley, then in his prime, to lead off. The club carried one man who did nothing else but work the bureau—Morgan Murphy, the veteran catcher. He would get the signals of the opposing catcher with a glass, from the club house in centerfield, and then telegraph them to the coacher on first base by means of a buzzer. The coacher would give them to the batter and a terrible slaughter would usually result."

"Yes, Bill," contributed Red Donahue, "and I was a member of that club, if you'll recall. Often I've gone out to the club house with Murphy and watched him work, and he was simply the best man ever at that job. His field glasses cost him $125, and I've looked through them myself and seen Jack Warner's gold teeth and caught the quiver of his eyelids a block away. I wonder if people ever knew that we had a stand from which we worked that signal service in almost every city in the league? It is, so far as I know, the only team that ever did anything in the signal service line off its own grounds.

"But we simply killed the game. I always maintained to Capt. Delehanty that when we had our games won we ought to quit the signal business and not rub it in too strong. Also, the other bunch would be much less liable to discover our system, but Del never could see it that way. 'Don't you like to hear them zing their way off the bats and to the fence?' he would ask, and the rest were of the same opinion.

"And the funny part of it was that our batting was really our undoing. The fellows wouldn't play the game, but thought only of whacking the ball. Bunts, team work in the field, base running—it was all forgotten. We made 200 runs more than any other club in the league, but finished third."

When the visiting team in any city perceives that the signals are being read in some way by the other organization, a battle of wits ensues which is breathlessly interesting to those who appreciate the situation. The catcher of the victimized aggregation immediately switches his system and for a time throws the signal system bureau out of commission, but it only takes a few pitched balls before the man with the glass is next again. Then the catcher tries to conceal his signs and sometimes is able to accomplish this if he is aware of the location of the station of the man with the glass. According to Donahue, the Louisville club appeared in Philadelphia one day and the result was four runs and a man on third off five balls pitched by Cunningham. That was enough for Fred Clarke, who was then managing the Colonels.

A conference was held, after which Morgan Murphy's buzzer remained silent. The Louisville crowd got busy themselves, while Philadelphia was helpless. The score was tied in the eighth inning and a small boy brought word from Murphy that the catcher was giving absolutely no signs. That gave the bunch an idea. They watched Cunningham and found out that he was signaling his own curve with a smile. The Phillies immediately began to do things and won the game with ease.

Jack Warner, then catching for New York, says that he tried mouth signs, eye signs, and every other imaginable means to delude Murphy, even getting the third baseman to give the signals in one game. He confesses he never fooled the Philadelphia man for any length of time, however.

There was only one plan that really had Murphy buffaloed to any extent, and Robinson of Baltimore was the man who invented that. Robbie would get down low on the ground and place his palms together. If he allowed the pitcher to see the light between them for an instant it meant the curve. Otherwise, of course, it was the straight ball. The pitcher, to get the sign, would step out of the straight line to the club house and the streak of light was invisible to Murphy in his glass. The Philadelphia bunch, however, solved this proposition eventually by placing a player in the grandstand behind the catcher. He caught the flash, signaled to Murphy and the bureau was again in operation.

Of course, there have been schemes and schemes to keep the location of the various signal bureaus a secret. In one town where a park backed up to an old barn, right against the fence, a part of the barn was fitted up with holes for the glasses and a fine design was painted on the centerfield fence. It was ostensibly an advertisement for a brand of clothing, and the centerpiece was a man of heroic proportions. From his coat pocket emerged just a little white piece of handkerchief.

This handkerchief was the office. By an ingenious contrivance the handkerchief would merge into the back of the rest of the suit for one sign, while when it reappeared the batter would understand that the opposite ball had been signaled by the catcher.

Then the barn burned down and the property changed hands, a concealment of the service being no longer possible.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

According to Maude Adams' press agent, the actress is to travel in a private car next season that will have a complete stage suitable for rehearsals. It will be called the "Peter Pan" and is now being built for her at a cost of $45,000.

Manager Fred Beckman, of the Frank Robbins circus, has been spending the past few days in Plainfield as the guest of Manager Counihan. Beckman is an old-time theatrical man who spends the winter in directing the affairs of Lew Dockstader's minstrel aggregation.

There are but three attractions booked for the New Plainfield this week: The Daisy Bell Vaudeville tonight; "New York By Night" on Thursday, and Lewis Morrison's "Faust" Saturday. Al. Leech comes next week and two weeks afterward the Jeffersons in "The Rivals" bring the season to a close.

Henry Woodruff, the star of "Brown of Harvard," now appearing at the Princess, New York, is a former Plainfield boy. His father, who died a short time ago, was one of the first proprietors of the Netherwood Hotel and Henry and his other children lived at the hostelry. His stage career has been wonderfully successful and critics declare he has a bright future.

All the baggage and scenery belonging to the Willie Collier company, which was to have sailed for Australia last Thursday, was destroyed in the San Francisco disaster. There is a possibility that the trip may have to be abandoned. The "Babes in Toyland" company and the Cherry Blossom Burlesquers, in addition to the Conreid opera forces, were also heavy losers.

Mrs. Peck, mother of Rev. A. S. Peck, rector of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, has gone to Baltimore to visit relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, have returned from West Point, where they were the guests of Captain and Mrs. Hammond.

Miss Mary Brown, of Washington avenue, who was called to Bristol, Conn., on Sunday on account of the death of her brother, Burtt A. Brown, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, sailed this morning at 5 o'clock on the steamer Deutschland for Europe. They will be abroad for an indefinite time. The trip is taken for the benefit of Mrs. McCutchen's health.

—Dr. Sidney Titsworth, of West Fifth street, who will be graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons this spring, has secured a position as house physician in a hospital at Bridgeport, Conn. The term is for eighteen months.

—A thunder and lightning storm visited Elizabeth yesterday morning, followed by a violent hail storm that lasted for several minutes. Horses were frightened and several runaways were narrowly averted. During the first storm, a bolt of lightning struck the chimney on the house owned and occupied by Jacob Moscowitz and his married daughter, Mrs. Honiz, at 226 Fourth street, and partially wrecked the interior. The occupants were thrown into a panic and for a few minutes believed that there was an earthquake.

If subscribers to the fund for the relief of San Francisco who have not already sent in the amount of their contributions will do so at once it will expedite matters considerably. Make your checks out to "The Daily Press, San Francisco Relief Fund."

Mayor Smalley's sensible suggestion that New Jersey extend succor to its stricken sister, California, by appropriating one million out of the surplus fund, is being followed in a measure by the State of New York. Governor Higgins has sent a special message to the Empire State's Legislature recommending that $250,000 be appropriated for the people of the Golden Gate. If Governor Stokes should call an extra session of our own Legislature and advise the appropriation of at least twice the amount given by New York, and it can be spared easily, his action would meet with the hearty approval of every man, woman and child throughout the length and breadth of the State.

TROLLEY TRUST TO TAKE BACK YOUNG

UNOFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT THAT HE WILL CONTROL ITS OPERATING DEPT.

Unofficial announcement was made yesterday in Newark that an important change is soon to be made in connection with the control of the operating department of the trolley systems of the Public Service Corporation.

It is understood that negotiations have been concluded for the return of David Young as general manager of all the lines operated by the company. Mr. Young was formerly first vice president and general manager of the North Jersey Street Railway Company. When the lines of that company were merged with the Jersey City, Hoboken and Paterson lines, of which Mr. Young was also general manager, and with other lines, notably the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey and the Orange and Passaic Valley, Mr. Young retired. He since has been managing the extensive trolley interest in various large cities controlled by Brown Brothers, of New York.

Mr. Young probably will divide the management of the lines of the Public Service with Vice President Charles A. Sterling, who will devote his attention to improving and extending the present systems. Mr. Young will attend to the operating.

The deal by which the services of Mr. Young are to be secured is said to be an outcome of the recent move by which new capital was secured to the Public Service through the banking house of Winthrop & Co. and the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia.

Mr. Young is classed among the most expert and successful operators of trolley systems in the United States.

Charles Arnold Awaiting Tidings.

Charles Arnold, the Liberty street marketman, called at the Daily Press office yesterday, and left $10 for the San Francisco relief fund. Incidentally, he stated that he has two sisters in California, one of whom resides in the stricken city and the other at Oakland. He has been waiting anxiously to hear from them but so far he has received no tidings and of course messages that he has sent have been unanswered.

Howard Armstrong Not Heard From.

Howard Armstrong, a brother of T. S. Armstrong, the druggist, is among those who were in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake, but no word has been received from him as yet. Mr. Armstrong holds a responsible position with the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

PAID MRS. DUKE CALLS

Dula Accuses Major Huntoon in the Tobacco King's Divorce Case.

DETECTIVE'S TESTIFY

Wife Smiles Upon Duke While the Stories Are Being Told Against Her.

"Is that man in the court room now?"

As Richard V. Lindabury asked the question yesterday at the first session of the James B. Duke divorce suit, in Chancery Court at Newark there was a stir among the spectators. Then Mr. Lindabury said:

"Will Major Frank T. Huntoon please stand up?"

There arose from a seat in the rear of the room a tall, military-looking man of more than 50 years, of a bull-like avoirdupois that indicated the life of a well-to-do man; his hair, gray, but still thick, brushed back from his high forehead, his white beard and mustache neatly trimmed to a square shape and his person clothed in a manner which bespoke a Fifth avenue tailor.

Caleb Dula, vice president of the American Tobacco company, had just testified that during James B. Duke's absence in Europe in the summer of 1905 he had seen Major Huntoon come out of Mrs. Duke's house, at No. 11 West Sixty-eighth street.

"Is this the man?" asked Mr. Lindabury.

"It is," answered Mr. Dula.

There were just two persons in the court who did not turn and gaze curiously at Major Huntoon. One was a very graceful and handsome woman, of perhaps forty years, who sat between two lawyers on the right of the court room. The other was a large, substantial-looking man, whose florid countenance, smooth-shaven, revealed the features of a man of business—great and successful business, if anything is to be read in the human countenance.

The woman's figure was that of a girl of eighteen. A yard-measure would have circled her waist twice. She was dressed from head to foot in black, save where two wide pieces of white lace were appliqued down the front of her waist. Although her dress was that of a mourner, it looked strangely unlike a mourner's, so cleverly was it constructed to carry out the illusion of youthfulness. Her velvety, jet-plumed hat surmounted a mass of deep brown hair; her eyebrows, also of a fascinating brown, were gently arched, and across her delicate, clear-cut mouth passed fugitive smiles.

This woman was Mrs. Lillian N. Duke, whose nine months of wedded life with the head of the great American tobacco trust ended in a suit and cross-suit for divorce, in which Major Huntoon is co-respondent. Her husband, James B. Duke, the man who saw nothing to interest him in Major Huntoon's face, vouchsafed the woman not so much as one look, although she glanced occasionally at her husband with one of those sweet but inscrutable smiles.

Mrs. Duke married once before. In the divorce trial, which took place thirteen years ago, her husband, William N. McCreedy, was granted a decree. The tobacco magnate married her in November, 1904, and testimony will be introduced to show that even then her heart was more in Major Huntoon's keeping than in James B. Duke's.

The testimony yesterday, which was given by three private detectives and Mr. Dula, told of the results of espionage carried on during Mr. Duke's absence in Europe. Frederick Mumford, Victor G. Milch and Chas. L. Mumford had kept an almost constant watch of Mrs. Duke's house during July and August, 1905, and Mr. Dula had been called on three occasions when Major Huntoon was known to be making midnight visits to the Duke house in order to be a witness to his exit in the early hours of the morning.

Mrs. Duke's room was in front on the third floor, and all of the detectives and Mr. Dula testified that on several occasions they had seen Mrs. Duke come to the bay window and wave her hand to Major Huntoon as he disappeared down the street.

On Sept. 2, the detectives testified, Mrs. Duke was served with the papers in the divorce suit. In the middle of the afternoon, about one hour after the service, Major Huntoon appeared at the Duke house and entered. Then began a long watch.

Vice Chancellor Pitney is famous for the peppery way in which he administers Jersey justice, and he made the distinguished New York lawyers who appeared before him yesterday take lessons in his common-sense view of evidence. Alan H. Strong, for Major Huntoon, kept trying to strike out the evidence of the detectives on the ground that they were reading from reports instead of relating from memory.

"No! On the contrary!" roared the vice chancellor, his white beard bristling with a ferocity heightened by the effect of a patch across his right eye. "I consider these reports the best evidence in all the world. Why not? They were made truthfully each day after the evidence contained in them was gathered. You are treating me as though I were a jury. Don't do it! Go on."

The trial was adjourned to Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

"Jewett" Refrigerators

are the best. The proof of this statement is ten years' selling of about two car loads a year. Could we furnish any better evidence? This year they are better than ever in style, construction and finish, and notwithstanding the great increase in cost of everything that goes to make up a refrigerator, our prices of all sizes and kinds are the same as last year. One important feature in connection with the "Jewett" Refrigerator that we wish to elaborate and one which will strongly appeal to every housekeeper this year especially, is that they will keep colder with less ice than any other make. The full line is now on the floor and ready for your inspection. 25 different sizes and styles. Prices from $5.98 to $95.00.

The New Porch Rockers

are here in endless variety, they are of the better kinds and will a deal to anyone who appreciates a good looking, comfortable and durable Rocker. The frames are of selected maple and the seats and backs are of durable rattan. The prices start at 78c and run up to $4.50.

THE SALE OF SAMPLE BEDS is still on. You never had a better chance to buy a good bed for so little money. $9.50 instead of $12.50 and $15.00.

Jap-a-Lac

is a great reviver of old woodwork as it covers up all marks and scratches, producing a brilliant and lasting finish. You can use it on porch chairs, refrigerators, window screens and door screens and make them look like new. Jap-a-lac comes in all colors and sells for 15c, 25c, 40c and 75c a can.

The New Housewares Department

In the basement is now the busiest place in the store, completely stocked with everything to lighten the labor and worry of housekeepers. Nearly 10,000 feet of floor space devoted to this department, well lighted and ventilated, large roomy aisles and staircases; experienced sales-people to serve you; deliveries twice a day, and best of all everything sold bears the stamp of merit and the prices are extremely moderate.

Charities' Aid Work.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The Executive Committee of the New Jersey State Conference of Charities and Corrections, which met on Friday afternoon, adopted a resolution endorsing the prompt action of Governor Stokes in offering New Jersey's sympathy and aid to the stricken people of San Francisco. The committe also expressed its strong approval of the appeal made by President Roosevelt to the people of the United States to entrust their contributions, as far as possible, to the American Red Cross.

The immediate appointment of Dr. E. T. Devine, who is so well known as an administrator of relief organizations, to take charge of the relief work of the Red Cross and of the United States Government, assures the efficiency of the methods to be employed. It may be taken for granted that the pressing needs of the moment will be supplied with the least possible delay. The most difficult work will be that of reconstruction, which involves problems of employment, sanitation, transportation and gradual distribution of families, for a period of months.

For several weeks it will perhaps be necessary to distribute rations and emergency relief without question, and under such conditions a certain amount of waste is inevitable. But after the alleviation of the direst needs, public interest will begin to flag a little, and the necessity of a thorough, systematic, well-ordered plan will become apparent. The strain of the work must soon begin to tell upon the volunteers who have spent themselves so unsparingly upon the first aid to the distressed. With this physical reaction local friction is liable to develop, and the meaner traits of human nature will begin to reassert themselves; such is the history of all great disasters. The test and value of a well-recognized central authority, will be felt just at this crisis. Rarely has the right thing been done so instantly, as now. The action of the President and Secretary Taft in immediately drafting a man of training and experience and rushing him to the front to take personal charge of the work, means that the mind as well as the heart of the nation will be employed in this service, and that the splendid generosity of the people will be expended honestly and effectively, with well-directed energy and vigor.

CAR STRIKES WAGON.

Horse So Badly Injured It Has to Be Killed.

A rig belonging to the Morey-La-Rue laundry company, driven by Henry Uhrhahn, was struck by a Somerset street trolley near Regent street, yesterday afternoon, injuring the horse so badly it had to be shot. The front of the wagon was smashed in and Uhrhahn had a narrow escape from being seriously injured.

The rig was proceeding up Somerset street with the trolley car following, the driver not knowing its proximity. At Regent street he turned suddenly to cross over, a move not expected by the motorman, and he was unable to prevent the collision. The animal had a leg broken in two places.

Funeral of Patrick Lawler.

The funeral of Patrick Lawler was held in St. Mary's church this morning, with a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance. The mas was conducted by Rev. Father Delehanty. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Patrick Mack, James, Barry, John Scott, Patrick Mottley, Michael Mottley and Bernard McHugh.

HEALTH TALKS AT CLUB

Men of Grace Church Hear Interesting Symposium on Hygiene.

BAD GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Health Officer Thurlow Strongly Disapproves of System In Operation Here—Dr. Hedges On Cure and Prevention of Consumption.

How the State and local boards of health do their work and something about tuberculosis and its prevention was learned by the members of the Grace P. E. church Men's Club last night, when three addresses were delivered before them in a "health symposium." The meeting was a postponed one.

Dr. W. H. Murray, Dr. B. vanD. Hedges and Leon Thurlow, local health officer, were the speakers. Hugh F. Fox, president of the club, introduced them.

Dr. Murray spoke on the State board of health, of which he is a member. The board was non-political, he said, although, unfortunately, the State was very much in the hands of politicians and the politicians were unwilling to let the board have its way in everything.

Health legislation was for the purpose of promoting hygiene. There were 500 sanitary districts over which the State board looked in New Jersey. These districts usually follow natural lines—Plainfield, Fanwood borough and North Plainfield, for instance, were sanitary districts. In districts like Plainfield the board had no worries; the local board did its work well. It was in places like Warren township, where the board might be composed of any sort of material and meet once in two years, that the State board found work of correction.

There were certain boards and bodies in the State that guarded its health with the main board, such as the physician's examining board, the sewerage commission and officers at posts of entry. There were building commissions, systems of school inspections in various cities—Plainfield had one—the tuberculosis hospital and the epileptic village. The great value of the latter lay in the discouragement of intermarriage between the unfortunates.

One of the chief activities of the State board was to watch legislation bearing on hygiene. As had been said, the board was non-political, but the politicians in control of the State were not. At the present time it was to be found that the admirable law requiring every health officer to be a qualified person was on the point of being emasculated by a bill making it applicable only to cities over 8,000, cutting out all but thirty cities in the State.

The board received $35,000 last year, but hoped to get more for 1907. It is to increase its staff of inspectors, who look for food adulturations and drug frauds, from four to six.

Mr. Thurlow spoke of the local board's work. He strongly condemned the garbage collection system here, characterizing it as the most unsatisfactory and unsanitary sort.

"For about one-half of what some of the houses now pay for garbage removal," he said, "the city could remove it from all the houses. It costs from $12,000 to $15,000 a year to get the city's garbage out of the way under the present archaic method, and for $6,000 the municipality could do it admirably."

He advised the citizens to keep at the Common Council until it paused in its other business to attend to the garbage disposal problem. He suggested constant and increasing petitions.

Mr. Thurlow told how the board quarantined the houses and watched the cases of scarlet fever, diphtheria, cerebro-spinal meningitis and smallpox and the methods of disinfection followed.

He devoted some time to the story of the milk inspection. Plainfield drank 8,000 quarts of milk a day and got her supply from 180 different dairies, so the close watching of the sources of supply was important.

Dr. Hedges spoke on consumption. He opened picturing the start and progress of the disease, describing the tubercle bacilli and the way in which they work destruction to the lung tissue, leading to erosion of the blood vessels and filling the circulation with weakening poison, the source of fever and night sweats.

Was there hope for recovery? Yes, if the case was taken in hand early. Three things were necessary to a cure—plenty of good food, all the fresh air it was possible to get, and rest. Medicine was a negligible quantity; it figured least of all in the scheme of cure. Nature would cure the disease herself if she were but strengthened for the battle by wholesome food, revivifying air and refreshing rest. The accepted and most successful diet was milk and eggs. The doctor had known of cases where patients ate from twenty-five to thirty eggs and drank four, five, and six quarts of milk a day.

As to prevention, the great stress was to be laid on the necessity of preventing the indiscriminate spitting of infected persons. The one great source—almost the only one—of infection was the dried sputum, flying about the air. The disease was not hereditary, and there was no reason why it should not be wiped out.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There was an official board meeting of Grace M. E. church at the parsonage, last night.

The first quarterly conference will be held at Grace M. E. church tomorrow night. Rev. Dr. Halleron will have charge.

"Days of Power" will be the subject of W. D. Murray's Bible talk at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Friday night.

The offering at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday morning will be for the chapel fund. The sum of $5,000 will be needed for the coming year.

The last sewing meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Rev. H. Emerson Fosdick, of Montclair, who preached two eloquent sermons at the First Baptist church on Sunday, was formerly assistant pastor to Rev. Dr. Lorimer in Boston. He is now occupying his first charge as pastor.

LESSONS FROM 'FRISCO 'QUAKE HIS TOPIC.

Rev. Mr. Finn Preached on the Great Catastrophe at Park Avenue Baptist Church.

"The Lesson From the San Francisco Earthquake" was the topic of a discourse delivered at the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday night, by Rev. A. E. Finn, the pastor. His text was taken from Matthew 24:44. He said in part:

"Last Tuesday the people of San Francisco went about their business as usual. The evening was spent in amusement or rest at home. Nothing of an extraordinary nature disturbed the minds of those who were peacefully sleeping in their homes. Then, without warning, came that shiver of the earth which struck terror to the strongest hearts. God's hand had for a moment loosed the forces of nature, and the masterpieces of man's ingenuity bowed before them. Instead of the quiet sense of security which rested upon the city a moment before, fear and terror reigned supreme.

"God has told us in His word that we are to expect just what occurred in San Francisco last Wednesday. In Matt. 24:7 we read, 'For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; and there shall be famines and pestilences and earthquakes, in divers places.' And He adds further on in the chapter, 'Be ye also ready: for in such an hour as yet think not the Son of Man cometh.'

"A minister who had been a pastor the greater part of his life, and just before going into heaven had become a theological professor, was one of those rare men who lived near the Master. He was asked once what he would do if he met Jesus Himself suddenly on the street. Quietly and simply he said, 'I'd like to say to Him, 'Dear Master I greet Thee. Long have I been waiting for Thee. I love Thee. What can I do for Thee now?'

"Watching, waiting, loving, serving, greeting—this is the attitude of those who will be ready when the Son of Man cometh, whether He cometh in pestilence, famine, or earthquake."

Miss Saunders to Act.

Rehearsals for "On Change," the play to be given by the Comedy club at the Park club on Friday night, May 4, are held every night and the results are satisfactory. There is a great demand for tickets and a large audience is assured. Miss Louise Saunders, who will be remembered as the star of several amateur plays, and who scored such a hit in the production of "Nancy Oldfield," has a leading part in the show. Effingham Pinto, who has been seen as the leading lady in the Leal's School Dramatic Association, has an important part in "On Change."

DEACON CONWAY OUSTED

But "Revenge is Sweet" and Calvary Baptist Rulers Will Hear From Him.

HE PROPOSES TO SUE

Says the Congregation Must Pay Him $900 He Expended in Warding Off the Sheriff.

The Bailey-Mitchell faction of the Calvary Baptist church held a meeting, last night, and after ousting the old board of trustees, headed by Deacon Spencer Conway, adjourned with a feeling, as one of them expressed it, that "the congregation's internal matters is about settled." They went to bed exulting over this victory but this morning Deacon Conway played a trump card (figuratively, of course) and announced to the newspapermen with venom in his voice that "immediate steps would be taken by him to bring suit against Calvary Baptist for $900," which he claims to have spent in lawyers' fees and interest in getting money to keep the sheriff from selling the edifice. There was no mistaking the deacon's intentions—he fought a good fight to install Pastor Morris and rule Calvary Baptist with an iron hand but he lost and now he proposes to make the victors worry as he did when the congregation was hard pressed for ready cash.

One of the attendants at last night's meeting sent to The Daily Press office, the following written account of what happened (it is given entire for the benefit of the opposing faction which always claims that the newspaper reporters are responsible for what is said):

"A special meeting of the Calvary Baptist church convened last night to act in accordance with the advice of the Chancery Court. Rev. J. W. Mitchell was chosen moderator. The older board of trustees, namely, Earnest Crite, John Crite, Charles Hardway and Spencer Conway, was dismissed and a new board was elected. The following comprises the new board: Lewis Booker, Samuel Reid, James Goode, Fernando Brown, Henry Redd, Nathan Cook and Lee Booker. The church voted unanimously with little exception, extending a second call to the Rev. Griffin W. Bailey to become its pastor. Other necessary business was transacted after which the meeting adjourned feeling that Calvary's internal matters is about settled."

Deacon Conway voluntarily made the explanation that Lewis Booker had wanted his place as trustee for over a year and that he had told all the church people a week ago that he could have it.

"I have been a church official thirty-two years," said he, "and now I am willing to step out. However, Calvary Baptist must pay me for the expense I stood when the sheriff was going to sell the place. I put up my house as security and it got so tangled up that I had to borrow $1,400 to get straightened out. I figure that the church owes me $900 and somebody has got to pay. Furthermore I wish you would say for me that never while I was leader At Calvary Baptist did a police officer have to preside over the meetings and that's something that has happened since Rev. J. W. Mitchell showed himself."

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

A selection of the best books published in 1904 in the Public Library.

Each year the book board of the New York State Library selects and annotates a list of 250 of the best books of the year. Such of these books as are in the Public Library are here given, the annotations being taken from the New York State Library Bulletin.

Drama, Essays, etc.

Phillips, Stephen.—Sin of David.

Of high literary quality. A modern version of the old Hebrew story of David, Uriah, and Bathsheba Scene, England during Cromwellian wars.

Perry, Bliss.—Aamteur spirit.

Other essays: Indifferentism; The life of a college professor; College professors and the public; Hawthorne at North Adams; Fishing with a worm.

Reppilier, Agnes.—Compromises.

As clever and delightfully heretical as her older 'Points of view.' There is the same felicity of bookish allusion, the same keen edged analysis and unfailing wit.

Stephen, Leslie.—English literature and society in the 18th century.

The buoyant and energetic style never flags, holding the reader to the close. We have here the quintessence of our 18th century literature—the rich cream of criticism.

Maeterlinck, Maurice. — Double garden.

Sixteen essays ranging from motor cars and gambling tables at Monte Carlo to destiny of human race. Lackink nother of Maeterlinck's distinctive literary charm but somewhat less abstract and elusive than his former work.

Wells, Carolyn, comp.—Parody anthology.

Grouped by poets parodied, from Spenser parodied by Keats to Kipling as echoed by Guy Wetmore Carryl.

Description and Travel, and History.

Arnim, M. A. B., grafin von.—Adventures of Elizabeth in Rugen.

By the author of "Elizabeth and her German garden.' Elizabeth, accompanied by her coachman and incomparable maid, makes a 12 days' driving tour round the island of Rugen. A guide full of piquant personal flavors.

Hamilton, Angus.—Korea.

Describes people, customs, social and political conditions. Author, English correspondent, some years resident in Far East. Introduction estimates strategic resources of Japan and Russia, December, 1903.

Knox, G. W.—Japanese life in town and country.

Much more of history and influences of older thought than usual in this descriptive series. Author prominent student of Japanese Confusianism.

Munsterberg, Hugo.—The Americans.

Popular philosophic study of American political, economic, intellectual and social life. Written for Germans, it compliments his "American traits," addressed to Americans.

Bateson, Mary.—Mediaeval England.

Authoritative, popular account of English society from 1066 to 1350, describing court, nobility, clergy, learning, art, education and town and country life.

Asakawa, Kanichi. — Russo-Japanese conflict: its causes and issues.

Clear, logical presentation of causes leading up to present struggle, diplomatic negotiations, and issues at stake. Author, Japanese lecturer on East Asian history and civilization at Dartmouth.

Kakuzo, Okakuro.—Awakening of Japan.

Briefly sketches political and intellectual history, pointing out that the new Japan is the outcome of inherent forces and ideals and that western influences should in many instances be resisted.

Colquhoun, A. R.—Greater America.

Discusses American interests in Asia, the Pacific and the Caribees, problems of national defense, expansion, colonization and government of dependencies.

Hart, A. B., ed.—American nation: a history from original sources by associated scholars. v. 1-5.

By specialists, based on original sources, for general reader. Thus far takes high rank.

Sparks, E. E.—United States of America. 2v.

Not narrative of events, but interpretation of history in its consecutive phases.

Biography.

Talbot, Mrs. E. A.—Samuel Chapman Armstrong.

Simple, sincere story of the life of the founder of Hampton Institute for negroes and Indians.

Conway, M. D.—Autobiography, memoirs and experiences.

Contains reminiscences of most prominent men of his time in England and America. His experience among famous people and historical movements has been rich and varied.

Ruskin, John.—Letters to Charles Eliot Norton. 2v.

Tragic record of the perplexities of a great and generous soul, the troubles of a tender heart, the spendthrift use and at last the failure of exceptional powers. Charles Eliot Norton in preface.

Spencer, Herbert. — Autobiography. 2v.

Will live, by reason of its intellectual elements, and because it is the candid record of the life and thought of one who has made a great contribution to the intellectual history of the race.

The Wedding Ring.

THE BRIDAL, BRIDESMAIDS, USHERS, WEDDING GIFT.

We sell everything for the wedding in trustworthy jewelry; assortments here are large, prices are very moderate.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality; causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Freedom—That's the Issue.

"What shall the political issues be in the legislative elections in New Jersey this year, and who will make them?" asks the Newark Advertiser, pointing to the equal tax, limited franchise and many other unquestionably good laws which were passed this year at Trenton. "What," it adds, "can the Democratic party offer against this record?"

Such a question is premature. Party primaries must be held first, in September. There is no question as to what will be the issue then, particularly in Hudson and in Essex.

Anti-bossism will overshadow everything else. About 900,000 of the 2,100,000 people of the State have been given a taste of freedom. The sensation is pleasing to their palates and their stomachs call for more.

Essex has had rather the better of the feast. There the bosses are down and we should think that the burning question ought to be how to "keep them down." That will be the rallying cry of the Colby hosts.

But in Hudson the job is only begun. Our bosses are still in the saddle. Since their non-partisan conspiracy last fall to seize the government of Jersey City in the interests of the corporations and to suppress the demand for some of the excellent laws that Governor Stokes helped us to force through the legislature failed, they have carried on a series of aggressions that has exasperated everybody.

One political organization was theirs absolutely. They managed to retain control of the other with fraudulent enrollment lists at dishonest primaries by unseating elected committeemen and, putting in their places their own creatures.

They completed this work Friday night by seizing the West Hudson Republican committee where they had been beaten in their own primaries by independent Republicans.

Every man who would not obey their orders has been either indicted or annoyed in one way or another. In Jersey City, especially, there has been for five months something like a reign of terror.

Among its latest victims were the clergymen and the moral forces which they represent. These gentlemen had asked, not for Sunday closing of saloons, but for the abolition of dives and back rooms and the improvement of licensed places.

At Trenton the pastors found arrayed against them a coterie of party bosses, among them the bosses of Hudson, led by Frank O. Briggs, the chairman of the State Republican machine.

Bishop Edwin S. Lines, Monsignors John A. Sheppard and Dr. Chas. J. Kelly were so indiscreet as to criticise these arrogant gentlemen. Bishop Lines called them tricksters and the other two clergymen were more forcible.

For revenge the bosses jammed through an excise bill which makes it impossible for any saloon to live unless it is transformed into a dive with back rooms and bedrooms. They also put into it a clause striking at their other enemy, the mayor of Jersey City.

So anti-bossism is to be the main issue here in September, as in Essex. One taste of freedom has spoiled us. We must have more of it and more good laws like those to which the Advertiser refers. Our emancipation must be complete and permanent.—Hoboken Observer.

CHAPTER IV.

A MEETING AND A CLASHING

As they stepped from the cage at the surface Percival became aware of a group of strangers between him and the open door of the shaft house—people displaying in dress and manner the unmistakable stamp of New York. For part of a minute, while the pupils of his eyes were contracting to the light, he saw them but vaguely. Then, as his sight cleared, he beheld foremost in the group, beaming upon him with an expression of pleased and surprised recognition, the girl whose face and voice had for nearly half a year peopled his lover's solitude with fair visions and made its silence to be all melody.

Had the encounter been anticipated his composure would perhaps have failed him. Not a few of his waking dreams had sketched this, their second meeting, and any one of the ways it had pleased him to plan it would assuredly have found him nervously embarrassed. But so wildly improbable was this reality that not the daringest of his imagined happenings had approached it. His thoughts for the moment had been not of her; then, all at once, she stood before him in the flesh, and he was cool, almost unmoved. He suspected at once that her father was the trim, fastidiously dressed man who looked as if he had been abducted from a morning stroll down the avenue to his club; that the plump, ruddy, high-bred woman, surveying the west disapprovingly through a lorgnon, would be her mother. Shepler he knew by sight, with his big head, massive shoulders and curiously short, tapering body. Some other men and a woman were scanning the hoisting machinery with superior looks.

The girl, before starting toward him, had waited hardly longer than it took him to eye the group. And then came an awkward two seconds upon her whose tact in avoiding the awkward was reputed to be more than common.

With her hand extended she had uttered: "Why, Mr.—" before it flashed upon her that she did not know the name of the young man she was greeting.

The "Mister" was threatening to prolong itself into an "r" of excruciating length and disgraceful finality, an "r" that is terminated neatly by no one but hardened hotel clerks. Then a miner saved the day.

"Mr. Bines," he said, coming up hurriedly behind Percival with several specimens of ore, "you forgot these."

"-r-r-r, Bines, how do you do!" concluded the girl with an eye-flash of gratitude at the humble instrument that had prevented an undue hiatus in her salutation.

They were apart from the others and for the moment unnoticed.

The young man took the hand so cordially offered, and because of all the things he wished and had so long waited to say, he said nothing.

"Isn't it jolly! I am Miss Milbrey," she added in a lower tone, and then, raising her voice, "Mamma, Mr. Bines—and papa," and there followed a hurried and but half-acknowledged introduction to the other members of the party. And, behold! in that moment the young man had schemed the edifice of all his formless dreams. For six months he had known the unsurpassable luxury of wanting and of knowing what he wanted. Now, all at once, he saw this to be a world in which dreams come more than true.

Shepler and the party were to go through the mine as a matter of sightseeing. They were putting on outer clothes from the store room to protect them from the dirt and damp.

Presently Percival found himself again at the bottom of the shaft. During the descent of 1,200 feet he had reflected upon the curious and interesting fact that her name should be Milbrey. He felt dimly that this circumstance should be ranked among the most interesting of natural phenomena—that she should have a name, as the run of mortals, and that it should be one name more than another. When he discovered further that her Christian name was Avice the phenomenon became stupendously bewildering.

They two were in the last of the party to descend. On reaching bottom he separated her with promptness and guile from two solemn young men, copies of each other, and they were presently alone. In the distance they could see the others following ghostly lamps. From far off mysterious recesses came the musical clink of the sledges on the drills. An employe who had come down with them started to be their guide. Percival sent him back.

"I've just been through; I can find my way again."

"Ver' well," said the man, "with the exception that it don't happen something—yes?" And he stayed where he was.

Down one of the crosscuts they started, stepping aside to let a car of ore be pushed along to the shaft.

"Do you know," began the girl, "I am so glad to be able to thank you for what you did that night."

"I'm glad you are able. I was beginning to think I should always have those thanks owing to me."

"I might have paid them at the time, but it was all so unexpected and so sudden—it rattled me, quite."

"I thought you were horribly cool-headed."

"I wasn't."

"Your manner reduced me to a groom who opened your carriage door."

"But grooms don't often pick strange ladies up bodily and bear them out of a pandemonium of waltzing cab horses. And never noticed before that cab horses are so frivolous and hysterical."

"And grooms know where to look for their pay."

They were interrupting nervously, and bestowing furtive side looks upon each other.

"If I'd not seen you," said the girl, "glanced at you—before—that evening, I shouldn't have remembered so well; doubtless I'd not have recognized you to-day."

"I didn't know you did glance at me, and yet I watched you every moment of the evening. You didn't know that, did you?"

She laughed.

"Of course I knew it. A woman has to note such things without letting it be seen that she sees."

"And I'd have sworn you never once so much as looked my way."

"Don't we do it well, though?"

"And in spite of all the time I gave to a study of your face, I lost the detail of it. I could keep only the effect of its expression and the few tones of your voice I heard. You know I took those on a record so I could make 'em play over any time I wanted to listen. Do you know, that has all been very sweet to me, my helping you and the memory of it—so vague and sweet."

"Aren't you afraid we're losing the others?"

She halted and looked back.

"No; I'm afraid we won't lose them; come on; you can't turn back now. And you don't want to hear anything about mines; it wouldn't be at all good for you, I'm sure. Quick, down this way, or you'll hear Pangburn telling some one what a stope is, and think what a thing that would be to carry in your head."

"Really, a stope sounds like something that would 'get you' in the night! I'm afraid!"

Half in his spirit she fled with him down a dimly lighted incline where men were working at the rocky wall with sledge and drill. There was that in his manner which compelled her quite as literally as when at their first meeting he had picked her up in his arms.

As they walked single file through the narrowing of a drift, she wondered about him. He was western, plainly. An employe in the mine, probably a manager or director or whatever it was they called those in authority in mines. Plainly, too, he was a man of action and a man who engaged all her instinctive liking. Something in him at once coerced her friendliest confidence. These were the admissions she made to herself. She divined him, moreover, to be a blend of boldness and timidity. He was bold to the point of telling her things unconventionally, of beguiling her into remote underground passages away from the party; yet she understood; she knew at once that he was a determined but unspoiled gentleman; that under no provocation could he make a mistake. In any situation of loneliness she would have felt safe with him—"as with a brother"—she thought. Then, feeling her cheeks burn, she turned back and said:

"I must tell you he was my brother—that man—that night."

He was sorry and glad all at once. The sorrow being the lesser and more conventional emotion, he started up an awkward expression of it, which she interrupted.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to me but nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

MILITARY SHOW WEEK.

Full Military Programme Nightly at Madison Square.

The Military Athletic League began Soldier Show week in New York at Madison Square Garden, last night with their tenth annual tournament. The show will be as brilliant as usual with the grand reviews of the U. S. Troops, National Guard, Marine Corps, U. S. Marines and bluejackets and detachments from the noted regiments. After this, each night, there is a full military programme, with rough riding and musical rides by the famous Troop G, 5th U. S. Infantry, from Fort Ethan Allene, Vermont, and Co. A, 5th U. S. Infantry, from Fort Jay, in the Butts Manual Drill and battle exercises, platoon drills, making and breaking camp and riot drills to be seen each night.

The U. S. Marines, in bayonet exercises, street drills, and a superb artillery exhibition in the flying platoon drills, by the 3d Battery, N. G. N. Y., are on the programme for the show.

There is a change of programme each night and tent pegging, contests with the bayonet, and contests of the sabre against the lance and sword—enough to be seen at every performance and on Friday and Saturday nights, an added feature in the review and exhibition drill by the 43d Regiment Canadian Militia, known as the Duke of Cornwall's own Rifles from Toronto.

The matinees on Wednesday and Saturday will have the full military programme, except the reviews, and there will be complete drills by the young men from the Military Schools, in contest for the league prizes.

The athletic events, each night, beginning at 7:30, precede the reviews, and the best men of the National Guard are entered in the contests.

MANY ENTRIES FOR AUTOMOBILE RACES.

Sixty-Eight Machines Will Be Driven in Price Handicap on Atlantic City Beach.

Numerically an excellent entry list has been received for the three day automobile speed tournament on the beach at Atlantic City, beginning at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon. There will not be such an array of powerful racing machines as in the Florida tournament, but the aggregate entry is very much greater. Sixty-eight machines will be driven in the twenty-one events on the card, with a total of 192 separate entries.

The seven events to be decided tomorrow will include record trials for steam vehicles; a so-called championship for four cylinder cars; a cup event for American touring cars of thirty horse power or less, owners to drive; a so-called championship for gasolene cars from standing start; a race for gasolene touring cars selling at $4,000 or less; a race for stripped touring cars of fifty horse power or less, and a price handicap for four cylinder touring cars. All races will be at one mile.

In the four cylinder championship the starters will be C. A. Schroeder's eighty horse power Darracq, driven by Wallace; S. B. Stevens' eighty horse power Darracq, driven by Vaughan; Napier Company's eighty horse power Napier, driven by Hilliard, and H. S. Houpt's fifty horse power Thomas, driven by Roberts. The same cars will compete in the standing start championship, with the addition of Walter Christie's 110 horse power Christie direct drive machine, driven by the owner, and H. S. Houpt's fifty horse power Thomas, driven by Robinson. Mr. Stevens' Darracq was the last Vanderbilt cup winner.

FREEHOLDERS AWARD TWO BRIDGE CONTRACTS.

Structures to Be Built in Rahway By Union County.

Two bridge committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders held a joint meeting at Taylor's Hoter, Rahway, yesterday, to consider bids for the new Madison and Jefferson avenue bridges. Six bids were received and the contract was awarded to Melborn, of Rahway, for $1,607. The other bids were:

Serrell & Co., New York, $2,016; James Moore, Cranford, $2,255; Armstrong, Rahway, $1,785; Weldon, Rahway, $1,656.40; Sandford Company, Rahway, $2,118.92.

The joint committee was composed of Charles S. Chandler, S. P. T. Wilbur, George H. Kline, George B. Codding, Adolph M. Gruener. The last named was chairman. Engineer J. L. Bauer, of Elizabeth, and Rustling Ryno, clerk to the board, were also present.

HILLERY TAX LAW AFFECTS PLAINFIELD.

Rate Must Drop Gradually Until it Reaches $1.75 per $100.

Copies of the pamphlet laws of 1906, chapters 116 and 120, both of which are of interest to Plainfield, have been received at the city clerk's office. Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh explained the purpose and effect of both acts this morning.

Chapter 116, the 1906 Hillery tax law, provides that cities that assessed higher than two dollars on the hundred in 1905, can not exceed that rate of assessment for the year 1906. Next year a reduction of ten points must be made and a similar reduction each year thereafter until two per cent. in the dollar is reached. Thereafter there must be a drop of five points annually until the fixed rate of $1.75 on the hundred is reached. Plainfield's rate last year was $2.48, and that rate cannot be exceeded this year. The Hillery tax law does not apply to State tax, the State school tax or judgment taxes.

The other act, chapter 120, creates the county board of taxation and does away with the office of commissioners of appeal insofar as hearing appeals is concerned. These duties are covered by the powers conferred on the new county board. Extensive powers are conferred on the new county boards, including the power of dismissing local assessors from office for any violation of duty.

Equal Suffrage Work.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield and North Plainfield Equal Suffrage League was held at the residence of Mrs. Lindsey Best, on Monday afternoon. The reports of the corresponding and recording secretaries and the treasurer were read and approved. Mrs. Isaac L. Miller presided, and read an interesting paper on expatriation, which, on request, will eb repeated at the next rgeular meeting, to be held May 28, at the home of Mrs. William Sanford.

Miss Palmiter Will Sing.

The eleventh annual invitation musicale under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be held in the church tonight. There will be vocal numbers by Miss Marguerite Palmiter, a noted soprano soloist, from Westerly, R. I., and instrumental selections, as well as selections by a double quartette of women's voices.

Plainfield Man Safe.

Oakland, Cal., April 24.—The Oakland Times has opened a bureau of information at which Eastern people have been invited to register their whereabouts for the information and comfort of their friends in this part of the country. Among the names is that of John Fitzpatrick, of Plainfield, N. J.

"ORATOR" MERRITY NOW

Umpire's Clarion Voice Brought Shekels For San Francisco Sufferers.

HEFFRON A "FIND"

Henriques a Star on the Initial Sack —Outlook for Successful Season Never Brighter.

"Ump" Jack Merrity on Sunday in Hoboken wrested forever all oratorical honors held by Jim O'Rourke. Jack was called upon to make four speeches before the game and he executed the stunt in a clever manner and was greeted with a tremendous amount of handclapping and applause. Mr. Merrity made three appeals to the occupants of the grand stand and bleachers to assist in contributing to a special collection in aid of the San Francisco sufferers which was responded to liberally. His fourth and last speech was that the Jersey City club would play a game on its new grounds next Sunday, the entire receipts to go to the same fund.

Captain "Mike" Leonard started the season off well by stinging the ball for a pair of two baggers.

Henriques, at first base, will be a tower of strength to the team this season. "Henny" knows how to handle the bat in a punishing manner and before the season is over some of the twirlers who come over the pike in this section will know of the fact. They all look alike to "Henny," leaguers and bush town slabartists. Sunday he slammed the ball hard and if some of his foul hits had struck fair he would have piled up a couple of home runs to his credit.

"Billy" Heffron's debut into fast company was very auspicious from both a ball players and spectators standpoint. Heffron looks to be a mighty man and before the game was over he exhibited this sterling quality much to the delight of the large number of his friends in the throng. The first time he came to the bat he appeared a trifle nervous about hitting the ball, but after he smote one of Mack's curves into right for a cracking single he displayed plenty of confidence. His work in the field was flawless and the two flies tht he nailed were difficult chances. Manager Daab has secured a good man in this player and his development will be watched with interest.

If "Billy" Foxen started in the game the result might have been different. As it were Mack was about "all in" and the Tenafly boy supplanted him in the eighth.

Kid Brogan's exhibition was marked with the usual brilliant and snappy playing that always characterizes his game. The kid is "always in the way" and was "Johnny on the Spot" when he caught Jack O'Neill's high throw over second.

Dwyer, the young giant from Union Hill worked himself out in practice with the team. He has a good assortment of curves and bears the "ear-marks" of being a comer.

Jack Merrity has been executing some satisfactory umpire work at Princeton this spring. He may be seen in some of the big college contests.

Taking the team altogether Manager Daab has gathered together a strong aggregation. The boys are all expert in the fielding line, while every one has a proficient knowledge of standing up at the plate and applying the "slammitis" to the globule.

"Happy Pete" Krienan, our former short stop, has been unable to get in the game so far this season owing to an aggrevated attack of rheumatics.

Tommy Curley, the new short stop artist, loomed up as a pinch hitter in the ninth. With two strikes on him he slashed a grounder through short center, but Clements' beautiful throw in from left field was too quick for the fleet footed Leonard.

Just why Manager Murray decided to keep Zippo Holmes in preference to Kid Brogan is hard to conjecture. Judging from the exhibition of the two players Sundays Brogan is about a hundred or more degrees faster than the Iowan. One great fault of Holmes seems to be his habit in backing away from the plate, but perhaps he will overcome this fault after being put through a few "sprouts" by Billy Murray. The Jersey City manager has played the game and is familiar with all its tricks and points and if he fails to make a ball player out of a fellow it is pretty safe to say nobody can.

Pitcher Eugene McCann is without doubt the Beau Brummell of the Jersey City bunch. Sunday he was attired in a spick and span cream yellow overcoat and toggery that would make Montgomery street, J. C., blink in dismay on an Easter morn. Mr. McCann earned his salary by taking tickets at the gate. In addition to his champagne agent outfit he was fitted out with a nobby cane. He wore a big smile and everywhere he trotted he was haled as Berry Wall or Harry Lehr.

Charlies Melay who played in every position for Brooklyn last season has been farmed out to the Newark club.

Edward B. Lamar, who is making the bookings for the Cuban Stars, Cuban X Giants and Havana clubs, has already secheduled more than 500 games for these three crack teams. The Cuban X Giants are already playing and look to be even more formidable than heretofore.

That voluntary contribution stunt that is being worked on Sundays by the Brooklyn National League club is the invention of one of the independent manager of New York and has been successfully worked by other clubs.

The Jersey City base ball club will make an attempt to play ball next Sunday on their new grounds. If the players are arrested Manager Murray says the matter will be taken to the courts and the law on Sunday playing tested.

COURTSHIP IN ENGLAND AND WEDDING HERE.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Unites Miss Broadbent and John Windross.

Miss Mary E. Broadbent, of Halifax, England, and John Windross, of Washington, Pa., were married at 8 o'clock last night at the home of John Bennett, 310 Jackson avenue, by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. There was a large company of relatives and friends present to witness the ceremony.

The marriage is the culmination of a friendship formed in England several years ago. The groom afterward came to this country and found employment at Washington, Pa. He continued to correspond with the object of his affection across the sea and finally it was arranged that she should come to this country and get married. The bride arrived in New York on Saturday and at once came to Plainfield to prepare for the wedding. Mr. Bennett and his family were acquainted with the young woman and they invited her to be married at their home.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Windross left for Washington, where they will reside in the future.

Girl Struck by Auto.

Mary Pendorf, twelve years old, when on her way home from school yesterday noon was struck and severely injured by an automobile. The child was running behind a wagon, and when in front of her home, No. 710 Broad street, East Orange, walked out from behind the wagon directly in the path of the automobile, which struck her with such force as to hurl iher fifteen feet in the air. When picked up she was unconscious and bleeding. Dr. Frank Lockwood, of East Orange, was summoned, and after three hours' time restored her to consciousness. While it is thought thought the little one will recover, she will be disfigured for life.

Girl Foiled Burglar.

A burglar entered early yesterday the residence of Capt. James Leyland on Ridge road, Rutherford, N. J., but left quicker than he went in. He walked into the bedroom of little Helen Leyland, who happened to be awake. "Is that you, papa?" she inquired. The maid was awakened, and seeing a man in the room asked: "Is that you, Capt. Leyland?" The burglar made no reply, but escaped in a hurry. He had no time to secure any booty.

Work Started on Carnival Grounds.

Work has begun on the carnival grounds on West Fourth street under the direction of Manager Miller and it will be rushed as rapidly as possible. Within a few days a large gang of men will be employed erecting the various buildings and preparing for the great show.

Interscholastic Game.

The first game for the city scholastic baseball championship will be played tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 on Crescent Oval, between the Plainfield High School team and Leal's School.

Mrs. J. Ringle and daughter, Mrs. Hillie, have returned to their home in Carlton avenue, after spending sometime in the south.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Braunsten, of 317 Monroe avenue, are parents of a son born on Saturday last. Mother and child are doing well.

FIRST $1,000 FOR SAN FRANCISCO RELIEF WAS WIRED TO MAYOR SCHMITZ YESTERDAY

In the name of the donors, the first $1,000 in the relief fund for the stricken people of San Francisco was wired to Mayor Schmitz yesterday afternoon. That amount is now in the hands of the citizens' committee at the Golden Gate and will be disbursed as is seen fit.

The fund was transmitted through the generosity of the Plainfield Trust Company, which has also promised to remit the remainder of the fund without charge. As they are received at The Daily Press office, all contributions are promptly deposited with the trust company, which volunteered as soon as it learned that this paper had started a subscription list to send its collections to California.

Following is a notice of the trust company of having transmitted the first $1,000:

"Editor The Daily Press.

"We beg to advise that we have this day deposited with the Sub-Treasurer of the United States at New York, one thousand dollars ($1,000), stating that the amount was received from The Daily Press of Plainfield on account of subscriptions for this fund made by the Citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield, N. J. It was agreed that this sum would be immediately wired to the Mayor of San Francisco for the use of the Relief Committee of which he is chairman.

"Very truly yours,
"J. H. CASE,

FIVE WITNESSES HELD

Prosecutor Has Men Connected With Fusco Killing Committed.

ONE GETS $500 BAIL

Slain Man To Be Buried This Afternoon, But No One Knows Where—His Brother Doesn't Care.

The body of Paolo Fusco, who was shot to death by Francesco Cerbo on Cottage place Sunday morning, will be buried this afternoon. Nobody knows where. A brother, Luigi Fusco, is held by the police as a witness, and he doesn't seem to be concerned over the disposition of the remains anyway. Apparently, Fusco has no other relatives on this side of the water, and he will most likely be interred in the Potter's field.

All the witnesses, five in number, have been held under bail. Italian witnesses in murder or manslaughter cases have a habit of hiding from the authorities when they are wanted, and the prosecutor instructed Chief Kiely to have all the men concerned in the crime detained under arrest. He asked that they be put under $500 bail, and Justice Mosher acted accordingly yesterday afternoon.

John Falconi, who was nailed as a witness after he had tried to lie out of any connection with the case, was the only one of the quintet who succeeded in securing a bondsman. The others, Vincenzo Zambella, Luigi Fusco, Lorenzo Parmiero and Salvatore Bolamonte, were committed in default of bail. The latter is a new witness, run down yesterday afternoon. He corroborated the story told by the others.

The police are curious to solve one little mystery in connection with the case. When the officers went into the room where the shooting occurred they found a greasy and much-used pack of cards scattered over the table and about the floor, but the witnesses all swear that they were not playing cards. It is believed that they were engaged in some gambling game, but are afraid to acknowledge it for fear they will suffer under the anti-gambling ordinance.

ONE-ARMED HOBO.

Arrested by Patrolman Overbaugh—Some One-armed Road Humor.

Frank Grady, one-armed and homeless, was picked up on Park avenue yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Overbaugh, for vagrancy. He was released under suspended sentence this morning by Judge Runyon, on his promise to get out of town.

Grady is something of a humorist. "I am not such a bad chap," he said deprecatingly as he was arraigned. "I'm only half as bad a panhandler as most of the ducks on the road because I only got one hook to graft with."

To Talk on Oppenheimer Cure.

Mrs. Isabelle Charles Davis, who was formerly identified with the King's Daughters, and who is now a representative for the Oppenheimer cure, will speak at Warren chapel tonight under the auspices of the Mission and Aid Society. It is urged that all men attend.

Removal.

Fred Ivamy's seafood market removed today from 232 West Second street to 126 West Second street, near theatre. Everything new. Finest market in the State. Cleanliness a specialty. Telephone numbers remain the same.

MISS MARSH BRIDE OF MR. HOLLINGSWORTH

WEDDING OF PROMINENT COUPLE IN SCOTCH PLAINS YESTERDAY.

Miss Josephine Myer Marsh, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Marsh, and Albert Darby Hollingsworth, son of Loftus Hollingsworth, both residents of Scotch Plains, were married at the home of the former's mother in that place at 4.30 yesterday afternoon. Rev. James Hoffman, of Drew Theological Seminary, performed the ceremony which was witnessed only by relatives and a few intimate friends, numbering fifty in all.

The bride was attended by Miss M. Florence Nichol, of Scotch Plains, and was given away by her cousin, William Ferris Hueston, of this city. She was gowned in white Brussells net over silk and carried a shower bouquet of roses. Miss Nichol's gown was of pink de'esprit over pink silk; she carried pink roses. Samuel Hollingsworth, brother of the groom, acted as best man and Miss Marion Goodwwin played the Lohengrin wedding march. While the vows were plighted, the young couple stood beneath a large arch of palms and flowers arranged in the parlor.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth received congratulations and a collation was served after which they left for a two weeks' trip, the destination of which has not been revealed. At its conclusion they will make their home for a short time at Detroit where the groom holds a lucrative position in the government civil engineering service. They received numerous presents, among them a chest of solid silver.

When Mr. and Mrs. Hollingsworth first started on their journey from the house, they used a coach but abandoned this after going toward Fanwood for an automobile. They then went to Summit to catch a train, followed all the way by another machine bearing friends. They missed the train and then went to Elizabeth and afterward Westfield where they finally eluded the shadowers and boarded a train without an accompaniment of rice.

WILL PLAY FOR FUND.

New Brass Band Arranging First Concert for 'Frisco's Benefit.

The first public appearance of the recently organized brass band, under the directorship of Louis Clauss, will be for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. A full concert is to be held next month, and all the proceeds will be sent to the Red Cross Society.

The band is preparing hard for the concert. From twenty to twenty-five pieces will play.

The organization is now on a firm and permanent basis. Uniforms for twenty-five of the active members have been ordered and will be received tonight.

More Money for San Francisco.

In aid of the San Francisco sufferers, International Association of Machinists, local lodge No. 167, will hold a ball in Saengerbund hall Friday night. Since the machinists announced their intention of thus assisting in the movement tickets have been selling like hot cakes and judging from present indications a substantial amount will be raised for the project. The money will be forwarded through the Daily Press fund to Mayor Schmitz of the stricken city, who is a member of the machinist's union of that city. The committee in charge of the benefit is composed of Andrew McConnell, James Smith, C. Laughlin, Joseph Rutledge, Charles Becker, James O'Connell, William Deike, F. Stranzenback.

SHE IS STILL MISSING

Miss Kuenlen Traced About the County But Has Not Been Found By Police.

A PINKERTON ON TRAIL

Description of Young Woman Who Left Home Saturday and Has Not Returned—Keeping Up Search.

Although Miss Helen Kuenlen, the daughter of Mrs. Marie Kuenlen, of 912 West Front street, who suddenly disappeared from her home Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, has been seen a number of times, at Westfield, Aldene, Roselle, El Mora and Elizabeth, those who are conducting the search have not been able to find her. The Pinkerton detective who was put on the case Monday is still following up every clue without results.

Henry Leifke, a neighbor of Mrs. Kuenlen, spent yesterday between here and Elizabeth. He was able to trace Miss Kuenlen to different places, but could get no definite knowledge as to her whereabouts.

Mr. Leifke learned among other things that Miss Kuenlen stopped at the home of a Mrs. Williams, 527

Miss Helen Kuenlen.

Westfield avenue, Elizabeth, Sunday night, at 10.30. She was seen on the porch when the family returned home from church. In reply to a question, Miss Kuenlen is alleged to have mumbled a few words unintelligibly and walked down the street. Mrs. Williams not having heard of the disappearance paid little more attention to the incident.

Marshal Kenney, of Roselle, saw Miss Kuenlen Sunday afternoon at that place. She got off a trolley car that he got on, but he had received no word of her disappearance and gave the matter no further thought until the police began to inquire about the woman. Mr. Leifke says he saw a number of persons between Westfield and Elizabeth who said they noticed such a woman as he described wandering about. He says he thinks that possibly Miss Kuenlen may have stopped at some home in a rural district and that someone may be holding her for a ransom, or else, not having heard of the disappearance may be keeping her until they learn something.

Chief of Police Kiely today had circulars, bearing the picture of Miss Kuenlen, distributed about the city and has also sent them to the police departments in various places in the State. The circular gives this description of the missing woman:

"She is well educated and intelligent; speaks German; is twenty-seven years old, five feet 7½ inches in heighth; weighs 130 pounds; is of neat carriage. Has light complexion, brown eyes; wore tailor-made gray gown, red straw hat and No. 5 shoes." She is an accomplished musician and an artist. The missing woman had nervous troubles and had been unable to sleep for several months. It is believed that this has affected her mind and she may not be able to give her name or residence. She has many friends in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City and Newark, and they have been informed of the disappearance and are on the lookout for her.

Grand Master Workman Expected.

Grand Master Workman F. P. Fowle, of Irvington, is expected to visit Central Lodge, A. O. U. W., on Friday night, when there will be a discussion regarding the recent action of the Grand Lodge in adopting a resolution to establish an emergency fund.

Benefit for Sufferers.

On Saturday night, May 5, the musical clubs of the Plainfield High School will give an entertainment and the proceeds will be devoted to the fund for the San Francisco sufferers. The entertainment will be given at the new High School.

Marie Blume.

Marie Blume, the two-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher H. Blume, of Watchung, died yesterday. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home of the parents at 2:30 o'clock.

MISS HUNTER CHOSEN P. H. S. VALEDICTORIAN

MISS WINTER IS SELECTED AS SALUTATORIAN OF CLASS OF 1906.

Following the regular exercises at the Plainfield High School today, Principal I. W. Travell announced that Miss Gertrude L. Hunter has been selected as valedictorian of the class of 1906, and Miss Elizabeth C. Winter as salutatorian.

Miss Hunter has been away from school for some time because of illness, but she returned to her studies today. Miss Hunter has been editor-in-chief of the school publication, The Oracle. She is president of the Girls' Athletic Association and captain of the girls' baseball team. She is also president of the Plainfield High School Debating Society and vice president of the class of 1906. Miss Hunter will probably enter Barnard College in the fall.

Miss Winter is the dramatizer of "Ruggles in the Rear," and "The Princess," plays which the class of 1906 have given in the sophomore and junior years, respectively. Miss Winter will also be seen in a leading part in this year's senior production, "The Nephew As Uncle," by Schiller.

CARD FROM 'QUAKE SCENE.

Mrs. William L. Smalley, Jr., Receives Message Sent by Friend.

A postal card mailed in Berkeley, Cal., an hour and a half after the great earthquake last Wednesday reached Mrs. William L. Smalley, Jr., of Somerset street, yesterday morning. It was in the first mail that came east with news of the disaster, which made a remarkably fast rop. The postal authorities had that mail rushed at top speed to bring messages to anxious ones in the east.

The card was sent by Mrs. Walter Christie, wife of the trainer at the University of California, Berkeley, who is a close friend of Mrs. Smalley. The message tells of the awful conditions that confronted the city and the surrounding towns immediately after the shock and the start of the fire.

"Berkeley is on the map and that's about all after this awful earthquake and fire," writes Mrs. Christie. "I never want to pass through such an ordeal again."

Mr. Christie was formerly trainer of the university at Princeton, where Mr. Smalley made his acquaintance.

MAYOR'S COMMITTEE HAS RAISED $1,800.

Custodian Arnold's Report Shows a Nice Increase.

City Treasurer William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, made the following report today as custodian of the mayor's committee for the relief of San Francisco:

Previously acknowledged	$1,587.00
Mrs. Samuel Milliken	50.00
Cash	100.00
F. J. Hubbard	5.00
O. T. Waring	50.00
A Friend	3.00
Hugh F. Fox	5.00
	$1,800.00

More Sprinklers to Come.

All of the city sprinkling carts are not yet in use, owing to the painting and repairs necessary to put them in condition for service. In consequence the sprinkling is not quite as satisfactory as it will be when all of the wagons are put on the streets. The Public Service Corporation has begun its work of sprinkling along its trolley lines and this is quite a help to the city, where the travel is so heavy.

Mr. Crone's Deserved Promotion.

Arthur E. Crone was appointed assistant cashier of the City National Bank this morning, at a meeting of the board of directors, as a reward for his faithful services. Mr. Crone has been with the bank since 1893. He held the position of teller.

Death of Wayne Roberts Crudup.

Wayne Roberts Crudup, aged twenty-three years, died at the home of his mother on East Third street, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He had been ill a long time. The funeral will be held at Bethel chapel Friday afternoon at 2:30.

D. A. R. Head Her Guest.

Miss Ellen Mecum, of Salem, State regent of the D. A. R., was the guest of Mrs. Norman W. Currie, of Central avenue, overnight. Miss Mecum came here yesterday to attend the colonial tea of Continental Chapter, D. A. R.

Playlet and Sale.

Miss Louise Saunders and Roy Cox will appear in a short play to be given at Grace church parish house on Tuesday night, May 1, at a sale to be held under the auspices of the Women's Guild of the church.

PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY

Three Plainfield Men Arraigned in the Somerset County Court.

TRIALS ON MAY 8

Woodfield Gives $500 Bail—Richard Mattis and Louis Milligan Held to Answer Grave Offenses.

In the Somerset county criminal courts at Somerville yesterday afternoon the persons indicted by the April grand jury were arraigned before Judge Schenck.

John L. Woodfield, president of the Plainfield Tobacco Company, who is charged with fraudulently inducing endorsement of a valuable security, entered a plea of not guilty. He was released in $500 bail to await trial on May 8.

Richard Mattis, of this city, charged with a grave offense, pleaded not guilty and was held in the sum of $1,500 for trial on May 8.

John Jerolóman, charged with grave crimes, pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,500 bail for trial May 8.

Louis Milligan, of this city, Jerolamon's croney, who is charged with grave offenses, pleaded not guilty also and was held in $1,000 bail to await trial on May 8.

A large number of people were indicted for illegal selling of liquor. They will be tried about the middle of May, having in nearly each case entered pleas of not guilty.

KNOCKED DOWN BY RUNAWAY.

Louis Moraller Slightly Injured at Fourth and Liberty Streets.

Louis Moraller, head of the jewelery firm of L. Moraller & Son, of Park avenue, was knocked down by a runaway horse at Fourth and Liberty streets this morning. He was shaken and bruised but not seriously hurt.

The horse was attached to one of the delivery wagons of John Storm, a Liberty street butcher. It started from in front of a house at Spooner avenue and Fourth street, while the driver was delivering an order and ran unchecked down Fourth avenue. It turned at Liberty street, heading for its barn, and struck Mr. Moraller on the crosswalk.

The old man was carried to Mallinson's drug store on the corner, where he rested and recovered himself. Michael Higgins, a hackman, took him to his home at 671 West Fourth Street.

The horse was stopped a few feet beyond the corner.

A Fine Production Assured.

The rehearsals for the comic opera, "Patience," to be given at the Casino on Thursday night, May 3, by the Plainfield Operatic Association, are meeting with great success. William Holmes, who is directing the affair, predicts that the performance will be the best ever given here by amateurs. Much of the original scenery has been secured and the production will be given with every detail complete. On Monday night the entire score was rehearsed and the chorus and soloists were highly commended for their excellent work. As this is the first amateur opera company ever organized in Plainfield it should receive the hearty support of all lovers of music.

Macadamizing to Be Extended.

The street committee of the Common Council is considering the advisability of continuing the work this summer of macadamizing streets outside of the business area of the town, especially in streets where the sanitary sewer is to be extended. Plans are now underway to extend the sewer and bids will be received at the May meeting of the common Council for the work. The plans call for an extension of two miles to the sewer system. Streets will not be macadamized until this work is done.

Completing His Contract.

C. M. Meeker, who had the contract to macadamize a number of streets last year, is now engaged in putting on the finishing touches, made necessary by not completing the work before the arrival of frost last fall. These streets include Monroe avenue, Randolph road and many short streets in the West End of the city.

Will Preach Baccalaureate Sermon.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon at the New York University this year. Dr. Richards is a member of the board of directors of the university.

Freedom Castle Active.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, conferred the third degree on two candidates, last night, after which a social time was had and refreshments were served.

PROFESSIONALS AT GUN CLUB'S SHOOT

SOME GOOD AVERAGES MADE DESPITE HEAVY NORTH WIND.

The Plainfield Gun Club conducted an all-day shoot on its East End grounds, yesterday, drawing a good-sized crowd from this city and other places. Most of the attendants were amateurs but a number of professionals added to the importance of the occasion. Among those noted were Harry Welles, Sim Glover, Jack Nicol, "Applejack" Hoffman, "Honus" Muldoon and W. R. Hobart, the last named a member of the American Field staff.

There were twelve events on the card, ten sweepstakes and two merchandise. The winners of the latter and prizes were as follows: Event No. 5, first prize, shotgunt case, Al. Emmons; second, fishing reel, Jones; third, fishing rod, Matthews; fourth, recoil pad, Bissett; fifth, pocketknife, Dreier. Event No. 0, first, suit case, Al. Emmons; second, razor, Matthews; third, jocket flash lamp, Brantingham; fourth, watch, Bissett; fifth, fishing line, Gavin.

In the other events, the highest professional average was made by H. S. Welles, who made 84 per cent. The highest amateur average was made by Frank Muldoon, who hails from Freehold. He got 82 6-7 per cent. There was a strong northwest wind blowing which made the shooting very difficult and 80 per cent. was considered good.

The shoot was in charge of a committee composed of Henry Vosseler, Harry Dreier, P. J. Jones, F. S. McCarthy and Elmer D. Cutting. The club extends its thanks to Drs. Hunter and Luckey for their assistance to the scorer and referee.

"On Change."

The Comedy Club will give its final play of the year at the Park Club on Friday night, May 4. The title is "On Change," and it is a German play translated from the original by Miss Erveretta Lawrence. Tickets are on sale at Armstrong's. The prices are $1.50 and $1.00. The cast follows: Mr Burnett, Charles Lyman; Prof. Peckering Peck, E. C. White; Tom, Victor McKutcheon; Joe, H. R. Loder; De Haas, Effingham A. Pinto; Tiffin. Morgan Townsend; Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. E. C. White; Mrs. Peck, Miss Overton; Miss Millicent Peck, Miss Mabel Vandeventer; Iris, Miss Saunders. Alfred Young is coaching the play and he agrees with several other competent witnesses that the cast is the best brought together in Plainfield. The play itself is a ripping good comedy full of life, energy and amusing situations, and the actors have been especially picked for their parts. It is natural that "On Change" should arouse a great deal of interest and curiosity and have an enthusiastic audience.

Maze Edwards' Brother Safe.

The Stock and Exchange Board, of San Francisco, of which Col. William Edwards, brother of Major Maze Edwards, is the president, which was burned out, has opened temporarily at 1,407 Gough street, the home of Col. Edwards. This would indicate that Col. Edwards and his family are safe and that his residence was not damaged.

VOORHEES FOR CONGRESS

Report That Former Governor May Be the Successor of Charles Newell Fowler.

THE RUMORS ARE RIFE

Politicians Profess to Know Nothing About Alleged Reason Why Voorhees Declined Judgship.

According to a report in Elizabeth this morning, if Voorhees becomes a candidate for Congress he will be named by the friends of John Kean. This, it is explained, would be for the purpose of putting Fowler out of politics once and for all. The former Governor, it is said, is not in good health and for that reason he declined the circuit court judgship.

Close political bunkies of Representative Charles N. Fowler profess to be unaware of any plan that has for its object the choosing of former Governor Voorhees as Mr. Fowler's successor in Congress.

The story that Mr. Voorhees had such an ambition followed close on the heels of his letter to Governor Stokes declining the Circuit Court judgship to which he had been appointed.

According to the story going about, the Fowlerites in Union county, as well as in Morris and Warren, do not feel sanguine of again landing their leader at Washington, and have been casting about for the most available man in their own ranks to succeed him. Their object, it was pointed out, is not to let the berth go to friends of Senator Kean at all hazards, and, it was further reported, strong pressure has been brought to bear on the former Governor to allow his name to be used at the proper time.

Park Avenue Widening Held Up.

It is not known definitely when the work of widening Park avenue, between Second street and the railroad, will be started. Nothing can be done until the contractors on The Plainfield Trust Company building remove all obstacles from in front of this property. There has been some talk that the street committee would favor the laying of a permanent brick pavement through the widened section, but no definite action has been taken yet. This will undoubtedly be done, if not right away, and if the work is delayed the least possible expense will be put on the street in macadamizing it until a permanent pavement is laid.

"A Proposal Under Difficulties."

"A Proposal Under Difficulties," the annual junior production, will be given Saturday night in the auditorium of the new Plainfield High School. A reception will follow. The Misses Gilbert, Howard and Ferry, members of the faculty, have been coaching the pupils for the play.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

New Brunswick and county detectives have been in this neighborhood several times, on false clues, in searching for Fred Long, the Hungarian who shot Kate Gordon at Dunham's Hill, last week. Robert L. Pierce says he thinks he saw the murderer ride through the village on a Lehigh freight train Saturday morning.

Boss Strong has come out in open warfare on Alexander R. Fordyce, who recently announced himself a candidate for State senator as a friend of the people and the foe of machines. The Dayton man is going to put up a fight that will keep the machine men gasping.

The Edgerton Park Company has had plans drawn for twelve houses to be erected shortly on their property. E. W. Bolles, the local representative, has the plans and will call for bids on the work in a week or two. The houses will be modern, but modest-priced.

Peter Staats has joined the social organization formed by the old board of freeholders. The club is limited to the members of the last board and will end, like the G. A. R., when the last member dies. Mr. Staats says he expects to be the last leaf on that tree.

Plans for the new village school will be accepted at the next meeting of the township board, and building operations will begin the middle of next month. It seems to be a certainty now that the new school will be ready for the fall term.

Frank Lepperts, a former resident here, is serving forty-five days in the county jail for beating his wife, Alma Lepperts, at their home in New Brunswick. He has become a heavy drinker and a hard citizen since leaving here.

W. G. Runyon has qualified as executor of his father's estate under the will, which has just been probated. Oscar Runyon, who was also named, as executor, refrained from qualifying.

A Plainfield barber will be at the village shop Sunday afternoons hereafter. Boniface Thornton made the happy arrangement for the barberless community last week.

A cinder sidewalk has been laid through Edgerton Park on the west side of Washington avenue, from the Lehigh tracks to Walnut street.

Jacob Fern, of Brooklyn, will take possession of the Depot street property purchased from Edward Limepeter in a day or two.

W. B. Smith and his big Winton touring car have returned to Caldwell. Bill was quiet and neighborly while here.

Robert Nagle has entirely recovered from his attack of pneumonia and returned to work.

Russell Garretson has returned to work after a brief illness.

Rev. A. S. Phelps is recovering his strength steadily.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Scotch Plains is not giving very freely to the relief fund for the aid of the San Francisco sufferers. It only wants some one to start the ball a rolling, as there certainly are many in town who are not only willing but anxious to help the cause along.

Willie Deegan has settled down into a genuine boniface. A number of improvements have been made about the old hostelry and the place this summer will no doubt be the mecca for all the baseball cranks in this section.

Louis Beekon, who has been spending his Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beekon, of the borough, has returned to his studies at Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass.

The shoot of the Plainfield Gun Club, held yesterday on the club's grounds near Leland avenue, was attended by several of the members of the old Brookside Gun Club.

The bowling craze seems to be dying out in town, the advent of spring weather putting an end to the sport for a time.

Joseph Nester, formerly of this place, but now residing in New York, has been visiting relatives and friends in town.

John Falvey, who has been spending several days at his home at Dover, N. J., has returned.

Mrs. Frazee Ryno has been entertaining friends from out of town.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Bishop Scarborough will confirm a large class at Grace church on Sunday.

Danish Lutheran services will be held tonight in the W. C. T. U. rooms at 8 o'clock.

The oyster supper which was announced for Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. has been indefinitely postponed.

Fred Dunavan has been chosen chairman of the library committee of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, succeeding Charles M. Dolliver, who has resigned.

Under the auspices of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church a sale of fancy and useful articles will be held in the parlors of the church on Wednesday afternoon, May 9.

Mrs. Erickson Perkins, of Rochester, N. Y., who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. S. A. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, has returned home.

William Trembath, of Chatham street, has several relatives in San Francisco, including his mother and sisters. He has telegraphed them, but so far has not been able to learn whether they are all right or not.

SAYS HUSBAND CUT TABLE WITH AN AXE

THREW DISHES IN AIR, BROKE MIRROR, AND NOW SHE WANTS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Minnie Long, of Elizabeth, has brought suit for divorce before Vince Chancellor Stevens against her husband, John D. Long.

Her bill says they were married in Elizabeth, June 5, 1896, and lived first for a week with Mrs. Wolters, grandmother of the husband, then for three years with his parents, after which they moved to Port Richmond, Staten Island, where they lived together nine months.

Mrs. Long declares she has not lived with her husband since August 19, 1902, when, as the bill recites "he broke up their home on Staten Island during a spell of drunkenness; that on this occasion he demolished the dining-room table, with an axe, and also threw dishes in the air, broke a mirror and toilet articles belonging to the petitioner, and acted in this manner because petitioner would not give him money for whiskey; that a policeman had to be called before he could be quieted."

It is further set up by the wife that Long and a woman lived in Elizabeth and now are living in Bayonne as man and wife.

The hearing in the case was set for May 8.

TWENTY-THIRD CONCERT.

Y. M. C. A. Orchestra Presents a Varied Programme to Large Audience.

With the Musical Stewart a genius who makes music out of things not originally intended for such purposes, as a special feature, the Y. M. C. A. orchestra held its twenty-third concert last night. The audience was large and the programme was much enjoyed. Director Korff's men played well.

The solo numbers were Gounod's "Sing, Smile, Slumber," on the cornet by Whitney Frazee; selections by The Stewart; Wagner's "Pilgrim's Chorus," on the 'cello, by Otto Muller; and soprano selections, "Queen of the Night," and "Mignon," by Miss Lydia Edgar.

The final march was a composition by Mr. Korff, called "Association Volunteers." He dedicates it to the Y. M. C. A. orchestra members.

The concert will be repeated next Monday.

Miss Edith Fisk, of West Seventh street, in company with her uncle, Alexander Fisk, of New York, has gone abroad on a pleasure trip.

GERMS CAUSE DYSPEPSIA

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prescription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases with-out a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the worn out lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

Pepsoids are sold at drug stores at 50c. a bottle on an absolute guarantee or money refunded.

If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle.

You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 9

Lewis Morrison himself, supported by a carefully selected cast, a gorgeous display of new and elaborate scenery and an entire revision of the exquisite lines of "Faust," made by a famous dramatic author who has written lyrics and prose for the new prologue, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and evening. The fact of Mr. Morrison himself appearing as Mephisto assures a specially good performance since his fame and fortune have both been acquired by his ability to perform the part of Satan in a manner which defies imitation or disparagement. When it comes to the point of acting, the showing of the passions and evil impulses, the pitilessness and fierce hatred of all things that are holy and pure, which are the essentials of Mephisto's character, Lewis Morrison stands pre-eminently first among the stars of his profession. Callous, merciless, mocking, his Mephisto is conceded by the best critics to retain the greatest subtlety of expression, and the most powerful declamatory work of any living actor. Though the scenery is all new and a surefeit of brilliant effects is promised in an electrical way in the garden and other scenes as well as in the new prologue, interest will be centered on the vivid new electrical and pyrotechnical display of the Inferno scene, not alone on account of its realism and scenic beauty, but because it is the most strongly dramatic scene of the play, and affords Lewis Morrison free scope for the display of his vitality and power amid surroundings which the scene painters' art has made impressive in the full sense of the word.

Madge Lawrence, the leading lady in Wm. A. Brady's musical production "Girls will be Girls," that is to play at the New Plainfield theatre on May 4, has a pretty summer home at the seashore on Long Island. But the want of competent female help is the one stumbling block on the road to that complete rest required after a long and arduous season on the road. Many and varied have been her experiences in connection with her maids. Last summer she had a remarkable experience with a new Irish girl. "Margaret," said she one evening, "We must have some sausages for tea this evening, I expect company." "Yis, ma'am," replied Margaret. Tea-time arrived and with it the company. The table was spread, the tea was simmering, but no sausages appeared. "Where are the sausages, Margaret?!" inquired Miss Lawrence. "And sure they're in the tay pot, ma'am! Didn't ye toll me we must have thim for tay?" Miss Lawrence and the company collapsed and then adjourned to a nearby restaurant for their evening meal. As Margaret cleared away the table, she remarked, "An' sure, its the Divil and all to plaze these Yankees."

SHE SAT ON HIM TILL POLICE CAME.

Sealed Fences That Burglar She Caught Had Leaped and Ran Him to Ground.

After chasing a burglar over several fences, through the streets and lots until she had tired him out, Mrs. Walter C. Charner, of Hoboken, sat down on him until the police arrived and locked him up. She did not overpower him until after a fierce fight.

The woman saw the burglar as he was rifling the money-drawer in the office of H. L. Smith, No. 510 Fourth street, Hoboken. Mrs. Charner's husband is superintendent of the mineral water plant owned by Smith, and she was about to leave the house Sunday night when she saw a man in the office. She ran in and seized him, but he broke away and ran through the rear door to the yard.

Mrs. Charner followed, and then the thief jumped a fence. She was not far behind. A number of other fences were scaled by both until the street was reached and the thief ran down Fourth street, Mrs. Charner following close behind.

She finally caught up to him as he was running across a lot. He struggled, but she downed him and then sat on him until a policeman placed him under arrest.

Recorder Stanton held him for the Grand Jury. He said he name was Joseph Cannon, but refused to give his address.

—Emerson Mowen, formerly employed at the Sabbath Recorder office, but late of Elizabeth, has returned to his old position here.

—Louis Bond has resigned his position as a linotype operator at the Sabbath Recorder office, and will prepare himself for the position of a chauffeur.

—The contractors are gradually completing the Richmond street storm sewer. The contract should have been finished by this time, but weather conditions and other things have delayed the work.

—E. W. Opdycke has arrived at Flemington with twenty-two head of Iowa and Michigan horses from the best stock raising farms. Any one wishing a horse for any purpose can suit themselves in this lot. On Saturday at 12 o'clock noon there will be a sale of these horses at Union Hotel stables, Flemington.

Prof. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, was the guest of friends here yesterday.

Miss Ruth Maxson, of West Seventh street, improves slowly from a severe and tedious illness.

BIRTHPLACE OF JERSEY

Legislature Makes Appropriation For Meeting Place of the Original Committee of Safety.

INN WAS BUILT IN 1750

Contains Many Revolutionary Relics —The Home of Dolly Madison.

Standing in Haddonfield is an ancient tavern house now considered the most interesting building in the State, from the fact that it is the only historic building owned by the State, and also from the fact that the Legislature has made special provision for its complete renovation and restoration.

It was last New Year's night that Governor Stokes visited the building for the first time to make investigation as to the propriety of securing an appropriation from the State for that purpose.

The Haddon Fortnightly, an organization for the protection of women's interests, secured and carefully preserved the old manuscripts and tales of the place that will make it possible to restore "Ye Olde Tavern House" to its original condition.

When Governor Stokes visited the building with the commissioners, appointed when the State purchased the historic structure, he accepted two handsome and costly flags, one the gift of the Fortnightly and the citizens of the town and the other the gift of Mrs. S. V. Gildemeyer.

A water color painting of the coat-of-arms of the State, painted by Miss Sarah E. Lewis, was also presented to the State.

The building was erected in 1750 by Matthias Aspen, an Englishman, who came to Philadelphia, but afterwards moved to Haddonfield. It originally had ten acres of ground. It was bequeathed to the son of the builder, Matthias Aspen, Jr., who, in 1175, sold it to Thomas Redman.

It has since changed hands several times, but from the time of its erection, over 155 years ago, it has remained a public house until purchased by the State for preservation.

It is now popularly known as the birthplace of the State of New Jersey, and a tablet that has been erected on the wall near the front door announces that "Within this building, when a tavern house, the Council of Safety for New Jersey was organized March 18, 1777. Herein, also, in September of the same year, the Legislature unanimously resolved that hereafter the word 'State' should be substituted for 'Colony' in all public writes and commissions."

One bit of romance connected with the house is told by W. J. Mills:

"Sweet Dorothy Payne," who became the famous Dolly Madison, sported with her good Uncle Crighton and the Crighton cousins in the "best room," hall and chambers of this ancient inn, that is much the same today as when the house was built.

As a girl of 18, in the year 1786, she is described as being of slight figure, possessing a delicately oval face, a nose tilted like a flower, jet black hair and blue eyes of wondrous sweetness. Those beautiful blue eyes, with their power to scintillate with playfulness or mellow with sympathy, wrought great havoc with the hearts of the Quaker lads of Haddonfield.

Although many years have flown since she tripped through the quiet streets and lanes of the place, her memory is alive there. Elderly people still repeat what their fathers and grandfathers once said of her, and from the glowing tributes paid to her youthful charms it is easy to imagine that many a good Quaker lad's love was laid at her shrine before stern John Payne ever made her accept the hand of John Todd.

In those early Haddonfield days she often took frolicsome rides with her cousins in the small coaches that stopped twice daily at the tavern, driving a mile or two out on the highway and walking home.

In one of its quaint, unaltered rooms, where the State Legislature and the council of safety met in the old tavern during the revolution, the ancient strap hinges are on the door—said to be "the very hinges which looked upon those bands of ardent souls in the long ago," and many other antique reminders of those days of turmoil in the history of our country are still cherished today within the ancient building erected 155 years ago.

Since the special efforts made to restore the ancient building an "antique room" has been established, in which are collected many relics of revolutionary days, when the tavern was the scene of fashionable events and of important colonial affairs.

On the second floor is the council chamber and ballroom, which contains a huge open fireplace, and where the council sat while in session.

The mantel has been restored and the whole room gives an air of colonial times.

The Senate last week passed the House bill appropriating $12,000 for the complete restoration of the interior and to remove the stucco which covers the outside and bring to the surface the original beauty of the exterior walls, and also to furnish a fund to meet the expenses of keeping the building forever in its original condition.

Help swell the San Francisco relief funds!

Every new act on his part brings fresh conviction that Theodore Roosevelt is as much of a father to his countrymen as a president.

Already the magnificent sum of $1,475 has been subscribed to the fund being raised by this paper for the San Francisco sufferers. Of this amount $1,000 has already been wired to Mayor Schmitz. Are you on the list of contributors to this humanatarian cause?

The Newark News says: "The admission that Charles Newell Fowler cannot be re-elected as Representative from the Fifth Congressional District is not the best kind of a boost for a man with Senatorial ispirations."

Fowler to wear a Senator's togo? tut, tut!

It is encouraging to the friends of good government to find that Governor Stokes has appointed such a model body of men for the Union County Board of Taxation. Plainfield's representative, Frederick H. Andrews, is an ideal appointee and his selection will meet with the approval of the general public.

Mr. Stokes is a much better type of governor and citizen than is to be found in the majority of States and as a rule his utterances are worthy of perusal and sober thought. But when he declares that "the world is benefitted by the publication of virtue and demoralized by the continual advertising of wrongdoing and vice" he stoops beneath his level. If the evil work of those in authority is suppressed, what hope is there for good government?

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF THEIR NEW PASTOR

MONROE AVE. M. E. CONGREGATION GREETS REV. E. E. ROBERSON.

The members of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church and congregation tendered a reception to the new pastor, Rev. E. E. Roberson, and his wife, in the church, last night. The affair was an informal one and was largely attended, not only by the members, but by representatives from the other Methodist churches. The decorations, comprising palms, ferns and flowers, were arranged by a committee of women of which Mrs. Winfield Decker was the chairman.

During the evening there were congratulatory remarks by President Beekman, of the Official Board, and Rev. John McMurray, a former pastor. Rev. Mr. Roberson responded to the pleasant words spoken by the way of welcome and said that he hoped his pastorate would be one of harmony and attended by good results.

The greater part of the evening was devoted to social greetings and a harpist rendered popular selections. Refreshments were served later by the Ladies' Aid Society, of which Mrs. Frederick Wenzel is the president, and under whose auspices the reception was held.

Plainfield Band Dance.

The first of a series of dances to be given by the Plainfield Band will be held in Musical Academy hall, corner Park and North avenues, tomorrow night. Music for dancing will be furnished by the band under direction of Albert Naylor.

7TH DAY BAPTIST ENDEAVORERS' MUSICAL

SPLENDID PROGRAMME RENDERED BY A GALAXY OF TALENT.

The eleventh annual musicale under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society attracted a large and appreciative audience to the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night. The programme, considered one of the best ever given, was rendered in a pleasing manner under the capable direction of Miss Jessie Utter.

The soloists were Miss Marguerite Palmiter, soprano, of Westerly, R. I.; Oscar Nightingale, baritone, of New York, and Dr. Leonard Waldo, of this city. In addition there was a women's double quartette, comprising Mrs. J. B. Cottrell, Mrs. George L. Homan, Mrs. William C. Hubbard, Miss Julia G. Ketcham, Mrs. David E. Titsworth, Mrs. William J. Tallamy, Mrs. James Everitt Kimball, Miss Nan Randolph.

The pianists were Miss Mabel A. Maxson, Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mrs. William C. Hubbard and Mrs. David E. Titsworth. Assisting was Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, violin, while Mrs. Utter presided at the organ, during the rendition of the various numbers.

There was unusual interest in the appearance of Miss Palmiter, a talented soprano, who has studied abroad, and she was not disappointing. In part first she sang "The Lark," Rubenstein; "The Sweetest Flower that Blows," Vander Stucken, and "With Verdure Clad," from "The Creation," by Handel, while she generously responded to several encores. Miss Palmiter's voice possesses sweetness, strength and a wide range which was heard to the best advantage in the selection from Handel and the "Aria" from "The Magic Flute," by Mozart in part second. In the last named selection she aroused her audience to the greatest enthusiasm.

Oscar Nightingale, who is a former Plainfielder, was given a hearty reception. He sang two numbers, "Il Libro Santo," Pinsuti, and "Mistica," Tirindelli. He has an excellent baritone voice and the selections rendered gave him a good opportunity to display it. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Flora MacDonald, of New York, and Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston on the violin.

Dr. Leonard Waldo, who is a favorite among music-lovers, pleased the audience with the rendition of "Romance," by Goltermann, on the 'cello, and he also assisted in the rendition of two numbers, "Priere en Fa," by Guilmant, and "Largo" from sonata opus 65, by Chopin, Miss Mabel Maxson playing the piano and Miss Utter the organ.

The programme opened with an everture, "Semiramis," Rossini, two pianos, eight hands and organ. The first selections by Miss Palmiter were followed with two numbers by the women's double quartette, "Waken, Lords and Ladies Gay," Noyes, and "The Skylark" Dulcken. At the close of part first, while the silver offering was received, the women's double quartette sang "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan.

An instrumental trio, 'cello, piano and organ, opened part second of the programme and in addition to the numbers by Miss Palmiter and Mr. Nightingale, the women's double quartette sang effectively, "The Day is Done," by Carter, and "The Spring Tide," by Gow. The programme closed with the overture, "Tannhauser," by Wagner, two pianos, eight hands and organ.

P. S. C. Makes Settlement.

An action for $5,000 damages, brought against the Public Service Corporation by Michael Gallagher, of Lincoln, and which was to have been heard by Justice Fort at New Brunswick, has been settled out of court. The plaintiff was represented by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city. He was injured in an accident on West Front street a few months ago when a trolley car crashed into a van he was driving.

Death of Mrs. Philip H. Phifer.

Mrs. Josephine Phifer, wife of Philip H. Phifer, and who resided in this city until her marriage, died at her home in Bayonne Monday. She is survived by a son and a daughter and two sisters, Mrs. Louisa Gaddis, of Regent street, the borough, and Mrs. F. W. Myles, of Elizabeth. The funeral will be held from Mrs. Gaddis' home tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside.

Davey—Covert.

Miss Martha Ann Covert was married last night to George Henry Davey at the home of John Ross, of 339 East Sixth street, uncle of the bride. The wedding was extremely simple, with few guests in attendance. Rev. Dr. John S. Zelie performed the ceremony. The groom is a relative of Surrogate Parrott, and Mr. and Mrs. Parrott attended the affair.

K. of C.'s to Aid.

Watchung council, Knights of Columbus, will conduct an invitation dance at the Casino tonight. Though it was not planned by the committee as a means for securing finances, what money is cleared will be forwarded to the National Council at New Haven for the Knights of Columbus San Francisco fund.

"Jewett" Refrigerators

are the best. The proof of this statement is ten years' selling of about two car loads a year. Could we furnish any better evidence? This year they are better than ever in style, construction and finish, and notwithstanding the great increase in cost of everything that goes to make up a refrigerator, our prices of all sizes and kinds are the same as last year. One important feature in connection with the "Jewett" Refrigerator that we wish to elaborate and one which will strongly appeal to every housekeeper this year especially, is that they will keep colder with less ice than any other make. The full line is now on the floor and ready for your inspection. 25 different sizes and styles. Prices from $5.98 to $95.00.

The New Porch Rockers

are here in endless variety, they are of the better kinds and will a peal to anyone who appreciates a good looking, comfortable and durable Rocker. The frames are of selected maple and the seats and backs are of durable rattan. The prices start at 78c and run up to $4.50.

THE SALE OF SAMPLE BEDS

is still on. You never had a better chance to buy a good bed for so little money. $9.50 instead of $12.50 and $15.00.

Jap-a-Lac

PUBLIC SERVICE AND THE TUNNEL CO. AGREE

AS RESULT INJUNCTION RESTRAINING HUDSON RIVER CONCERN IS DISSOLVED

Arrangements were made yesterday at Newark, under which the injunction secured by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, through one of its subsidiary companies, restraining the Hudson River Tunnel Company from completing its Hoboken terminal, has been dissolved.

By the terms of this agreement the two companies will proceed along harmonious lines to complete their projects for the extension and improvement of transit between Manhattan and New Jersey. The tunnel company will finish its westerly terminal, but it has agreed to abandon its proposed surface lines in Hoboken, leaving that field to the Public Service.

Another phase of the agreement is the transfer of the proposed Newark terminal of the Public Service's projected high-speed electric railroad at Park place to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Official confirmation of the intercompany arrangement was made public by President Thomas N. McCarter, who said:

"Negotiations which for some time have been underway between Public Service, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the McAdoo tunnel interests have been consummated at the office of the Public Service Corporation by signing of various agreements between the respective interests.

"By these agreements Public Service has transferred to a real estate company owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, its big terminal site on Park place, Newark.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad and the McAdoo interests jointly agree to co-operate in the construction and operation of a high-speed electric line that will give rapid, direct and frequent service from Newark and Hudson county to the several projected terminals in Manhattan at rates of fare consistent with rapid-transit development.

"The Public Service Corporation agrees to operate its surface systems, both in Essex and Hudson counties, so as to facilitate the transfer of passengers as conveniently as possible to the stations of the high-speed line. In view of the co-operation thus provided it is deemed unnecessary to construct the tunnel and high-speed line contemplated by Public Service, or the proposed additional surface lines in Hudson county laid out by the tunnel interests.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will construct a big transfer station at Harrison, where all its trains will stop, and which will be the point where the motive power will be changed from steam to electricity.

"The line should be finished and in operation not later than 1908. The distance from the Park place terminal, Newark, to the terminal at Church and Cortlandt streets, Manhattan, should be covered easily in fifteen minutes, and twenty-five minutes should suffice for the journey to the uptown Manhattan terminal."

"Girls Will Be Girls" Cancelled.

Because of the illness of the star, Al. Leech, the engagement of "Girls Will be Girls" at the New Plainfield theatre a week from Friday night, has been cancelled. Mr. Leech is now in a hospital at Lancaster, Pa., and his recovery is doubtful. Word to this effect was telegraphed Manager Counihan this morning.

AT A LEXINGTON TEA

Affair Commemorative of the Storied Battle and Means of Adding to Washington Rock Monument Fund.

Serving a twofold purpose admirably, the Colonial tea held by Continental Chapter, D. A. R., at the Park Club yesterday afternoon, was a great success. It formed a delightful commemoration of the anniversary of the Battle of Lexington, and it brought in receipts that made a substantial addition to the Washington Rock monument fund which the chapter is fostering.

The tea was very largely attended by society women on both sides of the brook. It was as successful socially as financially, and the decorations and the programme amply repaid the guests for their patronage.

The auditorium was darkened, and lighted with softly-shaded candles. The candle shades lent the prevailing tone of yellow to the decorations. American flags were draped all about the walls and galleries and southern smilax formed a note of contrast to the red in the colors.

The guests were received by the following reception committee: Miss M. E. Brown, first vice regent; Mrs. D. H. Rowland, second vice regent; Miss Addie Dietrich, register; Mrs. N. W. Currie, secretary; Mrs. S. R. Struthers, treasurer; and Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, Miss Manning, Miss Harriet Manning, Mrs. Charles Leggett, of the board of management.

The whole atmosphere of the hall was colonial, the members of the chapter appearing in costume, with powdered hair and patches. At one corner of the hall there was an unusually interesting exhibit of colonial curios, loaned and presided over by Mrs. George H. Campbell. Some of the choicest bits from Mrs. Campbell's very valuable collection were shown.

Among the guests was Miss Ellen Mecum, of Salem, the State regent. She made a pleasant little speech at a place made for her midway in the programme.

The tea began at 3 o'clock and ended at "early candle lite." The programme opened with an address of welcome by Mrs. S. R. Struthers, the treasurer, who spoke in place of the regent, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall. She announced with regretful expressions, the inability of Mrs. Hall to attend on account of a death in her husband's family. Mrs. Struthers' address was followed, in the order given, by piano solos by Miss Sarah Mae Howell; monologues by Mrs. L. W. Serrell; songs by Mrs. George S. Ring; minuet, by the Misses Titus, Griscom, Helen Stevens, Curtis, Hyatt, Burke, Vandeventer and Vera McCutchen.

An intermission for tea and talk broke the programme in two after the dance. There were four prettily decorated tables, over which Mrs. Charles Rocap and Mrs. Henry McGee, the tea committee, presided.

Following the intermission Miss Howell played again, Miss Mary Hubbell sang, and the minuet was repeated, by request. Everyone of the numbers was greatly enjoyed, and applause was frequent and sustained.

In assisting the general committee to arrange the affair, Mrs. C. W. McCutchen, as the stage committee, and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, Mrs. Norman W. Currie and Mrs. S. R. Struthers worked hard:

Kenyon, Sarah Manning, Harriet Manning, Mary A. Mellick, Susan E. Negus.

Two Colby Leagues Formed.

The Colbyites of Nutley have organized for the approaching campaign by electing William H. Parry, chairman; Ellsworth Post, secretary; William F. Dittig, treasurer. A committee to draft a constitution and by-laws has been appointed as follows: Max P. Kauffman, Frank C. Garrison and Wright Sutcliffe.

A Colby League has been organized in Glen Ridge with the following officers: Eugene Le Roy Cadmus, chairman; Harry D. Smith, vice chairman; Vincent A. Ryan, secretary, and Roscoe R. Johnson, treasurer. The club starts off with a membership of fifty.

—The former Upson property on South avenue, on which a mortgage was recently foreclosed by Counsellor J. H. Crane and bought in by him for Mrs. Olive Chesbro, of New Rochelle, has been sold to R. Coddington, of Martinsville.

LITERARY.

WAS IT FOR THIS WE MET?

Was it for this we met—to part like this!
Was it for this we loved—to lose this way!
Can this be April reddening into May,
And will the woods grow green, and never miss
Beneath their boughs the murmur of our bliss,
The happy children of a Summer day?
Was it for this we loved—to lose this way!
Was it for this we met—to part like this!

O little haunted river, will you run
Still through the trees and leap the rocks in foam,
Yet hear no more our voices blent with yours?
If thus the painted scene of love endures,
Earth's floor of flowers and heaven's azure dome,
O can the play be ended, quite, quite done?

—Richard Le Gallienne in the May Metropolitan Magazine.

There is a constantly increasing number of magazines of out-of-doors, but a "garden number" of one of the standard magazines is a pleasing novelty, and this is what the May Century offers its readers. "The Gardens of Cornish"—that Cornish where so many American artists and writers live and garden—are described by Frances Duncan, author of "Mary's Garden." "The Architectural Treatment of a Small Garden" is discussed; and George W. Cable, the Northampton authority and genial writer, tells all about "Where to Plant What," a sketch to inspire every reader to set about making things grow. Helen Evertson Smith describes "An Ancient Garden" (an old garden at Sharon, Conn., "sketched in" in Revolutionary times)—a garden of delight she pictures it; Miss Betts furnishes a colored frontispiece of "Nelly Custis in the Mount Vernon Garden," and there is an account, by Francis E. Leupp, Indian commissioner, of "The Old Garden at Mount Vernon." Full advantage is taken of the opportunities for illustration offered by these articles, and a number worthy of May is the result. But there are other notable features in the May Century. The second of the late William Sharp's papers on Sicily, "The Garden of the Sun," has many illustrations by Jay Hambidge. Luther Burbank, the California wonder-worker, in "The Training of the Human Plant," advances some suggestive and radical ideas on the effects and possibilities of heredity, food, environment and education. It is a paper likely to provoke wide discussion, and so also is Charles Francis Adams' treatment of the race problem in America, under title of "Reflex Light from Africa."

Most notable, perhaps, among several notable articles in the May Everybody's Magazine, is Lindsay Denison's "Making Good at Panama." Mr. Denison's is the first authoritative story of the work being done on the canal. He went to Panama armed with a letter from President Roosevelt instructing all Government officers and employes to tell the bearer the whole truth "whether it hurts or not." "Making Good at Panama" will give you real impressions as if you were looking with your own eyes, and, best of all, the truth will not hurt; it will line you up enthusiastically with the President and Taft and Stevens. "The Condemned-Meat Industry," Upton Sinclair's trenchant reply to J. Ogden Armour's defense of the Beef Trust, backed up by documentary evidence, will require a deal of answering. Part II of "The Coal Trust, the Labor Trust, and the People Who Pay," by Hartley Davis, is particularly timely just now—more timely than most of us wish. Thomas W. Lawson recounts a recent experience with Heinze. Readers of Everybody's will recall the chapter some months ago in which he described Heinze; but in spite of that marvelous skinning, Heinze bobs up a few months later with a proposition that Mr. Lawson join forces with him to hornswoggle the public. He showed Mr. Lawson where they could both make millions. "Fools and Their Money" is the suggestive title of the article in which Mr. Lawson tells about it.

By 1895 the partition of Africa had become an established fact. Almost every square mile of its surface having been scrambled for (there is no better word) by the great powers of Europe, the most remarkable circumstance of this gigantic acquisition of territory was the absence if international strife. Africa emerged from the struggle of the chancelleries of Europe to find itself provided with new masters in many directions. France had become the possessor of 3,300,000 square miles of territory, 1,600,000 of which lay in the Great Sahara Desert; Great Britain of 2,200,000; Germany, a new comer, of nearly 1,000,000; Italy, also a new arrival, of 550,000, including a doubtfully assigned claim upon Abyssinia; Spain of 150,000; the three free states or republics—Liberian, Belgian, and Afrikander Dutch—of 1,150,000. The oldest colonisers, Turkey and Portugal, claimed 2,200,000 and 825,000. A total in all of 11,370,000, leaving the poor little fraction of 230,000 unallotted, of which 70,000 lay in the great lakes and most of the remainder in the balance of boundary commissions.

Africa possessed unique, though perhaps untoward features for successful development. Lying mainly, as it does, thirty degrees north and south of the equator, it was essentially the tropical continent. Its physical features resembled no other continent—From "The Railways of Africa," by Lt. Col. Sir Percy Girouard in the May Scribner's.

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

SMART DRUGGIST FOILED A SUICIDE.

Gave Woman Who Wanted Poison Harmless Stuff—She Didn't Know It.

Suspecting that a young woman wanted to end her life, because she requested ten cents' worth of carbolic acid and a similar amount of strychnine, William Chandler, a druggist at Newark and Hudson streets, Hoboken, substituted Monday water for the acid, but put a poison label on the bottle, and in place of the strychnine gave the woman a headache powder.

The woman left the store, but she stopped close by, took the powder and then drank the contents of the bottle. She screamed as she lay down on the sidewalk, in the rain, to "die."

Detective Weinthal was close by and ran to aid the woman. He picked her up and carried her to the police station close by, where she was examined by the police surgeon. He pronuonced her out of danger. She was placed in a cell when the druggist appeared and explained the matter.

She was arraigned before Recorder Stanton and sent to the penitentiary for thirty days. She said her name is Mrs. Adelaide Cook, of No. 203 Bloomfield street, Hoboken. She said she wanted to die because she had quarreled with her husband.

The druggist said the woman seemed very much excited and he feared she wanted the poison to kill herself, and he therefore saved her life by making the substitution.

The Prudential Benefits New Jersey People.

The benefits which have come to New Jersey people through the fact that The Prudential Insurance Company is a New Jersey institution are shown by the statement that nearly 18 million dollars have been paid by The Prudential to residents of this State and that more than 900,000 policies are now held in The Prudential by New Jersey people. The Prudential wrote more new business and paid more claims in New Jersey last year than any other company operating in this State. In purely voluntary concessions alone (that is dividends, etc., granted by The Prudential which were not provided for in the policyholders' contracts) New Jersey people have benefitted to the extend of over $1,000,000. These figures show that The Prudential is of great value as a source of wealth to the State. In other respects this big institution is also important to the State. A great life insurance company is something more than an indemnifier against risks; it is incidentally a great investor, a great employer of labor and a great source of revenue to both city and State. Figures showing The Prudential's status in these various aspects are given. Thus the amount loaned on bond and mortgage in New Jersey is over $6,000,000; an investment which must have its effects in the development of productive industry. Again, The Prudential finds a livelihood for between 3,000 and 4,000 New Jersey people who have dependents representing perhaps two or three times that number. As a taxpayer, The Prudential has paid to New Jersey the great sum of $2,800,000 which somebody would have had to pay if The Prudential had not located in New Jersey. This leaves out of account the reduction of taxation that has taken place through the decrease of public funerals since the introduction of Industrial Life Insurance. The Prudential carries over $155,000,000 of paid for life insurance on the lives of New Jersey people, which is the best evidence of the confidence held by the citizens of the State in that great institution.

SPEED OF NOVEL WRITERS.

Some Who Can Turn Out Many Thousands of Words in a Day.

The recent statement of a lady writer of fiction that her average output is over 5,000 words a day is so remarkable to anyone who has any practical knowledge of the labor of the pen that it ought to be interesting to compare the rates at which well known authors produce their work, says London Tit-Bits.

If this industrious lady had merely claimed that she frequently wrote 5,000 words or more in a day the statement would cause no surprise, for this is quite a commonplace feat with rapid writers. In his early and enthusiastic days H. G. Wells on several occasions actually wrote with his own hand more than 7,000 words in a day—a performance which he now looks back on with mingled envy and penitence. Nowadays he considers that he has done excellently if he has as many thousands words to show as the net result of a week's steady work, after destroying at least as much as he allows to survive. A thousand words a day, or less than a column and a half of Tit-Bits, is his average output the year round, and he thinks this is "quite enough for any man to give to the world."

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Never mind saying that, thank you. Tell me something about yourself, now. I really would like to know you. What do you see and hear and do in this strange life?"

"There's not much variety," he answered, with a convincing droop of depression. "For six months I've been seeing you and hearing you—seeing you and hearing you; not much variety in that—nothing worth telling you about."

Despite her natural caution, intensified by training, she felt herself thrill to the very evident sincerity of his tones, so that she had to affect mirth to seem at ease.

"You stubborn person. Really, I know all about myself. I asked you to tell me about yourself."

"And I began at once to tell you everything about myself—everything of interest—which is yourself."

"I see your sense of values is gone, poor man. I shall question you. Now you are a miner, and I like men of action, men who do things; I've often wondered about you, and seriously, I'm glad to find you here doing something. I remembered you kindly, with real gratitude, indeed. You didn't seem like a New York man either, and I decided you weren't. Honestly, I am glad to find you here at your work in your miner's clothes. You mustn't think we forget how to value men that work."

On the point of saying thoughtlessly: "But I'm not working here—I own the mine," he checked himself. Instead he began a defense of the man who doesn't work, but who could if he had to. "For example," he continued, "here we are at a place that you must be carried over; otherwise you'd have to wade through a foot of water or go around that long way we've come. I've rubber boots on, and so I pick you up this way—" He held her lightly on his arm and she steadied herself with a hand between his shoulders.

"And staggering painfully under my burden, I wade out to the middle of this subterranean lake." He stopped.

"You see. I've learned to do things. I could pick you from that slippery street and put you in your carriage, and I can pick you up now without wasting words about it—"

"But you're wasting time—hurry, please—and, anyway, you're a miner and used to such things."

He remained standing.

"But I'm not wasting time, and I'm not a miner in the sense you mean. I own this mine, and I suppose for the most part I'm the sort of man you seem to have gotten tired of; the man who doesn't have to do anything. Even now I'm this close to work only because my grandfather wanted me to look over the properties my father left."

"But, hurry, please, and set me down."

"Not until I warn you that I'm just as apt to do things as the kind of man you thought I was. This is twice I've picked you up now. Look out for me—next time I may not put you down at all."

She gave a low little laugh, denoting unruffled serenity. She was glorying secretly in his strength, and she knew his boldness and timidity were still justly balanced. And there was the rather astonishing bit of news he had just given her. That needed a lot of consideration.

With slow, sure-footed steps he reached the farther side of the water and put her on her feet.

"There, I thought I'd reveal the distressing truth about myself while I had you at my mercy."

"I might have suspected, but I gave the name no thought. Bines, to be sure. You are the son of the Bines who died some months ago. I heard Mr. Shepler and my father talking about some of your mining properties. Mr. Shepler thought the 'One Girl' was such a funny name for your father to give a mine."

Now they neared the foot of the shaft, where the rest of the party seemed to await them. As they came up Percival felt himself raked by a broadside from the maternal lorgnon that left him all but disabled. The father glowered at him and asked questions in the high key we are apt to adopt in addressing foreigners, in the instinctive fallacy that any language can be understood by anyone if it be spoken loudly enough. The mother's manner was a crushing rebuke to the young man for his audacity. The father's manner was meant to intimate that natives of the region in which they were then adventuring were not worthy of rebuke, save such general rebukes as may be conveyed by displaying one's natural superiority of manner. The other members of the party, excepting Shepler, who talked with Pangburn at a little distance, took cue from the Milbreys and aggressively ignored the abductor of an only daughter. They talked over, around and through him, as only may those mortals whom it hath pleased heaven to have born within certain areas on Manhattan Island.

"I shall see you soon above ground, shall I not?" Miss Milbrey had asked, at which her mother shot Percival a parting volley from her rapid-fire lorgnon, while her father turned upon him a back whose sidelines were really admirable, considering his age and feeding habits. The behavior of these people appeared to intensify the amusement of their child. The two solemn young men who remained continued to chat before Percival as they would have chatted before the valet of either. He began to sound the spiritual anguish of a pariah. Also to feel truculent and in his own phrase, "westy." With him "westy" meant that you were as good as anyone else "and a shade better than a whole lot if it came to a show-down." He was not a little mortified to find how easy it was for him to fall back upon that old cushion of provincial arrogance. It was all right for Uncle Peter, but for himself—well, it proved that he was less finely eastern than he had imagined.

As the cage came down for another ascent, he let the two solemn young men go up with Shepler and Pangburn, and went to search for Uncle Peter.

"There, thank God, is a man!" he reflected.

He found Uncle Peter in the crosscut, studying a bit of ore through a glass, and they went back to ascend.

"Them folks," said the old man, "must be the kind that newspaper meant, that had done something in practical achievement. I bet that girl's mother will achieve something practical with you fur cuttin' the girl out of the bunch; she was awful tormented; talked two or three times about the people in the humbler walks of life bein' strangely something or other. You ain't such a humble walker now, are you, son? But say, that yellow-haired woman, she ain't a bit diffident, is she? She's a very hearty lady, I must say!"

"But did you see Miss Milbrey?"

"Oh, that's her name, is it, the one that her mother was so worried about and you? Yes, I saw her. Peart and cunnin', but a heap too wise fur you, son; take my steer on that. Say, she'd have your pelt nailed to the barn while you was wonderin' which way you'd jump."

"Oh, I know I'm only a tender, teething infant," the young man answered, with masterly satire.

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Plainfield Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.
In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Adolph Thomas, machinist, living at 206 Spooner avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have had for several years considerable trouble with my stomach, indigestion and constipation, and coupled with these ailments I have suffered with a most severe form of rheumatism. Having heard that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for rheumatic troubles arising from the kidneys I got a supply at Randolph's drug store and began using them. I have taken in all three boxes of this remedy and must say that they have acted like a charm in my case, and not only have I been relieved of the pains that troubled me, but the stomach is again in good shape."

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." GOV. STOKES PLANS BIG STATE CAMP

PROBABLE HE WILL HAVE WHOLE DIVISION OF GUARD AT SEA GIRT.

Trenton, April 25.—Gov. Stokes, being desirous that the soldiery of New Jersey shall excel the militia of any other State, is planning to send the whole division of the State National Guard into camp at Sea Girt this summer. Heretofore one brigade has camped each year, and in that way the soldiers of the State had an opportunity for field work only once in two years.

Provision for Gov. Stokes' plan was made in the appropriation bill passed by the recent Legislature, and in addition to this the Governor expects to save $10,000 in transporting the troops to Sea Girt. Up to the present time the companies which were not in the brigade assigned to camp were sent to Sea Girt for a day's rifle practice. The Governor will have the rifle practice during the regular encampment this year, and thus avoid the expense of special trips for one day.

The plan of Gov. Stokes will be passed upon by the State Military Board next Tuesday. By a bill now in the hands of the Governor, which he is expected to sign, the New Jersey Guard shortly will be placed under Federal authority by the provisions of the Dick law.

HAZEL MORRISON'S FUNERAL.

Pastor Refers to the Fact That She Was Youngest Member.

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Hazel Avis Morrison, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, of South avenue, who died as the result of burns received in an accident, was held at the parents' home yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, who referred feelingly to the loss that parents and friends had experienced and also to the fact that she was the youngest member of his congregation, having joined the church at the March communion. Since that time also, he said, the church had also lost its oldest member, Mrs. Whiton, who was in her ninety-seventh year.

There were numerous floral tributes sent by friends and playmates. Mrs. Morrison, who was also severely burned, attended the service despite her serious condition. The interment was made at Hillside.

Removal.

Fred Ivamy's seafood market removed today from 232 West Second street to 126 West Second street, near theatre. Everything new. Finest market in the State. Cleanliness a specialty. Telephone numbers remain the same.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

To prevent his car skidding is the constant aim of the careful automobile driver. Try as he may, however, this sometimes becomes an almost impossible task. Slipperyy streets will cause a car to slide when a turn is made, often with results that are anything but pleasant. Comparatively few automobile manufacturers have borne the skidding evil in mind while designing the models, but those who have can easilyy count the advantage it has given them. It was one of the matters which was the subject of constant experimention on the part of the E. R. Thomas Mostor company during the development of the present "Flyer" and as a result skidding has been reduced to a minimum that is scarcely perceptible.

GOVERNOR STOKES TO ADDRESS G. O. P. LEAGUE.

Biennial Convention of National Organization to Be Held in Philadelphia.

Notice has been issued by the State Republican League of New Jersey, of which Everett Colby is president, that the next biennial convention of the National Republican League will be held in Philadelphia on the fiftieth anniversary of the first National Republican Convention, June 17, 18 and 19, 1906. New Jersey will be entitled to six delegates at large and four delegates from each Congressional district.

All Republican clubs in the State desiring to send delegates should send the names of their members who desire to attend the convention, to the secretary at 800 Broad street, Newark, in order to aid the executive committee, by whom the delegates are appointed.

The first business session will be held on Monday, June 18, in Musical Fund Hall, Locust street, west of Eighth, at 10 a. m. On June 20, the delegates will go to Atlantic City, where they will be addressed by Governor Stokes.

The speakers at the convention include Vice President Fairbanks, Speaker Joseph Cannon, of the House of Representatives, Senator Beveridge, Governor Pennypacker and Mayor Weaver. It is the earnest desire of the officers of the New Jersey League to have al arge and representative delegation from this State. William L. Dayton, of New Jersey, was nominated for vice president on the first Republican national ticket in 1856 in the very hall in which this convention is to be held. Annie L. Dayton, of Trenton, the only living daughter of William L. Dayton, will be a guest of the convention. Visitors, who are not delegates, will be welcome at the convention.

Burtt A. Brown Buried.

The funeral services of Burtt A. Brown, who died in Bristol, Conn., on Saturday, were held from the home of his mother in Washington avenue, yesterday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including man business associates and employees from Bristol. There was a beautiful display of floral tributes. The services were conducted by Rev. A. C. McCrea, of the First M. E. church. Miss Etta Raybert sang "Face to Face," and "Sometime We'll Understand." The interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Carnival Committee Appointed.

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., last night appointed a committee of which William Newcorn is chairman, to join with a like committee from Wetumpkah Tribe, in arranging for the Red Men's participation in the carnival for the hospital.

Former Resident Buried at Hillside.

The body of Mrs. S. Imogene Conkling, who died at her home in Elizabeth, was brought to this city yesterday and buried at Hillside cemetery. She was a former Plainfield resident and the mother of the late Addison Conkling.

Mrs. Nancy Flanders Dead.

CUPID 'BUSTS' BALL TEAM

As a Result New Market Will Have No Ball Nine This Season.

LOVE KILLS THE SPORT

Plans Now Being Made for Opening of the Season—A Gala Affair —Street Parade Probable.

Dan Cupid is receiving some real hard knocks from the base ball fans residing in New Market and vicinity all because the village will not be represented on the diamond this season. It is not because interest in the national game has waned because of these conditions, but because three New Market players have recently became benedicts and have removed to other climes. As a consequence there isn't enough local players left to make up a ball team. A strange state of affairs this.

George Whitley, who won fame and glory as a slab artist in village, as well as winning a bride two summers ago, and who was one of the most popular members of the team, is authority for the statement that the old village is a back number as far as base ball is concerned this season due to the above named facts. The lanky Ex-Hope Chapelite, himself grew tired of the game last summer and preferred the bliss of his fireside and digging a garden in his back yard in preference to playing ball. "Al" Squier, who with Whitley pitched for New Market, is also contented with home happiness. Two more of the players have sweethearts in Flemington, and to spend Sundays with them they are obliged to leave the village on Saturday afternoons.

Two serious defections were made in the team during the past winter by the marriage of Captain Fred Dayton, of the team, and "Joe" Waglow, who covered left field, both of whom have settled down to married life and taken up their abode in Plainfield.

So it is under these unusual conditions that New Market and vicinity will be without a base ball team this season, unless it happens that "Abe" Nelson takes it into his mind to fill up the vacancies with outsiders. But it is likely that this course will not be followed as New Market cranks are somewhat fickle and prefer to see their own boys on the team. For the past three seasons New Market was represented with one of the strongest amateur teams in this section.

One of the most ardent rooters of the team is "Dave" Ward. He is known in every nook of Piscataway to be the warmest kind of a base ball bird. He is naturally very downhearted over the turn of affairs, and as he holds down all bachelor honors in the village, despite the fact that his engagement was announced two years ago by an unscrupulous newspaper man, and he is now spending his spare time when not weighing up cheese in the village grocery, cussing up hill and down, "these gosh darn matrimonial fan dangle ideas that young men have nowadays."

Never mind, "Dave," come over to Plainfield and take in the opening game on Crescent Oval against the All Cubans. It will be a game worth seeing. Bring your best girl along too.

There is some talk about starting the season off with a grand hurrah accompanied with a street parade and band or something of the sort.

It would be a mighty good idea. Plainfield has never seen a pennant raising since the days of the old Crescents, so let her have one good rousing celebration. Anything to have a record breaking crowd and plenty of enthusiasm.

If there is any music needed it would be a good thing for Mayor Smalley to put a fly in Bandmaster Le Vere's ear and get the energetic music maker started on a subscription list. There is nobody in the biz who can best Ben when it comes to getting results by passing around the hat.

Ben is willing and will get to work when Mayor Smalley gives him the signal.

Plainfielders are winning glory on college diamonds this season. Fred Van Auken is getting a show in the box with Annapolis once in a while despite the politics in that institution, and "Buster" Heyniger, son of George Heyniger, is showing up well with Princeton and is now the third pitcher on the list.

Manager Daab is anxious to provide local fans with a star attraction on Decoration Day. Thus far he has not arranged any games for that date but he is negotiating with some first class teams, including Lafayette and Lehigh universities.

Every member of the base ball association should be out at the meeting Saturday night. There will be a full discussion of the plans for the opening game.

From a Jersey City standpoint Manager Daab's aggregation this season looks faster than ever. Editor George Bushfield, of the Jersey City Journal, who is an authority on the national game, and knows a good thing when he sees it, issued the following bulletin in his account of the Hoboken-Jersey City game Sunday: Jersey City won, as was expected, but the exhibition put up by Manager Daab's players and the trouble they furnished for the Eastern Leaguers proves the Hoboken team this year to be far superior to any other that has represented that city in base ball. A faster aggregation of ball players have seldom been gotten together outside a league, and the followers of the sport at the cricket grounds this year are in line for the best ball playing that has ever been witnessed there.

For Manager Daab's players Henriques showed up brightly with the stick; also in his position at first. Captain Mike Leonard shouldered his responsibilities by getting in three sounding whacks at the ball, his first being for two bases, which was turned into a run by Bill Heffron's long hit into right field, which was only prevented from being counted for more than one base by Keister's fine one-hand stop on the jump.

Hefferon, the Jersey City member of the Hobokens, made a strong impression and will make a valuable member of the Hoboken squad. He had one hit and twice drew passes to first base. Brogan, who has been practicing with Jersey City, showed cleverness at second base, and promises soon to break into league company.

Just the way everybody else thinks.

"Phil." Smith, pitcher for the P. H. S., expects to make arrangements with Manager Daab whereby he will be able to play with the Plainfield team until after the school schedule is completed without compensation. He will do this so as he will be enabled to pitch for his school team. The P. H. S. schedule will close on June 9, when the Trenton High School team will play the final game here. Without the services of Smith the local school boys would suffer very much as he is a tower of strength to them.

The Jersey City High School baseball team will oppose the Plainfield High School team on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon. This will be one of the best school games of the season. "Phil." Smith will pitch for Plainfield.

TO HOLD A BAZAAR.

Plans Arranged by First Church of Christ Last Night.

At a meeting of the congregation of the First Church of Christ, last night, plans were made for a fair and bazaar to be held next week. It will commence Monday and continue until Friday. On Tuesday night an address will be given by M. L. Bates, of East Orange; on Wednesday night E. H. Simonson, of Staten Island, will speak; Thursday night a New England supper will be served and Friday night an auction sale of all unsold articles will be conducted by Rev. Phil. A. Parsons.

Mrs. John Manley will be chairman of the program committee and Mrs. George Rockefellow will have charge of the supper committee. The booths will be presided over as follows: Flowers, fruit and candy, Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Snowden; notions and fancy goods, Mrs. Wyckoff and Mrs. Vanaman; groceries, Mrs. David Bush. Another meeting of those interested will be held Thursday night.

Plainfield Cases Disposed Of.

John McElhaney, of this city, charged with stealing $10 from Meyer Leichtentritt, of West Front street, some time ago, was arraigned in the Union County Court this morning and placed in charge of the probation officer. The same action was taken in the case of John Southard, a Newark peddler, charged with stealing two bags of potatoes from a barn on West Fourth street.

Brick Manufacturer Assigns.

W. S. Jimerson, the Netherwood brick manufacturer, recently made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. A meeting of the latter will be held in the office of J. F. MacDonald, the assignee, this afternoon, when an attempt will be made to readjust the business.

A $100 Bill is the Donation of Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk.

CONTRIBUTIONS TODAY

Mayor's Committee Fund Now Amounts to $1,860, Bringing Total for Plainfield Up to $3,900.

Contributions for the relief of the stricken people of San Francisco continue to come into The Daily Press office. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the fund amounted to $1,602.50.

Former Mayor Charles Joel Fisk walked into the office this morning and planked down a crisp hundred dollar bill. "Our banking house has given $5,000 to Mayor McClellan's fund in New York, but I want to contribute to that noble cause myself," he said.

W. F. Arnold, custodian of the mayor's committee fund, reports $1,860. The combined funds, together with what has been sent independently, now aggregate nearly $4,000.

Missionary's Wife Dead.

A cablegram was received yesterday announcing the death of Mrs. Florence Scudder, wife of Rev. Frank Scudder, the missionary at Nagono, Japan. Mrs. Scudder was well known in Plainfield, she being the niece of Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck and the daughter of Mrs. J. M. Schenck, who was superintendent of Marconnier chapel last year. No particulars, except that Mrs. Scudder died in a hospital, was given in the cablegram.

Disorderly Negro.

Chester White, colored, made his second appearance in court in two weeks, after a month's residence in town, yesterday morning. He was charged with disorderly conduct by Spencer Kelly, a colored barber, who accused him of raising a fuss about his place because he had discharged him. Judge Runyon told White that he was rushing his police court record too hard, and made it $5 or twenty days. The negro paid.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. William Frentz, of West Third street, entertained a number of friends last night in honor of her birthday. Games and refreshments were the features.

MISS KUENLEN'S BODY NOT AT THE MORGUE

CLIPPING LEADS SEARCHERS VAINLY TO BROOKLYN'S DEATH HOUSE.

F. T. Woodhull, who is helping Henry Liefke direct the search for Helen Kuenlen, the West Front street girl who disappeared last Saturday afternoon, went to the Brooklyn morgue this morning to look at the body of a young woman found in the East River, at the foot of Atlantic street, Brooklyn, yesterday. The description of the body and the clothing on it corresponded startlingly with that given of the missing girl. The body was not that of Miss Kuenlen.

Chief Kiely showed Mr. Woodhull a clipping on the find this morning, and he started for Brooklyn immediately. The body was that of a young woman about 30 years old, 5 feet, 8 inches in height, wearing a gray skirt, white waist, black stockings and low-cut shoes. That fitted Miss Kuenlen's description exactly even to the black stockings and white waist. Her mother said she couldn't remember whether or not she had on low-cut shoes.

Mrs. Kuenlen was not told why the police asked about the shoes this morning. She is almost in a state of collapse from worriment now, and it was felt that there would be time enough to talk of bodies when the mystery was cleared up one way or another.

RECEPTION IN HONOR OF WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Thirty Friends Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchanan, of New York.

In celebration of the first anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Buchanan, of New York, gave a reception at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Thorn, of East Second street, last night. It was attended by thirty friends from this city and other places and the hours until after midnight were passed in dancing, playing games and listening to musical selections. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Among those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wyckoff and daughter Helen, of Elizabeth; Mrs. Sophia Smith, of Newark; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thorn, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Staff, Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pawson, Mrs. Joseph Kingston, the Misses Bertha Fischer, Helen Apgar, Achsah Holmes, Jessie Campbell, Gertrude Geier and Mildred Tyrrell; Messrs. Frank Van Winkle, George Morton, Thomas De Meza, Thomas M. Muir, B. C. Firstbrook, William Thorn and George Graves.

"Willie" Deegan Will Give a Benefit.

"Willie" Deegan, the popular baseball pitcher, who will play with the Plainfield team this season, announces that he will give an opening dance at his hotel in Scotch Plains on Saturday night, May 12, and that the entire proceeds from the affair will be given to the fund for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers. "Willie" will make the occasion a notable one and a good time is assured all. After that date there will be dancing every Saturday night at the hotel. Extensive improvements have been made at the hotel.

The Right Man for the Work.

Capt. Hand & Sons have taken the contract for W. T. Kirk to place the massive iron window panes in The Plainfield Trust Company's new building. An out-of-town firm made the attempt, but failed and Capt. Hand agreed "to place them in position or sacrifice his reputation." The frames weigh over a ton and a half. Crowds witnessed the successful workmen all day.

Illustrated Lecture.

The volcanic destruction of the city of St. Pierre will be described by W. R. Brokaw under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening. There will be colored views, violin solos and recitations by Mrs. W. R. Brokaw. There will also be moving pictures. A silver offering will be received.

The Lucky New Market Heirs.

The "Fair heirs" in Jersey, who settled that little matter with Mrs. Oelrichs et al, some time ago, probably view the San Francisco disaster with as much equanimity as anybody in this State. A million or two in the hand is worth several other millions located on quaky ground.—Newark News.

SMALL BOYS CONFRONT EACH OTHER WITH KNIVES

PATROLMAN STOPS JUVENILE DUELISTS AS BATTLE IS ABOUT TO BEGIN.

Patrolman Kelly saw a crowd at Liberty and Fourth streets yesterday afternoon and hustled over to investigate. He found 100 small boys gazing with awe and excitement at William Cruse and Rodney Dover, 12-year-old colored boys, facing one another with big bladed pocketknives, bared and ready for business in their hands.

Kelly broke through the ring and nabbed the small duelists before cutting was commenced.

In court this morning, Rodney said William drew first and he only armed as a matter of defense. William said Rodney made threatening moves first.

"I didn't want to cut him," protested William. "I was afraid to cut him—I was just trying to frighten him."

"I didn't want to do any cutting," Rodney assured the magistrate.

The judge looked sternly from the duelists to the jackknives.

"I think I will hold you until your parents pay $2 apiece to ransom you. That will just be about enough to keep this thing—their minds, and I think they will be moved to get $2 worth of satisfaction out of you in a way that will keep it in your minds."

TEACHERS AND PUPILS ATTEND HOPE FUNERAL.

Bryant School Closed as Mark of Respect to Janitor's Memory.

As a mark of respect to the memory of Stevenson R. Hope, the Bryan school was closed yesterday and many of the teachers and pupils attended the funeral, held at the home of his son, John Hope, of East Fifth street, in the afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, assisted by Rev. Dr. G. H. Whitney, who officiated at Mr. Hope's wedding.

There were numerous floral tributes, among them a large set piece from the teachers and pupils of the Bryant school where the deceased had been janitor for twenty-four years. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

The pall bearers were six members of the Exempt Firemen's Association, V. W. Nash, B. Frank Coriell, T. O. Doane, William A. Woodruff, L. E. Barkelew and E. F. Powelson.

TELLS OF HER TRIP.

Reception In Honor of Mrs. Marshall By Templars' Auxiliary.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., gave a reception in Masonic Hall, yesterday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. H. W. Marshall, who recently returned from a trip to the West Indies. The affair was an informal one, the social features and a talk by Mrs. Marshall giving a graphic description of her trip, being enjoyed. Mrs. Marshall also exhibited a great many curios collected on her journey. Mrs. W. S. Angleman, president of the auxiliary, extended a welcome to the members, and especially to Mrs. Marshall upon her return home.

Other features of the programme was the recitation by Miss Caroline Lambert, who gave "Mrs. Casey at the Card Party," vocal solos by Miss Van Nuse, piano selections by Miss Martha Codington and a piano duett by Miss Codington and Miss Van Nuse. After the programme light refreshments were served.

Benefit Dance for Sufferers.

The local lodge of the International Association of Machinists will give a dance in Saengerbund Hall, tomorrow night, and the entire proceeds from the affair will be given to the relief fund for the San Francisco sufferers. This dance was arranged some time ago, but as soon as the San Francisco disaster occurred the officers and members decided to turn the proceeds over to the relief fund.

Jury Drawn for Nothing.

Through the failure of the plaintiff to appear, the contract case of G. M. Merrill, New York, against Harold Hansen, this city, in Justice Hand's court, was postponed yesterday afternoon after the jury had been drawn. The case was put off until next Tuesday on the motion of J. P. Owens, counsel for Merrill. The jurymen got half-pay.

Another Talk on Tuberculosis.

Dr. F. C. Ard will give a talk on tuberculosis at the new Plainfield High School on Friday night, May 4, at 8:30 o'clock. This will be one of the series arranged for by the Board of Health. Other meetings will follow at Hope chapel, Warren chapel and the North Plainfield High School on dates to be decided later.

COLBY MEETING, MAY 5

Union County's Independent Republicans Postpone Saturday Night's Meeting.

WORKING ON PLANS

Temporary Officers and All Committees to Be Named—Mayor Fagan to Speak.

Judge William N. Runyon announced this morning that the committee in charge of the Colby movement in Union county has decided to defer the meeting planned for Saturday night. It will be held, instead, on Saturday night, May 5, in Elizabeth. There has been much work to be done before Independent Republicans are called together, he explained, and the committee has not yet finished its work.

In various parts of Union county, the five members of the committee are making a quiet canvas to find what sort of a showing the Colby movement will be able to make when the time comes. Judge Runyon, as chairman, and the other members of the committee have been diligently at work, it is reported, and they say that they feel encouraged over the outlook.

Mayor Mark M. Fagan, of Jersey City, who consented to address the Union county Colbyites Saturday night, will be asked to meet with them the following Saturday night. The committee met at Elizabeth Tuesday afternoon and received reports from various parts of the county.

At the meeting on May 5, all committees will be appointed and temporary officers of the Colby League of Union County will be named.

SUES FOR BOARD.

Miss Linzer Wants $335 of Bridget Monks' Estate.

Another trial of the case of Mrs. Anna Linzer against Nelson and Wm. N. Runyon, executors of the estate of Bridget Monks, is on in the district court, Elizabeth, today. The case was tried two months ago and resulted in a disagreement on the part of the jury.

Mrs. Linzer sues to recover $335, at $1 per day for the care and attention of Bridget Monks, who lived with her from April 5, 1903, to March 6, 1904, when she died. Mrs. Linzer claims that she made arrangements with Bridget Monks for her care with the understanding that she was to be compensated. After the death of Bridget Monks, Mrs. Linzer presented her bill and the executors refused to pay it, hence the suit. Nelson Runyon represents the defendants and Abe David, of Elizabeth, represents the plaintiff.

DANCED FOR THE FUND.

Proceeds from Knights of Columbus Affair to Go to San Francisco.

For the purpose of sociability and benevolence combined, Watchung council, Knights of Columbus, conducted a highly successful dance at the Casino last night. Announcement that the proceeds would be contributed to the San Francisco relief fund led to a response from nearly every invitation and there were full 150 couples in attendance. Music was furnished by Suhr's Imperial orchestra and Thomas F. Gough acted as floor manager. The amount cleared has not yet been made known but it will reach a good-sized amount.

The committee which arranged and had charge of the affair consisted of John Hines, chairman; T. F. Gough, G. P. Kiely, W. J. O'Keefe and H. P. Greenwood.

Funeral of A. H. Bowman.

A private funeral over the body of Albert H. Bowmen was held at his late home on Dunellen avenue, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, and was attended only by relatives and a few intimate friends. The body was sent today to Greenwood cemetery for interment.

Lecture on Education.

N. C. Schaeffer, State school superintendent of Pennsylvania, will lecture at the High School tonight on "Work and Play In Education." The lecture, while particularly valuable to teachers, will have much of interest for the general public.

Strawberries! Strawberries!

Yes! With ice cream and stereopticon lecture by Dr. J. L. Hurlbut "On the Rhine" at the First M. E. church tonight. Admission 35 cts.

REINHART COTTAGE DAMAGED BY FIRE

WOMAN OCCUPANT HURT BY BEDSTEAD THROWN FROM WINDOW.

Sparks from a bonfire burning nearby, lodged in the roof of the Reinhart cottage on Ravine road occupied by John C. Hill, at 8.30 this morning, and started a blaze that caused $1,000 damage and indirectly resulted in the serious injury of Mrs. Cora Peters, the mother of Mrs. Hill.

The flames were first discovered by members of the Reinhart family, whose residence is a short distance away, and an alarm was telephoned to headquarters. The apparatus was on the way to the scene when a second alarm was turned in from box 29 at Woodland and Watchung avenues, nearly a quarter of a mile away. Two hydrant streams and the chemical engine were required to kill the blaze, which worked down to the second story before it was stopped.

While the firemen were at work in the upper part of the house, volunteers from the neighborhood were removing furniture to places of safety. Someone in an excited frame of mind kept throwing heavy fixtures out of an upper window and Chief Doane left his men to have it stopped. He had hardly turned away before a large bedstead came whirling down and struck Mrs. Peters, who had been standing on the porch despite orders to keep away, squarely on the head. She was knocked unconscious and was removed to Muhlenberg hospital in the police patrol. She sustained a severe scalp wound and there is a possible fracture of the skull. She is sixty-five years old.

The house is owned by J. W. Reinhart and the damage will reach $800, covered by insurance. The Hills suffered a $200 loss on furniture and had no insurance.

MARKED THE BIRTHDAY OF ODD FELLOW ORDER.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, Observes Eighty-seventh Anniversary of the Fraternity.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., celebrated the eighty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the order last night with an entertainment. The mothers, wives, sisters and feminine friends of the members were invited and a lot of them attended.

The opening remarks were made by District Deputy Grand Master A. G. Barber. The programme included songs by Elmer D. Cutting and Harry Blimm; humorisms by J. A. Giff, a professional; cornet solos by G. H. Bennett; piano solo by Miss Theresa Kahrmann; duet by J. B. Calder and Miss Ethel Calder, of New York; solos by J. B. Calder and trio selections by Miss Kahrmann, piano; Mr. Bennett, cornet, and Fred Borrup, violin.

A collation was served in the banquet room. Covers were laid for 150. The committee was made up of David Patterson, G. R. Thorn and Burlin Banks.

ANOTHER SHOCK BRINGS FRIGHT TO 'FRISCO.

Hundreds of Tottering Walls Fall; One Life Lost.

San Francisco, April 26.—An earthquake shock of a few seconds' duration brought down a hundred tottering walls and incited new panic in the camps in the western addition and in Oakland at 3.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It cost one woman her life. At the moment, Mrs. Annie Whitaker was in the kitchen of her home on Shotwell street, in the Mission district. The chimney, which was left tottering by last Wednesday's earthquake, fell, crashed through the roof and ceiling and fractured her skull.

The earth's movement was a vigorous one from the southwest to northeast.

Many thousands who had made up their minds to remain in the camps were last night preparing to cross the bay. n Oakland the people ran out of their homes and many men repairing buildings quit work. In the hotels women screamed and fled downstairs to the street. No apparent damage was done.

The absorbing questions are: "When will the convulsions cease?" "What will be the end?"

In the exodus from the city are included large numbers of women, some of whom have been without shoes and adequate clothing for more than a week.

No abled bodied men are permitted to turn their backs upon San Francisco. hey are needed too badly. Already there is a scarcity of labor.

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE STEALS THE THUNDER OF THE COLBY MOVEMENT

FRIEND RECEIVES WORD FROM THE DU FLONS

THEY ESCAPED INJURY IN THE 'QUAKE BUT LOST BELONGINGS.

In a dispatch received this morning by R. B. Valentine, of Trueil Court, word came to Plainfielders telling of the escape of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dufion and their son Thaddeus, of Woodland avenue, who were in California when the earthquake shook the State. They have been spending the winter at San Francisco and Los Angeles because of the young man's studying at Leland Stanford university, but a few days before the disaster went to Delamonte, a place about 125 miles from the stricken city. They escaped all harm but their belongings, which were in San Francisco, were entirely destroyed.

The dispatch was dated at Delamontes yesterday and stated that all three would start at once for Plainfield.

George Stiliger, Jr., the Scotch Plains man who entered into business in San Francisco eight years ago, lost heavily in the big fire. Word was received from him yesterday by his father, George Stiliger, of Scotch Plains.

He conducted a general store which was totally destroyed. The loss is between $8,000 and $10,000. Stiliger himself is unharmed.

E. G. FOSTER WEDS MISS SOUTHERLAND.

Ceremony Performed at the Madison Avenue M. E. Church, New York, Yesterday.

Miss Florence L. Southerland, daughter of A. F. Southerland, and Eugene Gray Foster, son of Scott Foster, of New York, and nephew of D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue, were married yesterday afternoon in the Madison Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, by Bishop McCabe, of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Dr. Wallace MacMullen, pastor of the church. A reception followed at the bride's home, 145 West Fifth-eighth street, New York.

Miss Anna P. Southerland was her sister's maid of honor, and J. Hegeman Foster was the best man. The ushers were Howard C. Foster, brother of the groom; Joseph S. Stout, cousin of the bride; William Peake, Robert S. Talmadge, A. Fillmore Hyde, D. Walter Gibson, Daniel C. Adams and Glen Wright.

CITIES SHAKEN AGAIN.

San Francisco Situation Steadily Improving—Plans for Relief Work.

Another earthquake shock, which caused considerable alarm but did little damage, was felt in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The situation is steadily improving.

President Roosevelt issued a proclamation asking that contributions for relief of the San Francisco sufferers be sent to ex-Mayor Phelan of that city, instead of to the Red Cross. He also urged Congress to appropriate money for new buildings at Mare Island Navy Yard and the army post.

The national San Francisco relief fund yesterday reached the total of $20,670,906.02.

Elks Contribute $150.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., at its meeting, last night, appropriated $150 for the San Francisco relief fund. It will be sent to the secretary of the Grand Lodge at Iowa who will in turn forward it to the grand exalted ruler who is now in the stricken city.

Dr. Schaeffer to Speak.

Chairman Fisk Says There Will Be No More Dictation of Nominations.

"PLAY NO FAVORITES"

County Chairman Smith Declares the People Will Rule—Primary Laws As a "Cure All."

On all sides today, politicians are discussing the surprise sprung by the Republican city committee in coming out for free nominations and no bossism. What the action of the committee at its prolonged session last night really means is a matter of conjecture and the point of view varies according to a man's political affiliations.

Chairman Charles J. Fisk sums it all up in saying that there are going to be no more "back stairs conferences" and no "predetermined nominations." Friends of Senator Colby, on the other hand, declare that the local Republican organization has read "the handwriting on the wall," but that the move is not a sincere one.

The Colbyites say that the city committee has taken the step to block the reform movement in Union county and particularly in Plainfield. It is alleged by them, however, that there is no hope of "anti-machine" government through that source.

For nearly two hours last night the committee discussed the subject and then passed a resolution setting forth that the body represents no faction and will work for the election of candidates chosen by the Republican voters without dictation from anyone. In addition a committee was appointed to arrange for acquainting the voters with the provisions of the new primary election laws.

The committee as named by Chairman Fisk consists of County Chairman Frank H. Smith, former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, Horace Adams and J. Hervey Doane. No means of having the laws brought to the attention of the voters is mentioned but the whole matter is left entirely in the discretion of the committee.

"The City Committee is a representative body—representative of the people," said Mr. Fisk. "We are organized to give the people what they want, and we will do just that. We want to know what candidates they desire. We will follow the wishes of the people faithfully, as expressed at the primaries.

"There is to be an end of backstairs conferences, of predetermined nominations. We are a purely representative body, and we will not stand for dictation from anyone.

"We have no candidates of our own, and will push nobody. We will wait for the word of the people, and whoever they choose as their candidates we will work to elect. We play no favorites—in any direction.

"Let the voters turn out at the primary, and let us know who they want. We have arranged for the publication of all practical information as to the primary for the purpose of making it easy for voters to understand what they are to do in order to indicate their will."

Frank H. Smith, chairman of the county committee, as well as a city committeeman, echoed Mr. Fisk's statement.

"We are in business as a committee to support the candidates desired by the people," said Mr. Smith emphatically. "If they want the present officeholders continued, we will support them; if they want new ones, the old men will have to go. We have no favorites."

"Senator Colby couldn't say much more than that," suggested a Daily Press reporter, turning to Mr. Fisk.

"I am just as much in favor of good government as Colby," said Mr. Fisk. "I believe in giving the people just what nominations they want—providing they are good men—whenever the choice is indicated. If the people want Colby, give them Colby. Colby is a good man."

The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, the City Republican Executive Committee of the city of Plainfield, believing that the operation of the Primary Act of 1903 is conducive towards obtaining a fair and impartial selection of delegates and candidates to represent the Republican party in the city and county;

"And Whereas, the said Committee represents no particular faction,

A PROCLAMATION BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

URGES PEOPLE TO SEND SAN FRANCISCO CONTRIBUTIONS DIRECT TO CITY.

Washington, April 26.—In a proclamation issued yesterday, President Roosevelt urges the American people now to send their contributions for the alleviation of the distress in San Francisco directly to former Mayor James D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee in San Francisco, instead of to the American Red Cross.

The President pays a high tribute to the work accomplished by the citizens' committees of San Francisco, and indicates that the necessity for working through the Red Cross exclusively has passed.

The proclamation reads as follows:

"To the Public:

"When the news of the dreadful disaster at San Francisco first came it was necessary to take immediate steps to provide in some way for the receipt and distribution of the sums of money which at once poured in for the relief of the people of San Francisco. At the moment no one could foretell how soon it would be possible for the people of San Francisco themselves to organize; and to tide over the interval, the American National Red Cross Association was designated to receive and disburse the funds.

"But the people of San Francisco, with an energy and self-reliant courage, a cool resourcefulness and a capacity for organized and orderly endeavor which are beyond all praise, have already met the need through committees appointed by the Mayor of the city, ex-Mayor James D. Phelan being chairman of the finance committee. The work of those committees has been astonishing in its range, promptness and efficiency. As I am informed by Major-General Greely, although all local transportation was destroyed, as well as practically every supply store in the city, these local committees, with the help of the army, have succeeded in caring for three hundred thousand homeless people in the last five days.

"Thanks to their efforts, no individual is now suffering severely for food, water or temporary shelter. This work has been done with the minimum of waste and under conditions which would have appalled men less trained in business methods, endowed with less ability, or inspired with any but the highest motives of humanity and helpfulness. The need of employing the Red Cross, save as an auxiliary, has passed, and I urge that hereafter all contributions from any source be sent direct to James D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee, San Francisco. Mr. Devine, of the Red Cross, will disburse any contributions sent to him through ex-Mayor Phelan, and will work in accord with him in all ways.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

The old Pope homestead on Grove street has been sold to George F. Giles. He will make a number of improvements about the place. The old house will be remodelled and another dwelling, perhaps more, will be erected. The once extensive farm has been cut to a frontage of 200 feet. The old shop stands on it as well as the homestead. In that shop, fifty years ago, eight men were steadily employed making shoe pegs.

Between forty and fifty of their friends and neighbors called very unexpectedly upon Mr. and Mrs. Foster Sofield Tuesday night. They came to mark the twenty-seventh anniversary of their hosts' marriage and they did it thoroughly. The party was a complete surprise. Games, music and refreshments were enjoyed. A number of handsome gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Sofield.

Plans for an ambitiously mounted entertainment are being made by the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church. It will be held May 11. Home talent will figure largely in it.

Charles H. English has been elected president of the board of directors of the loan association. T. P. Cady is vice president, J. W. Moynihan treasurer, and G. W. Day secretary.

An informal meeting of the school board and the teachers will be held tonight at the home of District Clerk T. W. Day, for a discussion of High School requirements.

A dime sociable will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. William Sanford under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle have settled in their new home in Hackensack. Mr. Doolittle has already performed a wedding there.

Mrs. Frank Wallace, of Lincoln, has sold a house in Brooklyn and will purchase a farm near Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Robert Wood, of New York, will spend the summer with Mrs. Josephine Vance.

The tennis courts have been rolled and the club is discussing plans for the first tournament.

Arrangements are being made to fill in the lot at the East Bound Brook school.

Mrs. M. Flanders has been confined to her house by severe illness.

Mrs. Mary Squire entertained Friendship Circle yesterday.

H. S. Garretson was in Woodbridge on business yesterday.

A Hoboken man has bought Miss Carrie Blue's farm.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The effort of the board of trustees of the Baptist church to create a fund for the perpetual care of the cemetery should meet with a ready response from the plot owners. The condition of the cemetery in the past has been no credit to the town.

One week from Saturday and the local baseball season will open. The lovers of the game are anxiously awaiting Umpire Merrity's cry of "Play Ball."

Miss Hattie Smith, who has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, has returned to her home at Lincoln.

The new house being erected on Farlee avenue is already enclosed, and will be ready for occupancy about June 1.

Joseph Clark will represent the township on the petit jury for the May term of court, which opens next week.

Arbor Day exercises will be held by the pupils at the public school tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Sadie Sisser, a former resident here, is visiting friends in town for a week.

Edward Heath has taken a position with the Hall Signal Co. at Garwood.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets tonight in the Library rooms.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The P. O. S. of A. lodge will convene in regular business session tonight at 8 o'clock in Washington Hall.

The high board fence erected recently on one of the prominent streets by the owner of the property who lives elsewhere, it is said, is an evidence that the man had more lumber than common sense.

GOVERNOR RENAMED MR. VOORHEES JUDGE.

But Just For a Banquet In Former Governor's Honor.

Trenton, April 26.—Former Governor Foster M. Voorhees has once more declined to accept a judicial position. With Governor Stokes, he was a guest Tuesday night at a dinner given by Mrs. Alexander C. Oliphant, and which had been planned in honor of his appointment to the Circuit Court bench. As he had declined the position a few days ago, one of the main features of the dinner promised to be lacking. To prevent this Governor Stokes, just before leaving the State House Tuesday evening, again appointed Mr. Voorhees Circuit judge, and for a few hours he played the role of Judge Voorhees. At the close of the dinner he again declined the proffered position and became plain Citizen Voorhees.

Bishop Lines Sends $1,000.

Bishop Lines, of the Episcopal diocese of Newark, telegraphed $1,000 to the Episcopal Bishop of California yesterday for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a business meeting of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church in Vincent chapel tomorrow night.

Charles L. Lewis has been secured to continue as Sunday-school chorister at the Park Avenue Baptist church for an indefinite time.

The Union Bible Class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. All are invited.

The monthly meeting of the Sunday-school teachers of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held Sunday afternoon following the regular session.

Mrs. W. H. Freeman will lead the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. The topic will be "The Stranger Within Our Gates."

"The Weighing Way," will be the name of the social to be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Tuesday night, May 1, under the auspices of the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters.

Rev. Dr. W. I. Stearns, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Lydia May Edgar, of Westfield, will sing and George H. Bennett will be the cornet soloist. All men are invited.

PASSES ARE SENT TO LEGISLATORS.

Railroads Present Members With Coveted Slips at Adjournment.

Annual railroad passes for the benefit of members of the Legislature have made their appearance now that that body has adjourned and legislative passes have expired with it. Some surprise has been expressed at the receipt of the valuable little pasteboards, but there does not appear to have been any marked objection on the part of any particular recipient.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has been liberal in this respect and the Central Railroad of New Jersey is also said to have extended a glad hand.

News comes from the Camden end of the State that these two railroad companies, as well as the West Shore, have been busy also in the work of distribution of annual passes among members of the Legislature of 1906.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The offering at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight is Henry Belmer's great comedy drama, "New York by Night," a production that has won plaudits and favorable press notices wherever shown. It has a touching heart romance deftly woven throughout its strenuous action, while pathos, comedy, tears and laughter intermingle. The play is in four acts and the scenes shown are Times Square at night, the Harlem river bridge, the home of a typical metropolitan cabman and an alley in the lower East side.

Scene in "New York By Night," at New Plainfield Theatre Tonight.

Lewis Morrison himself will appear as Mephisto in an elaborate new production of "Faust" at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. The scenery, electrical effects, costumes, instrumental and vocal music, as well as the lyric and dramatic prologue, are all new. The entire production is the most ornate and elaborate ever given in "Faust" in its long and prosperous career of twenty seasons, and the return of Lewis Morrison himself to the part of Mephisto will invest "Faust" with double interest in the minds of all intelligent theatregoers. Morrison has many imitators—what successful artist has not?—but these imitators lack the breadth of conception and lose in declamation the fire and force which Lewis Morrison's studied and dignified impersonation possesses in such full measure. In exemplifying the triumphant power of Satan in the weird Brocken scene, Lewis Morrison's magnificent voice and physique carry him to a declamatory climax which no imitator or competitor can match, so polished and shaded is the art that leads to the climax of exultant passion, sublimated till it attains nobility, as the scene closes with the rain of fire, the weird electrical flashes and the lurid glare of Satan's kingdom illuminating the scarlet figure of the prince of darkness mocking the lost souls below. In his subtle scenes depicting the temptation of Faust and Marguerite in the garden, or his witty, satrical scene with Dame Martha, Lewis Morrison shows the artist in no less degree. The supporting company, chorus and mechanical effects have been brought to the highest pitch of perfection by careful rehearsal, and Lewis Morrison and his new "Faust" will undoubtedly draw a crowded house.

SEA GIRT CAMP QUESTION.

Extension of Time to Send Entire Division There Discussed.

Trenton, April 26.—The State Military Board considered informally Tuesday the arrangements for next year's encampment at Sea Girt and particularly the proposition to extend the time to five weeks, thereby having the entire division in camp during the season. The board, as constituted, is favorably disposed toward the suggestion, but deferred any positive action for two reasons.

First, any action in the direction indicated will be subject to the Governor's approval of the appropriations made by the Legislature for encampment and, second, it is expected that the military bill will be signed by the Governor during the week. This will add the commanding colonels to the State Military Board, and it is expected that the new members will be qualified to sit at a meeting expected to be held next Tuesday. It is desired to have the views of the increased board expressed before action is taken.

Quartermaster-General Murray has made a careful estimate of cost and believes that by combining rifle practise so that each regiment will be on the ranges during the week it is in camp a saving of $10,000 can be made in the transportation ordinarily required for rifle practise. In this way he believes that the division encampment will cost but little more than the brigade encampment of the past. The two troops of cavalry and batteries of field artillery would go into camp with the brigade to which they are attached.

Senior Class Play.

The senior class of the North Plainfield High School has decided to give the play, "Bachelor's Congress," in place of the usual class day exercises. The play will be given in the Casino early in June.

USE PRESS WANT ADS

ALL OF THEM ARE AFTER THE TAX JOBS.

Senators See the Governor in the Interests of Their Friends.

Trenton, April 26.—There was a comparatively large crowd around the State House Tuesday. The fact that Governor Stokes wanted to consult the leaders in various counties regarding the appointments for the county boards of equalization of taxes was chiefly the cause of the crowd. The Governor has indicated that he desired to leave the appointments, so far as possible, to the State Senators. Consequently there were a good many of the Senators here, as well as the chairmen of the Republican county committees and prominent local politicians. Among those who went to see the Governor were Minturn, of Hudson; McKee, of Passaic; Hillery, of Morris; Price, of Sussex; Martens, of Hunterdon; Hutchinson, of Mercer; Avis, of Gloucester; Shinn, of Ocean, and Horner, of Burlington. Ex-Sheriff David Baird and State Controller Morgan represented Camden county in the absence of Senator Bradley.

It was very soon apparent that the slates had been made out or completed in many instances. The Governor must make all the appointments by May 1, and he has only a week in which to reach a decision in the various cases. He was naturally a little anxious and disturbed at the outlook to-day and urged his visitors to get their lists in shape without further delay. Mr. Minturn, of Hudson, is understood to have fixed up the Hudson choice, with the help of Colonel Dickinson. Senator Colby, of Essex, did not come over because he presided at the big civic dinner in East Orange last night, at which the Governor spoke, and had an opportunity to go over the situation with the Governor there.

Senator Hillery, of Morris, was here, not only to look after the tax appointments for his county, but to begin preparations for the insurance and trust company investigation. The Senator is chairman of the special committee having the matter in charge. Minturn, another member of the committee, was here, and it was concluded to start the work about a week hence. Hillery has been taking a rest since the session adjourned, but says he is now ready to get down to work. No decision has been reached as to the method of procedure, the counsel to be employed, etc. This will be done at the first meeting.

There was a rumor afloat Tuesday that some of the State leaders were anxious to suppress the extra session arranged for September. It is said that they consider the time is too near to election to run the risk of the Legislature breaking loose. It is also said that the vote on the County Equalization bill was so close, and there is so much trouble over the appointments that a successful effort might be made to repeal the law.

AUTOMOBILES AROUSE BOUND BROOK NOW.

Speeding Machines Stir Up Residents and "Bump the Bumps" Will Be Built.

The recklessness of automobilists while driving their cars through the streets of Bound Brook has thoroughly aroused the residents, and the Town Council has been appealed to to take some steps that will prevent the flagrant violation of the automobile speed law. A horseman and brother of Councilman Runyon Field was driving a spirited horse on Mountain avenue, between Bound Brook and Somerville, Sunday afternoon, and had two exciting experiences with autoists. Mr. Field says that in both cases the horse nearly got beyond his control, and despite the fact that he signaled to the machine drivers with his hand to reduce the speed of their cars, they ran the machines past him at a terrific rate of speed, never turning out an inch.

The Town Council has decided to elevate all crosswalks on Mountain avenue. A number of autoists have protested against this being done, but the majority of residents favor it.

JERSEY'S INDUSTRIES.

Official Directory of the Same Gotten Out by State Bureau of Statistics.

Trenton, April 26.—The bureau of statistics of New Jersey is distributing "The Industrial Directory of New Jersey, Revision of 1906," the original of which was published in 1901. The book is in two parts.

The first is occupied entirely with notes relating to each of the seven hundred and forty (740) cities, towns and villages in the State, the populations of which range upward from 100 to the largest and most populous municipalities. To each of these is appended a description varying in volume according to the size of the place, from a dozen lines to as many pages.

The "Industry Classification," which comprises the second division of the directory, covers one hundred and thirty-three pages, and is a complete catalogue of the products of all the manufacturing establishments in New Jersey, and of all the various kinds of goods and wares made in them. These varieties number 1,700, and comprise almost everything known to the world as products of manufacturing industry.

"Teddy" Robinson, of Springfield, Union county, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Blazier, of Elmwood place.

CITY COMMITTEE'S SLOGAN.

Appreciating the responsibilities of his position, former Mayor Charles J. Fisk as chairman impressed upon the Republican City Committee last night that "bossism" in politics must go and that the people alone must dictate nominations. His views were shared by the other members of the committee and appropriate resolutions were adopted. The chairman's utterance after the meeting adjourned is worthy of note. He said: "There is to be an end of backstairs conferences, of predetermined nominations. We are a purely representative body, and we will not stand for dictation from anyone. We have no candidates of our own, and will push nobody. We will wait for the word of the people, and whoever they choose as their candidates we will work to elect. We play no favorites—in any direction. Let the voters turn out at the primary, and let us know who they want. We have arranged for the publication of all practical information as to the primary for the purpose of making it easy for voters to understand what they are to do in order to indicate their will." With Mr. Fisk at the helm, the people may expect much.

NO MORE RED TAPE.

President Roosevelt has rescinded his proclamation requesting that all contributions for San Francisco be sent to the Red Cross Society by urging the people to co-operate with Mayor Schmitz's citizens' committee. When The Daily Press started a local fund last Friday it announced that the donations would be transmitted to Mayor Schmitz direct to be turned over to his committee. The first $1,000 raised was wired on Tuesday and $500 more will be sent to the chairman of the citizens' committee this afternoon. If anyone who has not already contributed to the cause desires to do so his contribution will be transmitted to San Francisco free of charge. Checks should be made payable to "The Daily Press, San Francisco Relief Fund."

"Why not establish a Hall of Shame for the muck rakers?" queries the Trenton State Gazette. The propounding of this question is evidence of great foresight on the part of that organ of the "regulars."—Newark News.

Fred Ivamy's Modern Market.

Fred Ivamy is now located at his new seafood market, 126 West Second street, having moved there yesterday from 232 West Second street. Everything is new and the market is one of the finest in the State. It is equipped in a thoroughly up-to-date manner with handsome marble stands for the display of fish and new and improved ice boxes for keeping seafood strictly fresh. A feature of the new market is cleanliness and Mr. Ivamy will continue to give prompt service and quick delivery. He will keep all kinds of fish, oysters and clams in season. The market is equipped with two telephones—140 and 503. Mr. Ivamy cordially invites the public to inspect his new quarters, believinw that it will meet with their approval.

Badly Hurt in a Fight.

Morristown, April 26.—Cornelius P. O'Connell, manager for the Brown & O'Connell Drug company, became involved in a row with Frederick Schweitkhardt early yesterday, O'Connell being severely punished. He is in All Souls' Hospital with, it is said, a broken nose, a severe cut on the back of the head and other wounds. He is receiving the attention of three physicians. His most serious hurt occurred from his head striking the pavement when he fell.

TRINITY REPORT NIGHT

Talk By Marconnier Chapel's Pastor Interests the Congregation.

RECEIPTS, $6,158.69.

Total Benevolences $1,711—Number of Communicants 597—Rev. Dr. Schenck Speaks.

Encouraging reports of the past year in every department of work were presented at a specially appointed meeting in Trinity Reformed church, last night. It was what is termed "report night," and there was a large attendance of members who were interested and gratified with the excellent results shown. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor, had all of the reports summarized and instead of a member of each department presenting a report, he read them all, as follows:

Number of families, 274; number of communicants, 597; received on confession, 18; received by certificate, 22; dismissed, 11; died, 11; baptized, adults, 6; infants, 14; Sunday schools, 2; enrollment of home school, 598; average attendance, 339; Marconnier chapel, 70; average attendance, 40; number of Home Department Sunday school, 208.

Benevolent offerings from church and societies: Foreign missions, $608.98; domestic missions, $497.11; church building fund, $32.38; Board of Education, $27.08; disabled ministers' and widows' fund, $31.26; total, $1,197.81; other benevolent objects—McAll Auxiliary, $31.00; Salvation Army, $30.24; Muhlenberg Hospital, $25.21; deacons' fund, $82.30; Sunday school, $23.95; Marconnier chapel, $223.88; sundry objects, $96.42; total $513.73; total for benevolences, $1,711.54; total for congregational purposes, $6,158.69.

In addition to the reports there was considerable interest in a brief talk by Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, who recently took charge of the work at Marconnier chapel. He is the first pastor the chapel has had and since his coming there has been renewed activity and the prospects for substantial growth are excellent.

Mr. Lansdale said that there are eighty-two families in the vicinity of Oak Tree, where the chapel is located, and the nearest place of worship to the chapel is about two miles. The average attendance at the Sunday evening services is fifty and one night recently there were sixty-five persons present. The seating capacity of the chapel is one hundred. The average attendance at the Sunday school is forty. Mr. Lansdale said that while he does not think that the prospects are good for the establishment of an independent church, he believed that a strong mission will result. Souls are being saved there and this he considered a most encouraging feature. The pastor has found that many persons are now attending service who have not done so in years and there are as many men as women in the weekly congregations. He expects to receive several new members on confession at the next communion service.

Mr. Lansdale spoke especially of the great work among the children in that neighborhood. It was with particular satisfaction that he stated that the chapel is free from debt, the last payment of the loan being paid this week. He said that in case the village ever has a boom the community will have the foundation for a strong Reformed church.

Supplementing Mr. Lansdale's remarks, Dr. Schenck took occasion to say that if the Lehigh Valley Railroad company would decide to improve its local passenger service and believe that such traffic should receive as much attention as that of hauling coal, it might be the means of building up the locality.

This part of the meeting was then closed and the rest of the evening was devoted to sociability, during which light refreshments were served by members of the Christian Endeavor Society. This feature was greatly enjoyed and all agreed that the meeting was one of great help and profit for all. Dr. Schenck congratulated each and every department of the church for the excellent work accomplished during the year and encouraged all to greater effort for the coming year.

ASBURY PARK IS AGAIN SEEKING N. E. A. SESSION.

Organization Cannot Meet at San Francisco and Request is Made for New Jersey.

Asbury Park, April 26.—The following telegram has been sent to Dr. Irwin Shephard, secretary of the National Educational Association:

"Dr. Irwin Shepard, Secretary N. E. A., Winona, Minn.:

"Since San Francisco is impossible, is Asbury Park possible? We are organized and ready for business. Can you bring the N. E. A. to us again? In behalf of the convention bureau and at the request of the Mayor we urge you to come to Asbury Park this summer. Wire suggestion if necessary.

Last year's convention was held in this city and this year's was to have been in San Fransico.

"Jewett" Refrigerators

are the best. The proof of this statement is ten years' selling of about two car loads a year. Could we furnish any better evidence? This year they are better than ever in style, construction and finish, and notwithstanding the great increase in cost of everything that goes to make up a refrigerator, our prices of all sizes and kinds are the same as last year. One important feature in connection with the "Jewett" Refrigerator that we wish to elaborate and one which will strongly appeal to every housekeeper this year especially, is that they will keep colder with less ice than any other make. The full line is now on the floor and ready for your inspection. 25 different sizes and styles. Prices from $5.98 to $95.00.

The New Porch Rockers

are here in endless variety, they are of the better kinds and will appeal to anyone who appreciates a good looking, comfortable and durable Rocker. The frames are of selected maple and the seats and backs are of durable rattan. The prices start at 78c and run up to $4.50.

THE SALE OF SAMPLE BEDS is still on. You never had a better chance to buy a good bed for so little money. $9.50 instead of $12.50 and $15.00.

Jap-a-Lac

is a great reviver of old woodwork as it covers up all marks and scratches, producing a brilliant and lasting finish. You can use it on porch chairs, refrigerators, window screens and door screens and make them look like new. Jap-a-lac comes in all colors and sells for 15c, 25c, 40c and 75c a can.

The New Housewares Department

in the basement is now the busiest place in the store, completely stocked with everything to lighten the labor and worry of housekeepers. Nearly 10,000 feet of floor space devoted to this department, well lighted and ventilated, large roomy aisles and staircases; experienced sales-people to serve you; deliveries twice a day, and best of all everything sold bears the stamp of merit and the prices are extremely moderate.

THE FORUM.

An Organ's Inconsistencies.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Is not the New York Tribune off its bearings? I read in yesterday's issue an article urging that the tariff be taken off articles intended to be used in the reconstruction of San Francisco, in order that such action may lighten the burdens of rebuilding that city.

Now this is not in harmony with the high tariff teachings of that paper. In past The Tribune has claimed that "the tariff made goods cheaper to the American consumer, and at any rate the tax was paid by the foreigner, and the doctrine of the Democracy was all wrong." Did that paper tell the truth then, or does it tell the truth today? Unfortunate it is that it should require such a sad calamity as the San Francisco disaster to open the eyes of that notorious high tariff advocate.

FOUND ENOUGH BOOTY TO STOCK A STORE.

Newark Policemen Recover the Proceeds of Many Robberies of Jewelry Shops.

Detectives from Police Headquarters, in a search yesterday of No. 241 Academy street, Newark, unearthed watches and jewelry enough to stock a small store. It is believed the goods consisted of booty obtained by a number of recent robberies.

When the search was concluded the detectives had recovered twenty-three watches, fifty-two rings, nine watch chains and eleven fobs.

The visit to the house by the detectives followed the arrest of Ernest Briggs, a negro, who tried to sell a watch to Max Rashkes, a second-hand dealer in jewelry, of No. 46 Market street. Rashkes identified the watch as one of a number that had been taken from his establishment when it was entered last Sunday night.

He caused Briggs' arrest and the prisoner's statement led to the arrest of Ernest Williams and Henry Hellmund. The last named, the police say, admitted being implicated in several robberies of cheap jewelry stores, but both declared that Briggs was innocent, as Williams admitted giving him Rashkes' watch to sell.

Wind Blows Roofs Off Cars.

Three Bridges, April 26.—The wind, blew a hurricane through this section Tuesday. In some places trees were blown down, and for about twenty minutes black clouds hovered in the skies. A freight train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad was passing here at the time. The doors of two box cars were open. The wind raised the roofs off both cars and carried them into a field near the tracks.

COMEDY CLUB'S SHOW PROMISES TO BE GOOD

MISS SAUNDERS TO TAKE A LEADING PART IN "ON CHANCE."

Amateur theatricals have played an unusually important part in the social life of the Park Club during the past winter. There have been plays, of course, at intervals in previous years, but last fall saw the organization of the Comedy Club, composed of members of the Park Club, and this organization has succeeded in providing many pleasant evenings, not only for its members alone, but for the other Park clubites, who have enjoyed seeing their friends in amateur dramatics.

On several occasions small comedies have been produced in the club house for the entertainment of the members only. It seemed fitting to close the season with something more elaborate, which not only the club members but other friends in the city should be privileged to attend. Plans were then made for the production of the farce "On Change," which will be given at the Park Club house on the evening of Friday, May 4th, announcement of which has already been made.

The "Comedy Club" has been particularly fortunate in being able to procure the services of Alfred Young, of New York, for coach. Mr. Young's remarkably clever work in directing the production of "The Taming of the Shrew," and several other local plays, will be well remembered. Those who have seen some of the early rehearsals of "On Change" say that Mr. Young is going to score another big success.

The Plainfielders who are going to take part are Mrs. H. C. White, Miss Louise Saunders, Miss Mabel Van Deventer, Miss Grace E. Overton, C. H. Lyman, H. C. White, Effingham Pinto, W. R. Cock, Mr. Loder and Morgan T. Townsend.

Most of these people have already participated in the plays which have been given during the winter. All are more or less known on the local amateur stage.

While the production was originally intended largely for the members of the Park Club, it has been decided to have it open to all, and seats are now on sale at Armstrong's drug store. There is every prospect of a pleasing entertainment and tickets are meeting with a ready sale.

MRS. VALENTINA TO HANG MAY 25.

Another Effort Will Be Made to Save the Woman from Death Penalty.

Mrs. Anna Valentina, convicted of the murder of Rosa Salza, was sentenced to death yesterday at Hackensack for the third time. Supreme Court Justice Garretson fixed Friday, May 25 next, as the date for the execution.

In naming the date the Justice briefly reviewed the case and said that as it had been taken to the United States Supreme Court, which had rendered a decision adverse to the woman, nothing remained but to fix the date on which she was to die.

Mrs. Valentina wore a neat dark blue dress and a white collar. She was perfectly composed when brought in by a court officer and showed not the slightest emotion when the court fixed the day on which the death penalty is to be carried out.

Mr. Kussy, of Trimble & Kussy, of Newark, said that although the Court of Pardons had once decided against the woman, he would make another appeal to that body in the prisoner's behalf.

Mrs. Valentina had been living with a man named Carlucci as his common law wife, but had been abandoned by him. When taunted with the fact by the Salza woman she stabbed her insulter to death.

It is said that an effort may be made to show that Mrs. Salza was the mistress of Carlucci in order to get a new trial.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coward and J. C. Pope went to Atlantic City, today, where Messrs. Arnold, Coward and Pope will attend the bankers' convention.

TWO MEN UNDER HER BED; SHE SAYS

POLICE NOT MUCH IMPRESSED BY WOMAN'S STARTLING STORY.

Jersey City's police are investigating what Chief Murphy regards as an improbable story of an alleged hold-up and robbery in which Mrs. Minnie Commerford, of No. 206 Montgomery street, claims to have figured as the victim.

Mrs. Commerford, who is separated from her husband, lives alone in a flat which is one of the most exclusive in the neighborhood. At midnight Tuesday she went to the City Hall Police Station and told Sergt. Murphy, who was in charge, this story:

I came home from a visit to my sister in Brooklyn about 11 p. m. and was disrobing when a pet kitten started to play with my shoe laces. Suddenly the cat gave a start and looked under the bed. I knew there was something wrong, and as I was about to make an investigation two men crawled from under the bed.

"One of them seized me and threw me on the bed. I took hold of his whiskers and they came off. While he held me the second man removed from my fingers five diamond rings. I had three $100 bills in my stocking, and these he also took. I was so thoroughly frightened that I did not make an outcry, and before I had fully realized what had happened, the robbers fled."

Police Captain Cox and Detective Lee interviewed Mrs. Commerford at her flat a few hours later. Mrs. Commerford told them she thought she knew one of the robbers.

"I think they came from New York," she said, "but I do not want to say anything until I am more certain."

Chief of Police Murphy said the police are not bothering very much with the case.

"I am satisfied," he added, "that Mrs. Commerford knows more than she is willing to tell us. She admits that she recognized or thought she recognized the voice of one of the men she claims robbed her. As soon as she tells us the name of this man we will take some stock in her story."

STILL HALE AND HEARTY AT 75TH ANNIVERSARY.

Bishop Scarborough Passed Day Quietly Receiving Congratulations of Friends.

Yesterday was the 75th birthday anniversary of Bishop John Scarborough, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New Jersey, and although there was no formal observation, many called at his residence, 107 Greenwood avenue, Trenton, and presented their congratulations.

Bishop Scarborough was born in Ireland, April 25, 1831. As an infant he was baptised in the chapel of the Earl of Reden, in Brantford. He came to this country with parents, and was educated in the county school at Queensburg, N. Y.

He received his theological training in the general theological seminary, New York, and was advanced to the deaconate and the priesthood by the Right Reverend Horatio Potter, late bishop of New York. After his ordination he went to Troy, N. Y., assistant at St. Paul's church. For three years he was rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter in Poughkeepsie, where May 23, 1865, he married Catherine Elizabeth.

He became rector of Trinity church, Pittsburg, in 1867, and in 1875 was elevated to the episcopacy by Bishop Potter.

STATE ROADS BELOW STANDARD

Supervisor Meeker Finds Several Flaws on Inspection Trip.

Trenton, April 26.—Robert A. Meeker, C. E., State supervisor of roads, made an eighty-mile automobile trip last week inspecting the progress of work on new macadam roads in Mercer and Somerset counties.

He "honked" to Lawrenceville, Princeton and Rocky Hill, then toured through Somerset county and returned through Hightstown, Windsor, Edinburgh and Mercerville to this city. The roads inspected are still in the hands of the contractors under the provision of the State road law requiring that the contractor must keep the road in repair one year after it is completed before the State will accept it.

Supervisor Meeker found a few places in some of the roads which were not entirely up to the standard required by the State road department. In these cases the contractors will be notified and the necessary repairs made.

Pathos of the Mails.

Chicago, April 26.—A sackful of tragedy and pathos reached the Chicago Postoffice Tuesday night when the first mail from San Francisco since the earthquake was received. The sack contained several thousand communications from the fire sufferers to Chicago relatives and friends. They were written on shreds of wrapping paper, pieces of box covering, strips of shirting, cuffs, shingles, and other odds and ends. None bore postage stamps, but all had the red ink time stamp of the San Francisco office. Some contained the one word, "Saved." Others told in two word sentences stories of death and terrible hardships.

TELLS OF DISASTER.

Letter and Telegram Received by Major Maze Edwards from Relatives.

Major Maze Edwards, of West Seventh street, received a letter and telegram last night from his brother, Col. William Edwards, president of the Stock Board and Exchange, of San Francisco, and his wife, assuring him that they are all well and safe. Maylain referred to in the letter received from Mrs. Edwards is her young daughter.

"Friday, 10.15 A. M.

"Dear Maze:—We have just escaped and thank God for it. It seemed as only a miracle. Everything to the ferry from here is laid waste. We were in the street with Maylian all night, until 2.30 a. m., when we were told we were out of danger. Will write late more fully. We have the house full. I'm afraid to read the papers, the disaster has been so awful. We are all safe."

This telegram was received from Col. Edwards, dated Berkeley:

"Maze Edwards:—All well, getting along happy and serene."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning April 29.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Home missions among foreigners in America.—Eph. ii. 13, 19.

The population of the United States, according to the census of 1900, not including our insular possessions, was 76,303,387. Of this number 10,460,085 were foreign born and 15,687,822 the children of foreign born parents. Thus every third person on an average in the United States is foreign born or the child of foreign born parents. And from 1900 the tide if immigration has not receded. In 1901, 487,918 foreigners arrived on our shores, and in 1905 they came a million strong!

Nor do the tremendous numbers of our increasing foreign population alone appall us. Their character is a feature that must be taken into consideration. The tide of immigration from such European countries as Great Britain, France, Germany and Greece has decreased largely in comparison with the past, and these armies of new population are coming from Russia, Austria-Hungary and Italy, and especially southern Italy. They are illiterate, morally in many cases far below our standards of morality and with practically no conception of the principles of our government or the essentials of true Christianity. They crowd into our large eastern cities, into our great industrial sections and are in no small sense a constant menace to the American government, and especially to American institutions. They cling to their native customs, their native speech and their native religion, or the absence of any religion, which are as far from American as the east is from the west.

The dangers from this undesirable element in our midst must not be overlooked by state or church. Both have a grave responsibility upon them. Stricter immigration laws should be enacted and strictly enforced. The Chinese can be kept out of our land and ought to be. Any one who has had the least opportunity to study the life of the Chinamen already in our country cannot doubt the wisdom of excluding others of a similar character from our land. The Chinatown of any of our great cities is a pest hole of dirt and filth and usually of vice and of sin. But if Chinese can be excluded from our shores, why not the undesirable hordes of the European nations? The nation should at least have a breathing spell, which can be occupied in missionary work among those who are here.

The government is awakening to its responsibilities and vigorously enforcing such laws as we have and adding stricter ones to the statute books. The church is also getting wide awake, and missionary work among the foreign population of our country is most active and aggressive. In New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and Chicago much successful work is being done among foreigners. This is also the case in the states where they have segregated in large numbers. And God is blessing the work. In Philadelphia a great work is being done by the Presbyterian evangelistic committee among the Italians. A commodious tabernacle has been erected for their use. The children are daily taught, and a vigorous Sabbath school is in operation. A church has been organized which has several hundred members. A number of young men are studying for the ministry that they may preach the gospel to their own people. This is only one story of which many could be told. God can save any human soul and make its owner no longer "an alien and stranger," but "fellow citizen with the saints and of the household of God." But the work in America is a great one and needs the heartiest sympathy, prayers and co-operation of all Christians. If you want to preserve the character of the American nation and of its institutions, if you want to keep the American home what it has been, if you want to safeguard the American Sabbath and, above all, save immortal souls, put your life, as far as you have opportunity, into home missionary work among the foreigners in America.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ezra vi, 8-10; Neh. ii, 1-5; Ps. ii, 18; cxlvii, 20; Prov. xiv, 34; Jer. xxix, 7; Matt. xxvii, 24-27; Acts i, 8; ii, 5-11; xvii, 22-28; Rev. xxi, 24-26.

A Trumpet Call.

Dr. Francis A. Clark addressed this message from Munich, Germany, on Christian Endeavor day to the young people of the globe through the Christian Endeavor World:"

A MESSAGE FOR THE NEW QUARTER CENTURY.

Fellow Endeavorers—Twenty-five years of God's abundant favor are behind us. A new quarter century is before us. What will it bring? It is for you and for me to determine. Past mercies call for new endeavors. The past can be made secure only by greater zeal and consecrated effort in the future—more prayer, more praise, more unselfish service, more fellowship, more liberality, more study to show ourselves approved to God and man.

Our new era opens most auspiciously. The skies over Christian Endeavor were never so bright as today in all the world. It does not become us, for personal reasons, to say much concerning the great plans inaugurated and carried out by my honored colleagues in my absence to endow the foreign work of Christian Endeavor; but, when accomplished, this endowment will not only relieve some of us of a great load of care, but will establish Christian Endeavor principles in all the world wherever the gospel is known and will, with God's continued blessing and our continued fidelity, confirm the work of the first twenty-five years and cause the seed planted to bear fruit for centuries to come. God help us all to hear His "Forward, march!" as we step out into the new quarter century.

A Missionary Work.

Ours is essentially a missionary work. Christian Endeavor asks nothing for itself. It exists for the glory of Christ, the enrichment of Christian life and the salvation of the lost.—Edwin Forrest Hallenbeck.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Newbro's Herpicide destroys this germ and consequently restores the hair to its natural state.

April 29: "City Evangelization, Perils of Prosperity and Civic Unrighteousness"—Ezek. xxvii, xxviii.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

The development of the highest personal life can only be by associating with other people. No individual can in solitude become the best style of man or woman. God made us for companionship.

Men have from the beginnings of history felt the impulse to congregate together. We need the help of others in our work. Two hands unassisted are inadequate for many of the tasks of life. Even the cultivation of the soil is best done when men unite.

The needs of life lead to exchange of productions. This is best done when we are settled close together. The tendency to city life is inevitable with progress in civilization. The more prosperous we become the more pronounced is this tendency to congregate in convenient centers. With increase of resources comes opportunity for social recreation and intercourse. This, again, tends to draw us together. In all of this centralization of population there is great possibility for benefit.

But there is also a corresponding peril. The temptations to and opportunity for vice and fraud and evil of every kind are multiplied when the population is settled thickly in cities. No great city of the world has ever yet been a pure place morally. Nor has any great city of the world ever yet shown a good example of righteousness in government.

It is true that the finest specimens of organized charity and the great philanthropic schemes of the present are to be found in the great metropolitan centers. But it is not a fact that the forces of good have ever so dominated business, government and social life that our cities are yet Christianized.

This is the task which confronts us. The tide is unmistakably setting toward our great cities. If things are not to improve morally we may well be alarmed. The church has never up to this time set herself to the task rationally and resolutely to Christianize the city. We have been saving individuals. We have not even thought of the problem of the salvation of society, much less attempted its redemption. This is the task now on our hands. The city must be saved or the fate of Tyre and all the great cities of old will be the doom of ours. We must gospelize the cities or God will wipe them out.

No task the church has ever attempted equals this in magnitude and importance. Are we equal to its accomplishment?

We are if we are wholly true to God and use His appointed means in unfaltering faith.

God help us save the cities. Rather let us help God save the cities.

Body and Soul.

If you think of the material side of man's existence, he is more wonderful in his strength, as in his beauty, than anything else God has made. And yet what is this frame of mine? It is the carbon upon which the light of God is to play and have its work. As is the carbon to the electric light, so is the body of man to the spirit of man. Only that, nothing more! It is the basis of life, that upon which the rest maintains itself for the time being, and only for the time being. This body of mine, surpassing in its wonder all human understanding, is for today, not tomorrow. In God's great tomorrow I must have a body of another form—no longer the earthly and material, but the heavenly and the spiritual. This is the tabernacle for the spirit in the day of its probation, more marvelous in its mechanism than sun, stars, tree or plant or any other form of matter, and yet being but the lowest stratum in the complex life of man.—Rev. G. Campbell Morgan.

Stop and Think.

As we cannot judge of the motion of the earth by anything within the earth, but by some radiant and celestial point that is beyond it, so the wicked, by comparing themselves with the wicked, perceive not how far they are advanced in their iniquity. To know precisely what lengths they have gone they must fix their attention on some bright and exalted character that is not of them, but above them. "When all move equally," says Pascal, "nothing seems to move, as in a vessel under sail," and when all run by common consent into vice none appears to do so. He that stops first views as from a fixed point the horrible extravagance that transports the rest.—Rev. C. C. Colton.

Bible Reading Kernels.

It is said that no food nourishes unless it is eaten with an appetite. I do not know whether that is true, but I do know that if you want your Bible reading to do you much good you must get up an appetite for it.

A Bible in the hand is worth a hundred on the shelf, and a Bible in your memory is worth a hundred in your hand. The good old fashion of "learning the Bible by heart" should be revived.

I do not think that the retina of the eye is in especial need of Biblical instruction, and if your Bible reading gets no deeper than that interesting layer of nerves, if it does not enter into your understanding and touch your heart, you may as well not read at all.

There are many wise methods of reading the Bible, but whichever method you adopt add this to it—continue your daily reading till you come across a passage that profoundly stirs you, though you must keep on for chapters, and stop with that passage, meditating long upon it, though you have read only a single verse.—Russel Sewall in Christian Endeavor World.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

At the surface a pleasant shock was in store for him. There stood the formidable Mrs. Milbrey beaming upon him. Behind her was Mr. Milbrey, the pleasing model of all a city's refinements, awaiting the boon of a handclasp. Behind these were the uncomfortable little man, the chatty blonde and the two solemn young men who had lately exhibited more manner than manners. Percival felt they were all regarding him now with affectionate concern. They pressed forward effusively.

"So good of you, Mr. Bines, to take an interest in us—my daughter has been so anxious to see one of these fascinating mines." "Awfully obliged, Mr. Bines." "Charmed, old man; deuced pally of you to stay by us down in that hole, you know." "So clever of you to know where to find the gold—"

He lost track of the speakers. Their speeches became one concerted effusion of affability that was music to his ears.

Miss Milbrey was apart from the group. Having doffed the waterproofs, she was now pluming herself, with those fussy-looking but mysteriously potent little pats which restore the attire and mind of women to their normal perfection and serenity. Upon her face was still the amused look Percival had noted below.

"And, Mr. Bines, do come in with that quaint old grandfather of yours and lunch with us," urged Mrs. Milbrey, who had, as it were, spiked her lorgnon. "Here's Mr. Shepler to second the invitation—and then we shall chat about this very interesting west."

Miss Milbrey nodded encouragement, seeming to chuckle inwardly.

In the spacious dining compartment of the Shepler car the party was presently at lunch.

"You seem so little like a western man," Mrs. Milbrey confided graciously to Percival on her right.

"We cal'late he'll fetch out all straight, though, in a year or so," put in Uncle Peter, from over his chop, with guileless intent to defend his grandson from what he believed to be an attack. "Of course a young man's bound to get some foolishness into him in an eastern college like this boy went to."

Percival had flushed at the compliment to himself; also at the old man's failure to identify it as such.

"Your grandfather is so dear and quaint," said Mrs. Milbrey; "you must certainly bring him to New York with you, for of course a young man of your capacity and graces will never be satisfied out of New York."

"Young men like yourself are assuredly needed there," remarked Mr. Milbrey, warmly.

"Surely they are," agreed Miss Milbrey, and yet with a manner that seemed almost to annoy both parents. They were sparing no opportunity to make the young man conscious of his real oneness with those about him, and yet subtly to intimate that people of just the Milbreys' perception were required to divine it at present.

"These westerners fancy you one of themselves, I dare say," Mrs. Milbrey had said, and the young man purred under the strokings. His fever for the east was back upon him. His weeks with Uncle Peter going over the fields where his father had prevailed had made him convalescent, but these New Yorkers—the very manner and atmosphere of them—undid the work. He envied them their easier speech, their matter-of-fact air of omniscience, the elaborate and cultivated simplicity of their dress, their sureness and sufficiency in all that they thought and said and did. He was homesick again for the life he had glimpsed. The west was rude, desolate and depressing. Even Uncle Peter, whom he had come warmly to admire, jarred upon him with his crudity and his western assertiveness.

CHAPTER V.

UP SKIPLAP CANYON

The meal was ending in smoke, the women, excepting Miss Milbrey, having lighted cigarettes with the men. The talk had grown less truculently sectional. The Angstead twins told of their late fishing trip to Lake St. John for salmon, of projected tours to British Columbia for mountain sheep, and to Manitoba for elk and moose.

Mr. Milbrey described with minute and loving particularity the preparation of aeufs de Faisan, avec beurre au champagne.

Mrs. Milbrey related an anecdote of New York society, not much in itself, but which permitted the disclosure that she habitually addressed by their first names three of the foremost society leaders, and that each of these personages adopted a like familiarity toward her.

Mrs. Dreimer declared that she meant to have Uncle Peter Bines at one of her evenings the very first time he should come to New York, and that if he didn't let her know of his coming she would be offended.

Oldaker related an incident of the ball given to the prince of Wales, traveling as Baron Renfrew, on the evening of October 12, 1860, in which his father had figured briefly before the royal guest to the abiding credit of American tact and gentility.

Shepler was amused until he became gloomy, whereupon he extended the freedom of his castle to his guests and retired to his stateroom.

Uncle Peter took a final shot at Oldaker. He was observed to be laughing, and inquiry brought this:

"I jest couldn't help snickerin' over his idee of God's own country. He thinks God's own country is a little strip of an island with a row of well-fed folks up and down the middle, and a lot of hungry folks on each side. Mebbe he's right. I'll be bound, it needs the love of God. But if it is His own country, it don't make Him any connysoor of countries with me. I'll tell you that."

Oldaker smiled at this assault, the well-bred, tolerant smile that loyal New Yorkers reserve for all such barbaric belittling of their empire. Then he politely asked Uncle Peter to show Mrs. Dreimer and himself through the stamp mill.

At Percival's suggestion of a walk, Miss Milbrey was delighted.

After an inspection of the Bines car, in which Oldaker declared he would be willing to live forever, if it could be anchored firmly in Madison square, the party separated.

Out into the clear air, already cooling under the slanting rays of the sun, the young man and the girl went together. Behind them lay the one street of the little mining camp, with its wooden shanties on either side of the railroad track. Down this street Uncle Peter had gone, leading his charges toward the busy ant-hill on the mountain-side. Ahead the track wound up the canyon, cunningly following the tortuous course of the little river to be sure of practicable grades. On the farther side of the river a mountain road paralleled the railway. Up this road the two went, followed by a playful admonition from Mrs. Milbrey: "Remember, Mr. Bines, I place my child in your keeping."

Percival waxed conscientious about his charge and insisted at once upon being assured that Miss Milbrey would be warm enough with the scarlet golf-cape about her shoulders; that she was used to walking long distances; that her boots were stoutly soled; and that she didn't mind the sun in their faces. The girl laughed at him.

"Your west is the breathingest place," she said, as they crossed a foot bridge over the noisy little stream and turned up the road. "I don't believe I ever drew a full breath until I came to these altitudes."

"One has to breathe more air here—there's less oxygen in it, and you must breathe more to get your share, and so after awhile one becomes robust. Your cheeks are already glowing, and we've hardly started. There, now, there are your colors, see—"

Along the edge of the green pines and spruce were lavender asters. A little way in the woods they could see the blue columbines and the moss pink phlox, pink and red.

"There are your eyes and your cheeks."

"What a dangerous character you'd be if you were sent to match silks!"

On the dry barren slopes of gravel across the river, full in the sun's glare, grew the Spanish bayonet, with its spikes of creamy white flowers.

"There I am, more nearly," she pointed to them; "they're ever so much nearer my disposition. But about this thin air; it must make men work harder for what comes easier back in our country, so that they may become able to do more—more capable. I am thinking of your grandfather. You don't know how much I admire him. He's so stanch and strong and fresh. There's more fire in him now than in my father or Launton Oldaker, and I dare say he's a score of years older than either of them. I don't think you quite appreciate what a great old fellow he is."

"I admire Uncle Peter much more, I'm sure, than he admires me. He's afraid I'm not strong enough to admire that eastern climate of yours—social and moral."

"I suppose it's natural for you to wish to go. You'd be bored here, would you not? You couldn't stay in these mountains and be such a man as your grandfather. And yet there ought to be so much to do here; it's all so fresh and roomy and jolly. Really, I've grown enthusiastic about it."

Will Move to North Avenue.

M. C. Dobbins, the cigar manufacturer, now located on Park avenue, opposite North avenue, has leased the store on North avenue, formerly occupied by Philip Kirch, and will move there in a short time. His removal is necessitated by the fact that the building he now occupies is to be torn down to make room for the widening of Park avenue.

New School for Bound Brook.

By a vote of 229 to 205, the Bound Brook people authorized the issuance of $20,000 worth of bonds, Tuesday night, at a public meeting, for the erection of an eight-room school house on Union avenue. There was much interest in the vote, the school board having been divided on the proposition. Many women voted.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist or by mail. Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

W. W. Wilson's grocery has a well-deserved reputation for fine service. It is one of the model groceries of New Jersey.

Charles Conover & Co., of Elmwood place, painters and decorators, will do your work right if you give them the contract.

The trade at Callahan & Son's grocery, Richmond street, is steadily increasing. The increase is a tribute to the quality of the stock carried.

The business men's lunch feature at the Hotel Waldorf has proven highly successful. It is only one of the many conveniences at this popular hostelry.

Now, with the softening of the air, comes thoughts of porch furniture. Look over that sold by Powlison & Jones, East Front street. The finest line in the city.

If you have never tried John Wirth's coffee cake you don't know what you are missing. Better order some this week—they are made fresh every Saturday.

The City National Bank has a savings department that invites your account. The institution pays a good rate of interest and has every facility for many transactions.

Charles Stranzenbach, the Watchung avenue meat dealer, guarantees satisfaction to all trading with him. He keeps nothing but the best meats, provisions and poultry and delivers free.

There is no more foolish man than the one who allows his teeth to become decayed beyond repair. Have yours attended to—scraped, cleaned and strengthened—regularly by Dr. Atwood, West Front street.

Roth & Co., of East Front street, has the reputation of selling the best meat, both fresh and salt, and fresh vegetables in season. The firm also handles fresh fish every week. The prices here will be found much lower than elsewhere.

L. Moraller & Sons, the Park avenue jewelers, make a specialty of expert watch repairing. Bring your time-piece around and let them look at it. It will have to be in pretty bad shape before they will advise you to get a new one.

When you want garden seed, farming or garden implements or general hardware of any kind go to the H. E. Gayle Company on Front street. The goods are all right and the prices reasonable. A full line of kitchen utensils always in stock.

For carpentering work of the reliable kind, W. H. Brokaw, of West Front street, is recommended. He has been a builder in Plainfield for many years and can furnish the best of references as to his ability to properly execute a contract.

M. Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, is showing a fine line of men's and boy's clothing, correct style, best material and low in price. A full line of furnishings, the proper thing for spring and summer, and the custom tailoring department is second to none in the State. Now is the time to select you summer clothes and furnishings.

GIRL MISSING, HAS ELOPED, 'TIS SAID.

Young Man, Working Companion, Had Been Paying Secret Court to Her.

Isabelle Mullet, seventeen years old, daughter of Mrs. Henry Mullet, of No. 317 Tremont avenue, East Orange, has been missing from her home since Monday morning. The mother fears she has gone West, but is prosecuting a search of the city of Newark.

Isabelle is known as a girl of quiet demeanor and domestic tastes, and her absence is the talk of the neighborhood. She had employment at a jewelry factory in Newark. One of her fellow-workers was a young man believed to live somewhere in Newark or Irvington. According to a statement by a woman at the Mullet house yesterday afternoon this man has been attentive to the girl for some time, but has carried on his suit without the knowledge of Miss Mullet's mother. It is alleged he has been married three times.

The girl left her home as usual Monday to go to work, and her mother left the house soon afterward. On returning late in the day she found two letters awaiting her. One was from the girl, begging her mother's forgiveness, saying that she loved the young man and had consented to go West with him. The other letter, which was signed with the young man's name, said that until he met Miss Mullet he never had really known wht love meant, hence the climax. This confirmed the mother in the suspicion that her daughter has eloped.

McCarter Denies Young Rumor.

President Thomas N. McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, issued the following statement in Newark yesterday: One of the local newspapers published a statement yesterday that David Young was about to become connected with the Public Service Corporation and assume control of the operation of the street railway department. This rumor has been published so frequently that, as there is no truth in it, in fairness to Mr. Young and to the present operating officials of the street railway department of the company, it is time it was denied.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

"The Motor Car in New Jersey" was a topic discussed editorially by the New York Globe last night. It said:

"The Frelinghuysen automobile law which goes into effect in New Jersey on July 1 is a measure calculated to do much good, although it seems unnecessarily restrictive in several respects. The motor car fraternity is, however, itself responsible for whatever of injustice there is in the new law. Far too many of them, even those not themselves indulging in reckless driving, condone this offense in others.

"It is noticeable how frequently the chauffeurs in charge of powerful gasoline cars are mere boys, who are not only prone to reckless overspeeding but seem to find peculiar delight in frightening pedestrians and irritating other users of the highway by unnecessarily close shaves and unexpected swervings. As long as this sort of thing is allowed by the owners, public sentiment against the automobile will sanction almost any sort of restrictive legislation.

"Many features of the New Jersey bill are eminently good, but such that one would hardly expect it to be necessary to pass a law for their enforcement. Those regarding the speed when turning corners and passing cross roads and travelling through city streets are so obviously required for the safety of the machine as well as the pedestrian, and yet are so notoriously not observed by many drivers, that, if enforced, they cannot fail to much decrease the number of accidents.

"Again, the heavy fine or imprisonment for failure to stop after running over any one is eminently desirable, and might without injustice have been made even more severe. The state of unhealthy license which has grown up among autoists is indicated by the necessity for a section prohibiting any intoxicated person from operating a machine.

"The limitation of speed to twenty miles an hour anywhere in the State is hardly necessary, and probably will not be enforcible. On straight country roads where there is little or no traffic the restriction seems uncalled for. The section not allowing any boys under sixteen years of age to operate an automobile might with propriety have been limited in application to paid chauffeurs."

The main reason why skidding has been reduced is that the designers, in making their plans, kept always in mind the fact that the car should be evenly balanced, that each wheel should receive an equal amount of weight. This was accomplished and has proven their wisdom, since the car, even when traveling light, seldom, if ever, leaves the straight track, even when an inexperienced driver is at the wheel.

The final touch, however, comes in the presence of an eight-chime horn on the left-hand side of the car. This is connected with the exhaust and a truly appalling noise results when all the chimes are opened up. To top it off a keyboard has been arranged and each chime is connected to its proper key with a wire. Tunes that do not require more than a single octave can be played in a manner that places the circus calliope far in the rear. Only those who have toured through the more remote villages and seen the open mouthed wonder with which the ordinary touring car is inspected can begin to imagine what will happen when Coey and his white "Flyer" appear on the scene with the other Gliddenites.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

There will be a business meeting of the committee on arrangements for the fair at the Christian church after the regular mission service this evening. All members of the church and mission are urged to be present.

"The Bright Light in the Dark Cloud," will be the subject of Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale's sermon in Trinity Reformed church Sunday evening. Mr. Lansdale is the pastor in charge at Marconnier chapel, and he will exchange pulpits with Dr. Schenck that evening.

WORLD'S AUTO RECORD MADE IN JERSEY

ONE MILE AT STANDING START IN 53 SECONDS AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Atlantic City, April 26.—Fully 10,000 persons witnessed the automobile races yesterday on the beach track. They were rewarded by seeing one world's record broken, while in all of the races there was plenty of excitement, and the time made by the regular stock touring cars was excellent. All the races were at one mile.

Walter Christie was the hero of the day by virtue of his remarkable performance with his remodeled Christie car that he used last year in the Vanderbilt Cup race. The 110 horse power machine is greatly improved, of which it gave ample evidence in the one-mile race with standing start, which Christie won handily in the new world's record time of 0:53, beating his own record for the distance by 1 1-5 seconds, made last year on the Cape May track. He had two competitors, W. H. Hilliard, in his 80 horse power Napier, coming second, and the 50 horse power Thomas car was third.

In two time trials at flying starts, H. E. Rogers, driving a 20-horse power Stanley steamer made 0:42 3-5, and Montague Roberts, driving a stripped 50-horse power Thomas car, did 0:56 4-5.

The race for the John H. Lyons Cup, open to American touring cars of 30-horse power or less, was run in two heats and a final, close finishes being seen in all. The result was a triumph for the Stoddard-Dayton cars, P. F. Rockett getting first in 1:17 3-5, and F. S. Walton, second, both driving 30-horse power Stoddard-Daytons. Walton also won the price handicap for four-cylinder cars. The touring car race for vehicles selling at $4,000 or less, was won by a 35-horse power Pope-Toledo, driven by Godfrey S. Mann.

The big Daracq car, which Henry drove last fall when he won the Vanderbilt Cup, broke its transmission. It will be ready to race today, and will be driven by Guy Vaughn. The races were run off promptly and the management was perfect.

PERSONAL.

Miss Harriett Martin, of Clinton avenue, is at Oklahoma City, for several weeks.

Miss Emma Line, of East Front street, is suffering with an acute attack of quinsy.

William Sherman Hobbs, of Newark, was the guest of Plainfield friends yesterday.

Mrs. Chapman, from out of town, is a guest at the home of George G. Davidge, of Rockview terrace.

Miss Sherwin, of East Third street, is at Femly Farm, Lebanon, where she has been spending the winter.

Mrs. F. J. Huff, of West Front street, has recovered from an illness that detained her at home for a time.

Mrs. Frank Manchester, of Lafayette place, who has been detained at home by illness for some time, is slowly recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cliver, of Crescent avenue, will remove to Asbury Park Saturday. They came here from the Park last year.

Councilman Herbert Buxton, of West Front street, is spending a week at Atlantic City. He is stopping at Haddon Hall.

Miss Marguerite Palmiter, of Westerly, R. I., who was the soprano soloist at the Seventh-Day Baptist church musicale, has returned home.

Fred Allen, the eighteen-year-old son of David C. Allen, of 27 Harrison avenue, the borough, was taken to the hospital this morning for treatment for catharral appendicitis.

Miss Dagman, who has been spending the winter in New York, has made a farewell visit this week to her sister, Mrs. John B. Probasco, of East Front street, as she will sail for her home in Paris, France, on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Conner, of Hillside avenue, are now at Oakland, Cal. They had been stopping at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco but had left for Oakland before the earthquake and fire demolished that structure.

LEAL'S SCHOOL BADLY DEFEATED BY P. H. S.

"PHIL" SMITH A STUMBLING BLOCK TO LEAL'S—SCORE 18 TO 1.

Plainfield H. S. gained a decisive victory over the team representing the Leal's School in the first game for the annual city scholastic championship, played yesterday afternoon on Crescent Oval. One of the largest crowds of schoolboys and girls of the season was on hand. The final score was 18 to 1.

Although the weather was raw and wintry, the playing of the school boys in the field did not seem to be affected much. "Phil." Smith was in the box for Plainfield High School and his delivery was a puzzle to the Leal's boys throughout the contest. Only one hit was made by Leal's while twenty private-school men failed to connect with Smith's curves. The High School team showed a great improvement in batting, securing twelve hits from Bergen, of Leal's. These hits coming at a time when Leal's made costly errors, gave Plainfield High School the first game of the series. Leal's had one disastrous inning, the seventh, when Plainfield High School piled up eleven runs, due to seven clean hits and four errors. Smith was the all-around star for Plainfield High School. Mehaffey also distinguished himself at the bat by getting a triple and two singles out of four times at bat. Captain Davis and Harding also performed brilliantly.

These teams will meet again on Wednesday, May 16, in the second contest of the series. Plainfield High School will line up against Jersey City H. S. on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Crescent Oval.

Columbia Beat Penn.

Columbia beat Pennsylvania's baseball team yesterday at American League Park by 4 runs to 3. Tilt and Twitmire, the pitchers, were wild, but the Columbia fielders gave the better support. Poor umpiring by "Doc" Kennedy cost Pennsylvania at least one run in the fourth inning.

Tigers Led From Start to Finish.

DR. HURLBUT'S TRAVELS

Former Plainfield Minister Gives Illustrated Talk of His Journeys Abroad.

"ON THE RIVER RHINE"

Pictures Switzerland and Its Good Roads—Told of Some Famous Castles.

"On the Rhine" was the subject of an illustrated lecture given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. church, in Vincent chapel, last night, by Rev. Dr. Jesse Lyman Hurlbut, formerly pastor of the church. As it was Dr. Hurlbut's first appearance here in a long time he was given a hearty welcome, after an introduction by James R. Joy.

The views shown by Dr. Hurlbut were exceptionally fine and gave the large audience a clear and comprehensive idea of the famous river. At the outset, Dr. Hurlbut mentioned the good roads to be found in Switzerland and said that it is possible for a person to travel throughout that country on a bicycle.

The speaker then took his audience over mountains and through cascades in following the course of the Rhine, showing the forty odd castles to be found along its banks. His talk was made all the more interesting because of the many legends related about the castles, all of the fairy tale kind. In showing a view of the Rhine Falls, considered the most beautiful along the river, he said that it was less than one-eighth of a mile in width and about one quarter the height of Niagara Falls. It is growing deeper each year, by the constant rush of the waters.

The famous clock in the Cathedral of Strassburg was described, the speaker stating that people travel thousands of miles to see it. Quaint buildings in Heidelberg were shown and historical incidents related about them. Dr. Hurlbut also told of the birth of the Reformation and showed views of statutes of men who were leaders during this period.

The speaker referred to Homer, Dante, Shakespeare and Goethe and said that in his opinion he believed that Goethe was being appreciated more than ever as a real literary genius.

Dr. Hurlbut devoted considerable time to the peculiar romance of various stories and the castles which were occupied by noblemen prior to the Thirteenth Century. He characterized these noblemen as robbers, telling how they heavily taxed all persons who plied their boats up and down the Rhine. While the true beauty and grandeur of the Rhine was given due prominence, Dr. Hurlbut did not detract in the least from the beautiful rivers and scenery in America, and after all believed that it would compare quite favorably with those to be found abroad.

After the lecture the audience adjourned to the supper room, where a strawberry and ice cream festival was enjoyed. At this part of the affair the Brotherhood entertained the vested choir of the church.

Complain of Walk Blocking.

Business men and pedestrians along Watchung avenue are complaining over the continued obstruction of the sidewalk resulting from the construction of the Sebring building near the trolley station. It is about two months since the cellar excavation compelled pedestrians to go out into the gutter to get by that point, and there is no indication when the walk will be reopened. Nobody at work on the building seems to be concerned over the continued obstruction. The people who have been grumbling and cussing over it, want to know why some sort of planking couldn't have been placed over the excavation, even if it was absolutely necessary to keep it open all this time.

Epworthian Rally.

There will be a group rally of the Epworth League in the First M. E. church on Thursday night, May 3. The leagues of Somerville, Raritan, Bound Brook, Dunellen, Westfield and this city will join in the rally. Interesting addresses will be made and other attractive features in the form of music.

Will Speak at Somerville.

Superintendent H. C. Krebs, of the North Plainfield Public Schools, will make an address before the Public Education Society at Somerville on Monday, May 7.

WOMEN'S CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT

STORY OF A NEW ENGLAND VILLAGE UNIQUE FEATURE OF THE AFFAIR.

The annual entertainment of the Monday Afternoon Club, marking the close of the season's study, was held at the Casino, last night, and like previous events was a great success. The programme which occupied the great part of the evening was devoted to the illustration of a story of an old New England village. Mrs. Mercie E. Reed, of Rockland, Mass., related the story, while a large company of people represented the various characters.

A large album was placed on the stage and as the story was being told the characters were represented in a series of tableaux. These persons took part: Mr. and Mrs. George Ring, Mrs. D. N. Van Vliet, Miss Dorothy Van Vliet, Miss Barbara Van Vliet, W. L. Glenney, J. R. Hutchinson, Mrs. N. Barnhardt, Laurence Heely, Mrs. E. J. Patterson, Miss S. B. Lovell, Miss Helen Harman, Miss Ruth Titus, Miss Eva Browne, Miss Marjorie Fleming, Miss Lilian King, Miss Helen Browne, Miss Maizie Day, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hubbard, James Everett Kimball, John Neal, Mrs. Malcolm Mc Kenzie, Rev. W. E. Honeyman, Miss Helen Joy, Miss Jeanette Van Vliet, Mrs. Howard Tracy, Edward J. Fox, Lawrence Tweedy, Miss Hyatt, Miss Hutchinson.

Other features included vocal selections by H. T. Burleigh, baritone, of New York, and the singing of old songs by a quartette composed of Miss Mary Hubbell, Miss Ursula Rowland, Arthur Masters and Willard Wadsworth. After the entertainment refreshments were served by members of the club.

This committee was in charge of the affair: Mrs. A. V. Heely, chairman; Mrs. Duncan Taylor, Mrs. William M. Stillman, Mrs. Charles King, Mrs. J. P. Stevens, Mrs. S. B. Warren and Mrs. Walter M. McGee.

STONY HILL PARISH IS 60 YEARS OLD

IN SAINT MARY'S PLAINFIELDERS WORSHIPPED GENERATIONS AGO.

The parish of St. Mary's R. C. church at Stony Hill will complete the sixtieth year of its existence on April 10, 1907, and in commemoration of the occasion, Rev. Linus A. Schwarze, the pastor, has planned to issue a souvenir book. The church was organized by Rev. Father John S. Raffines in 1847 and the publication will contain the names, records and history since that time, together with such information as is deemed advisable during the present year.

The committee of ways and means of the parish has adopted this course as a means to procure sufficient funds to liquidate the church debt and to enable them to make needed repairs to the edifice before the anniversary exercises. As Plainfielders formerly worshipped at Stony Hill there are many descendants of the original parishioners now living in the city who will appreciate the souvenir book and aid the cause.

The ways and means committee is composed of S. P. Debbie, Charles Eller, Andrew Schaefer and George Derber.

Lost Pocketbook Recovered.

Further excitement was added to the fire in the Reinhart cottage yesterday morning, when it was reported to Chief Doane by a member of the Hill family, the occupants, that a pocketbook containing $250 had been taken from a bureau drawer. Before leaving the place the chief conducted a strict investigation but no trace of the money could be found. A whole lot of worrying and figuring was relieved this morning when it was discovered that Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Hills' mother, had secured the pocketbook just before she was struck on the head by a clothes horse thrown from a window and was removed to the hospital. It was found in her clothing intact. It was thought at first that Mrs. Peters had suffered a fractured skull, but it narrowed down to a scalp wound and she will leave the hospital tomorrow.

Fair at the Christian Church.

A fair will open at the Christian church, on Grove street, Monday night, continuing until and including Friday night. There will be lectures on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Supper will be served Thursday and Friday night and close with an auction sale.

RAPS SNAPPY TEACHERS

Dr. Schaeffer Tells Local Pedagogues to be Bright and Happy.

EVIL OF CRABBEDNESS

Rasping Teachers, and Not Overwork, Breaks Down Pupils, State Superintendent of Penna. Intimates.

Things calculated to make pedagogues think more of their work, in both senses of the phrase, were said to the school teachers of the city last night by Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, State superintendent of schools of Pennsylvania. He spoke to them at the new High School, on "Work and Play in Education."

Dr. Schaeffer emphasized the reflex influence of school work on both teacher and pupil. He spoke strongly of the teacher whose work grated upon her and whose nervous, high-strung, rasping manner held the pupil at a tension that led to sheer breakdown; of the class of work that made the pupils glad to be clear of books and mental advancement, and sent them, after school days, to amusements morally degrading and mentally suffocating.

There was something wrong with the system of teaching, the speaker said, that did not lead young people to frequent libraries, where they might sink themselves and the recollections of their work in the companionship of great minds of all times.

Schoolrooms should be sources of happiness to the pupils; but it was impossible for the pupils to be happy if the teachers were not happy. "And how can the teachers be happy," he asked, "if they regard their work as drudgery? If the happiest hour of the day is when the classes are dismissed?"

The child should know no happier hours, the doctor held, than those in the schoolroom and the teacher should be happiest at her work.

The teacher whose voice had an edge, whose manner was like a pychic saw, received the full point of the sharpest shaft loosed by Dr. Schaeffer. He called her, in effect, the one great cause of sleeplessness for superintendents. He laid at her door, by intimation that was very plain, the responsibility for the more or less general charge that modern schooling caused pupils to break down from overwork.

"I had three children in the public schools," he said, in this connection, "and I took them away because they couldn't get work enough. All the work they got there didn't interfere with their appetite, their sleep or their propensity for fighting."

Dr. Schaeffer said a source of nervousness in teachers lay in insufficient salaries, and told an inspiring tale of a salary-boosting campaign in Pennsylvania.

He spoke forcefully against the annual examination of teachers insisted upon in some States. Constant examinations hampered and harrassed the teacher. After the stimulus growing from it the first few years, the teacher was checked in her mental broadening, and starved intellectually at the end of the other that held her to the annually recurrent bugbear. The speaker said he pitied any superintendent who could not find a better way to keep his teachers occupied than by annual examinations.

School Superintendents Maxson, of this city, and Krebs, of North Plainfield, besides those of surrounding places were at the lecture. A number of teachers from adjoining boroughs and villiages helped swell the attendance.

EUCHRE PARTY.

Prizes Are Won by the Guests of a Hostelry.

Under the patronage of the guests, a progressive euchre party was held at Truell Court, last night. There were fifteen tables. Mrs. J. S. Birmingham won first honors for the women, Mrs. John Evans second and Mrs. William Morris third. For the men Wilbur M. Alling won first prize, Dr. H. H. Lowerie second and William De Long third.

During the evening there were humorous recitations by Mrs. L. Combs, violin solos by Mrs. Violet Truell Johnston, piano selections by Miss Hess and soprano solos by Miss Birmingham.

Afterward refresnments were served. The affair was arranged by Eugene M. Laing, John Evans and Miss Tree.

Choir Boys Form a Base Ball Club.

MISS KUENLEN SEEN IN NEWARK ON MONDAY

SPOKEN TO BY A MAN WHO KNOWS HER WELL.

Word of Miss Helen Kuenlen, who disappeared Saturday, was received from Newark this morning by Chief Kiely. She was seen in that city Monday night by a man who knows her well. The police say he doesn't want his name used in the papers.

This man is said to be an old friend of the girl and spoke to her. He didn't know she was being searched for at the time, and she said nothing to make him suspect that something was wrong in her presence in the city.

Intelligence later than Monday night is totally lacking. The police started to inquire for the girl in all hospitals and sanitariums in this section today, and another line of search will be entered on this afternoon.

An automobile was added to the search this morning. M. A. Korff started with it, to cover every road in Union county. The county will be scoured from end to end for traces of the lost girl.

LOCAL BANKERS AT THE STATE CONVENTION

MESSRS. ARNOLD, CASE AND POPE AT STATE ASSOCIATION MEETING.

Governor E. C. Stokes, as president of the Mechanics' National Bank, of Trenton, and chairman of the executive committee of the New Jersey Bankers' Association, headed the delegates who went from Trenton to Atlantic City today to attend the third annual convention of the organization. J. Herbert Case, secretary-treasurer of the Plainfield Trust Company, William F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, James C. Pope, treasurer of the Dime Savings Institution, were the delegates from this city.

The convention takes place at Hotel Chelsea. One of the features this afternoon will be an address on "The State Banking Department," by David O. Watkins, State commissioner of banking and insurance.

The annual banquet will be served this evening. The main addresses will be given by Governor Stokes, United States Senator John F. Dryden and William H. Taft, secretary of war.

New officers will be elected during the convention. Edward C. Campbell, of Newark, president of the association, died July 2, 1905. The other officers follow:

Carlton Godfrey, Atlantic City, vice and acting president; Henry G. Parker, New Brunswick, treasurer; William J. Field, Jersey City, secretary. Executive committee, Governor Stokes, Edward L. Howe, Princeton; H. H. Parmelee, Paterson; William C. Heppenheimer, Hoboken; H. H. Pond, Vinland; Esal H. Mc Carter, Newark; Samuel Filliman, Morristown; W. F. Arnold, of this city.

P. C. C. OPENS SEASON ON LINKS TOMORROW.

Several Events Scheduled for the Commencement of Active Season.

The opening of the active season at the Plainfield Country Club will occur tomorrow, with the initial play for the Golf Committee cup. This cup will be played for severy Saturday throughout the season. In addition there will be play for the opening day cups for the best gross and best net scores, 18 holes, medal play. The course is in good condition and as a number of the players have been out during the past few weeks, some low scores may be looked for for tomorrow.

The clubhouse will also ouen for the convenience of the members and the Golf Committee is looking forward to a successful start of the season's schedule. The programme of events is stronger than ever, including competitions for the men, women and boys.

Fire Insurance Talk.

Frank Lock, father of Miss Mary Lock, a member of the Plainfield High School faculty, spoke to the pupils of that school this morning on the subject of "Fire Insurance." Mr. Lock, in his talk, touched upon the responsibility of the fire insurance companies in the recent San Francisco disaster. Mr. Lock is the United States manager of the Atlas Insurance Company, with offices in New York city.

Mrs. Detweiler Entertains.

Mrs. Charles H. Detweiler, of East Seventh street, entertained with a tea yesterday afternoon. The guests numbered 150. Music by a New York orchestra was a feature of the affair.

FITZSIMMONS IN TOWN

Ex-Heavyweight Champion Is Dealing For Edward White's Property.

SITE FOR SANITARIUM

Wants to Get It In Time to Train For Decoration Day Fight—Cheered For P. B. A. at Pole Raising.

Robert Fitzsimmons, ex-heavyweight champion pugilist, whose scheme to establish his physical culture sanitarium on the Maltby place in Dunellen fell through a month ago on account of a provision in the deed that made the property undesirable for the purpose, has his eye on another place, in Piscataway. He came here yesterday to deal for the property of Edward White, lying between Dunellen and Dewey Park, which suits his purpose just about as well as the other place would had the deed been all he desired.

Fitz is anxious to close the deal as soon as possible. He has had his lawyer look into the deeds and the title, and is ready to sign for it the minute the dicker can be brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

He has a fight on with Burns, the heavyweight who defeated Hart, for Decoration Day, at Philadelphia, and he wants to get possession of the White place in time to begin training there on Monday. If he secures the property and establishes his camp, Fitz will begin planning actively for the erection of his sanitarium and gymnasium. He likes the Piscataway country, with its combination of truly rural beauty, balmy air and comforting closeness to Broadway, and wants to locate there about as badly as he wants to do anything right now.

Fitz put up at the Iroquois Hotel. He and Proprietor Jerome Leary are old friends, and the hotel man immediately organized a Fitzsimmons Entertainment Committee after the pugilist arrived, yesterday afternoon, with Mayor Newton B. Smalley as chairman.

The committee, swelled by a number of substantial citizens in the Elk fold, took Fitz to the baseball grounds to witness the pennant pole raising. "This is the town that holds that baseball belt, hey?" commented Fitz as the pole settled into place. "Three cheers for the Plainfield Baseball Association!" He waved his mighty right with a long-arm swing, countered on the other side with his left, and led the entertainment committee and the assembled populace in a robust cheer.

Fitz was the guest of honor at Pedeflous' last night. "I 'ad my fill of blooming good mushrooms, I tell you," he said enthusiastically this forenoon.

Observing tradition, Fitz turned some horseshoes this morning. He hammered three in Frank Hand's shop on Somerset street, before an admiring crowd. He gave one to Mr. Leary, one to Mr. White and the third to Mayor Smalley.

Fitz went to New York on the 12:09 train, to see his lawyer. He will return tonight.

NO WORD FROM RELATIVES.

William Trembath Still Uncertain as to Parents and Sisters' Fate.

Despite diligent inquiry made by him since the earthquake occurred, William Trembath, of the borough, has failed to receive any word from his parents and two sisters who have been living in San Francisco. Several telegrams which he forwarded to the stricken city remain unanswered and the authorities, to whom he appealed, have been unable to aid him.

Yesterday Mr. Trembath wired the Oakland Tribune, which has inaugurated an information bureau, giving all details about his relatives and it is possible that they may be able to learn something. He has also asked the aid of the San Francisco lodge of Odd Fellows, his father being a member of the order, the members of which have sent out word that they will do all possible to locate anyone affiliated with them.

Lippincott's Mules Get Frisky.

A team of mules belonging to Charles Lippincott and attached to one of the borough sprinkling carts, ran away as the driver was filling the vehicle from a hydrant on Duer street, yesterday morning. The hose was jerked from its coupling and the animals took to the sidewalk near Craig place where the vehicle got stuck between a tree and a fence. The mules had to be unhitched and brought to the rear of the cart to get it back to the road.

Bishop Will Visit Holy Cross.

Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, Bishop of New Jersey, will administer the rite of confirmation to a class of sixteen at the Holy Cross church Sunday night at 7.45 o'clock.

MORE RELIEF FUNDS WIRED TO STRICKEN CITY'S MAYOR

The Plainfield Trust Company,
Plainfield, New Jersey,
April 27, 1906.

Editor, The Daily Press:

We beg to advise you that we have this day deposited with the sub-treasurer of the United States at New York five hundred dollars ($500), one thousand dollars ($1,000) having already been sent, stating that the amount was received from The Daily Press of Plainfield on account of subscriptions to the San Francisco Relief Fund made by the Citizens of Plainfield and North Plainfield, New Jersey. It was agreed that this sum would be immediately wired to the Mayor of San Francisco for the use of the relief committee of which he is chairman.

EDWARD F. FEICKERT,
Assistant Treasurer.

GOVERNOR WON'T TAKE MILITIA FROM 'FRISCO

REFUSES MAYOR'S REQUEST TO WITHDRAW QUICK-SHOOTING AMATETRS.

San Francisco, April 27.—Governor Pardee has refused to withdraw state troops from the streets of the stricken city of San Francisco, in the face of the requests made by him by Mayor Schmitz and the members of the Citizens' Committee, who believe that as long as an untrained and irresponsible body of men are armed with rifles, shooting when the spirit moves them, the homeless citizens are in danger.

The friction between the Mayor and Governor has reached a white-heat stage. The failure of Governor Pardee to comply with the demand of the itizens' Committee that the militia be sent home has been generally criticised. Governor Pardee's reason was that he did not want to disgrace the militia.

A count of the homeless in the three big camps, Golden Gate Park, Fort Mason and the Presidio, shows but 10,000 in the park, 8,000 at Fort Mason and 15,000 in the Presidio. About 4,000 Chinese and Japs are encamped near Russian Hill. These figures indicate an enormous exodus since Sunday. At that time the estimates was 100,000 in the thre big camps. There are 10,000 in camps in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. A number estimated at 100,000 have found shelter under roofs.

The injured in the hospitals number 1,050, and Gen. Greeley's last count of the dead is 290.

The entire work of distrbuting supplies was taken from the citizen relief committee and turned over to the military authorities. 2,500 more regulars have been ordered to the city.

P. O. S. OF A. CAMP WANTS IMMIGRATION RESTRICTED.

South Plainfield Organization Has Petition for Congress.

Aroused to what is considers its sense of duty, Washington Camp, No. 41, Patriotic Order Sons of America, of South Plainfield, has drafted a petion to be sent to the Congressional Committee on Immigration at Washington, urging Congress to pass a bill regulating immigration.

The petition sets forth that the undersigned citizens of the United States regardless of partisan of sectarian affiliation, earnestly petition for the immediate consideration of the bill to regulate immigration of aliens, which has been reported with amendments. It further recites that "the need of such legislation is apparent to every unbiased, intelligent resident of the United States and prompt action is overwhelmingly demanded by the people."

A committee has been appointed to secure signatures to the petition.

GEN. E. W. SERRELL, FAMOUS IN WAR, DEAD.

His Funeral Services to Be Held in New York Tomorow Afternoon.

General Edward W. Serrell, a relative of the late L. W. Serrell, of this city, who died on Wednesday in New York, will be buried from the Washington Square M. E. church, 136 West Fourth street, New York, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Gen. Serrell was a member of the New York Volunteer Engineer Veterans' Association, Lafayette Post, No. 140, G. A. R., the Loyal Legion, the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen, the Department of the South and the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron Association and other organizations. He performed heroic and brave service during the Civil War and as an engineer was considered one of the best in this country.

Miss Ball Heard From.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ball, of Rockview avenue, have received a letter from their daughter, Miss Catherine Ball, who is at Berkeley, across the bay from San Francisco. She writes that she is safe and well and suffered no trouble from the earthquake. Miss Ball is a teacher in the Plainfield Public Schools and was granted a year's leave of absence.

GOLD MEDAL TROUPE TO PLAY SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Popuar Local Minstrels Also Sought After by Stirling and Other Places.

Elated over the success attained by the production at Scotch Plains and New Market, the Gold Medal mintrel troupe, composed of local talent, will invade new territory within the next two weeks. On Wednesday night, May 2, the residents of South Plainfield will be given their first opportunity to witness the show as it is billed to appear at Washington hall. The artists have now reached the semi-professional stage and the performance they give is equal to many of the regular traveling organizations. For the South Plainfield date, two new feature acts will be introduced.

A club at Stirling has asked the management of the troupe for a date and it is possible that the aggregation will journey to the silk village. Bound Brook and Cranford are also booked and the shows will be given previous to the opening of the Plainfield carnival.

Mrs. Linzer Secures a Verdict.

Mrs. Anna Linzer, of South Second street, secured a verdict of $300 against Nelson & William N. Runyon as executors for the estate of Bridget Monks, in the District Court at Elizabeth, yesterday. The case went to the jury in the afternoon and they returned after a short conference. The bill against the estate was for Mrs. Monks' board for a period of 335 days at $1 a day. It was necessary for her to drop $35 as $300 is the largest amount that can be sued for in the district court.

Audsley—Clark.

Cards have been sent out by Mr. and Mrs. Eben Clark, of Newark, announcing the marriage of their daughter, Gertrude May, to Berthold Audsley, of Dorchester, Mass., on Wednesday, April 25. Mr. Audsley was formerly a resident of this place, having his home on Grove street.

Looking for Mr. Coryell.

Friends of John B. Coryell, formerly employed by the Plainfield Brass factory, are anxious to hear from him. He has not been seen her since last Friday.

COURT TOLD OF IT GETTING NOTE

ATTEMPT BY LETTER-WRITER TO INFLUENCE JUDICIAL MIND.

When the hearing, which began Tuesday, in the divorce suit brought by James B. Duke, the millionaire tobacco man, against Mrs. Lilian N. Duke, was resumed before Vice Chancellor Pitney at Newark yesterday morning, the court announced that an attempt had been made by letter to influence him in favor of one of the principals in the case. He went on to speak of the futility as well as the criminality of that kind of proceeding.

"It is a long letter," the vice chancellor went on, holding up to view a four-page, closely written letter. "Now, I want to say that any attempt of this kind will be of no use. In the first place, it has no effect whatever upon the mind of the court, or, if any, it would be against the party in whose favor the attempt is made. In the second place, it constitutes a gross contempt of court, and any party guilty of such attempt to influence the court would be liable to severe punishment. In the third place, it is an indictable offense, and any one sending such a letter is liable to be proceeded against criminally and sent to State prison."

Richard V. Lindabury, of Mr. Duke's quartet of counsel, asked permission to see the letter and the vice chancellor passed it to him. After a glance at the signature and brief consultation with his associates and Mr. Duke, Mr. Lindabury announced that the writer was unknown to either Mr. Duke or his counsel. The letter was then passed over to Mrs. Duke's counsel, Chauncey G. Parker, Samuel Kalisch and John B. Stanchfield, each of whom read it with apparent interest, but none entered the same declaimer. The letter was then handed back to the vice chancellor, who announced that its contents would not be divulged.

The letter, it is said, was written by a woman, was postmarked Reading, Pa., and contained an appeal to the court in Mrs. Duke's behalf, the writer assuring the vice chancellor, it is alleged, that she was satisfied of the defendant's innocence, Mrs. Duke having told her so, on the occasion of a recent visit of the writer to her.

Mrs. Duke, the writer went on, had on that occasion given way to a flood of tears as she expressed her great love for her husband, and had lamented the fact of her regard for Frank T. Huntoon, arising solely from the latter's kindness to her invalid mother. This kind of affection, the writer assured the vice chancellor, was quite a different thing from the kind of love charged against her by her husband. The letter closed with the wish that the vice chancellor would decide the case in Mrs. Duke's favor, as it was in his power to do.

The resumption of the hearing was halted for a time by Mr. Parker stating that Mrs. Duke was ill and unable to be present. Mr. Lindabury asked leave to retire and consult with his associates and client. After twenty minutes Mr. Duke and counsel returned to the courtroom, and Mr. Lindabury said that he recognized the right of the defendant to be present at the taking of testimony which directly concerned her, and that illness was a valid excuse for non-attendance, as well as affording ground for a continuance.

"We do not believe that the defendant is sick or unable to be here, having reasons for such belief, which, however, do not constitute legal evidence," added Mr. Lindabury. He said, however, that he would agree to put only such witnesses on the stand as would not directly interest the defendant to hear, on condition that Mrs. Duke agree to an examination by a physician to be agreed upon by counsel for both sides.

Mr. Parker consented to this and the court named Dr. Joseph Fewsmith, who was at once sent for, and on his arrival was instructed to visit Mrs. Duke today and report on her condition at his earliest convenience.

Funeral of Mrs. Phifer.

The funeral of Mrs. Josephine Phifer, a former local resident who died at her home in Bayonne, was held at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Gaddis, of Regent street, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons and was largely attended. Interment was made at Hillside, six nephews acting as pall bearers: Percy L. Gaddis, George Gaddis, Harry Gaddis, William Myles and Fred Myles, of Elizabeth, and Robert Guttridge, of Scotch Plains.

Music for Carnival.

The executive committee of the approaching carnival for the benefit of the hospital has awarded the contract for the music for dancing to Charles M. Suhr. A large pavilion will be erected and Mr. Suhr's popular Imperial orchestra will be in attendance each evening, giving a programme of the latest music.

—Another successful rehearsal of "Patience" was held in the Camera Club rooms Wednesday night. The next rehearsal will be held Monday night at the Casino. The regular performance will be given at the Casino on Thursday night, May 3.

Miss Agnes H. McWilliams, of Raritan, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Thomas Flynn, of this city.

George Ballentyne, of East Second street, has not been at Muhlenberg Hospital for an operation, as stated a few days ago. The announcement was due to a confusion of names.

PLAINFIELD'S POOR COFFEE QUESTION SETTLED.

The firm of Fred W. Dunn, Park avenue, have accepted our agency for the sale of the famous "Club House" Coffee in Plainfield. This is the coffee used by three out of every five leading hotels and clubs throughout the country, and it is also the coffee which is only handled by about one out of every hundred grocers, because they cannot make a profit of from 100 to 200 per cent. on it. This percentage of profit is in the Quality. Try it.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

An exchange says: "Nothing can be imagined more gruesome than the incarnate fiend "Mephisto," in Lewis Morrison,'s "Faust," standing on the summit of the Brocken, viewing with infernal malignity the awful agonies of the poor witches, who are seething below in a lake of everlasting fire. To the author last night it appeared as if he was viewing a Dore painting of "Dante's Inferno" so weirdly fascinating was the scene. It is a pleasure to witness a production like this, where such care is manifested to the most minute detail. The press throughout the country this season is unanimous in its praise of the magnificent production of Lewis Morrison's "Faust" on this, its farewell tour. While upon former occasions it was always sumptuously staged, the coming production here will be on a scale superior to anything yet presented. "Faust" like good wine, improves with age. Lewis Morrison himself will positively appear in the production at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night.

CONSTIPATION CURSE OF MANKIND.

Dr. Oldman's Liv-r-oids never fail to cure Constipation, Billiousness and all Liver Complaints. They destroy the germs and thus remove the cause.

You May Try a Full-Sized Bottle Free.

Constipation is the starting point of all kinds of dangerous and distressing diseases, such as Appendicitis, Piles, Billiousness, Sick Headaches, Dyspepsia Female Troubles and scores of others. If your bowels are strong and healthy they will act properly and disease cannot enter or remain in the system. A sound Stomach means sound lasting health.

The true way to cure constipation, Billiousness, Sick Headache and all those diseases arising from a Torpid Liver, has been discovered by Dr. Oldman, and his prescription is known as Liv-r-oids. We ourselves know that Liv-r-oids will cure the worst forms of constipation and all the dangerous diseases of the Bowels and Liver, which are such a great menace to life. If you have never tried Liv-r-oids before, we will send absolutely free to every one sending name and address, a 25 cent bottle of this great remedy. Liv-r-oids make you feel right, and make you look on the bright side of life. Liv-r-oids are not a patent medicine but an eminent physicians prescription in tablet form (formula on bottle). There is no element of doubt in the curing power of Liv-r-oids. They are not a miracle, but only science working along on natural lines assisting nature. We want you to try Liv-r-oids to-day, they sell at 25c. a bottle, but if you have not tried them before, send your name and address and you will receive a full-sized bottle free—no obligations—nothing to pay—merely recommend them to your friends if they do what we claim. Bailey Peyton Legare To Work On Railway Construction—William Hazell's Sisters Safe.

Bailey Peyton Legare, of this city, son-in-law of Jan van Herwerden, will have part in the reconstruction of San Francisco's street railways. Mr. Legare, who is an engineer on the staff of the Union Railways Investment Company, started for 'Frisco on an engineering mission the Monday before the 'quake. He arrived the day after the fire, to find a far greater need of his services than he had in mind when he started. He knew what to expect, however, before he reached the wrecked city, from newspapers read on the journey.

Mrs. Legare, who is staying with her parents, received word from her husband yesterday. He has secured lodgings in a barn adjoining a hotel in Oakland—the best he could get in all the city. He is now engaged in searching for the company's office in the ruined city.

William Hazell, of East Second street, has received word from his sisters, who lived in San Francisco. They are both safe in Alameda. Mrs. McCord's house was still unharmed at the time of writing.

'Frisco Policemen Turn Down Check Received from Jersey.

The Jersey City Police Mutual Aid Society recently sent to Chief John F. Dinan, of the San Francisco police department, a check for $250 to aid the police of that city who may have suffered in consequence of the earthquake. Chief Murphy, of the Jersey City police, received a telegram from Chief Dinan which read:

"Chief Murphy, Jersey City Police:

"Your kind offer received. Thanks for the same. Money not needed.

"J. F. DINAN."

It is expected that the check will be returned in a few days.

JAPAN WANTS TO GIVE.

Royal Contribution for San Francisco of $100,000.

Tokio, April 27.—A meeting of Ministers of State and leading bankers and business men was held here Wednesday night at which Nobuaki Makino, Minister of Education, acting on behalf of the Foreign Minister, announced that the Emperor and Empress would give $100,000 toward the relief of San Francisco. Those present opened a subscription under the auspices of the Red Cross Society with a similar amount.

Union county machine politicians are not slow. They have taken note of what happened in Essex and in some other places, and are reported to have decided that the politice thing to do is not to fight the Colby movement, but to capture it by strategy. This is a new game that will be watched by other bosses with considerable interest.—Newark News

Rev. Louis Walz Heard From.

Rev. Louis Walz, who was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake and who it was feared had been killed, has been heard from. His father received a telegram yesterday telling of his safety. Mr. Walz was engaged in mission work in the heart of San Francisco, in the district that was devastated.

ADVANTAGE IN BEING DEAD

Obituary Notice of Value in Case of an Application for a Loan.

Col. Henry Watterson tells of the astonishment and chagrin with which a certain well-known citizen of Louisville, named Jenkins, read a long obituary of himself printed in a morning paper of that city, relates the Success Magazine. He at once proceeded to the editorial office of the paper and, after much difficulty, succeeded in obtaining an audience of the busy city editor. Laying a copy of the paper before him, he observed in a mild, almost humble way, that he had come to see if the city editor could "tell him" anything about it.

With a snort of impatience the busy editor grasped the paper and hastily read the article. "It appears to be an obituary of one Jenkins," he growled. "What is there to tell about it? What's the matter with you, anyhow?"

"Oh, nothing especially," responded the mild Jenkins, "only I thought I'd like to know how the obituary came to be printed; that's all."

"Came to be printed?" repeated the editor, in irritated tones; "why, the man died, of course. My paper doesn't print obituary notices of living men."

"Perhaps not, as a rule," gently replied the visitor, "but in this case I happen to be the Jenkins referred to."

Thereupon the city editor began a profuse apology. "We'll print a correction at once," he said.

"Well, after all," observed the mild Jenkins, "perhaps it would be better to let it stand; I'll show it to my friends when they try to borrow money of me."

HIGH FINANCE IN OLD ROME

Modern Spendthrifts Not to Be Compared with Antony and Caligula.

That the accumulation of vast fortunes was as possible in ancient Rome as it is in the United States to-day is shown by the Scrap Book in the following table compiled from authoritative records.

While it may be true that the wealth of the czar of Russia and John D. Rockefeller may exceed nearly all of these old time hoards, there can be no question of the fact that as spenders of enormous fortunes Antony and Caligula have never been surpassed:

Croesus' landed estate was valued at	$ 8,333,330
His house was valued at	400,000
Caecilius Isidoreus, after having lost much, left	5,235,800
Demetrius, a freedman of Pompey, was worth	3,875,000
Lentulus, the augur, no less than	16,666,665
Clodius, who was slain by Milo paid for his house	700,000
He once swallowed a pearl worth	40,000
Apicius was worth more than	5,000,000
He poisoned himself after he had spent in his kitchen and otherwise squandered immense sums to the amount of	4,160,000
The establishment belonging to M. Scarus, and burned at Tusculum, was valued at	4,150,000
Gifts and bribes may be considered signs of great riches:
Caesar presented Servilia, the mother of Brutus, with a pearl worth	200,000
Paulus, the consul, was bribed by Caesar with the sum of	252,000
Curio contracted debts to the amount of	2,500,000
Milo contracted one debt of	2,815,000
Antony owned at the ides of March, which he paid before the calends of April	1,666,666
Seneca had a fortune of	17,500,000
Tiberius left at his death and Caligula spent in less than 12 months	118,120,000

Jury Paid the Fine.

A Texas correspondent tells how an obstinate juryman was circumvented by his fellow judges of the facts. The offense charged was assault with intent to murder. After the jury had been out about two hours it returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of aggravated assault and assess his punishment at $25 fine and herewith pay the fine." On inquiry as to the meaning of the last clause of the verdict it came out that 11 of the jurors had agreed that the defendant was not guilty, but the twelfth doggedly hung out for a conviction for aggravated assault and would not consent to a punishment less than a fine of $25. Finding it a hopeless task to bring over the obstinate one to their way of thinking, the 11 finally decided to agree with him and "chipped in" enough to pay the fine.—Law Notes.

Alfonso's Wilfulness.

King Alfonso of Spain was so deeply interested in the recent balloon tournament near Madrid that he followed the airships in his motor car, determined to see their descent. Finding one of the still inflated balloons descended in a field, where it had been left by its owner for a time, he jumped into the car and announced his intention to cut it loose from anchorage. His aid begged the king not to undertake such a perilous journey, but the young monarch was not to be dissuaded. He was just drawing his sword to cut the anchor ropes when the aid quickly slit the silk envelope of the balloon with his saber, and at once all possibility of ascent was out of the question. Alfonso was furiously angry for a moment, but later forgave the aid.

Something to Be Thankful For.

"Had a good day?" said one stockbroker to another.

The other shrugged his shoulders with a gesture of depression.

"Everything I sold went up, everything I bought went down," he answered in a tone of deepest gloom.

Then the bright side of the situation occurred to him. "Thank goodness, they can't go sideways," he added, with heartfelt thankfulness.—Stray Stories.

That Depends.

TORNADO DESTROYS 3 TOWNS 'TIS SAID.

Reported that Forty-seven Are Killed in a Texas Disaster.

Dallas, Tex., April 27.—A tornado, which swept over Clay county, North Texas, wiped out the towns of Bellevue, Stoneberg and Hamilton and devastated Hico, leaving forty-seven known dead in its wake. The tornado was a mile wide and traveled eight miles, levelling everything in its path.

A report sent early today from the top of a telephone pole one mile from Bellevue, the nearest wire that could be used, says: "Only three buildings standing. Bellevue is entirely destroyed, and of two hundred and sixty buildings only three are left standing. Persons who have just escaped from there say that the death 1st is known to be thirty, and probably will be larger. The injured are more than one hundred."

Mr. Fagan Visits Governor.

Trenton, April 27.—Mayor Fagan and Corporation Counsell George L. Record, of Jersey City, were here yesterday for an informal talk with Governor Stokes concerning the appointment of the new Hudson County Board of Equalization. The subject was discussed at considerable length, but it is said that no candidates were decided upon. The appointments are not likely to be made until next Tuesday.

An Erie Tunnel.

As a result of the poll yesterday of the 25,000 Erie Railroad commuters to ascertain their preference in regard to methods of transportation from the Jersey City terminal to New York the Erie company may decide finally to construct a tunnel of its own. The Hudson Company has submitted plans to the Erie Railroad looking to the use of the McAdoo tunnels by that railroad.

Would Split Mutual Life.

London, April 27.—The sub-committee appointed by the policyholders in the Mutual Life Insurance Company has sent a circular to the policyholders saying in effect that consideration of the position makes it seem impossible for the Mutual company to continue in business in Great Britain with any prospect of success so long as the present New York management is in control.

LOCOMOTIVE BLOWN UP.

One Killed and Two Fatally Hurt—May Have Hit Dynamite.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 27.—A Pennsylvania Railroad freight locomotive was blown up at 5.30 o'clock this morning four miles east of here, killing Engineer J. F. Good and fatally injuring Fireman C. H. Lefever and Brakeman J. J. Willower, all of Harrisburg.

The engineer's body was found half-submerged in the Susquehanna river near by.

It is believed that the locomotive struck a stick of dynamite accidentally dropped on the track by workmen engaged in railroad improvements. he engine was in good shape when it left Harrisburg a few minutes before the explosion.

Chauffeur Fined $50.

Mount Vernon, April 27.—E. W. Core, chauffeur for C. N. Strotz, manager of the tobacco trust, who lives at Pelham Manor, was arrested this morning in this city for exceeding the speed law and was fined $50 by Judge Simpson. Core admitted that he was going at a speed of at least eighteen miles an hour and paid the fine.

Edward at Naples.

Naples, April 27.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived here today. They were received by the Duke of Aosta. Cardinal Prisco, Archbishop of Naples, greeted them on behalf of the Pope. Mount Vesuvius, of which the royal visitors intend to make an ascent, is hidden by clouds.

John Daly Dead.

John Daly, with the exception of Richard Canfield, was probably the richest professional turfman in this country, died last evening at his home at 12 East Fifty-fourth street. Daly began to fail in health soon after the death of his wife last July. He died of pernicious aneaemia.

Dotted Muslin Nice for Corset Covers and Dots Serve for Center of Hand Embroidery.

One of the prettiest materials for corset covers and fancy chemises is dotted muslin, if one is inclined to put any embroidery or fancy work into these dainty garments. The white dots form an excellent and easy background on which to work and may be laid out in any desired design.

One of the best ways is to embroider the dots of the front in an inverted pyramid—that is, embroider over all the dots in the top row, on the second row, begin to embroider at the second dot, and leave off at the next to the last, and so on. It is very easy to embroider in silk over the white muslin dots.

If desired, a Roman border may be left at the top of the garment, or another easy design would be little circles. Pale blue silk or delicate yellow are all pretty shades to use, and two shades of the same color would make a charming combination, for example use pale blue and turquoise blue, alternately, shell pink and rose pink, and pale primrose yellow with a golden buttercup yellow.

Another combination that would be decidedly smart is pale blue and pale pink embroidered alternately. The straps over the shoulders are so small that it is just as well not to attempt any embroidery on them, but the fronts may be covered and as much put on the back as fancy dictates.

The skirt of the chemise may be finished with the Roman border or a pyramid design. The pale colors will give just that delicate and fascinating glimpse through a thing white summer blouse that a woman of refined and fastidious taste would want.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Eggs and Scalds.

The egg is a very useful household remedy, and, as it is one ready to hand, it should be more appreciated than it is. For burns and scalds (which are apt to occur in most kitchens) there is nothing more soothing than the white of an egg. It makes a skin over the burn the same way that collodion does, and is more soothing. In cases of burning, the great point is excluding the air as much as possible, and to prevent inflammation. As the white of an egg is the best remedy for this, it should be used at once.

Substitute for Castor Oil.

Take a quarter of a pound of figs, stew them slowly in olive oil. When they are swollen add honey and lemon juice to taste. Put them into an earthen jar, and should medicine be required for children or adults one fig will have the same result as a dose of castor oil, keeping the skin nice and clear.

SALESMEN WANTED

For several really high-grade specialty salesmen—the kind no salary offer would ordinarily interest—we have very attractive openings. We know of men who are earning from $2,000 to $5,000 annually, simply selling to dealers for a large and well known manufacturer a well advertised staple. To any successful salesman who is now selling a general line and who can handle a profitable and attractive side line an excellent proposition will also be made.

OLD-TIME ILLUMINATION.

When an Ordinary Lantern Was Counted Something Extraordinary.

In these days of electric lights, with all their capabilities for brilliant illumination, it is amusing to read what the subjects of George II. considered a dazzling effect, says Youth's Companion. A Frenchman, visiting in London at the time of the coronation of that Monarch in 1727, writes enthusiastically in praise of the lighting of the city as well as of a banquet display.

"Most of the streets," writes M. Saussure, "are wonderfully well lighted; in front of each house hangs a lantern, or large globe of glass, inside of which is placed a lamp which burns all night. Large houses have two of these, suspended outside the doors by iron supports. Some even have four."

How one arc-light would have dazzled the good people of that day!

"When the coronation procession entered Westminster hall," the writer continues, "the light of day was beginning to fade. Forty chandeliers, in shape of a crown, hung from the ceiling, each having 36 wax candles.

"On the king's appearance all suddenly lighted, and every one in the room was filled with astonishment at the wonderful and unexpected illumination. Little cords of cotton wool, imperceptible to the eye, saturated with sulphur of saltpeter, spirits of wine and other ingredients, had been prepared and arranged so as to carry the flame rapidly from one candle to another. The arrangement had been so skilfully prepared that scarcely a candle failed to take fire."

HOW TO JUDGE YOUR DOG

Information for Those Who Own an Animal Fit for Exhibition Purposes.

The average man is greatly puzzled to find one dog awarded a first prize, and another, which to him appears to be quite as fine a specimen, awarded no prize at all. A man who knows the relative values of the different points in all breeds of dogs is a veritable walking encyclopedia.

Generally speaking, the best dog is one which comes nearest the standard of requirements for its own particular breed, about 25 per cent. of the points being usually awarded for fine head proportions, an equal number for legs and feet, a similar number again for body and color, and the rest for symmetry.

In the Dalmatian, for instance, 30 points are given for color and markings, while head, eyes and ears have only 15; the bulldog, on the other hand, has 45 for head and ears, while coat and color amount to but five points; the collie has 25 for coat, color being immatierial, and 25 for head and ears.

The St. Bernard has 40 for head and ears, and five each for coat and color; the Pemranian has but 15 for head and ears, 45 points going for coat, color and tail, with 15 for appearance. It may be set down as governing in all breeds of dogs that whatever is the typical feature of that breed is the feature upon which stress is laid in the allotment of points.

Make Salt from the Ocean.

All the salt produced in California is obtained by evaporation from ocean water, there being but few salt springs or wells. Probably not less than 25 large salt plants are in operation around the lower arm of San Francisco bay. It is estimated that the total output of salt per year in Alameda county alone reaches 100,000 tons; while not less than 50,000 tons are annually produced in other parts of the state. The salt produced from sea water has no superior in the world, in strength and purity. There is every grade produced, down to the very finest table salt, by certain refining processes. The salt output of California is shipped to the northern states of the Pacific coast, British Columbia, Mexico, Central and South America, Hawaii, Japan, Russia and even the Philippine islands.

Progressive Matrimony.

"You can always tell a young husband from an old one by the way he acts when he goes for a bucket of water," said Uncle Hiram. "Three months married, he swings the pump-handle, whistles and casts covert glances at the house as though some one were looking at him from the window. One year married, he swings the pump-handle more slowly, smiles occasionally, and seems to be annoyed because the meal is late. Two years married, he looks sour and glum, kicks the cat over the coal house and looks at the house as if he would like to choke somebody. Three years married, he sits on the doorstep and smokes, while his wife works the pump-handle."—Kansas City Journal.

Simplicity of France.

For real democracy one has to look to the president of France. M. Fallieres since his elevation to that exalted office, has been criticised for his simple taste in neckwear. A blue butterfly of the machine-made variety, the kind that is fastened to the collar with an elastic band, has pleased M. Fallieres for 30 years, and there is to be no change in style. Are we to judge France by her novels or her presidents?

Resources of Genius.

The editor looked over the manuscript submitted by the village poet and frowned.

"Here is one line," he said, "in which you speak of 'the music of the cider press.' How would you undertake to imitate the 'music' of a cider press?"

"I should think it might be done with a juice harp," answered the poet.—Chicago Tribune.

All Silk Serge Umbrellas

worth $3, at $2.29.

It's often cheaper to buy an extra umbrella or two than to pay a doctor's or a milliner's bill. A good umbrella is the only kind worth buying. It's the cheapest in the long run.

The umbrellas we offer are made of silk serge of a high quality—rich and lustrous. They have imported paragon frames with steel rods, handles of well selected English boxwood in Princess and opera shapes, and cases and tassels to match. Sizes are 26 and 28 inches. They come from the factory of a manufacturer who is most particular as to his output—in fact, high grade umbrellas are his specialty. We bought them some time ago at a price that would not be accepted today. Engraving done free.

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-wear.

"LONDONCUT" SUITS

The strongest argument in favor of the Marshall & Ball "Londoncut" Suits is their universal popularity among young men of up-to-date ideas in dress. Designed and made by our own tailors, they prominently display that style, distinctiveness and refined appearance which are absent in other ready-to-wear and seldom seen in high-priced custom garments.

Our "Londoncut" Suits have coats 34 inches long, fitted at the waist and flaring over the hips, with deep side vents, creased side seams, long, wide lapels and 5-button cuffs. Gray tones lead. Single and double-breasted sack suits for the more conservative man are also here.

Our assortment of handsome fabrics in M. & B. "Frenchcut" Overcoats and medium and short length Top Coats is wide enough to please every fancy.

"Londoncut" Suits, $12 to $25. Sack Suits, $10 to $25.
"Frenchcut" O'coats, $15 to $30. Top Coats, $10 to $25.

M. & B. Suits for Boys $2.50 to $10.

The M. & B. Store exercises the same care and tailoring skill in making boys' clothes as those of men. This fact, together with economical prices, has made us leaders in boys' attire, as well as men's.

We're showing all the new Spring fabrics, in Norfolk, Russian Blouse, Eton Sailor, Buster Brown and Double-breasted Suits; some with either pants or bloomers.

THINGS THAT WENT WRONG

That Is According to the Commonly Understood Order of Doing Them.

As affording an instructive example of the effect of wealth upon some human minds the story may be told, briefly, of the marriage of Jeroboam Kincade, a prosperous young farmer residing not far from Galena, Ill., which took place a few weeks ago, says the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Kincade, who is the owner of more than a square mile of land, all under cultivation, selected as his bride the only daughter of a rich farmer whose broad acres adjoined his on the west.

They were married by the pastor of a struggling church in a neighboring village. The invitations were limited to the immediate relatives of the families and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride and groom were plainly attired and the decorations of the parlor in which the ceremony took place were of the simplest character.

After the words had been pronounced that made them husband and wife the bridegroom took the preacher aside and asked him, in an embarrassed way:

"Mr. Skiles, how much do I owe you?"

"Why, whatever you please, Mr. Kincade," said the preacher. "I never make any regular charge."

The young man seemed relieved.

"But there's a legal fee, isn't there?" he said.

"Yes; I think a justice of the peace could collect two dollars."

The happy bridegroom fumbled in his trousers pocket and pulled out a tightly folded note.

"Well," he remarked, with a sigh, as he handed it over, "I want to do what's right, of course."

As the preacher ascertained later, it was merely a sort of engraved certificate, issued by Uncle Sam, and promising to pay the bearer—

One hundred dollars in gold.

Sometimes, as a general thing, you can't always tell.

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S SPIRIT.

Was Present in the Form of a Thief and Stole Hotel Guest's Valuables.

"Who's there?" shouted the occupant of a hotel bedroom, as he heard a noise in the corner of his room. There was no answer and the queer noise stopped, relates the Portland Oregonian.

"Anybody there?" No answer.

"It must have been a spirit," he said to himself; "I must be a medium. I will try." (Aloud.) "If there is a spirit in the room it will signify the same by saying aye—no, that's not what I mean. If there is a spirit in the room it will please rap three times."

Three very distinct raps were given in the direction of the bureau.

"Is it the spirit of my sister?" No answer.

"Is it the spirit of my mother-in-law?" Three very distinct raps.

"Are you happy?" Nine raps.

"Do you want anything?" A succession of very loud raps.

"Will you give me any communication if I get up?" No answer.

"Shall I hear from you to-morrow?" Raps are very loud in the direction of the door.

"Shall I ever see you?" He waited long for his answer, but none came and he turned over and fell asleep.

Next morning he found the "spirit" of his mother-in-law had carried off his watch and purse, his trousers and his great coat.

Life in Mars.

Those weary of the world might find it pleasanter on Mars. Camille Flammarion details many advantages in favor of Martians. They at least can always tell with almost absolute certainty what sort of weather is to be their portion no less than two weeks in advance. Besides this they themselves are extremely clever and might furnish amusement for the blase of earth. They are supposed to be several millions of years ahead of the earth dwellers, an intellectual race far superior to our own, as astronomical observations increasingly tend to indicate. They are also in a better position than we to free themselves from the heaviness of matter, since they weigh less. Their years are twice as long as those on earth. And their climatic conditions are always more agreeable than ours.

Vast Traffic of the Lakes.

The interior water ways of the United States steadily grow in commercial importance. There has been an enormous increase in the tonnage of the shipping on the great lakes and it is reported that all the lake shipbuilding plants have contracts for all the work they can turn out this year, with contracts signed beyond that. Besides 60 ships of 10,000 tons each in commission recent contracts were made for two ships 625 feet long, of 12,500 gross tons. The ever-growing work of carrying iron ore and grain is swelling the volume of lake commerce to mammoth proportions.

Between Friends.

Ethyl—But Jack is a little too fond of wine, is he not?

Mayme—Ye-es, I suppose so; but he has agreed to stop drinking if I'll marry him.

"Well, you'll probably find it easier for him to begin again than it is for you to get a divorce."—Detroit Free Press.

An After-Dinner Story.

THE LETTER.

"Now, if the countess will put the count's present address on the letters the carrier will call for them on his way back to the postoffice."

Gilberte hesitates and looks over the pile of letters in her hand. The sealed envelopes speak a language which she understands. She knows the oblong envelopes containing bills and business communications; the letters from her husband's friends are easily recognized by the club stationery, and there is a letter from the Chamber of Deputies, which must be from Uncle Honore.

"Just like Uncle Honore not to know that Henry is away with his regiment during the manoeuvers, and will not be back for two weeks."

With firm hand she readdresses the letters—all but one. She turns the square linen envelope with the fine yet firm handwriting several times, smells it to find out if it is perfumed.

"I wonder who wrote that letter—surely a woman, judging from the handwriting, and Henry is not in the habit of receiving letters from women."

She looks at the cancellation stamp, which reads: "Place des Vosges." "We do not know anybody in that part of Paris," she mumbles, and turns the letter to see if it is securely sealed. Yes, the flap is firmly gummed down all the way.

"If he were only here we would open it together. I am sure I never saw that handwriting before."

Suddenly she remembered that it is always her husband who receives the mail, and that it would be easy for him to remove any letters which he does not want her to see.

"Perhaps he has received many letters like this without my knowledge," she thinks, and her eyes fill with tears.

"Maybe that old love affair from before our marriage is still going on. Maybe he still corresponds with Mme. de Lantosque."

And her slender fingers seem to feel the secrets of the letter. She suddenly becomes aware how little she knows of her husband's soul, how little it belongs to her. And to think that perhaps she now holds in her hand the key to his secret, hidden behind this fine thin paper. She remains undecided a moment, then she resolutely crosses out the address to fill in the address of his regiment. But again she hesitates, her fingers tremble—she cannot do it.

"Perhaps they have agreed to meet while he is away. I ought to have gone with him."

Her fingers again run over the fatal envelope, and hardly knowing what she is doing, she flings it into the open fire.

As she sees the letter devoured by the flames she suddenly realizes what she has done and bursts out crying. "What have I done!" she moans. "How could I mistrust Henry! And now I shall never know what was in the letter," she said, irrelevantly.

The train comes rushing around the curve. Standing on the platform Alberte sees Henry's face behind the window of a first-class compartment. Their eyes meet and speak a mute language of love.

"What a darling you are to come and meet me at the station!" he exclaims, as he kisses her.

The soft, warm coupe carries them swiftly across the wintry fields toward the chateau.

Suddenly he asks, in a tone of anxiety: "Are you sure you sent me all my letters?"

She feels all the blood rush to her heart and her voices trembles as she replies, in a voice which she tries to make calm:

"Why, certainly—but why do you ask?"

"I was expecting a letter, and I do not understand why it did not come."

He looks at her, and notices how pale she is. His hand seeks hers, and he asks, alarmed:

"What is the matter, darling? Are you not feeling well?"

"Yes, I am perfectly well, only a little chilly. Have you heard of Valentine's wedding?" she asks, striking a new subject. "It was not such a great affair as everybody had supposed it would be.

"No, I have heard nothing from anybody. I did not even get the letters I expected."

Alberte feels her heart throbbing so hard that it seems to her he must surely see it even through her heavy fur coat.

Eight days have passed since Henry's return, and both of them feel that something has come between them, though both try to act as before.

Count Henry is seated in the library opening his mail when he calls out to his wife in the next room:

"Now, did I not tell you that I was sure I did not get all my mail?"

"Are you never going to stop speaking about that letter?" she answered, impatiently. "It must have been of great importance to you."

"Why, I should say it was. Now, here I have just received a letter from Noirot—my attorney in Paris, you know—in which he writes that he has been waiting to hear from me ever since he wrote me about a month ago, and that, not having received an answer, he has surrendered an option he held on that palais in Avenue Victor Hugo, which you like so much."

"And that letter was from Noirot?"

"Did you see it—a letter like this?"

The square linen envelope, the fine yet firm handwriting! There was no doubt.

Albert could have fainted from joy.

"Oh, Henry, darling! I do love you so!" she cried, sobbing. "And I do not see how I could suspect so—but why does your attorney write like a woman and use such effeminate stationery?"—Exchange.

Smartest of Clothing

For Men

We have taken from our regular stock nearly half a hundred suits out of each of the $12 and $15 divisions, all of them in the best of styles, right up-to-date, and tailored in the fashion for which our men's clothing is famous, materials throughout of the very best, and we will offer them tomorrow as follows:

Men's $12.00 Suits, $9.98
Men's $15.00 Suits, $12.00

Other news of interest to men follows:

Spring Suits, conservative materials for dress wear and for business, and in the showier fabrics for those who like them best; cut in the most distinctive styles; nicely trimmed; faultlessly tailored, perfect in fit, at prices beginning at $12 and rising by easy stages to $25

Frock Coats and Waistcoats, cut in the newest conservative and swell models, made of fine black thibets and Vicuna cloths; beautifully lined—better one with silk; splendidly tailored; at prices ranging from $5.98 to $42.00

Trousers in handsome and effective stripes, many of them to be found nowhere else; a large variety to choose from; suitable for wear with frock coats, at from $4.00 to $10.00

For Boys

Saturday will be a harvest day for the parents of boys, for we are going to sell some of the best suits in our boys' stock at materially reduced prices.

Norfolk and Double-breasted Coats Suits, with an extra pair of trousers, in 8 to 16 year sizes; made of neat mixtures; nice for dress yet not too much so to make them desirable for school wear; tailoring throughout of the best, in fact, far superior to the work put on boys' clothing sold in other stores hereabouts; suits that we regularly sell at $5.98, and which we cannot duplicate under $7.50, will be sold Saturday at $4.95

Another lot of suits with an extra pair of pants will be sold at only $3.98

Boys' Sailor and Norfolk Suits in 3 to 6 year sizes; boys' 3-piece Suits in 8 to 13 year sizes; made in neat mixtures; a few plain ones; broken in sizes; therefore instead of selling them at prices ranging up to $5.98, we will give your choice of this lot at $2.35

Boys' Norfolk Suits of worsted and serge, made with yoke Knickerbocker trousers; our regular $9.98 suits, on Saturday, at $7.25

Boys Wash Suits in Russian, Eaton and Sailor styles, a collection unsurpassed by any house in Newark; values that don't begin to be matched elsewhere; prices ranging from 50c. up to $5.98

Boys' $1.50 Trousers in sizes 5 to 16; very good value at the regular price; marked for Saturday at $1.

Spring styles in Waists and Blouses, at 25c up.

Fine Suits Under Price

The clearance begun on Thursday will be continued until we have our collection of Spring Suits set to rights. It does not pay us to have our lines broken in size and color, so we must quickly clear the racks and cases of such suits as we have not full lines of. You may take a hint from the fact that the lines are brokenJwe have been selling these styles in generous numbers, proving their worth and beauty.

Prices have been cut most relentlessly. No trifling; no temporiding. The suits must go, and that at once.

These suits are in the latest and best Spring models. They are made of fine Panamas, Voiles, Chiffon Panamas, Shadow-plaid Voiles, fancy Worsteds and Chiffon Broadcloths. The colors are gray, Alice blue, navy, old rose, coral and reseda. The jackets are in the fashionable Eton and bolero effects with braid, lace, embroidery and silk trimmings. The skirts are in the handsomest circular and circular-gored styles with cluster plaits; sizes 32 to 40, and they will be sold as follows:

$25 Spring Suits $16.50
$29.50 Spring Suits $19.50
$35 Spring Suits $25
$39.50 Spring Suits $29.50
$49.50 Spring Suits $39.50
$69 Spring Suits $49
$75 Spring Suits $59

WALKING SKIRTS in many spleidid styles plaited and gored circular, made of Panama, voile, cloth, cheviot, fancy mixtures and a particularly large variety of plaids, at these low prices:

4.00, 4.50, 6.00 8.50 and 9.98

STYLISH TAILORED COATS of covert, broadcloth, cheviot, fancy plaids and mixtures, in tight-fitting, semi-fitting and loose box effects; up to this store's highest standard in every particular; beautifully finished in every way, goods you can be proud of; on sale tomorrow at these low prices:

$6, $8, 9.98, 12.50, 15.50, 19.50, 29.50

RAIN-OR-SHINE COATS—All the newest weaves in rainproof cloths, in gray, tan and olive, a variety of decidedly new styles, fitted, semi-fitted or loose effects; good for wear, rain or shine; at these special low prices:

9.50, 12.50, 14.50, 15.50 and 17.00

NEW SUNBURST SKIRTS of various attractive materials—sold at very popular prices:

Sunburst skirts of Black Taffeta, $12.50.

Sunburst Skirts of Fancy Plaids and Shadow Plaids, $7.98 and $9.98.

Good Hats that are Cheap

"What do you think I paid for this hat?" asked one lady of another.

"Well, I should say $12—$10 anyhow."

"No, indeed—I got it for $7.75. It is one of Hahne & Co.'s cheap hats they talk so much about."

"I would not have suspected it. I think I know something about millinery, too. Why, that hat will go anywhere for one of the better class."

Just so, just so. You can't ind hats like these in the popular-price class anywhere else. The secret of their superiority lies in the trimmers who turn them out. We put some of our best workers on these cheap hats, and they perform stunts that take away the breath of the ordinary millinery house with the top-lofty price ideas.

See the hats we sell at $4.75—unmatched.
See the hats we sell at $7.75—unexcelled.
See the hats we sell at $9.75—unequelled.

Other stores don't pretend to sell you hats such as these for equal money.

$1.98 to $3.75 Hats for only

98c

This is unquestionably the most remarkable millinery offering of the season. Ready-to-wear trimmed hats and untrimmed hats will be included in the selling, and in both you will be given values that are really sensational.

Trimmed Hats—Broken assortments, taken from the various tables and assembled in one lot regardless of the previous values which range from $1.95 to $3.75 and marked for Saturday's selling at the one price—98c.

Untrimmed Hats—Many styles and shapes, in plain and fancy straws—pyroxylin, braid, chip and chiffon effects—the regular prices of which range from $1.95 to $3.75; only a few of a style; all at the one price to-morrow—98c.

Dainty White Waists.

White Lingerie Waists in entirely new models, made in fine batiste with narrow German Valenciennes lace in bowknot effect and trimmed with embroidered motifs; fashionable elbow sleeves; button back; all sizes; a remarkable variety to choose from at the very low price of $2.98

White Lawn Waists in an assortment almost bewildering—a collection of styles positively unmatched by any other Newark house and by few New York houses, many of the resigns exclusive with this house, all of them beautifully made and sold at txtremely moderate $1, $1.50 and prices $1.98

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

At the Broadway theatre, where "The Vanderbilt Cup" continues to draw crowded houses, Miss Elsie Janis is repeating former triumphs with her imitations of well known artists. This dainty and talented star is one of the most talked-of young women in the metropolis while she has risen from obscurity to the front rank of the profession within two years. Last Monday night she revived her imitation of "Le Domino Rouge," which is admittedly one of the best characterizations she has given and which is always received with favor. She also continues to imitate Eddie Foy, George M. Cohan, Maude Adams and several other Broadway favorites.

F. F. Proctor has secured from Richard Mansfield the rights to present at his Fifth Avenue theatre, the week of April 30th, "Monsieur Beaucaire," which when produced at the Herald Square theatre a few seasons ago was considered a capital successor to his "Beau Brummel." "Beaucaire" is a picturesque drama, founded on a story by Booth Tarkington. It is especially suited to the requirements of Mr. Proctor's all-star players. A. H. Van Buren will appear in the title role made memorable by Mr. Mansfield, and James Young will appear in the part created by Mr. Andrews. The two principal leading lady parts will be played by Beatrice Morgan and Isabelle Evesson, and other popular favorites in the cast will be Robert Cummings, George Howell, Walter Greene, Albert Howson, Al. Roberts, Louise Randolph, Mathildo Beshen and Beatrice Golden. This will be the only presentation of "Monsieur Beaucaire" by a stock organization in America.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The Back Room.

The provision of the "Bishops' bill" which will work the greatest good, perhaps, is that which prohibits the use of back rooms in saloons. In the past there has been great complaint in every community against the little back rooms in which young men and women could seclude themselves and drink. In these rooms it was claimed by the advocates of the original "Bishops' bill," girls were induced to take the first step in the direction of ultimate ruin. The rooms were not a necessity to the business of the establishment of which they were a part. They were used because they offered secrecy for which designing men preying upon girls were willing to pay. The law enacted at the recent session of the Legislature and signed by Governor Stokes does away with these retreats and requires saloonkeepers to keep the interior of their places of business open from one end to the other, so that the patrons will be able to see each other when there. There is no denying that side entrances and back rooms have been a curse to every community in which they existed. There is no demand for them by men with honest intentions, and for that reason the Legislature acted wisely when it declared that they must go. Sober consideration of the "Bishops' bill" has convinced most of those interested in the act that it is a long step in the direction of reform of methods employed in conducting the liquor business. It works no hardship to the liquor dealer who is disposed to be honest and law-abiding. It only stands as a check upon those who have been doing things and who would continue to do things in connection with their business that they are not willing the public should know about.—Trenton State Gazette.

Repairing, Renting, Storing.

Autos Net $60,000.

Under the provisions of the Frelinghuysen law it is estimated that the State's annual profit from motor vehicles will be $60,000. This money is to be used for the improvement of public highways so that automobilists will receive a direct benefit from it. The appointment of seven deputy inspectors under the law need give automobilists disposed to run faster than the law allows no serious annoyance since only seven hundred and fifty dollars have been appropriated for their compensation. These inspectors are to be paid three dollars a day when "on the job," which means that they can keep their eagle eyes on autoists only thirty-five of the three hundred and sixty-five days in the year and expect pay from the State for the service.—Trenton State Gazette.

WALTER CHRISTIE STILL WINS ON BEACH

HIS FREAK SPEEDER DEFEATED STEVENS'S 80-HORSE-POWER CAY.

Atlantic City, April 27.—In a sensational finish that brought the spectators to their feet, Walter Christie, in his freak speeder, flashed past the wire two feet in front of the Stevens 80 horse-power Darracq that won the Vanderbilt cup at the Atlantic City Automobile Club races on the Ventnor Beach track yesterday afternoon.

The race was the most exciting of the day, the finish coming as a climax to qualifying heats in which Christie and Guy Vaugh driving their cars to the limit had administered decided defeats to the Napier and two Thomas cars. The time of the winner was 46 2-5 seconds, several seconds slower than the track records, but fast enough to make the competition interesting. The same cars will contest today in trials for records that should make sensational exhibitions.

Mrs. John Newton Cuneo and Mrs. H. Ernst Rogers, both daring New York women drivers, were the other stars of the meet yesterday. They carried off first and second in trials for light runabout cars. Mrs. Cuneo was loudly applauded when she drew up at the stands, and Mrs. Rogers, who was an added starter, also received her share.

Another event of interest to the spectators was the championship competition for touring cars in which four heats were necessary to establish the supremacy of the Pierce 40 horse-power car driven by J. E. Bristol. An English Damier car driven by H. N. Harding, of New York, that had been picked as a favorite, failed to win in the finals after running away from all other competitors in a qualifying heat.

CLINTON AVENUES FAST

Amateur Season Will Open Saturday on Crescent Oval With the Garwoods.

SOME OTHER FAN GOSSIP

Plainfielders Witness Opening of Eastern League Season in Jersey City This Afternoon.

Clinton Avenue will meet the Garwood A. C. on Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon. The West End team will present its same line up as last season and according to Manager Derflinger there will be very few changes on the team this season. Scott will probably do the box work Saturday against Garwood. He has been working out for the past three weeks and has under control lots of speed and curves. Scott will do most of the pitching this season for the West Enders and looks like a comer. He has the moves and swagger of McCann, the Jersey City twirler.

The game will be well worth seeing. The Garwoods are after a game with Manager Daab. They want to make a good showing and will come to town with the intention of "salting down" the aspiring West End crowd.

But Manager Derflinger says that his team is equally as strong as the visitors and will uphold their reputation.

So with these matters of importance hinging on the result of the game a close contest is anticipated.

The Eastern League season opens today. Proprietor Leary piloted a number of local fans to the new grounds in Jersey City where Manager Murray's team opened with Montreal. Jerome Leary, Jr., and "Kid" Speer were unable to go.

"Brit" Martin will play with Clinton Avenue until the opening of the Somerville season the latter part of next month.

Westfield baseball scribes will have an easy time of it this summer.

Manager Daab has secured the Bridgeport, Connecticut, League team as the attraction for Sunday in Hoboken. Deegan will take his turn on the slab for the locals.

Fred K. Armstrong, formerly pitcher for the North Plainfield High School team, now employed at Easton by the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company, is pitching for the team that represents that company. F. C. Iglehart, Jr., of this city, is manager for the team.

Baseball Opening at Westfield.

The baseball season will be opened at Recreation Park, Westfield, tomorrow, when the Westfield team will meet the All-Brooklyn nine. A fast contest is expected as both teams are strong and well matched. The lineup: Westfield—Eichler, cf; Geiger, lf; Gilmore, ss; Brooks, 1b; Fine, 3b; Camble, 2b; Smith, lf; Fritz, c; Levy, p; Maher and Engel, extra. All-Brooklyn—Dunnigan, cf; Costello, 1b; Carritt, lf; Lucke, ss; Mellor, rf; Dowd, 3b; Burns, 2b; Maley, c; Higgins or Biehle, p.

New Industry in the East End.

Max Krischer and Henry Hollander, organizers of the New York Metal Goods Company, have bought the old oil cloth factory in the East End and will install their business in it at once. They will commence with a force of twenty men but expect to double the number within a few weeks. The concern manufactures a large variety of metal goods on order. The purchase was made from the Paine estate through Counsellor W. S. Angleman.

Fred Allen, son of David Allen, of Harrison street, who was operated on at Muhlenberg hospital last night, for appendicitis, was reported today as doing nicely.

PERSONAL.

Rev. W. N. Flanders arrived in the city today from the South, called on by the news of the death of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who have been taking a trip to California, have returned to their home on Dunellen avenue.

Scott Foster and his daughter, Miss Foster, of New York, have been visiting at the home of D. N. Groendyke, of Mercer avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Nash have returned from their wedding trip and are at home to their friends at 76 Manning avenue, the borough.

Frank D. Bennett, of Gloucester, Mass., has joined his wife who is stopping at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Clapp, of Mercer avenue. Mr. Bennett made the trip from Gloucester in his automobile.

"PATIENCE" PERFORMANCES SURE TO BE SUCCESSES.

Cast and Soloists Exceptionally Proficient in the Various Parts.

In presenting "Patience" at its initial performance, the Plainfield Operatic Association is bound to score an unprecedented success. Never in the history of music in Plainfield has there been such an opportunity given for hearing a finer cast of soloists and a better trained chorus. In the selection of voices for the solo parts the greatest care has been taken to get the very best. Among the soloists perhaps one of the best known is Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon, a pupil of the celebrated Madame Louise Von Feilitzsch, who has produced such artists as Julian Walker, Ada Chambers, Edward Johnson and Evans Williams. Miss Sheldon is a dramatic soprano, possessing a superb voice, and as Patience she will be heard at her best.

Those who recall the delightful rendition of the "Paradox" in the Pirates will be glad to know that Mrs. Fernando M. Ward, William N. Runyon and William J. Tallamy have been given prominent solo parts in "Patience," their work at the rehearsals proves that no mistake has been made in the selection of them for these solo parts. Messrs. Shipman, Cutting and Martin as officers of the Dragoon guards are bound to make a hit in their delightful trio.

Particular pains has been taken by Mr. Holmes in staging this production. The action as well as the singing of the chorus is taking a decidedly professional bearing, and if excellent rehearsals count for anything this opera will eclipse any amateur performance ever given in Plainfield.

A limited number of seats are still on sale at Armstrong's.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"Ah, but think of what there is in the east—and you are there. To think that for six months I've treasured every little memory of you—such a funny little lot as they were—to think that this morning I awoke thinking of you, yet hardly hoping ever to see you, and to think that for half the night we had ridden so near each other in sleep, and there was no sign or signal or good omen. And then to think you should burst upon me like some new sunrise that the stupid astronomers hadn't predicted.

"You see," he went on, after a moment, "I don't ask what you think of me. You couldn't think anything much as yet, but there's something about this whole affair, our meeting and all, that makes me think it's going to be symmetrical in the end. I know it won't end here. I'll tell you one way western men learn. They learn not to be afraid to want things out of their reach, and they believe devoutly—because they've proved it so often—that if you want a thing hard enough and keep wanting it, nothing can keep it away from you."

A bell had been tinkling nearer and nearer on the road ahead. Now a heavy wagon, filled with sacks of ore, came into view, drawn by four mules. As they stood aside to let it pass he scanned her face for any sign it might show, but he could see no more than a look of interest for the brawny driver of the wagon, shouting musically to his straining team.

"You are rather inscrutable," he said, as they resumed the road.

She turned and smiled into his eyes with utter frankness.

"At least you must be sure that I like you; that I am very friendly; that I want to know you better, and I want you to know me better. You don't know me at all, you know. You westerners have another way, of accepting people too readily. It may work no harm among yourselves, but perhaps easterners are a bit more perilous. Sometimes, now, a very eastern person doesn't even accept herself—himself—very trustingly; she—he—finds it so hard to get acquainted with himself."

The young man provided one of those silences of which a few discerning men are instinctively capable and for which women thank them.

"This road," she said, after a little time of rapid walking, "leads right up to the end of the world, doesn't it? See, it ends squarely in the sun." They stopped where the turn had opened to the west a long vista of gray and purple hills far and high. They stood on a ridge of broken quartz and gneiss, thrown up in a bygone age. To their left a few dwarf Scotch firs threw shadows back toward the town. The ball of red fire in the west was half below the rim of the distant peak.

"I shall look forward to seeing you—and your mother and sister?—in New York," she said, when they parted, "and I am sure I shall have more to say when we're better known to each other."

"If you were the one woman before, if the thought of you was more than the substance of any other to me—you must know how it will be now, when the dream has come true. It's no small thing for your best dream to come true."

"Dear me! haven't we been sentimental and philosophic? I'm never like this at home, I assure you. I've really been thoughtful."

From up the canyon came the sound of a puffing locomotive that presently steamed by them with its three dingy little coaches, and, after a stop for water and the throwing of a switch, pushed back to connect with the Shepler car.

The others of the party crowded out on to the rear platform as Percival helped Miss Milbrey up the steps. Uncle Peter had evidently been chatting with Shepler, for as they came out the old man was saying: "'Get action' is my motto. Do things. Don't fritter. Be something and be it good and hard. Get action early and often."

Shepler nodded. "But men like us are apt to be unreasonable with the young. We expect them to have their own vigor and our wisdom, and the infirmities of neither."

The good-bys were hastily said, and the little train rattled down the canyon. Miss Milbrey stood in the door of the car, and Percival watched her while the glistening rails that seemed to be pushing her away narrowed in perspective. She stood motionless and inscrutable to the last, but still looking steadily toward him—almost wistfully, it seemed to him once.

"Well," he said, cheerfully, to Uncle Peter.

"You know, son, I don't like to cuss, but except one or two of them folks I'd sooner live in the middle little o' hell than in the place that turns 'em out. They rile me—that talk about 'people in the humbler walks of life.' Of course I am humble, but then, so, if you come right down to it, as the feller said, I ain't so damned humble.

CHAPTER VI.

THE ARGONAUT'S RETURN TO THE RISING SUN.

It was mid-October. The two saddle horses and a team for carriage use had been shipped ahead. In the private car the Bines party was beginning its own journey eastward. From the rear platform they had watched the tall figure of Uncle Peter Bines standing in the bright autumn sun, aloof from the band of kerchief-waving friends, the droop of his head and shoulders showing the dejection he felt at seeing them go. He had resisted all entreaties to accompany them.

His last injunction to Percival had been to marry early.

"I know your stock and I know you," he said; "and you got no call to be rangin' them pastures without a brand. You never was meant fur a maverick. Only don't let the first woman that comes ridin' herd get her iron on you. No man knows much about the critters, of course, but I've noticed a few things in my time. You pick one that's full-chested, that's got a fairish-sized nose, and that likes cats. The full chest means she's healthy, the nose means she ain't finicky, and likin' cats means she's kind and honest and unselfish. Ever notice some women when a cat's around? They pretend to like 'em and say 'Nice kitty!' but you can see they're viewin' 'em with bitter hate and suspicion. If they have to stroke 'em they do it plenty gingerly and you can see 'em shudderin' inside like. It means they're catty themselves. But when one grabs a cat up as if she was goin' to eat it and cuddles it in her neck and talks baby-talk to it, you play her fur bein' sound and true. Pass up the others, son."

As the train started he swung himself off with a sad little "Be good to yourself!"

"Thank the Lord we're under way at last!" cried Percival, fervently, when the group at the station had been shut from view.

"Isn't it just heavenly!" exclaimed his sister. "Think of having all of New York you want—being at home there—and not having to look forward to this desolation of a place."

Mrs. Bines was neither depressed nor elated. She was maintaining that calm level of submission to fate which had been her lifelong habit. The journey and the new life were to be undertaken because they formed for her the line of least resistance along which all energy must flow. Had her children elected to camp for the remainder of their days in the center of the desert of Gobi, she would have faced that life with as little sense of personal concern and with no more misgivings.

Down out of the maze of hills the train wound; and then by easy grades after two days of travel down off the great plateau to where the plains of Nebraska lay away to a far horizon in brown billows of withered grass.

Then came the crossing of the sullen, sluggish Missouri, that highway of an earlier day to the great northwest; and after that the better wooded and better settled lands of Iowa and Illinois.

"Now we're getting where Christians live," said Percival, with warm appreciation.

"Why, Percival," exclaimed his mother, reprovingly, "do you mean to say there aren't any Christians in Montana City? How you talk! There are lots of good Christian people there."

And even Mrs. Bines was not without a sense of quiet and rest induced by the gentler contours of the landscape through which they now sped.

"The country here does seem a lot cozier," she admitted.

The hills rolled away amiably and reassuringly; the wooded slopes in their gay coloring of autumn invited confidence. Here were no forbidding stretches of the gray alkali desert, no grim bare mountains, no solitude of desolation. It was a kind land, fat with riches. The shorn yellow fields, the capacious red barns, the well-conditioned homes, all told eloquently of peace and plenty. So, too, did the villages—those lively little clearing houses for immense farming districts. To the adventurer from New York they seem always new and crude. To our travelers from a newer, cruder region they were actually aesthetic in their suggestions of an old and well-established civilization.

In due time they were rattling over a tangled maze of switches, dodging interminable processions of freight cars, barely missing crowded passenger trains whose bells struck clear and then flatted as the trains flew by; defiling by narrow waterways, crowded with small shipping; winding through streets lined with high, gloomy warehouses, amid the clang and clatter, the strangely sounding bells and whistles of a thousand industries, each sending up its just contribution of black smoke to the pall that lay always spread above; and steaming at last into a great roomy shed where all was system, and where the big engine trembled and panted as if in relief at having run in safety a gantlet so hazardous.

"Anyway, I'd rather live in Montana City than Chicago," ventured Mrs Bines.

"Whatever pride you may feel in your discernment is amply justified," replied her son, performing before the amazed lady a bow that indicated the lowest depths of slavish deference.

"I am now," he continued, "going out to pace the floor of this locomotive boudoir for a few exhilarating breaths of smoke, and pretend to myself that I've got to live in Chicago forever. A little discipline like that is salutary to keep one from forgetting the great blessing which a merciful Providence has conferred upon one."

"I'll walk a bit with you," said his sister, donning her jacket and a cap.

"Lest my remarks have seemed indeterminate, madam," sternly continued Percival at the door of the car, "permit me to add that if Chicago were Heaven I should at once enter upon a life of crime. Do not affect to misunderstand me, I beg of you. I should leave no avenue of salvation open to my precious soul. I should incur no risk of being numbered among the saved. I should be b-a-d, and I should sit up nights to invent new ways of evil. If I had any leisure left from being as wicked as I could be, I should devote it to teaching those I loved how to become abandoned. I should doubtless issue a pamphlet, 'How to Merit Perdition Without a Master. Learn to Be Wicked in Your Own Home in Ten Lessons. Instructions Sent Securely Sealed from Observation. Thousands of Testimonials from the Most Accomplished Reprobates of the Day.' I trust that you will never again so far forget yourself as to utter that word 'Chicago' in my presence. If you feel that you must give way to the evil impulse, go off by yourself and utter the name behind the protection of closed doors—where this innocent girl cannot hear you. Come, sister. Otherwise I may behave in a manner to be regretted in my calmer moments. Let us leave the woman alone, now. Besides, I've got to go out and help the hands make up that New York train. You never can tell. Some horrible accident might happen to delay us here 30 minutes. Cheer up, ma; it's always darkest just before leaving Chicago, you know."

Thus flippantly do some of the younger sons of men blaspheme this metropolis of the mid-west—a city the creation of which is, by many persons of discrimination, held to be the chief romance and abiding miracle of the nineteenth century.

Let us rejoice that one such partisan was now at hand to stem the torrent of abuse. As Percival held back the door for his sister to pass out, a stout little ruddy-faced man with trim gray sidewhiskers came quickly up the steps and barred their way with cheery aggressiveness.

"Ah! Mr. Higbee—well, well!" exclaimed Percival, cordially.

"Thought it might be some of you folks when I saw the car," said Higbee, shaking hands all around.

"And Mrs. Bines, too! and the girl, looking like a Delaware peach when the crop's 'failed.' How's everybody, and how long you going to be in the good old town?"

"Ah! we were just speaking of Chicago as you came in," said Percival, blandly. "Isn't she a great old town, though—a wonder!"

"My boy," said Higbee, in low, solemn tones that came straight from his heart, "she gets greater every day you live. You can see her at it, fairly. How long since you been here?"

"I came through last June, you know, after I left your yacht at Newport."

"Yes, yes; to be sure; so you did—

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." (Signed) Mrs. Hannah Applegate, Evergreen Ave., Avon, N. J., Sept. 3rd, 1905. 50 cents. Ask the druggist, or by mail, Azienza Specialties Co., Jersey City, N. J.

FLOWERY GLOVES ARE NEW.

If the Easter girl isn't as gorgeous as a butterfly this year, it won't be the fault of those who are preparing her toggeries. From hand to foot she will bloom like a rose, with flowers on her fingers, and flowers on her toes—which is poor poetry, but literal truth, for as everybody can see, all the pretty spring slippers are embroidered with posies, and the very latest thing in gloves is flower-trimmed.

These floral hand coverings are embroidered, of course. A pair of black silk elbow gloves has a lovely spray of pale yellow daisies embroidered right on the back of the hand. Part way up the wrist there is more decoration, and the top is scalloped, buttonholed in yellow and dotted with yellow French knots.

If that seems a little too giddy—though it really is most fetching—observe this long pair of white kid mousquetaires, whereon bloom pale crocuses, or that pair decorated with delicate purple heliotrope.

Like as not such gloves must be bought to match the flower trimming on the spring bonnet.

Won't the Easter girl be a whole garden of lilies and roses and delights?—Philadelphia Telegraph.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY NOTES

Each year the Book Board of the New York State Library selects and annotates a list of 250 of the best books of the year. Such of these books as are in the Public Library are here given, the annotations being taken from the New York State Library Bulletin. Part 2 will appear later.

The Best Books of Fiction for 1906 in the Public Library.

Churchill, Winston—The crossing.

Pictures sweeping of civilization across the Alleghanies and settlement of Mississippi valley. Hero's love story subordinated to history times.

Daskam, J. D.—Memoirs of a baby.

Gently satirizes modern methods of child rearing and demonstrates the average baby's ability to maintain its individuality.

Duncan, Norman.—Doctor Luke of the Labarador.

Life of Labarador fisher folk. Though it cannot but recall the work of the missionary physician, Dr. Grenfell, the hero in no sense represents him.

Glasgow, E. A. G.—The deliverance a romance of the Virginia tobacco fields.

Carefully written romance of Virginia since the Civil War, in which class pride, revenge and love are the developing forces.

Gordon, C. W.—The prospector: a tale of the Crow's Nest Pass.

Trials and triumphs of a muscular young missionary among cowboys and fortune hunters of Canadian far west.

Grant, Robert.—The undercurrent. (In magazine form only.)

Discusses divorce. Favors decision of remarriage question on merits of individual cases, giving claims of personal happiness high value.

Harland, Henry.—My friend Prospero.

A real princess, a young nobleman, a fairy godmother and a naive, delightful child play out a diverting comedy against a sunny Italian landscape.

Hewlett, Maurice.—Queen's quair.

The six years between Mary Stuart's departure from France and the night she rode a prisoner from Holyrood to Lochleven. Nation, 79:14.

As portraiture, a piece of extraordinary fine and subtle drawing. The style of writing is soaked in the hardy roughness of the time. Saturday review, 98:53.

Housman, Laurence. — Sabrina Warham, the story of her youth.

Story of English coast, of cruel seas, quiet downs and smiling farmsteads.

Howells, W. D.—Son of Royal Langbrith.

Presents a delicate moral problem, involved in suppression of truth about a man unworthy the respect paid him after death. Scene, a New England town.

Jordan, Elizabeth.—May Iverson—her book.

Convent school stories in the manner of a girl of 14 with litreary ambitions. Blends cleverly childish frankness, conscious effort and gush.

Kelly, Myra.—Little Citizens.

A New York school teacher's stories of her East Side Jewish charges. Human nature and American Yiddish dialect are alike faithfully rendered.

Kipling, Rudyard.—Traffics and discoveries.

Characteristic short stories dealing with South African war, navy, army reform and the supernatural. Each story preceded by a poem embodying theme.

Lane, E. M.—Nancy Stair.

Love story of a beautiful Scotch girl of noble blood, saucy wit and a poetic gift which she dares try with Robert Burns.

Lloyd, Nelson—Soldier of the valley.

Pictures simple country life, love affairs and affection between two brothers. Hero a young man returned crippled from Spanish war.

Martin, H. R.—Tillie: a Mennonite maid.

Quaint story of an attractive Pennsylvania Dutch girl, whose aspirations rise above her sordid surroundings through the influence of her teacher, a Kentucky gentlewoman.

Mitchell, S. W.—Youth of Washington told in the form of an autobiography.

A triumph of pseudo-autobiography, based on long and careful study of its subject and interweaving so skilfully Washington's own words that absolute fact and scarcely less truthful fiction are inseparable.

Rickert, Edith.—The Reaper.

Tale of toil, peril, self-sacrifice and love among the rugged crofter fishermen of the Shetland isles.

Sinclair, May.—Divine fire.

Hero, an obscure London poet, overcomes cockney breeding, sordid surroundings and strong passions through the inspiration of a well born young Englishwoman whom he loves.

Sinclair, Upton.—Manassas.

Less a novel than a history. Traces causes of Civil War as far back as Mexican War, and closes with battle of Bull Run.

Thompson, E. Seton.—Monarch, the big bear of Tallac.

Evolution from an affectionate and mischievous little household pet into the mysterious and ruthless sheep killer of Tallac.

Thurston, K. C.—The masqueradder.

John Chilcote, M. P., secretly a slave to morphia, secures a physical double, strong willed and clean lived, to substitute during his lapses. Impossible but absorbing.

Waller, M. E.—Wood-carver of 'lympus.

Love idyl of the Green mountains. An ambitious farmer crippled in early manhood finds interests in the outside world through a chance acquaintance, and becomes a wood carver of renown.

Wiggin, Mrs. K. D., and others.—Affair at the Inn.

Love comedy, following chance meeting at Dartmoor inn. Written in first person, each author responsible for one character.

Juvenile Fiction.

Richards, Rosalind.—Nursery fire.

The party, the hammock ship, the mumps circus, the ogre's tablecloth and other short stories for younger children.

Taggart, M. A.—Little grey house.

Story of three nice girls, their friendships and brave struggle against adverse circumstances.

LITERARY NOTES.

McClure's begins a new volume with May. If the forthcoming numbers are to be gauged by this first one the readers of this magazine have a rare treat ahead of them. Two universally important and interesting series begin: Rudyard Kipling's "Robin Goodfellow—His Friends," and the Life Insurance articles by Burton J. Hendrick. In "The Centurion of the Thirtieth," Kipling comes back to us more the wizard than ever. No one who reads English should miss these stories, for they are about a British-born Roman, who held the great Wall of Hadrian for his Emperor against the "Painted People" and the "Winged Hats," in the days before England was English. "The Story of Life Insurance" for the first time gives both sides of the case, and contains, in a simple condensed form, the information which for a year we have been trying to glean. The first installment is "The Surplus: The Basis of Corruption," and it tells how certain men have been pulling the surplus down while a few have been struggling to save it. These are facts about the "Before the Deluge" officers that will make you open your eyes. George Edward Woodberry contributes another chapter to his "Great Masters of Literature," throwing some entirely new lights on John Milton.

"Success Magazine" for May makes a feature of the life and accomplishments of George Westinghouse, inventor of the Westinghouse air brake, and the head of the great manufacturing companies of that name all over the world. Arthur Warren, who was associated with him for so many years, presents under the heading, "The Genius of George Westinghouse," an intimate sketch of this great master mind, who has had so much to do with the development of the great American railway systems, and who has maintained his high position untouched by the storms of financial or political scandal. In "The Habit of Governing Well.—Manchester," Samuel Merwin gives the second of his studies of municipal government. He describes the business-like administration of the city of Manchester, England, where municipally-owned tramways and gas companies turned over their profits to the city, amounting one year to a reduction of a quarter of a million dollars from the taxes.

One of the liveliest numbers of Good Housekeeping ever issued, and yet thoroughly practical withal, is that for May. From Ellis Parker Butler's richly humorous sketch, "Her Clothes as Seen by Him," to President Myrick's breezy outline of "Our Great Constructive Policy" of pure food advancement, every line is interesting and every line counts. Something entirely new, and nation-wide in its scope, is involved in Our Constructive Policy. Which College for My Daughter is a searching and fearless but just analysis of the strong and weak points of the various colleges for women. Louise Forsslund, author of Dutchtown Stories, etc., writes entertaingly and suggestively of Woman's Influence in House Decoration, describing the achievements of notable women decorators. Gelett Burgess' illustrated account of a unique dinner diversion known as The Pudding Center Fire Department is highly amusing. A valuable department is devoted to Vacation Plans, there are original and charming designs for homemade lingerie waists, an illustrated article is devoted to the revival of darning, and the regular departments are overflowing with good things.

Three Fine Pictures Free.

For the next three Sundays, all people who buy the great Philadelphia Sunday Press, will get a fine picture suitable for framing. Many newspaper picture supplements are only cheap chromos. These are not. You never see a Sunday Press picture thrown away. It is a work of art. Sunday Press pictures cost more to make than any other pictures and people frame them. MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff, and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

BUILDING A WHITE CITY

Director Miller at Work Preparing For Second Annual Carnival.

ON A LARGE SCALE

Donation of Lumber—Pavilion of All Nations to Be a Feature—Other Attractions.

Under the personal supervision of General Director Miller, the work of creating the White City of the Hospital Carnival, at the show grounds on West Fourth street, has begun. Although the carnival will not open until May 19, Mr. Miller has brought a carload of material and a gang of eighteen men to the city and started things humming already.

Work on the most ambitious structure of the White City, the Pavilion of All Nations, to be conducted by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital Board, was begun Tuesday. This building, which is to be constructed solidly of pine, from handsome architectural designs, will measure eighty feet square, with an extension twenty-five by fifty feet.

The frame of it was well on toward completion yesterday afternoon. J. D. Loizeaux, who has generously given all the lumber to be used on the building, delivered a carload of material on the grounds Thursday. It is expected that the building will be finished in two weeks.

Other wooden structures are to be put up. There will be a 150-foot automobile shed, for one thing, besides a toboggan chute of the same length and a dancing platform fifty feet by seventy.

In two weeks Mr. Miller will start to put up the tents. There are to be more of them by a goodly number than last year, and the Carnival City, when its gates are thrown open to the public, in the blaze of myriads of electric lights, the first night will present a picture twice as dazzling as the coruscating vision of a year ago.

Announcement of thrilling acts and enthralling features increase in number as the carnival time grows nearer. A splendid attraction which Mr. Miller has just signed was put on the growing list yesterday afternoon.

This act is the great Parisian novelty "Ojee," a remarkable mystifier that created a furore in New York at its first presentation in this country at a Casino Sunday night concert. Ojee is a beautiful young woman who enters a spherical cage, which is immediately set in motion by electricity and revolves at such speed that its bars are imperceptible as it whirls. While it whirls furiously about Ojee disappears and is not seen again.

Kaibo, the Turtle Boy, has also been signed. The programmes of the various shows, and details of the free outdoor attractions will be announced by Mr. Miller next week.

SOMERVILLE HAS A BOOM.

Industries All Active and Houses in Demand.

Somerville, April 28.—After lying dormant for more than five years, a building boom has started here, and the town is once more flourishing with prosperity, as it did up to the year 1900, when the woolen mills suspended operations, throwirng a number of employes out of work and causing a depression in all lines of business. Many of the mechanics, such as masons and carpenters, were obliged to look elsewhere for employment, and moved their families from here to other towns. During the month of April, last year, there were at least thirty houses to let and a number of flats as well; but today there is not a house in town fit for habitation that is not occupied, and there are not sufficient houses to accommodate families who want to take up residences here.

The woolen mills are again in operation, and the stove works, in the eastern portion of town, gave employment to a goodly number of men and boys. The scarcity of tenantable property has caused real estate men and financiers to build new houses and at present the town is having the biggest boom in its history. The new courthouse is now in course of construction, and there are at least six other buildings going up. This activity in the building line has brought back a majority of the mechanics that went away during the past years. Industries located here have recently enlarged their plants, and there is every evidence of a continuation of the prosperity that has come with the opening of the spring season.

Michael Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill, of High Bridge, underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, this week, for the removal of a piece of bone from the nose. The lad has returned home and is rapidly recovering.

FOUR WOMEN THROWN FROM AN AUTOMOBILE

AFTER RETURNING FROM PLAINFIELD THEY ARE INJURED SLIGHTLY.

Chester R. Hoag, who is a member of the Whitehead & Hoag Company, of Newark, his wife and her three sisters, were in an auto accident on Clinton avenue, Newark, last night. The party was in Plainfield during the day, being patrons of Mrs. J. R. Truell at Truell Inn. They left Plainfield late in the afternoon to return home.

The trip to and from Plainfield was made in a new touring car, which Mr. Hoag recently purchased. He was running down Clinton avenue behind a trolley car. He turned out to go over High street and struck another trolley car going in the opposite direction.

Mr. Hoag kept his seat after the shock, but the women were all thrown out of the wrecked car. The names of the girls were Dorothy, Edna and Rose Osborne, all of whom were bruised and cut. Dorothy received a cut across her forehead which had to be stitched up. None of the injuries are dangerous, however. The women are all daughters of H. Frank Osborne.

The members of the party are all well known her where they visit frequently.

FRANK O. REINHART ABANDONS THE LINKS

ANNOUNCES THAT HE WILL DEVOTE HIS TIME TO BUSINESS.

To the great surprise of all lovers of the game of golf, announcement was made yesterday by Frank O. Reinhart, of Belvidere avenue, that he had retired from the game and would devote no time to play this season. Mr. Reinhart has just recovered from an attack of typhoid fever and although he is rapidly gaining strength, he has decided to give up golf and direct his attention to business in the future.

Mr. Reinhart will be greatly missed not only at the Plainfield Country Club, where he was a familiar figure on the course, but at the many amateur tournaments throughout the east, where he has played with such marked success. In the defeat of Walter Travis, the Plainfielder won world-wide distinction and many of the crack players of the country have fallen down before his strong play. For a long time he held the record score at the Plainfield Country Club and at the Baltusrol Golf Club and he was always considered a formidable opponent to the strongest player following the game. He has many records of which he is justly proud and may be considered as one of the best if not the best golfer that has hailed from Plainfield.

When seen yesterday, Mr. Reinhart said: "I have decided to give up the game and devote my time to business. As I cannot do both I think it will be more profitable to attend to business, as one cannot make a living playing golf."

OSHKOSH'S BIG SALE.

Unprecedented Sale of Tickets, Casino Reports.

On Friday and Saturday nights, May 11 and 12, Plainfield will again have a chance to welcome "Oshkosh" and that the welcome will be hearty is proven by the sale of tickets, for already nearly three-quarters of the house, for each night, has been engaged. Such a sale is quite unprecedented, but assurances from "Oshkosh" are in effect that the plans this year promise to out-do all previous efforts in originality, music and dancing. Resulting from these plans an entire new set of scenery has been contracted for and is now being "set up." Over seventy costumes have already been contracted for and will be not only unusually attractive, but also unique. A well known New York professional has charge of all dances, both chorus and individual. Needless to say, music and words are practically original. The voices are well known and consist chiefly of ex-glee club men representing practically all of our Eastern colleges.

A few good seats are left for both performances, particularly Friday night, but attention need only be called to the unusual advance sale to suggest to any one desiring seats the necessity of purchasing without delay, for from present outlook the tickets will all be sold at least a week before the eleventh of May.

Dr. Moldenke Home.

Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, has returned from a western trip as far as San Francisco. He left the ill-fated city three days before the earthquake and fire occurred.

MOTHER OFFERS REWARD

Mrs. Kuenlen Will Give $500 For Her Daughter's Return.

WHETHER DEAD OR NOT

No New Clue To the Girl's Whereabouts—Daniel Norton's Disappearance Is Also a Mystery Still.

Mrs. Marie Kuenlen offered $500 reward for the return of her missing daughter, dead or alive, this morning. he search for the girl has been hopeless so far, and she offers the reward to inject added stimulus in the searchers and spread the knowledge of the case.

There is some ground for the suspicion that the girl is being held by someone in the hope of receiving a reward, and the offer covers that contingency.

No later clue to the girl's whereabouts than was secured yesterday, when her progress eastward was traced to Newark on Monday, has been obtained. Chief Kiely went out on the search personally again this morning, after a consultation with friends of the family who have been directing the hunt.

The reward offered will be printed in the Newark Evening News today and will probably be repeated in New York papers tomorrow.

As hard as the friends of Miss Kuenlen are searching for her, the authorities of the Groszmann school are hunting for Daniel Norton, the 18-year-old atypical youth who disappeared from there several weeks ago. The Norton search has been a hopeless as that for Miss Kuenlen, and the mystery is deeper. While Miss Kuenlen has been seen since her disappearance, no one can be discovered who saw Daniel Norton after he dropped from sight on Somerset street. New circulars, bearing a picture of the youth at work in the manual training room of the school, have been sent out.

MRS. FREEMAN TELLS OF WORK AT ELLIS ISLAND.

Took the Place of Miss Troeck, Kept Away by Illness.

Owing to a severe illness, Miss Troeck, one of the missionaries at Ellis Island, who was to have addressed the Christian Endeavor Society at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, was prevented from being present.

In the absence of Miss Troeck, Mrs. W. H. Freeman took charge of the meeting and related a few facts regarding the work at Ellis Island. An incident of interest was that Easter Sunday is the only day in the year when there is no work done on the island and on Monday, April 16, the day following Easter, 52,000 immigrants arrived at the island. This, according to the New York papers, was a record-breaking crowd for one day. One can imagine the task when it is realized that those in charge of this work examine on an average of about 5,000 immigrants a day. Mrs. Freeman stated that last year over one million immigrants came to this country. In connection with her talk, Mrs. Freeman gave some special readings of the work at the island, which told of the efforts on the part of the various missionaries.

Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the church, also made a few remarks concerning the great need for religious work among those who are constantly arriving here from all the countries of Europe, and he briefly told of the part being taken at Ellis Island by the Baptist missionaries.

As soon as Miss Troeck recovers from her illness, the society hopes to be able to secure her presence at one of the missionary meetings.

San Francisco Pictures Coming.

Almost as soon as the ruins of the San Francisco fire had cooled, moving picture men had secured views and they are to be shown throughout the country at once. Manager Counihan has secured them for the New Plainfield theatre a week from today, matinee and night, and will donate twenty-five per cent of the receipts to the San Francisco relief fund. The pictures will be shown by experienced men and the purchase of a ticket will not only show the extent of the terrible disaster but will also help the sufferers.

Rifle Team Going to Newark.

Company K's rifle team will go to Newark tonight to shoot a match with Company I, First regiment. The Plainfield boys were badly defeated at Jersey City last Saturday night but they have hopes of retrieving themselves tonight.

—Neuman Brothers will inaugurate a special soap sale Monday. They will put on 100 boxes of excellent family laundry soap, each containing 100 cakes, at $3.50 each. Don't miss this opportunity.

MACHINISTS' BALL NETS $300 FOR 'FRISCO

CROWD AT SAENGERBUND HALL ONE OF THE LARGEST IT HAS EVER HELD.

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a ball in Saengerbund hall was present last night when Local No. 167 of the International Ascociation of Machinists conducted one for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. There were fully 1,000 people in attendance and the floor at times was so congested it was almost impossible to dance. Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnished the music and a competent committee looked after the interests of everyone. It is possible that the net receipts for the 'Frisco fund will reach $300.

William Waglow was floor manager and he was assisted by James Scott and John McClelland. The committee proper composed of Andrew McConnell, chairman; James Smith, Charles Backer, Cornelius Laughlin, James McConnell, James Rutledge, Fred Stranzenbach and William Deike.

P. H. S. SHUTS OUT THE JERSEY CITY BOYS

S. FREEMAN OF P.H.S., IN RARE FORM DEFEATS OPPONENTS, 5 TO 0.

The team representing the Jersey City High School visited this city this morning and were defeated at the hands of the Plainfield High School nine by the score of 5-0. The game was played on Crescent Oval.

The local team hit consistently, Douglass distinguishing himself by getting three hits out of four times at bat. Davis and Smith also batted well.

Stuart Freeman was on the slab for the Plainfield High School team and he was in rare form, striking out nine men and allowing only three hits. He was supported suberply by his team-mates, Smith, in right field, and Van Deventer on second base, fielding flawlessly. Jersey City got off two snappy double plays.

The line-up:

P. H. S.		J. C. H. S.
S. Freeman	P	W. Wright
Davis	C	Beggan
Douglass	2b	Wright
Van Deventer	2b	Callahan
Mehaffey	3b	Inglis
H. Freeman	S. S.	Oliver
Harding	L. F.	Klonce
Brakeley	C. F.	Gaffney

Score by innings:

J. C. H. S. . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0
P. H. S. . . 3 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 x—5

Summary—Earned runs, P. H. S., 2; first base on ball, off Freeman, 3; struct out by Freeman, 9; W. Wright 5; left on base, P. H. S., 5; J. C. H. S., 3; double plays, Gregory to C. Wright, Callahan to Oliver; wild pitch, Mehaffey; passed ball, Briggan; first base on error, P. H. S., 1; J. C. H. S., 1; hit by pitcher, Mehaffey. Umpire, Howard Craig. Time of game, 1 hour and 30 minutes.

Looking After American Interests.

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman has returned from Washington, where he went in the interest of the Lawrence Cement Company, of which he is president. There is considerable rivalry for the contract of furnishing cement for the construction work of the Panama Canal, and thus far the foreign manufacturers have appeared to have the advantage. Mr. Ackerman appeared before the Congressional committee having this work in charge, in the interest of the American manufacturers.

Death of Miss Catherine Seward.

Following a brief illness, Miss Catherine Seward, of West Fifth street, died at Muhlenberg hospita. yesterday afternoon. She was an aunt of Miss Mary Cotter, of Plainfield avenue. The funeral will be held at St. Mary's church Monday morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Hospital Visitors.

Mrs. G. H. Frost and Mrs. E. F. Feickert were appointed visitors, and Miss Imogene Bass, purchaser, for the month of May, at the meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, held yesterday. On Friday, May 11, a special meeting will be held to consider carnival plans.

San Francisco Funds.

The fund being raised by The Daily Press for the San Francisco sufferers amounts to $1,629. Mayor Buckle's fund aggregates $2,006, the Niles, Bement Pond Co. having given $100 and Frank Linke $10 since yesterday.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Smalley, who recently came to Plainfield from Lake Waccamaw, N. C., have rented the flat at 46 Lincoln place and will reside there for the summer.

KIRCH ALIVE AND WELL

False Report That Plainfielder Had Jumped Into the River is Groundless.

WIFE GETS A NOTE

Mrs. Kirch Says She Expects to Hear From Her Husband Soon—Is In New York.

Philip Kirch, who closed out his cigar and tobacco store on North avenue by auction Monday, left town Thursday afternoon. His wife says she didn't know he was going, and the first intimation of the departure came to her in a letter which Kirch left on the table in the dining-room of their flat in the Woodhull & Martin building, East Front street. In the letter, Kirch said he was going to look for employment and would let her hear from him when he had found it.

Yesterday afternoon a rumor that Kirch had committed suicide by jumping from a North River ferryboat was all over the city. Relatives and friends of the young man went to New York last night to investigate the story and could find no basis for it. It was learned this morning that Kirch was alive and well in New York.

It was known about town that the sale of Kirch's store had been practically forced and that he was despondent over the collapse of his business, and this knowledge, in connection with his absence from town, probably gave rise to the rumor.

Mrs. Kirch said this morning that she expected to hear from her husband soon. She was worried over the suicide rumor and correspondingly relieved to learn that it was untrue.

Kirch has a young son by a previous marriage. In the letter to his wife he instructed her to give the boy into the care of Mrs. Samuel Boss. The letter gave directions as to the disposition of their furniture.

COAL SUPPLIES AT THE HAMPTON YARDS.

Mountain of Lump Anthracite Being Reduced to Commercial Sizes By New Breakers.

Hampton Junction, April 28.—The Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company has increased the wages of its employes at the coal storage yard here from ten to fifteen per cent. and has installed and put in operation a large coal breaker and is now in a position to furnish any size coal desired. The employes whose wages have been increased are the car runners and reloaders. The former class of employes have been increased from $1.60 per day of ten hours to $1.75 and the latter from $1.50 to $1.60. There is a large force of men at work on the coal banks, and, although some 60,000 tons of coal have been taken from here since the mines shut down, the missing quantity is hardly noticeable in the mountain-like heaps that remain and in which there is enough coal to supply the trade for at least ten months longer.

With the breaker in operation the coal company is now crushing lump coal into smaller sizes and in this way from the large supply of lump on hand it will be able to replenish the stock of smaller size coal as fast as it is carted away. The loading of lump coal at the mines last winter, consigned to Hampton storage yard, was a puzzle to the miners and railroad men, who could not understand why such large quantities of lump coal were being shipped to a storage plant where coal of commercial sizes is always shipped, but the construction of the breaker, which was put in operation today, indicates how well the mine operators have laid their plans for a long struggle with the striking miners. George B. Heilner, the coal company's agent in New York, and several other officials of the company were present when the breaker was put in operation at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Inevitable Careless Smoker.

A customer who bought a cigar at Miller's drug store on Park avenue last night, lighted the weed and carelessly threw the match directly into a show window filled with paper and inflammable decorations. A blaze followed and a serious fire was prevented by quick action on the part of employees in securing vichy bottles to kill the flames.

Sixty-Pound Striped Bass.

A tsriped bass that breaks the record for that kind of fish in this city was sold today by marketman Fred Ivamy, of West Second street, to Jerome Leary, of the Hotel Iroquois. It is a sixty pounder, caught in the Hudson river. Mr. Leary will have it served in his cafe this afternoon.

The Men's Club, of the First Baptist church, will meet on Monday night, May 14. An attractive programme is being prepared.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS OF MRS. DAY

AGED MOTHER OF NEW MARKET POSTMASTER SUCCUMBS TO GANGRENE.

After a long illness, Mrs. Stanley Day, of New Market, mother of Postmaster Charles Day, of New Market, and of George W. Day, editor and proprietor of the Dunellen Call, died last night shortly after eight o'clock. She was over seventy years old.

Mrs. Day's death was caused by general debility resulting from a persistent and peculiarly malignant attack of gangrene in her foot. The member was affected months ago. Operation after operation was performed, but the disease continued and the patient's great age prevented her from rallying from the effects of the malady properly. The end was indicated weeks ago and the death did not come as an unexpected shock.

Mrs. Day, with her husband, who survives her, had lived in New Market and vicinity for the past twenty-five years. They came to this section from Canada, to where they had returned after a previous residence in New Market. Four sons and three daughters are living—George W., Charles, James, Stanley, Jr., Miss Irene and Mrs. Frank Van Nuis, all living in New Market or Dunellen. A married daughter lives in Canada.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon.

JERSEY BANKERS END CONVENTION

SECRETARIES TAFT AND BONAPARTE AMONG THE DISTINGUISED GUESTS.

Atlantic City, April 28.—Secretary of War William Taft and Secretary of the Navy Charles Bonaparte were distinguished speakers at the banquet of the New Jersey Bankers' Association last night at Hotel Chelsea, in which the members of the National Municipal League, who ended their convention yesterday afternoon, joined.

Governor Edward C. Stokes, of New Jersey, and United States Senator Dryden were among the speakers who addressed the gathering of 300 people in the great banquet hall of the hotel.

Early in the afternoon President Carlton Godfrey, of Atlantic City, called the third annual session to order. Rev. Herbert Gessnes, of this city, invoked a blessing and Mayor Stoy welcomed the "wealth of the State" and extended to them the resort's freedom.

An address, brief and pointed, which received applause, was made by Prof. George E. Allen, of New York University.

Mrs. F. M. Ward Resigns.

Mrs. Ferdinand Ward, the contralto soloist at the First Baptist church, will sing at the church tomorrow for the last time, and on Monday she with her family will move to New York. It will be ten years tomorrow since Mrs. Ward first sang in the church and her solo work has been very satisfactory. She and Mrs. Luella C. Harris, the soprano soloist, of Elizabeth, became members of the choir at the same time. A new contralto soloist will take Mrs. Ward's place beginning Sunday, May 6.

Letter-carrier Glaentzer Hurt.

Letter-carrier Charles Glaentzer, of New street, was painfully hurt yesterday afternoon by the breaking of sidewalk skylight in front of Harry Werner's place on West Front street. When directly on a glass covering it collapsed, letting him through to the coal cellar. He was painfully cut and bruised and with difficulty made his way to the street again. He was assisted home and will be confined there at least two weeks. His route will becovered by Substitute George Keen.

His First Arrest.

Patrolman McDonald, a new cop, made his first arrest last night, on West Front street. He picked up Harvey Sturtevant, colored, as a suspicious character. Sturtevant was loitering about the street and couldn't give an account of himself that was satisfactory. There was nothing against him this morning when court opened, and Judge Runyon released him.

Mrs. Kurtz Safe.

Mrs. Louise Kurtz, a sister of the late Charles Dencklau, of Fairview avenue, who was in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake, has been heard from. She is safe, but her home was destroyed.

Grace's Church Fair Postponed.

On account of the critical illness of Mrs. E. M. Rodman, the fair which was to have been held in the parish house of Grace church on May 1 and 2, in indefinitely postponed.

TUTTLE FOR CHAIRMAN

He May Succeed John Moody at Head of Democratic Committee.

OTHERS AFTER THE JOB

A Half Dozen Or So Are Mentioned for the Honor, But Westfielder's in Lead.

Every effort is being made here to induce William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, to accept the nomination for the Democratic County Chairmanship. He is looked upon as the logical successor to John Moody, of Cranford, who resigned, when the County Committee refused to accept his ideas for the reformation of the Democratic party upon radical theories. At the next regular meeting of the committee, which will be held Friday evening, May 4, at the Democratic headquarters, in Elizabeth, a successor to Mr. Moody will probably be named.

Tuttle wanted to resign from the committee at the March meeting. The reason for his offering to retire from the committee was because he was not in accord with Mr. Moody's views. In a letter to Mr. Moody, who is a personal friend of Mr. Tuttle, the latter said: "The reason for withdrawing from the County Committee is because I cannot conscientiously support your views for the reformation of the party in their entirety and, after mature thought upon the matter, I am of the opinion that I can best serve my party in the county by withdrawing from the committee rather than be mistaken as an obstructionist in the work you have undertaken."

His resignation was laid upon the table. In the meantime Mr. Moody resigned, when he found he was not being given the support he believed he could count upon, and at the next meeting Mr. Tuttle will be asked to reconsider his action, and it is believed that he will be prevailed upon not only to remain a member of the committee, but also to accept the nomination for the chairmanship.

Mr. Tuttle will not, however, accept the nomination unless it is unanimous. John L. Crowell, of Rahway, the predecessor of Mr. Moody in that office, would like to have the position again, and it is understood that Col. Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, is also being considered. George A. Ford, former president of the City Council of Elizabeth, has also been asked if he would accept the position. He has not yet made his intentions known in this particular.

Judge Owen P. Mahon, of Elizabeth, is now acting in the capacity of County Chairman, which duties were thrust upon him as first vice chairman of the committee. He is not desirous, it is understood, of being the chairman of the County Committee this year.

Tuttle is an organizer. He is a man of considerable executive ability, and the opposition which he has at the present time is not looked upon as being really serious. The situation, in a few words, is, he can have it if he wants it.

GAVE WRONG NAME AND FORGOT RECORD.

Poor Memory and His Bad Temper Cost William Munn $3 In Court.

William Munn, a Scotchman with a bad temper and a bad memory, paid $3 in the city court this morning on account of them. Patrolman Overbaugh found Munn asleep on the Hotel Iroquois porch early yesterday afternoon and started him moving. Later in the afternoon Overbaugh saw some small boys trying to pull a handkerchief from Munn's pocket and called to the youngsters.

Munn, who had drink enough in him to make him pugnacious, thought the officer was calling to him and turned back to tell Overbaugh what he thought of cops in general and Overbaugh in particular. The policeman listened to him until he was tired and then placed him under arrest.

At headquarters Munn forgot his real name and had himself entered up as William Murray. In court this morning, Munn's poor memory led him to answer no when Judge Runyon asked him if he had ever been in court before.

"He's been here before," said Chief Kiely.

"His right name is Munn, not Murray," said Overbaugh.

"I think about $3 is what we want from you," said the magistrate to Munn. He paid.

GOV. STOKES TALKS OF EXTRA SESSION

DOES NOT FEAR COLBYITES WILL TRY TO EMBARRASS REGULAR REPUBLICANS

Trenton, April 28.—Gov. Stokes deos not agree with those who find cause for fear because of possible developments during the extra session of the Legislature, which is to be held in September for the purpose of settling the Passaic River pollution. Reports have been published that the Colby reformers will take advantage of the session to inject matters which would embarass the Republican party at the primaries, which will then be close at hand.

When asked yesterday about the extra session, Gov. Stokes said:

"I know of no anxiety on any one's part because of the extra session for the purpose of adjusting the pollution problem. I presume that when the conditions of the agreement between Newark and Paterson have been fulfilled they will unite in a request for an extra session for the purpose of legislating on this important and long-standing question.

"It was the understanding in the conference that the legislators should be called for this purpose only, and while the Legislature has entire control over its own actions, I have not the slightest doubt that the spirit of the agreement will be kept. However, this is not material, as the State is in no danger when the people's representatives are in council."

"THE FREE LANCE" A HIT.

Klaw & Erlanger's New Sousa Opera Co. Makes Sensation.

Klaw & Erlanger's Sousa Opera Company, headed by the clever comedian Joseph Cawthorn, presented the new military comic opera, "The Free Lance," by John Philip Sousa and Harry B. Smith, at the New Amsterdam theatre last Monday evening and created a sensation, scoring the most pronounced and emphatic hit made in New York in many years by a production of this character. The following are opinions expressed by the metropolitan critics:

World—"'The Free Lance' is an amusing opera, well mounted and carefully rehearsed."

Daily News—"There are stirring marches and pretty melodies as few can write like the 'March King.'"

Herald—"'The Free Lance' is real comic opera, tuneful and humorous, without the slapstick methods too familiar to Broadway."

Times—"The lines of 'The Free Lance' are full of chuckles, the costumes are pretty, the music has the characteristic Sousa touch and go—and something more."

Evening Telegram—"The story is more closely knit than has been the fashion of late years in stage concoctions of this sort. It is prettily staged, well sung and well acted."

Evening Globe—"The lines are really funny. Harry B. Smith has not written so good a book in years, if ever, and the foolery of Cawthorn will make many merry for many moons to come."

Sun—"The house was crowded and the audience, which was most friendly, was enthusiastic in its reception of the players, recalling many of them several times and insisting upon a speech by the composer himself."

Commercial—"There was more in the piece than the triumvirate of comic opera virtues. The first act is one of the nearest approaches to real opera we have had this season and the second is full of genuine fun."

Evening Mail—"'The Free Lance' wins at the New Amsterdam theatre. * * * 'On to Victory' is not the only effective number Sousa has introduced in this work. He displays a versatility in composition not noticed in any of his previous outputs."

The Frank A. Robbins Co. Shows.

The big railroad aggregation of all new great features shows, announced to pitch its city of tents in this city on Saturday, May 5, promises, in its "Tribunal Of Nations," to introduce a pageant novelty of notable historic and spectacular splendor and interest. On a number of great ornate floats, drawn by sextuple blue ribbon teams of splendid thoroughbreds, are introduced representations of the most famous conquerors and kings of ancient and modern times, each living substitute in form, feature and costume being respectively a wonderfully accurate double of his or her prototype. The show will exhibit on the grounds at the end of Arlington avenue on Randolph road.

Preparing to Open Fresh Air Home.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

Improvements on the Methodist parsonage are being planned. The Ladies' Aid Society is interesting itself in the plan to make the house more comfortable and modern. Study, kitchen, and bath room additions are badly needed at the house, and there is a chance that they will be built in the near future.

Fred Lang, who murdered Kate Gordon at Dunham's corner last week, has been indicted by the grand jury. The search for him is still being prosecuted vigorously, but with lessening hope. It is feared he has made his way to some port and escaped aboard ship. He can talk English well.

The New Marketers at Ocean Park, California, W. T. Davis, Charles H. Ward and Fred Ward, have not been injured in the earthquake. There was a shock there a few days after the big 'Frisco 'quake, but no damage was done. The shock of the first day did not affect Ocean Park.

William Dealaman is arranging with Robert Fitzsimmons to supply groceries to his training camp should he establish it here. Mr. Dealaman is working to secure the option on the contract to supply the sanitarium if it is established.

Miss Carrie Blue's household goods have all been moved to Dunellen, where she has taken rooms in Mrs. Eugene Runyon's house.

Miss Lillian Fisher is spending several days with her grandmother, Mrs. Susan Ramsay, of Lebanon.

William Menthorn, of New York, has returned home after a stay with his aunt, Mrs. Emma De Long.

Thomas Bogue, of New York, has returned home after a visit to his mother, Mrs. L. Bogue.

The Easter programme of the Presbyterian church will be repeated tomorrow night.

A reception to Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Dutcher is being planned by the congregation.

The Young People's Club of Piscataway will hold a social meeting tonight.

Sidney Craig has been confined to his home for several days with a cold.

Dr. Brakeley has been ill for several days with asthma.

Miss Grace Wyckoff, of Fritz place, is recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Arbor Day exercises were held yesterday by the pupils at the public school. A pleasing programme of recitations and songs was enjoyed by the pupils and a number of their friends.

Services tomorrow at the Baptist church will be: Sunday-schoool, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15; followed by the evening preaching service, 8 o'clock.

"Willie" Deegan starts the ball a rolling here for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers by announcing a benefit dance to be held Saturday night, May 12, in the pavilion.

Jacob Coles, who has been detained at home for two weeks with a severe attack of the grip, has returned to his position with the Walter Scott Co., of Plainfield.

The work of laying the gas main on Front street is progressing favorably. It is expected that the work will be finished on this street in about ten days.

Miss Evelyn Buckley, of South avenue, is visiting her aunt, Miss Susie Parse, of East Front street.

Rev. A. H. Cook will lead the prayer and praise meeting tonight at the Methodist church.

A meeting of the Township Committee was held last night in the town rooms.

Just one more week and the local season for the National game will open.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

There is no abatement in the popularity of "Charley's Aunt" at the Manhattan theatre, New York. In fact, as the run extends, this highly amusing comedy by Brandon Thomas seems to increase in vogue. The audiences that now enjoy it are as large and enthusiastic as those that originally greeted it years ago, conclusively showing that time has had no effect to age the play or affect its appeal. "Charley's Aunt," in short, is as bright and catching as ever, and its complications enforce hilarious merriment. It stands as a model for plays of its sort, and more than successfully disputes popularity with the best of its class that have been made known since it was first seen here. In fact, many a comedy that has been produced since "Charley's Aunt" was first seen in New York has been put forward to great popularity and with every promise of long life; yet most of these are now forgotten, while the Thomas play is as effective as ever, and shows not the least sign that it will ever disappear wholly from the boards. It must be admitted, however, that much of the success of this play has been due to the fine work as a comedian of Etienne Girardot, who originally here played the part of Lord Fancourt Babberly and still delights in it. Mr. Girardot's art finds full scope in this role, and it is not to be wondered at that he pleases in it as of old. The supporting company is a capital one, and every possibility of the play is developed at the Manhattan. But one matinee a week of "Charley's Aunt" is given—on Saturday.

The Union Bible Class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

A PLAINFIELD CASE.

Many More Like It In Plainfield.

The following is but one of many similar occurring daily in Plainfield. It is an easy mater to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such conclusive evidence.

Mrs. Julia Hynes, of 523 Sixth St., Plainfield, N. J., says: "For nearly a year I was suffering with a severe pain in the loins, or what is generally called backache. I was also afflicted with a stiffness or lameness of the limbs and the kidney secretions were highly colored and contained some sediment. Any remedies that I took to clear up the kidney secretions and rid me of my aches and pains did me apparently no good or benefit. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills doing so much for people suffering as I was, and began using them, getting a supply at Randolph's drug store. Though at first I saw no change in my condition, I soon began to have less pain in my back and my limbs were not stiff any more. I kept right on with the pills and took them several months, with the result that they cured me of my trouble and I am glad to endorse them."

OUR NATIONAL DISEASE

"NERVOUS PROSTRATION"

MUST WE PAY THE DREADFUL PENALTY OF OUR STRENUOUS LIFE?

More than 35 years ago Dr. George M. Beard, an eminent physician of New York city, described the disease which is now universally known as Neurasthenia, Nervous Exhaustion and Nervous Prostration.

Since that time, some of the greatest American specialists have devoted their lives to the fight against this terrible disease, recognizing that our American life offers the most fertile soil in which the causes that produce Neurasthenia can flourish and multiply.

The feverish competition in all departments of life, which is the outgrowth of the struggle in the industrial world, has infected all with the frenzy of unrest. The "strenuous life" makes us overwork, overeat, and overtax our physical and nervous resources. The inevitable result is the destruction of the harmony and nerve-balance of our human system.

The popular crusade against alcoholic "patent medicines" may be easily understood when it is realized that the vast majority of such medicines, sold as "tonics," contain alcohol or opiates in such quantity as to make them extremely dangerous to health. It is undeniably true that every year thousands of people are developing through this means into confirmed alcoholics and drug addicts.

You cannot shock your nerves into steadiness by the excessive use of alcohol, whether taken as a beverage or a "medicine," any more than you can regulate the delicate mechanism of a watch by striking it with a hammer. In the case of the watch the result of such a blow would be the complete wreck of its intricate mechanism. In the case of the human system the stimulation caused by the alcohol is invariably followed by depression much greater than before. This explains the enormous consumption of these alcoholic "remedies," the poor sufferer requiring to be continually dosed with them to provide artificial stimulation of the nervous system. Any sane person can readily realize the inevitable penalty which nature will exact for this defiance of her natural laws.

FROM NEW YORK HERALD
March 25, 1906.

"We Americans do not move by steps, but by flights. If we accept anything at all it must be wholly ours, even if it be a disease. Probably no other disease on record has received such a degree of attention from the laity as has Neurasthenia, our national disease.

"Work, worry and excesses are in a measure the immediate causes of Neurasthenia, and these form a trio which few constitutions are able to resist. Neurasthenia is no respector of sex, age or class.

"It is necessary for the individual, in order that he may withstand the strain to fortify his vital resistance and nervous equilibrium. This lesson is usually learned late in life—that is, after the break has occurred, after the symptoms of Neurasthenia have developed and a physician has been called in to restore order out of the chaos that has ensued."

To provide a safe, reconstructive, non-alcoholic nerve-builder and restorer, the Oppenheimer Tonic was created by one of our most famous nerve specialists. As a corrective nerve tonic for nervous men and women, it has no equal on earth. It is perfectly safe to take,—no opiates, no narcotics enter into its composition. It will not make you a drunkard or a "dope fiend," it will not paralyze your nerves, but it will bring rest and peace by restoring the normal nerve balance as nature would restore it.

The conditions under which Americans live produce extreme nervousness. Even if you could remove the cause by a long "rest-cure" under ideal conditions in some far-away resort or wilderness, you would still need the healthful tonic properties of such a remedy as Oppenheimer Tonic. How much more is such a remedy needed by the poor nerve-racked man or woman who cannot afford to stop the strenuous pace?

The earliest danger signals of Neurasthenia are nervous irritation, fagged brain, headache, backaches, nervous indigestion, loss of weight, general evidences of lack of nutrition, chronic insomnia, vague depression and loss of memory. The certain ultimate results are a lifetime of nervous misery, accompanied by loss of mental and intellectual power.

The first thing you will notice after taking Oppenheimer Tonic will be a wonderful improvement in the appetite. The circulation will be healthfully accelerated, which will tend to remove any liver or kidney complaint. The nerves will be restfully soothed, nervous twitchings will soon cease, a feeling of cheerfulness and encouragement will supersede the old nervous apprehension. All this will be the result of the re-establishment of the nervous poise. The ultimate removal of the causes (which, if neglected, would surely lead to nervous prostration) will certainly be accomplished by the continued use of Oppenheimer Tonic.

Many preparations for various nervous ailments have been placed upon the market, but it may be stated upon the testimony of some of the greatest medical authorities in the world that no other remedy for nervousness and preventative of nervous prostration has ever been so successful in its purpose as has Oppenheimer Tonic, which probably costs more to prepare than any other preparation ever sold at $1 per bottle.

The only druggist in Plainfield who sells Oppenheimer Tonic is L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front street.

The Oppenheimer Institute, 159 West Thirty-fourth street, New York, will forward Oppenheimer Tonic, prepaid, on receipt of $1.

A booklet on "Nervousness" is free for the asking. Write for it today.

By Tom Muir.

The season at the New Plainfield is to close a week from tonight when "New England Folks" will be presented. Manager Counihan has arranged for some special features to mark the event, among them the presence of the Plainfield baseball team in a body. During the coming week there will be but two or three attractions, the principal one being Edward Harrigan in his big revival of "Old Lavender," which will be seen Friday night.

C. B. Sorensen, manager for Arthur Pryor's big band, renewed old acquaintances in the city yesterday. He has just completed arrangements for the appearance of Pryor at Willow Grove, Philadelphia, for three weeks, after which the band goes to Asbury Park for the summer.

Lewis Morrison, who is to be at the New Plainfield this afternoon and tonight, is to retire from the stage at the close of the present season. He will devote his time to rest and recreation on his estate in southern California.

It is a fact worthy of note that theatrical folk have been among the largest contributors to the San Francisco relief fund and benefits are still being held to swell the amounts already given. Actors and actresses have given their services freely in thousands of cases and some have resorted to unique methods to secure the dollars. In Paterson this afternoon, the chorus girls of a musical comedy are to sell newspapers on the streets and they have already secured so many orders extra additions will have to be printed.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Sir Henry Irving's production of "Faust" was considered the acme of stage realism until Lewis Morrison decided to return to the stage in his creation of Mephisto with a production that surpasses all previous efforts. British electricians are not as skilled, nor are scenic artists in the race with our New York artists like Armbruster and Seavey. Morrison put out money freely and the result can be seen at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight with Lewis Morrison himself as Mephisto. The production has called forth approval and admiration from the most prominent critics of the country.

Rehearsal of "On Change."

At a meeting of the board of governors of the Park Club and the officers of the Comedy Club, final details were arranged for the amateur production of "On Change" at the Park Club house, next Friday night. Augustus Van Deventer was appointed business manager and Charles Dupee was appointed chief usher. Reports as to the sale of tickets showed a lively interest among club members while many not connected with the organization have already reserved their seats. A full rehearsal was held in the club hall, last evening, and another will follow tonight.

Eruption of Mt. Pelee.

Colored views, moving pictures, violin solos and recitations will be the programme provided at the Y. M. C. A. hall this evening. A silver offering will be received.

ANNIE OAKLEY
THE WORLD'S GREATEST LADY RIFLE SHOT USES AND RECOMMENDS

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Original Remedy that "kills the dandruff germ."

Travelling as I do continuously, I have been troubled a great deal with dandruff and falling hair, and until I tried Herpicide I never found a remedy that was satisfactory.
"Herpicide is a delightful preparation that fulfills the claims made for it, and no lady's toilet is complete without it. I highly recommend it to my friends.
(Signed) Annie Oakley."

It is certainly significant that Miss Oakley, the celebrated rifle shot and theatrical star, who has travelled so extensively abroad, should choose Newbro's Herpicide as the most efficacious toilet remedy for the scalp. No one will doubt her opportunity to choose the best and those who have seen the natty and winsome Miss Oakey, will not doubt her power of discrimination in matters of this sort.
Newbro's Herpicide is a scientific germicide and prophylactic for the hair and scalp, it destroys the germ or microbe that causes dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, after which the hair will grow as nature intended. Extraordinary results follow the use of Newbro's Herpicide.
If your hair is dull, brittle or lustreless, don't wait until it begins to fall, but save it with Newbro's Herpicide. In addition to its wonderful medicinal qualities, Newbro's Herpicide is the daintiest and most delightfully refreshing hair dressing available. The first application proves its goodness. Try it.

Herpicide contains no grease, it will not stain nor dye.
STOPS ITCHING OF THE SCALP INSTANTLY.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The house committee of the Plainfield Country Club has arranged to have the restaurant at the clubhouse opened today. Announcements as to music and dances will be made later. Applications for bedrooms may be made to the house clerk. After May 15 the secretary will have his office at the clubhouse during the summer, and members are requested to communicate with him there.

Although the Park Golf Club has not yet issued its annual schedule of events it is expected that there will be play on the course today. The links are in good condition and for the present there will be general play.

Three more of the New Jersey clubs will begin their competitions today—the Cranford Golf Club, Canoe Brook Country Club of Summit and the Montclair Golf Club, where, while the opening handicap is on, the team will engage in a match with the Princeton University team.

Wednesday, May 16, has been selected for the tournament of the New York advertising men held annually at the Montclair Golf Club. The morning will be an eighteen hole medal play handicap, for five prizes, and the afternoon's play will be a best ball foursome handicap, with prizes for the two best teams.

There will be two eighteen hole courses at Pinehurst next season, one of which will be reserved for tournament play. A new plan may be adopted in the Pinehurst qualifying rounds to do away with the mixups that so often happen by which a crack off his game in the score round brings up in a cup set that is a virtual walkover for him. The entrants will be grouped into sets on their club handicaps before the qualifying play. They will know before starting which cup set they are aiming to qualify for, and failing to make it they will drop out of the tournament instead of being relegated into a lower cup set, a whale among minnows and a drawback to the best sort of golfing.

How to fairly handicap a best ball foursome medal play handicap has puzzled more than one tournament committee, but now the system devised by Howard F. Whitney, of Nassau, seems to open a path out of the woods. Today there will be such a handicap at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club for cups presented by J. G. Dettmer, and F. J. Phillips will use the Whitney formula. It is to add together the medal play ratings of the two players in each team, divide the total by two and deduct from the quotient one-third of the difference between the medal play handicaps of the two players. For instance, if A has thirteen and B ten the handicaps total of twenty-three when divided gives eleven and one-half. The one-third difference between the two ratings is one stroke, which deducted makes the handicap of the pair ten and one-half. Those interested may watch the returns at Dyker Meadow today to note the practical workings of the formula.

TENNIS.

The first event in tennis at the Plainfield Country Club will be on Saturday afternoon, May 5, at 3 o'clock, when there will be men's doubles.

The Park Club intends to revive tennis this season and there will be an attactive programme. Matches will also be arranged with other nearby clubs.

"Penn" Relay Games Today.

Philadelphia, April 28—More than twelve hundred athletes, ranging from the slender armed hopeful of the grammar school to the pick and pride of every big college east of the Mississippi, gathered on the oval of Franklin Field yesterday to run in the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival. This will be the twelfth renewal of the games. This year there will be two hundred relay teams entered. This means four runners and a substitute to each team, and consequently an entry list of one thousand athletes for these races alone. But in addition there is a full list of entries below the relay distances, and in the two dashes, the hurdles, the jumps, the pole vault and the weight contests there are more than two hundred entries. The probabilities are for clear, bright weather.

SENATOR ACKERMAN.

The Newark Evening News wants to know just where Senator Ackerman stands. Its doubts as to his position politically have arisen because of some of his recent actions. Incidentally the News says:

"Senator Ackerman is not a pronounced Colby reform man. It was announced at the opening of the last Legislature that he would be found aligned with the Colby contingent, but his record in this respect has been disappointing. His present attitude toward the Republican organizations may mean that he has heard from his constituents in Plainfield since the Legislature adjourned, for Plainfield has, in the past few months pendulated from a boss-ridden, machine-regulated city to a perfect hotbed of Colbyism.

"The situation in Union county is decidedly mixed. There is a report to the effect that there will be only Colbyites in Union county in a short time, for the organizations are considering the scheme of indorsing him and his principles, thus putting the whole party on a reform plane and eliminating all schism. How far Senator Ackerman is cognizant of and involved in this scheme remains to be seen."

The thing that puzzles the News the most is the independence of the Senator in naming the new county board of taxes, but it must know that an office-holder does not necessarily have to be a Colbyite to be faithful in his trust.

"Presidential possibilities" are again ripe. Woodrow Wilson has been "mentioned" as a Democratic choice and on the other side of the fence along comes the boom of Philander C. Knox. Next!

What's the game of Fowler and Voorhees, anyway?

CRANFORD TO FEAST C. R. R.'S OFFICIALS.

Decorators Busy at Opera House—Mazzetti Will Serve the 140 Guests.

Cranford, April 28.—All arrangements for the banquet to be tendered the officials of the Central Railroad by the citizens of Cranford in the Opera House auditorium were completed by the committee last night, and the affair tonight promises to eclipse anything of the kind ever held in this section of the State.

Decorators have been busy for several days preparing the large hall, which will be transformed into a scene of beauty. One hundred and forty men will sit down to an elaborate dinner to be served by Mazzetti, of New York, and while the good things are being disposed of music will be rendered by professionals from New York city.

Thomas A. Sperry, chairman of the citizens committee of twenty-six, will act as toastmaster. The set speeches will be delivered by Hon. Foster M. Voorhees, Hon. Frank Bergen, Hon. Charles N. Fowler, W. G. Besler, W. G. Coxe, Mayor Horton and the Rev. Dr. Greene. Others will respond to toasts arranged for the occasion.

The new station of the Central railroad will be formally opened for service during the evening. The interior will be appropriately decorated with potted plants and flags, and the exterior by hundreds of railroad lanterns.

Miss Elizabeth Martin Honored.

Miss Elizabeth R. Martin, daughter of Horace J. Martin, of Watchung avenue, has been elected president of the class of '06 of the Krouse-Bolte Seminary for kindergarteners at Seventy-fourth street and Central Park West, New York. Miss Martin has been studying at the seminary for the past two years and the honor was conferred upon her because of her popularity.

PLAN TEST OF THE NEW ASSEMBLY BILL

HIGHEST COURT TO PASS UPON TWE REDISTRICTING BILL.

Trenton, April 28.—The Assembly redistricting bill passed by the last Legislature is soon to be tested in the courts of the State as was the intention of the Republican leaders at the time of its enactment. A similar bill was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, a few years ago, but it is believed that this decision would have been reversed had the case been carried to the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The enactment of a law of this kind is much desired by the people of the State and every effort will be made to secure an early decision on the subject.

The present plan is for some of the State leaders to make application to a county clerk, probably to Chas. Harry Baker, of Mercer, for the performance of some of the minor duties specified in the act. This will be refused by the clerk on the plea that the new law is unconstitutional. Mandamus proceedings will then be instituted in the Supreme Court and the Court will be asked for a pro forma decision.

The next step will be the taking out of a writ of error and the placing of the case on the June list of the Court of Errors and Appeals. Counsel will ask for a speedy decision on the ground that a vital question is at issue. It will then be up to the Court to say whether it will grant the request for a quick determination of the matter.

DRY SUNDAYS SURE AFTER 4TH OF JULY.

Liquor Dealers Plan to Strictly Observe New Law After It Goes Into Effect.

Jersey City, April 28.—As soon as the new excise law goes into effect in July it will be tested as to its constitutionality in the courts, by the State Brewers' Association and the State Liquor Dealers' Association. Counselor Richard V. Lindabury, of Newark, will look out for the interests of the brewers and ex-State Senator Robert S. Hudspeth will represent the State Liquor Dealers' Association. In the meantime saloon keepers all over the state are falling into line with the idea of the Hudson County Liquor Dealers' Association, to live so strictly up to the letter of the new law as to leave popular sentiment to decide whether or not it should be retained on the statute books.

It is the impression among local saloon keepers, at least, that the law in its more drastic clauses will prove obnoxious to the majority of the people whose cosmopolitan ideas of a "liberal" Sunday are at variance with the "dry" Sunday regulations.

The first "dry" Sunday is scheduled for July 8, and the Jersey City saloon keepers are pretty well united in the opinion that as far as they are concerned it will be dry "indeed."

The Mosquito Obtains a Respite.

There will not be so much warfare against the mosquito this season as planned. The New Jersey State Conference Committee on Mosquito Extermination were especially delighted when they learned that the Governor had signed the bill providing for an annual appropriation not to exceed $70,000 for the work, but the realization that the funds would not be available until next November somewhat dampened the committee's ardor. It is the intention, however, to keep busy in perfecting plans for the rapid prosecution of the work when the first allowance of funds is procurable so that when a new start is made the results at the end of the season may be such as to show clearly that the pest may be entirely disposed of by the methods suggested.

Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, are visiting their son, Hugh Pierce, of Myrtle avenue.

Hughes Fawcett and family, of Rockview avenue, have planned to spend the summer in Ireland. They will sail next month.

Moth Dislike

"Cedar Mothaline" and "Lavender Mothaline."

FRENCH WARSHIPS ARE DUE TO ARRIVE.

Elaborate Entertainment to Greet Admiral Campion and His Cruisers.

The French fleet, under Admiral Campion, which participated in the ceremonies incident to the interment of the body of John Paul Jones, at Annapolis, will anchor in the North River today and will be entertained by the local naval authorities and by leading French citizens.

Admiral Campion's ships are the armored cruisers Marsiellaise, Aube and Conde. They will anchor above Fifty-fourth street, just below the anchorage of the armored cruiser division of the North Atlantic fleet, consisting of the cruisers West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania and Colorado, in command of Rear-Admiral Willard H. Bronson.

Admiral Bronson will entertain his colleagues and a reception will be tendered to them by Admiral Coughlin at the Navy Yard. The French Consul will also give a banquet in their honor and Mayor McClellan will receive the Admiral and his staff. Admiral Campion will return the hospitalities extended him on board his flagship the Marseillais.

IDOLATRY BETTER THAN NO RELIGION AT ALL.

Bishop Moore Says Anthing That Causes a Man to Pray Is Good for Him.

Vinal Haven, Me., April 28.—Bishop David H. Moore, of Orogeon, in an address at the East Maine Methodist Conference here yesterday, said: "Idolatry is better than no religion. Anything that causes a man to recognize and pray to some power outside of himself is better than no religion at all."

Bishop Moore was speaking before the Woman's Missionary Society. He also said: "The Chinaman is the coming Colossus. He looms on the horizon like a giant."

NEW AUTO RECORD.

Hart Drives Seventy Miles in Hour and Thirty-two Minutes.

Rochester, N. Y., April 28.—A. Verno Hart, of Buffalo, drove an automobile from Buffalo to this city in an hour and thirty-two minutes, breaking all records over the course. The distance is seventy miles.

The time is about eleven minutes slower than that made by fast trains on the New York Central Railroad.

Prince Won't Fish.

Halifax, N. S., April 28.—Prince Arthur of Connaugh, nephew of King Edward, arrived here yesterday on a special train from Toronto and was given a generous welcome. The prince has declined to leave Halifax tomorrow on a salmon fishing excursion, as planned, the Lord's Day Alliance having protested against a train being run on Sunday.

Approaching Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Christopher Kieb, of Fanwood, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ruby Gilbert Kieb, and Laurens Hardy Van Buren, of this city. The ceremony will take place at Grace church, Saturday evening, May 12, at 7:30 o'clock.

Bulkhead Work at Long Branch.

Long Branch, April 28.—The work of driving piling for the new bulkhead along the ocean front begun in earnest today. The contractors, George W. Rogers & Co., will first finish the job in front of the city property and will then work in both directions. Dean, Schwiers & Sutton Co., the boardwalk contractors, will begin laying the boardwalk within two weeks. Deeds for the ocean front are coming in and the indications are that few of the properties will have to be taken by condemnation proceedings.

Aged Shoemaker Dies Suddenly.

Long Branch, April 28.—William Schultz, for forty-six years a shoemaker, was found dead in the kitchen of his home Thursday. He was sixty-four years old Thursday and spent the day at the beach, returning home early in the afternoon, not feeling well. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Schultz was a member of the Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias and the Rebekahs. He leaves a widow and two sons. Mr. Schultz was the oldest shoemaker in the city.

Probably No. N. E. A. Convention.

Asbury Park, April 28.—In response to the invitation extended by President B. A. Tusting, of the Asbury Park Convention Bureau, to the National Educational Association, soliciting the annual convention for Asbury Park in July, as the San Francisco disaster makes it impossible to hold the convention there, as proposed, the following telegram has been received from Secretary Irvin Shepherd: "Probably no meeting this year."

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Ten Eyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are taking orders and promptly delivering coal at lowest market prices.

When you want to know anything about insurance consult Harry G. Adams. He also sells a superior grade of cigars at low prices.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, has been making extensive improvements in his store, installing handsome new showcases which will allow a fine display of his goods.

Dudley Miller, the Park avenue druggist, is having a large sale of moth balls and camphor. There is nothing better to keep out insects and other undesirable creeping things.

When you place your earnings in the Dime Savings Institution you can rest assured that they are safe and besides are drawing liberal interest. This banking institution is conducted along the most approved lines.

S. Scheuer & Co., the West Front street grocers, are selling staple and fancy goods at the lowest market prices. A selection from such a large stock is easy and the goods will surely please you. A full line of vegetables and fruits always to be had. The meat market is one of the best in the city.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Charles Belknap has taken possession of his flat in Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Druse have moved from West Fourth street to Woodhull & Martin's new building on East Front street.

—Miss Rink, of Netherwood, has taken a position at the local office of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

—The New Jersey Master Mason Builders' Association will hold its annual meeting in Plainfield during the latter part of July.

—Miss Ina Steele has resigned her position at the local office of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, and taken one with W. S. Angleman, Esq., as typewriter and stenographer.

—The private dancing class which has been meeting weekly at the Camera Club rooms, held an informal reception and dance Thursday night. About thirty couple were present. Music was furnished by Miss Randolph and Louis M. Hummer.

PERSONAL.

George Endicott, son of Dr. G. W. Endicott, who is ill with scarlet fever, is steadily improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eaton, of New York, are spending a few days in town. They contemplate returning here to live.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures, as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading toilets. Send 10c. in stamps for sample. The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

To the Trustees of Grace Church, Plainfield, First Baptist Church:

Gentlemen:

Always have your church buy linseed oil at barrel prices. Don't let them pay $1.50 a gallon for canned oil, which ought to cost but 60 cents a gallon. Ready-mixed paint is about half oil and half paint. Buy oil fresh from the barrel, and add it to the L. and M. Paint, which is semi-mixed, and you then get a full gallon of paint at the lowest price.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

C. S., Andrews, Ex-Mayor. Danbury, Conn., writes, "Painted my house 19 years ago with L. & M. Looks well today."

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

poor Daniel J.—but say, you wouldn't know the town now if you haven't seen it since then. Why, I run over from New York every 30 days or so and she grows out of my ken every time, like a five-year-old boy. Say, I've got Mrs. Higbee up in the New York sleeper, but if you're going to be here a spell we'll stop a few days longer and I'll drive you around—what say? —packing houses—Lake Shore drive—Lincoln park—"

He waited, glowing confidently, as one submitting irresistible temptations.

Percival beamed upon him with moist eyes.

"By Jove, Mr. Higbee! that's clever of you—it's royal! Sis and I would like nothing better—but you see my poor mother here is almost down with nervous prostration and we've got to hurry her to New York without an hour's delay to consult a specialist. We're afraid"—he glanced anxiously at the astounded Mrs. Bines, and lowered his voice—"we're afraid she may not be with us long."

"Why, Percival," began Mrs. Bines, dazedly, "you was just saying—"

"Now don't fly all to pieces, ma!—take it easy—you're with friends, be sure of that. You needn't beg us to go on. You know we wouldn't think of stopping when it may mean life or death to you. You see just the way she is," he continued to the sympathetic Higbee—"we're afraid she may collapse any moment. So we must wait for another time; but I'll tell you what you do, go get Mrs. Higbee and your traps and come let us put you up to New York. We've got lots of room—run along now—and we'll have some of that ham the kind you have always bought, for lunch. A. L. Jackson is a miserable cook, too, if I don't know the truth."

Gently urging Higbee through the door, he stifled a systematic inquiry into the details of Mrs. Bines' affliction.

"Come along quick! I'll go help you and we'll have Mrs. Higbee back before the train starts."

"Do you know," Mrs Bines thoughtfully observed to her daughter, "I sometimes mistrust Percival ain't just right in his head; you remember he did have a bad fall on it when he was two years and five months old—two years, five months and 18 days. The way he carries on right before folks' faces! That time I went through the asylum at Butte there was a young man kept going on with the same outlandish rigmarole just like Percival. The idea of Percival telling me to eat a lemon-ice with an ice-pick, and 'Oh, why don't the flesh brushes wear nice, proper clothes brushes!' and 'sure, and hammer my nails good and hard after I get them manicured.' And back home he was always wanting to know where the meat augers were, saying he'd just bought 900 new ones and he'd have to order a ton more if they were all lost. I don't believe there is such a thing as a meat auger. I don't know what on earth a body could do with one. And that other young man," she concluded, significantly, "they had him in a little bit of a room with an iron-barred door to it like a prison-cell."

CHAPTER VII.

MR. HIGBEE COMMUNICATES SOME VALUABLE INFORMATION.

The Higbees were presently at home in the Bines car. Mrs. Higbee was a pleasant, hustling, plump little woman, sparkling-eyed and sprightly. Prominent in her manner was a helpless little confession of inadequacy to her ambitions that made her personality engaging. To be energetic and friendly, and deeply absorbed in people who were bold and confident, was her attitude.

She began bubbling at once to Mrs. Bines and Psyche of the latest fashions for mourners. Crepe was more swagger than ever before, both as trimming and for entire costumes.

"House gowns, my dear, and dinner gowns, made entirely of crepe in the Princesse style, will exactly suit your daughter—and on the dinner gowns she can wear a trimming of that dull jet passementerie."

From gowns she went naturally to the difficulty of knowing whom to meet in a city like New York—and how to meet them—and the watchfulness required to keep daughter Millie from becoming entangled with leading theatrical gentlemen.

Amid Percival's lamentations that he must so soon leave Chicago, the train moved slowly out of the big shed to search in the interwoven puzzle of tracks for one that led to the east.

As they left the center of the city, Higbee drew Percival to one of the broad side windows.

"Pull up your chair and sit here a minute," he said, with a mysterious little air of importance. "There's a thing this train's going to pass right along here that I want you to look at. Maybe you've seen better ones, of course—and then again—"

It proved to be a sign some 20 feet high and a whole block long. Emblazoned upon its broad surface was "Higbee's Hams." At one end, and towering another ten feet or so above the mammoth letters was a white-capped and aproned chef abandoning his mercurial French temperament to an utter frenzy of delight over a "Higbee's Ham" which had apparently just been vouchsafed to him by an invisible benefactor.

"There, now!" exclaimed Higbee; "what do you call that—I want to know—hey?"

"Great! Magnificent!" cried Percival, with the automatic and ready hypocrisy of a sympathetic nature. "That certainly is great."

"Notice the size of it?" queried Higbee, when they had flitted by.

"Did I!" exclaimed the young man, reproachfully.

"We went by pretty fast—you couldn't see it well. I tell you the way they're allowed to run trains so fast right here in this crowded city is an outrage. I'm blamed if I don't have my lawyer take it up with the board of aldermen—slaughtering people on their tracks right and left—you'd think these railroad companies owned the earth. But that sign, now. Did you notice you could read every letter in the label on that ham?" You wouldn't think it was a hundred yards back from the track, would you? Why, that label by actual measure is six feet four inches across—and yet it looks as small—and everything all in the right proportion, it's wonderful. It's what I call art," he concluded, in a slightly dogmatic tone.

"Of course it's art," Percival agreed; "er—all—hand painted, I suppose?"

"Sure! that painting alone, letters and all, cost $450. I've just had it put up. I've been after that place for years, but it was held on a long lease by Max, the Square Tailor—you know. You probably remember the sign he had there—'Peerless Pants Worn by Chicago's Best Dressers,' with a man in his shirt sleeves looking at a new pair. Well, finally, I got a chance to buy those two back lots, and that give me the site, and there she is, all finished and up. That's partly what I come on this time to see about. How'd you like the wording of that sign?"

"Fine—simple and effective," replied Percival.

"That's it—simple and effective. It goes right to the point and it don't slop over beyond any, after it gets there. We studied a good deal over that sign. The other man, the tailor, had too many words for the board space. My advertisin' man wanted it to be, first, 'Higbee's Hams, That's All.' But, I don't know—for so big a space that seemed to me kind of—well—kind of flippant and undignified. Then I got it down to 'Eat Higbee's Hams.' That seemed short enough—but after studying it, I says, What's the use of saying 'eat?' No one would think, I says, that a ham is to paper the walls with or to stuff sofa cushions with—so off comes 'eat' as being superfluous, and leaving it simple and dignified—'Higbee's Hams.'"

"By the way," said Percival, when they were sitting together again, later in the day, "where is Henry, now?"

Higbee chuckled.

"That's the other thing took me back this time—the new sign and getting Hank started. Henry is now working ten hours a day out to the packing house. After a year of that he'll be taken into the office and his hours will be cut down to eight. Eight hours a day will seem like sinful idleness to Henry by that time."

Percival whistled in amazement.

"I thought you'd be surprised. But the short of it is, Henry found himself facing work or starvation. He didn't want to starve a little bit, and he finally concluded he'd rather work for his dad than anyone else.

"You see Henry was doing the Rake's Progress act there in New York—being a gilded youth and such like. Now being a gilded youth and 'a well-known man about town' is something that wants to be done in moderation, and Henry didn't seem to know the meaning of the word. I put up something like $180,000 for Hank's gilding last year. Not that I grudged him the money, but it wasn't doing him any good. He was making a monkey of himself with it, Henry was. A good bit of that hundred and eighty went into a comic opera company that was one of the worst I ever did see. Henry had no judgment. He was too easy. Well, along this summer he was on the point of making a break that would—well, I says to him, says I: 'Hank, I'm no penny-squeezer; I like good stretchy legs myself,' I says; 'I like to see them elastic so they'll give a plenty when they're pulled; but,' I says, 'if you take that step,' I says, 'if you declare yourself, then the rubber in your legs,' I says, 'will just naturally snap; you'll find you've overplayed the tension,' I says, 'and there won't be any more stretch left in them.

"The secret is, Hank was being chased by a whole family of wolves—that's the gist of it—fortune hunters—with tushes like the ravening lion in Afric's gloomy jungle. They were not only cold, stone broke, mind you, but hyenas into the bargain—the father and the mother and the girl, too.

"They'd got their minds made up to marry the girl to a good wad of money—and they'll do it, too, sooner or later, because she's a corker for looks, all right—and they'd all made a dead set for Hank; so, quick as I saw how it was, I says, 'Here,' I says, 'is where I save my son and heir from a passel of butchers.' I says, 'before they have him scalded and dressed and hung up outside the shop for the holiday trade,' I says, 'with the red paper rosettes stuck in Henry's chest,' I says."

"Are the New York girls so designing?" asked Percival.

"Is Higbee's ham good to eat?" replied Higbee, oracularly.

"So," he continued, "when I made up my mind to put my foot down I just casually mentioned to the old lady—say, she's got an eye that would make liquid air shiver—that cold blue like an army overcoat—well, I mentioned to her that Henry was a spendthrift and that he wasn't ever going to get another cent from me that he didn't earn just the same as if he wasn't any relation of mine. I made it plain, you bet; she found just where little Henry boy stood with his kind-hearted, liberal old father.

"Say, maybe Henry wasn't in cold storage with the whole family from that moment. I see those fellows in the laboratories are puttering around just now trying to get the absolute zero of temperature—say, Henry got it, and he don't know a thing about chemistry.

"Then I jounced Hank. I proceeded to let him know he was up against it—right close up against it, so you couldn't see daylight between 'em. 'You're 25,' I says, 'and you play the best game of pool, I'm told, of any of the chappies in that Father-Made-the-Money club you got into,' I says; 'but I've looked it up,' I says, 'and there ain't really what you could call any great future for a pool champion,' I says, 'and if you're ever going to learn anything else, it's time you was at it,' I says. 'Now you go back home and tell the manager to set you to work,' I says, 'and your wages won't be big enough to make you interesting to any skirt-dancer, either,' I says. 'And you make a study of the hog from the ground up. Exhaust his possibilities just like your father done, and make a man of yourself, and then some time,' I says, 'you'll be able to give good medicine to a cub of your own when he needs it.'"

"And how did poor Henry take all that?"

"Well, Hank squealed at first like he was getting the knife; but finally when he see he was up against it, and especially when he see how this girl and her family throwed him down the elevator shaft from the tenth story, why, he come around beautifully. He's really got sense, though he doesn't look it—Henry has—though Lord knows I didn't pull him up a bit too quick. But he come out and went to work like I told him. It's the greatest thing ever happened to him. He ain't so fat-headed as he was, already. Henry'll be a man before his dad's through with him."

"But weren't the young people disappointed?" asked Percival; "weren't they in love with each other?"

"In love?" In an effort to express scorn adequately Mr. Higbee came perilously near to snorting. "What do you suppose a girl like that cares for love? She was dead in love with the nice long yellow-backs that I've piled up because the public knows good ham when they taste it. As for being in love with Henry or with any man—say, young fellow, you've got something to learn about those New York girls. And this one, especially. Why, it's been known for the three years we've been there that she's simply hunting night and day for a rich husband. She tries for 'em all as fast as they get in line."

"Henry was unlucky in finding that kind. They're not all like that—those New York girls are not," and he had the air of being able if he chose to name one or two luminous exceptions.

"Silas," called Mrs. Higbee, "are you telling Mr. Bines about our Henry and that Milbrey girl?"

"Yep," answered Higbee, "I told him."

"About what girl?—what was her name?" asked Percival, in a lower tone.

"Milbrey's that family's name—Horace Milbrey—"

"Why," Percival interrupted, somewhat awkwardly, "I know the family—the young lady—we met the family out in Montana a few weeks ago."

"Sure enough—they were in Chicago and had dinner with us on their way out."

"I remember Mr. Milbrey spoke of what fine claret you gave him."

"Yes, and I wasn't stingy with ice, either, the way those New York people always are. Why, at that fellow's house he gives you that claret wine as warm as soup.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!

"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream, which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." CHRISTIE CAR A FLYER.

Makes New Beach Record at Atlantic City Tournament.

Atlantic City, April 28.—The beach record for the mile was lowered here yesterday by Walter Christie, in his own designed Christie car of 110-horse power, to 35 1-5 seconds. The previous best time was that made by L. Campbell in an 80-horse power Darracq car last year and was 38 seconds. The 80-horse power Darracq car, driven by Guy Vaughan, raced over the course yesterday in 39 seconds.

The smooth running of the Christie car has been one of the features of the tournament, which came to a close yesterday. The beach was not in the best condition for speeding, and Mr. Christie said he was sure that the machine could go a mile in 30 seconds.

The first accident to mar the sport since the tournament began happened in the free-for-all championship contest. C. Ernest Rogers, of Brookline, Mass., had his nose and forehead badly cut by the blowing up of the hood of his machine. The car was running at tremendous speed at the time, but Mr. Rogers had the presence of mind to steer his machine to the inside of the track, allowing a following machine to pass him, thus averting a more serious accident.

Guy Vaughan, driving the car which won the last Vanderbilt cup race, won two of the four heats of this race and earned a leg on the Atlantic City Cup, valued at $500.

The chauffeurs' handicap aroused much interest, and there were several starters in each of the three heats. The 18-horse power White steamer, driven by E. C. Johnson, won the final heat in an interesting finish, while second place went to the 60-horse power Thomas car, driven by Montague Roberts.

The wind was blowing from the southwest yesterday and was so strong and cold that the on-lookers found overcoats a necessity. A big crowd lined the course, and all the drivers came in for a share of applause.

From the Borough Police Blotter.

Marshal Dooley arrested Fred Kaeding for disorderly conduct on Somerset street, last night. He gave bail for appearance before Mayor Smalley tonight. Dooley also arrested a drunk on Somerset street but he was too far gone to give his name and he is registered at Weiss' hostelry as "John Doe."

Twelve Years for Stabbing Officer.

Hackensack, April 28.—Severio Locco, who on Wednesday was convicted of stabbing Constable William Naedler at Cliffside Park, N. J., on March 11, was sentenced yesterday to twelve years in State prison by Judge Zabriskie, at Hackensack.

"BILL" FOXEN SUCCUMBS

Falls in Love With Plainfield Maiden While Drinking Ice Cream Soda.

BASE BALL CHIT CHAT

Cranks Ripe For the Pennant Raising Festival Next Saturday—Baseball Meeting Tonight —Other News.

"Billy" Foxen, of the Jersey City team, wants to come back to Plainfield to live. This is really so. During the sojourn of the Jerseys in Plainfield the curley headed Mr. Foxen consumed more soda water than all the rest of the team put together. "Billy" went as often as ten times a night to the same soda water stand. Everybody was talking about it.

"Did 'Billy' like soda as well as that?" "Nay, nay," say Pauline and the wise ones. It was not particularly the soda water but a pretty Plainfield miss who was always on duty near the fountain.

So meeting at the fountain between the two got to be a usual thing. But "Billy's" drawback was his bashfulness. He couldn't for the life of him pull together a sufficient quantity of nerve power to make a date. So he left town with but a passing acquaintance.

Since the exodus of "Billy" souvenir postal cards, and letters enclosed in square blue envelopes, have been arriving in Plainfield and carried to the soda water girl.

"Billy" wants to come back. He says in his missives that "she is the best girl in this big, big world." While the team was down East the souvenir postals came in by every mail.

This pretty young miss is happy of course over "Billy's" admiration for her and is taking great delight in telling all her friends, and in some cases she produces the letters.

My! Oh, my! this makes all of the girls jealous and there is no telling where it will all end.

But there is no doubt that "Billy's" heart is badly smitten. He is in love, head over heels, and he knows it.

What caused it all? Was there any Cupid—ic ingredients in these refreshing drinks?

We have tried to discover this by calling in the North avenue soda water expert for a consultation. He says he never heard of anything of a Cupid-ic nature in the makeup of soda. He analyzed it as a combination of sugar, vanilla and carbonated water saturated with gas. This includes the "makings" for the head.

But everybody who knows about it declares that "Billy" fell in love between sips while drinking the soda water.

If it should result in a romantic termination we will extend the baseball blessing in advance and buy the silverware afterwards.

It will be but natural for some to ask who this fortunate young maiden is. We can't tell. For further information write to "Billy" Foxen, care of the Jersey City baseball club.

That record of twenty strike-outs made by Phil Smith Thursday in the game with Leals school will stand for some time. The boy has an iron arm and a puzzling array of curves that will land him into the ranks of the stars before a great while.

Mayor Buckle has dropped politics for a time after a strenuous winter and has started to whoop up baseball. Last year the mayor pitched the first ball across the plate, or tried to at least. He is the proper candidate for executing the caper again next Saturday.

It was reported during the past week that "Red" Waller injured his hip slightly in a practice game with the Bridgeports and as a consequence he is incapaciated from pitching. Pitching for the Elizabeth Stars against the Palmers last Sunday he was compelled to throw up the sponge in the first inning after finding it impossible to throw across the plate. It is not known whether his injury is of a serious nature or not.

Grand Worthy Exalted Patriarch Pierson has already started to blow his trumpet and is proudly proclaiming the fact that Plainfield will be represented with the strongest team on the pike this season.

Benj. Mumford will also fill the role as surgeon in addition to his duties as a member of the grounds committee. Mr. Mumford has replenished his stock of witchhazel, and has added to his medical kit three rolls of tire tape for disjointed digits, and a few drams of "red eye" for umpires who faint.

They say Mr. Bertwhistle is an expert fancy juggler and has done business on the stage. He can balance eleven green peas on the blade of a common table knife.

"Old Hoss" George Mallen is a lucky sport as well as a good ball player. He beat the races last week. He sent a messenger boy to the Aqueduct with a century note to lay it on Carter, and the boy got there just as Rosebon flashed home a winner.

"Dave" Driscoll isn't fooling when he says he would like to roost on the Plainfield first cushion again this season.

Girls here's a tip. First baseman Henriquies, in New York, is rated as a millionaire and doesn't have to work.

"Kid" Brogan was the real hot stuff out of the molasses jar last Thursday when he marched in the parade with the Jersey City team. The "Kid" is anxious to play league ball, but "Uncle" Billy Murray believes he should spend one year more in Manager Daab's pastures.

If the views of all the National and American league managers are correct the pennant races in these two leagues will result in dead heats. There isn't a manager who will own up to the fact that his team cannot win the pennant, even Manager Donovan of the Brooklyns.

Manager Donovan gave out an interview the other day that he was going to release all of his weak hitters. Does that mean that he will oppose all of the other teams with only Lumley and Casey?

Don't forget the date. Next Saturday, May 5, at Crescent Oval. Union county champions vs. All Cubans.

The New York Globe said Thursday night that Jocko Halligan has been playing ball for twenty-seven years. If this be true it is nearly time for our Penn Yan friend to order his harp and crown.

News item relates that Tod Sloane, once the world's greatest jockey, has wound up his career as an office boy in Johnny McGraw's billiard parlor, New York, where he is employed batting dust off the tables. This is pretty near the limit went by the Hon. Amos Rusie, who, when the last news was heard of his whereabouts, was working in a lumber yard at $1.50 per day.

Pitcher Hostetter, of the St. Louis Americans, is mixing the bitter with the sweet, and getting away with a game once in a while.

Maxim Gorky, who never played baseball, and "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien of pugilistic fame, will celebrate on a realistic American novel entitled "Hotels they pulled from under us."

Don't forget the meeting of the baseball association tonight at Hotel Iroquois. Manager Daab will be out and all preliminary arrangements will be made for the pennant raising ceremony next Saturday.

The Bridgeports of the Connecticut State league will be the opponents of the Hobokens tomorrow afternoon in Hoboken.

Long Branch's Liquor War.

Long Branch, April 28.—The law and order people are aroused over the report that at least six of the hotel men who were refused licenses in that part of the city known as the "Bowery" last year will apply for a license next Tuesday. The hotel men have sent couriers to Judge Foster to intercede for them. The pulpits Sunday will throw hot shot into the liquor-sellers' camp and the clergymen will use their best efforts to prevent the issuing of any additional licenses.

Justice Fort Criticizes Court.

New Brunswick, April 28.—Justice Fort declared yesterday that "court is conducted in slipshod fashion here." He was annoyed at loud talking in the court room and declared there must be an end of that. Then, when the jury in the Dade murder trial was ready to report the jury came into court without notifying the sheriff to have the prisoner in court. here was some delay, and then Justice Fort relieved his mind by a sharp criticism.

JUNIOR PLAY A SUCCESS

"A Proposal Under Difficulties," Produced Saturday Night at the P. H. S.

AUDITORIUM FILLED

J. N. Van Deventer and Miss Berry Do Star Work—Other Numbers Rendered.

The largest audience of the season greeted the annual junior class entertainment at the Plainfield High School Saturday night. The programme, which was rendered in the auditorium of the building, consisted of four numbers, the last, the event of the evening, being entitled "A Proposal Under Difficulties," a farce in one act, by John Kendrick Bangs.

The entertainment opened with a selection by the Plainfield High School orchestra, S. B. Howe, Jr., of the faculty, acting as director of the orchestra.

The second number was a one act play entitled "The Courtin'," by James Russell Lowell, and the quaint wit introduced was greeted enthusiastically by the audience. Miss Elizabeth Pound did all the reading for this number, while the action of the play was confined to Roy Dutcher, as Lekie; Paul Brakeley, as Huldy; and Miss Cornelia Lounsbury, as Ma.

A selection by the Plainfield High School male quartette followed, and as at past performances, the work of these young men found many admirers.

The final and most important number on the programme was about the best of its kind produced in recent years by any junior class at the Plainfield High School. As the title "A Proposal Under Difficulties" suggests, the play was a love story, and by its complications had the audience in a state of uproar nearly the entire time.

The story tells of how Robert Yardsley and Jack Barlow are suitors for the hand of Dorothy Andrews, a beautiful young lady. Yardsley wishes to get the best of Barlow, as is natural, and he screws his courage up to make a proposal. He enters Dorothy's home and waits for her to come downstairs. While waiting he begins to lose confidence in himself and decides to rehearse his proposal. He falls before a sofa and begins, but fails to notice the entrance of Jennie, the maid, who stands by. He finishes his proposal, and Jennie thinking it for her does not know what to make out of it, because she is already engaged to Hicks, the coachman.

Yardsley is enraged to think that Jennie has heard him but tries to bribe her. Just then Barlow enters, and Yardsley tries to coax him to leave, but to no avail. Just then Dorothy Andrews enters.

In the conversation that follows each fellow tries to be more brilliant than the other in his speech. While all are drinking tea, Jennie, the maid, comes in to give Yardsley her answer. Dorothy demands an explanation first from Jennie, who seems to tell the truth. Then Yardsley explains his side of the story and Jennie says he tells the truth. Dorothy is convinced that Yardsley is straight and consents to be his wife under the very nose of Barlow, who consents to be best man. Jennie gets Hicks again, too.

Joseph Van Deventer, as Yardsley, in the leading part, did excellently and shows that he has much dramatic talent. Miss Mildred Berry, as Dorothy Andrews, shows much ability in the way she interpreted her part. Fred Smith, as Barlow, Miss Helen Johnson, as Jennie, and Samuel Reid, Jr., as Hicks, the remainder of the cast, performed finely.

The affair is regarded as a most successful one from all points of view. Miss Mabel Maxson, of the Plainfield High School faculty, assisted by Clarence Heaume, and Percy Mygrant, furnished dance music for the young folks.

The credit for the success of the affair falls in large measure to Miss Adriadne Gilbert, Miss E. M. Howard and Miss M. E. Ferry, members of the Plainfield High School faculty, who have labored tediously, coaching the play to be the success it was.

Warren Family Safe.

Reassuring intelligence has been received from Mrs. Edward Warren and family, former residents here, who have been living in San Francisco. They are all unharmed. The news came to a friend here in a letter from one of the family living in Montclair. The note did not say whether Mrs. Warren's household goods suffered, but it is supposed they did, because the family lived in the heart of the city.

Sold His Property.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef has sold the property he recently bought on West Second street from the Marclay Estate to Mrs. Martha Walker, who will occupy it.

ESCAPED ONE SMASH TO SUFFER ANOTHER

PENEY DODGED GATES AND TRAIN TO SEND RUNAWAY IN GULLY.

Silas Peney, who works for D. F. Ginna, on Woodbrook farm, his wife and two children, started to drive from the farm to this city Saturday night. Near the Lehigh Valley railroad crossing the horse was scared by the whistle of an approaching train and started to jump. Peney pulled sharply on the reins and the bit broke. The horse, completely uncontrolled, leaped forward at full speed.

Peney yelled desperately to the gateman to raise the gates, which had been lowered as the train approached. The gateman swiftly calculated between train and horse and saw that the chance to prevent a smashup was good. He raised the gates just as the horse reached them, and the runaway clattered across the track.

The crossing was made well in front of the train, and Peney was congratulating himself on the other side of the track when the wheels on one side of the wagon slid down the bank at the side of the road into a deep gully. The rig overturned, throwing the Peney family in all directions. The horse, dragging the wagon on its side, went on at the same clip.

Penny, his wife and one of the children escaped with cuts, bruises and soiled clothes, but the other child was severely hurt. It was rendered unconscious and its head seemed hurt. It was taken home at once and placed under the care of a Metuchen doctor. The latter was still unable to tell the full extent of its injuries yesterday.

The horse was stopped in South Plainfield. The wagon was found all along the road.

KUENLEN SEARCH LEADS TO BROOKLYN HOUSE

WOMAN IN NEW YORK BOROUGH THINKS SHE HAS LOCATED GIRL

Mrs. Marie Kuenlen received a letter from Mrs. C. Quatlander, 1 Agate Court, Brooklyn, this morning, in which the latter says a girl answering the description of the missing Helen Kuenlen has been rooming in a house next to hers for a week. Mrs. Quatlander saw Miss Kuenlen's description in the newspaper advertisements of the $500 reward offered by Mrs. Kuenlen Saturday.

As soon as Chief Kiely was apprised of the receipt of the letter he called up the Brooklyn telephone headquarters and learned that there was a 'phone in the house next to Mrs. Quatlander. He got her on the wire, and asked her see if the girl was home. Mrs. Quatlander brought word in a few minutes that the young woman was out.

Detective McCarthy was sent to Brooklyn at once. He will stay there until he sees the girl.

Thunder Storm Today.

There was a real old-fashioned thunder and lightning storm that ushered in today's dawn. The thunder was like cannon coming from every point of the compass, and the lightning came at intervals that made the city look like noonday. It was the breaking of the back bone of winter, so say the weather prophets.

Death of Mrs. Mary A. Marsh.

Mrs. Mary A. Marsh, widow of the late Richard Marsh, and mother of A. L. C. Marsh, the architect, died yesterday at her home, 822 Hillside avenue, after a short illness, aged 73 years. Funeral services will be held from the late home this evening at 8 o'clock and the interment will be at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Surprised Mrs. William Thompson.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, gave a surprise party to Mrs. William Thompson, of West Fifth street, Saturday night. The evening was spent in playing games and listening to a programme of vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served.

Carnival Closes Tonight.

GETS BACK FROM 'FRISCO

Charles R. Vincent Describes His Experience in the Earthquake.

IN A HOTEL AT THE TIME

Plaster Fell On Him As He Dressed Put 'Plains Man Got a Breakfast Before Fleeing From Hostelry.

"Back from the jaws of death," Charles R. Vincent, of Fanwood, reached his home Saturday after experiencing all the perils and hardships that befell those fortunate enough to escape being killed in the San Francisco earthquake. He is the first nearby resident to return after the terrible catastrophe and tnough the story is familiar because of newspaper accounts, personal narration brings it nearer home. Mr. Vincent was in the stricken city on business and had been stopping at the St. Frances hotel, one of the largest hotels in California, which escaped wrecking by the seismic shocks only to fall prey to the hungry flames that devastated miles of territory.

"Like the majority of the residents," said Mr. Vincent to a Daily Press reporter to-day, "I was asleep when the first shock came at 5:13 on that eventful Wednesday. I was aroused by the shaking and trembling of the hotel and leaping out of bed discovered the entire city to be rocking as would a ship in a storm. The buildings were swaying and many of the smaller structures were toppling into the street. Although badly shaken, the St. Frances withstood the vibration and it occurred to me that I was just as safe in my room as anywhere else. Plaster cracked and fell all about me but I dressed with care and after securing my effects, made my way downstairs.

"Downstairs everybody was excited but the management made an attempt to serve breakfast and each guest who could be rounded up was given coffee and rolls. It was the last meal served in the place as it was burned soon afterward.

I ventured into the streets and with difficulty made my way along. Evidences of the dreadful earthquake were everywhere; buildings in ruins or badly wrecked, flames starting up here and there and the people running hither and thither bemoaning lost ones and the destruction of property. The firemen made gallent efforts to prevent a conflagration but without success; the water mains were broken and barely enough water could be secured for drinking purposes.

"To add to the terror of the situation, a report that the whole country had been shaken spread like wildfire and everybody believed that New York and Chicago were in ruins. The panic, instead of diminishing, increased every minute, and disorder prevailed until the arrival of the state militia at 8 o'clock, the companies taking charge of the city. Their presence stopped looting and they conducted the dynamiting to stop the fire from spreading."

Mr. Vincent spent Wednesday night without covering of any kind in Alamo Park and remained in the city until Friday when he started East. In detailing his experience he declared the newspaper men have not overdrawn the pictures and the scenes he witnessed could never be adequately described.

Honeyman Party Starts Home.

The Honeyman party, which sailed from New York on February 12, and visited Honolulu, China and Japan, sailed from Yokohoma Saturday on the return trip. They are due to reach San Francisco on May 15 and from there will visit Portland, Seattle, and thence through British America to Montreal, stopping at the principal cities, and reaching New York on May 28. Word from the party states that everyone has been enjoying excellent health and that the trip has been one of keen enjoyment.

Druggists Give $60.

The Retail Druggists' Association of Plainfield has contributed $60 towards the fund being raised for the relief of San Francisco pharmacists. Each member contributed $5. Elizabeth gave $90 for the same purpose and Rahway, Summit and other places made the fund $250. The Union County Druggists' Association will forward the $250 to the treasurer of the National Druggists' Association, which is endeavoring to raise $500,000.

Miss Woolley's Party.

Miss Helen Woolley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Woolley, of the New Madison, had a birthday party on Friday when she entertained a company of young folks. The afternoon was spent playing games and having a good time in general, after which refreshments were served. Miss Woolley received several gifts as pleasant reminders of the event.

DR. RODMAN'S WIFE GOES TO HER REWARD

LOVEABLE CHARACTER PASSES AWAY AFTER MUCH SUFFERING.

Mrs. Sadie W. Rodman, wife of Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, died at 6 o'clock yesterday afternooon at her home in East Seventh street, following an illness of five weeks. Her condition was such that little hope for recovery was entertained and death had been expected momentarily. She bore her suffering patiently and with Christian fortiture.

Mrs. Rodman, previous to her marriage was Miss Sadie Wickham Sharpe, daughter of William F. Sharpe, of Goshen, N. Y., at which place she was born. Thirty-five years ago she was married to Mr. Rodman at Goshen and immediately moved to this city, where she continued to live the rest of her life. There was no more faithful member of Grace church, where her husband served as rector for many years. She was a lovable character, a devoted wife and mother and not only in the home, but the church will she be greatly missed. Her cheery disposition was the help and encouragement of all with whom she came in contact.

Besides a husband, she is survived by a daughter, Miss May Rodman, of this city, and a son, Randolph Rodman, of South Orange. The funeral services will be held from Grace church tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

General sympathy will be extended to Rev. Dr. Rodman in his present bereavement. Mrs. Rodman was a loveable character and was greatly respected in the community in which she spent the most of her life.

BISHOP SCARBOROUGH ON HIS ANNUAL VISIT

CONFIRMED CLASSES AT GRACE AND HOLY CROSS CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Bishop Scarborough, head of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New Jersey, paid his annual visit to Grace and Holy Cross churches yesterday. Between the visits to the local churches he went to All Saints' church, Fanwood.

The bishop arrived in town, from Trenton, on Saturday night. He was met at the station by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, at whose house he was entertained Saturday night and last night.

He confirmed a class of ten candidates at Grace church yesterday morning. After dinner at the rectory with Mr. Stevenson, he went to the Fanwood church.

With Rev. George A. Warner, rector of Holy Cross, the bishop was entertained at tea at the home of Francis G. Moore, of West Seventh street.

In the evening he confirmed a class of twelve at Holy Cross. It was the bishop's first visit to the church since Mr. Werner was made rector.

He referred to the change in the rectorate. In speaking of Mr. Warner, he complimented him highly, and expressed confidence in steady and gratifying progress in the parish under Mr. Warner's guidance.

The bishop left for Trenton right after breakfast this morning, on the 8:36 train.

Delegates to Diocesan Convention.

The 127th annual session of the diocesan convention of the Episcopal Church in New Jersey will be held at Atlantic City, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 8 and 9. The delegates from the Holy Cross church will be Rev. George A. Warner, Dr. J. H. Carman, C. L. Nichols and W. L. Saunders. Those from Grace church will be Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, George S. Clay and John B. Dumont.

Bird Gets Third Term.

"FITZ" IS LOCATED HERE

Ex-Champion Pugilist Will Train on the Stage of the New Plainfield Theatre.

STAYING AT IROQUOIS

Will Give a Performance at the Local Playhouse for the Benefit of the San Francisco Fund.

It is now an assured fact "Lanky Bob" Fitzsimmons, ex-champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, will train in this city for his coming fight with "Kid Burns" of Philadelphia, on Decoration Day. The big fellow likes Plainfield, he said so from the start, and yesterday all his paraphernalia arrived in town and was installed on the stage of the New Plainfield theatre. He will go there each day to punch the bag and perform other stunts to build up his muscle and get himself in something like his old time form.

The season at the theatre closes next Monday night and the stage was secured from Manager Counihan by "Bob" himself, the two having been close acquaintances for many years. The treatment accorded him by the theatrical man made him fall completely in love with the city and when he was given the glad hand by Proprieaor Leary at the Iroquois his cup of happiness was complete. The Iroquois will be his home and Mrs. Fitzsimmons will join him there this week. With her will come the world-famous Fitzsimmons team of bays and enough vehicles to equip an ordinary livery. The good roads in and about Plainfield caught Fitz's practiced eye and he will undoubtedly cover the greater part of them before he goes away.

To a Daily Press reporter today, the big-hearted pugilist announced that some time within a week he would give a performance at the New Plainfield for the benefit of the San Francisco relief fund. He and his wife have been appearing in vaudeville for the past year and they will give their sketch exastly as it was put in for the New York houses. In addition Fitz will have some of his professional friends to assist him and he will demonstrate the art of boxing and scientific bag punching and show the audience just what a heavyweight does to get in shape for a fight. Each penny received will go into the fund, Manager Counihan having offered his end gratis also.

The ex-champion has also promised Mayor Smalley that he will attend the opening game of the Plainfield baseball team Saturday and do anything to start things going. The management has decreed that he throw the first ball over the plate and that Mayor Smalley catch it.

"I'll umpire the bases if they want me to," said Fitz, full of enthusiasm, "or even do a boxing sunt; anything ye' know, just to let the Plainfield boys know I 'm with 'em."

"Bob" is still negotiating for the Edward White property at Dunellen and it is practically a certainty that he will get it for his proposed physical culture school.

"I will take the place if the deed and title are all right," he said today, "and my lawyer is looking that part of the deal up now. I'm satisfied that they're all right; the delay is only a formality."

QUIETLY MARRIED.

Miss Kathryn Honan Wedded to Joseph Burke at St. Mary's.

Joseph Burke, of Avon Park, and Miss Kathryn C. Honan, of West Fourth street, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Honan, were quietly married at St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock, in the presence of a dozen intimate friends, by Rev. Father Bogan, the rector.

Thomas F. Quinn, of Avon Park, a close friend of the groom, was best man, and Miss Estelle Ruoff, of Brooklyn, was maid of honor. Mr. Burke is well known in this city. He is a grading and ditching contractor.

The bride was gowned in white China silk over silk and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore blue chiffon and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke will keep house in Avon Park, where the groom has purchased a pretty home. They received a large number of handsome gifts.

Annual Meeting of Rasores Club.

The annual meeting of the Rasores Club, and the last for the season, will be held tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. B. O. Bowers, 400 Franklin place. A full attendance is requested and members are urged to remember their annual dues.

T. A. B. SOCIETY BEGINS A SEVEN NIGHTS' FAIR

THE OPENING MARKED BY A LARGE ATTENDANCE.

With an unusually large crowd in attendance, the T. A. B. Society opened a week's fair in T. A. B. Hall, Saturday night. It has been planned on an elaborate scale and indications point to large returns for the organization's benefit.

There are two committees in charge; one of members headed by James J. Kane and another of women friends of which Miss Theresa McGinley is chairman. The other officials are Miss Wilson, secretary and treasurer; Thomas Carty, John Kyle and Joseph O'Keefe, floor committee; assistants, Joseph McCue, Vincent Carroll, Michael O'Keefe, Edward Lynch, David Doyle, Michael Higgins, John Caulfield and Jules Parent. Miss McGinley's assistants are Miss Mayme Connolly, Miss Margaret Bray, Miss Ellen Mullen, Miss Bertha Colvin, Miss Mayme Huntington, Miss Elizabeth Flynn, Miss Margaret O'Keefe, Miss Blanche Skinner and Miss Kate Ryan.

Miss McGinley and Miss Connolly have charge of a large fancy booth and Miss Margaret Bray presides over a cake table. The refreshment stand is in charge of John Kyle and John Caulfield.

Dancing is to be a feature each night and Suhr's Imperial orchestra is furnishing the music. On Thursday night the Irish Volunteers will give an exhibition drill.

MRS. FREEMAN'S LAST SERVICE AS ORGANIST

PRESENTED WITH STERLING SILVER SERVICE BY FRIENDS IN CONGREGATION

Mrs. W. A. Freeman, who resigned as organist of Grace P. E. church recently, after twenty-five years' continuous service, played at her last service as organist there yesterday. Next Sunday, W. E. MacClymont, the new organist, will play. He took charge of the choir today.

Mrs. Freeman's resignation from Grace church marks her retirement from active work in music. She has been engaged in choir work since her eleventh year. "I think I am entitled to a rest now," she said this morning.

Under Mrs. Freeman's direction, the music at Grace reached a high plane of excellence. Special musical services at Grace have always been events in the musical life of the city.

Her personality, as well as her splendid work, won Mrs. Freeman high esteem from the members of the parish. The extent of their regard was shown Saturday, when Mrs. Freeman received a handsome Gorham silver service, the gift of a number of her friends in the congregation. It was presented by Mrs. Charles Brooks and Miss Elizabeth Cock, as a committee from the donors.

Institution of New Council.

Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight when the new organization will be perfected and officers will be installed. The institution of the new council will be in charge of the officers from Franklin, Benevolent and Somerset councils, assisted by State Council Secretary W. H. Miers and Rev. J. Morgan Reed. Nearby councils have been invited and the occasion will be an auspicious one.

'Frisco Offering at St. Mary's.

The collection for the San Francisco sufferers taken at all the masses in St. Mary's church yesterday morning amounted to $151. More money for the fund is expected from the parishioners today and tomorrow. The collection will go into a diocesan fund, which the bishop has asked the different parishes to make up. No extended reference to the catastrophe was made at the services.

Farewell to Mrs. Ward.

Rev. Dr. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, spoke a few words of hearty appreciation of the faithful services of Mrs. F. Ward, who has been the contralto soloist in the church for ten years, singing not only with a voice full of charm and sweetness, but with a heart full of Christian love. He voiced the sentiment of the church in his hearty good wishes for her future.

"On Change" a Public Performance.

A misunderstanding seems to exist in the minds of some Plainfield people that the farce, "On Change," which the "Comedy Club" will present at the Park Club next Friday evening, is for the club members only. The performance will be a public one, for which anyone can secure tickets at Armstrong's drug store, where the seat diagram is now open to inspection.

SHOT THE PEACEMAKER

HELD TO THE SHOOTER

Clung Until Assistance Came—Battle For Escape, In Which Shooter Sinks His Teeth In Man's Cheek.

John Mann, forty-one years old, of New Market, was shot and dangerously wounded by John Groom, forty-one years old, of Jersey City, at the home of John Newberger, of Lincoln, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The shooting grew out of Newberger's attempt to put Mrs. William H. Callaway, known as Mrs. Van Nest and Mrs. Medis, of this city, out of his house. Groom was arrested after a desperate fight with a constable and two cftizens.

Groom is a New Brunswick man, but has been working for some time in a Jersey City tile factory. He is a friend of Newberger and came to his house on a visit Saturday night, staying all night. Yesterday afternoon, at dinner time, Mrs. Callaway appeared at the place, under the influence of liquor. She knows the Newbergers and demanded dinner. Newberger allowed her to eat, but ordered her out of the house as soon as she had finished. She didn't want to go and kicked up a row. Groom, who had been drinking from a bottle he brought to the house, didn't want her to go, and supported her against Newberger. The latter took the woman by the shoulders and started to eject her. He had forced her to the porch when Groom interferred and the two men clashed.

While they wer arguing and tussling, Mann, who stood nearby, stepped over to Groom's side and urged him to stop making trouble. As Mann spoke, Groom whirled about, drew a revolver and fired point blank at the peacemaker. He probably thought Mann was about to join Newberger in fighting him. The bullet struck Mann in the left groin and travelled upward about six inches.

Mann is a heavily-built man and did not fall. Groom, after firing the one shot thrust the revolver into his pocket and started to run. Mann jumped for him and grabbed him. He held on until Frank McLean, a neighbor, attracted by the shot, came running up, and then relaxed his grip to fall exhausted on the porch.

Groom started running again but McLean halted and held him. Groom fought desperately. He sunk his teeth deep into McLean's cheek, and it wasn't until Constable Goble, of Lincoln, who came up close on the heels of McLean, and Newberger beat him into submission that his bulldog grip on McLean's cheek was loosened. The two men were forced to pry his teeth apart to release McLean.

Groom was taken before Justice La Rue, of East Bound Brook, at once, and held without bail to await the result of Mann's injury. He was locked up later in the county jail at New Brunswick.

Mann was badly hurt. He lost blood enough to kill a weaker man before Dr. Roberson, of Bound Brook, who was called to the house, reached his side. He was kept in the Newberger front room until five o'clock, when his wife had him removed to their home. Dr. Platt, of Dunellen, probed for the bullet this morning. The wouned man's strong constitution gives him a chance for recovery, but his condition is precarious.

When the excitement had died down a bit, Mrs. Callaway was found to be still on the porch. She said Newberger had kicked her in the side and she was badly hurt. Nothing but the hospital would satisfy her, and she was taken there. At the institution the house physician said she was too drunk for him to tell whether there was anything else the matter with her internal mechanism. This morning it was discovered that the sum of Mrs. Callaway's bad injuries was one simple contusion of her side. She told the hospital management that she fell down stairs.

Charles W. Grover, an officer of the staff of the Middlesex prosecutor's staff, come to this city this morning on the case. He went to the hospital to get Mrs. Callaway's statement on the affair. If Mann is strong enough, his statement will be secured this afternoon. He was too weak to give it yesterday.

McLean's cheek was badly torn by Groom's teeth. Dr. Roberson was compelled to take several stitches in it, and there is fear of blood poisoning. If Groom faces any charge less serious than murder for the shooting, McLean's injury will form the basis of another charge.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

If republics are ungrateful, this city must be what you will, that suggests the enthitheses of public forgetfulness of those who have done well for the people. For this city has never forgotten what Ned Harrigan did for the local stage in the way of clean, clever entertainment for theatregoers in the days of old. "Old Lavender" is one of the best series of plays of pleasant memory in which Mr. Harrigan held the mirror up to nature and reflected the humor and pathos of life in New York. It is said he plays the role of "Old Lav" with the same familiar quaint cleverness that caught New York's fancy long ago. In Mr. Harrigan's company is his son, William, who represents a second generation of Harrigans on the stage, is a young man who looks much as did his father in his youth. In personal manner and dramatic style he recalls the old man (if Mr. "Ned" can ever be called old) and without imitating his respected sire he has the Harrigan way in what he does. "Old Lavender" will play here at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY

If the plans Michael A. Gallagher is pushing go through, the borough will have a street sprinkling service, an improvement it sorely needs during dry weather. Mr. Gallagher will purchase a sprinkler if he gets enough subscribers, at ten cents a week for each fifty-foot front sprinkled, to pay for the cart and maintenance of it. He has already secured the support of the business men and is hopeful of getting the householders in line.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Dayton have returned from their wedding trip. They will live for the present at the home of Mrs. Dayton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wenzel, 1143 South Second street, Plainfield.

John Campbell has entered the employ of the Ingersoll-Rand Co., of New York, as a clerk. Russell Garretson is employed in the I. R. office and another Dunellen young man will shortly go into it.

Court Dunellen will hold an entertainment tonight. The affair will be informal. The committee consists of Dr. P. W. Brakeley, J. H. L. Peters and Bert Brandon.

Dr. P. W. Brakeley returned on Saturday from a few days' visit at Princeton. The doctor is a Princeton graduate, and spent some time at the university.

Mrs. H. S. Garretson is spending two weeks on the farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Benward. Mr. Garretson spent the day there yesterday.

The Edgerton Park Company has begun to set out trees and hedges on its property. A carload of nursery stock has been received, and more is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Runyon have returned from their wedding trip. They will make their home in Philadelphia, where Mr. Runyon is employed.

John C. Richards, who has been working for I. J. Stites, has moved from Bound Brook to Seabright. He will work there at the blacksmithing trade.

William Giles played with the Clinton Avenue team, in their one-sided winning game against the Garwoods, Saturday.

Winifred Schenck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Schenck, has been confined to the house with chicken pox.

The Higgins farm, near Stelton, was sold last week to an out-of-town man. The price is said to have been $15,000.

George Apgar spent Friday in New York.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Charles R. Vincent, of the borough, has returned from a business trip to San Francisco. Mr. Vincent was a resident of the city at the time of the earthquake, and is one of the first of the Jersey residents to arrive home from the stricken city.

The gypsy encampment, which has been located on Mountain avenue for the past week, has pulled up stakes and departed for other parts.

The band concert fair at Saengerbund Hall, Plainfield, Saturday night, was well attended by the young people from here. It will close tonight.

Miss Mamie Gallagher, who has been spending a week with Mrs. William H. Lee, has returned to her home at Metuchen.

Rev. Warren D. Coons, a former pastor of the church, occupied Rev. A. H. Cook's pulpit at the Methodist church last night.

The members of the Epworth League held their weekly meeting last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

"Willie" Deegan pitched his first game of the season yesterday for the Hobokens in their game with the Bridgeports.

The monthly business meeting of the Suburban Club will be held tonight in the club's parlors.

Jens Classen, of Liberty street, Plainfield, spent Sunday with friends in town.

The weekly B. Y. P. U. meeting was held last night in the church parlors.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Piscataway Social Club met Saturday evening at the home of Miss May Tappen. There was a full attendance and an enjoyable evening was spent.

Philip Smith played a good game as right fielder Saturday in the High School game against Jersey City High School. Phil is an all-round player.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chamberlain, of Somerville, visited their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thorne, yesterday and Saturday night.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley supplied the local church yesterday as preacher at the morning service.

Dr. Ellis W. Hedges, of Watchung avenue, has received a telegram from his wife, who is in San Francisco, informing him that she is safe and well and has suffered no ill effects from the recent earthquake.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Frost, of Yonkers, N. Y., formerly of this city, sailed on the Koenig Albert, on Saturday, for Gibraltar. They will spend a month in Spain and visit other foreign countries.

YOUNG COUPLE ARE WED IN A LIVERY STABLE.

Irate Father of Bride Follows Eloping Pair, But Fails to Stop Ceremony.

Elgin, Ill.—A livery stable is not the most romantic place in the world for a wedding to take place, but it was good enough for a Geneva young man and an Aurora girl one day recently.

It was an elopement. Papa—the bride's papa—was in hot pursuit. The matrimonially-inclined couple went to the courthouse for a license and rushed a messenger to the residence of Justice Irving L. Howell.

Justice Howell, who has been in the marriage business for several years, and who is always thoroughly equipped for such emergencies, started for the county courthouse on the run, but the anxious couple could not restrain their desires for the matrimonial plunge, and so had hastened down the street in the direction of the justice's office, and the justice met them near the livery barns of August Cederstrom.

With bated breath the would-be groom explained to Justice Howell that there was but a minute to be wasted on the marriage service as the irate father of the bashful bride was due at any minute on the next car from Aurora. The party entered the livery stable, where Justice Howell whipped out his memorandum book and the service was on. The knot tied, the happy pair hurried up the street and caught an electric car, leaving Geneva by the same car on which the bride's father had arrived from Aurora in company with an officer, the two men having alighted from the car at the courthouse further down the street.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD HORSE THIEF

Child Steals Teams Every Time He Has a Chance—Sent to Reformatory.

Louisville, Ky.—The youngest prisoner ever confined in the Louisville jail or even sent to the reform farm is five-year-old Dewey Troutman, of Paducah, who goes from his home to the state institution under conviction for horse stealing.

Young Troutman was recently convicted of stealing three horses, one of which he nearly got away with. It had been his habit to take the teams of farmers after they had driven into town and endeavor to make away with them. As the wagons he drove away generally had goods of greater or less value in them and nothing was finally recovered, his thieving proclivities assumed a serious turn. His last escapade was the stealing of a horse and rig, and on this charge and two others of a similar character he was convicted.

Young Troutman is a decidely precocious boy with a mind developed much beyond his years. He has a bright, open face, which belies the criminal record he has made. The boy said:

"If they had just let me alone, I guess I'd have been all right. I did steal the horses, but the fellows got 'em back again, so I did not make anything by it. Five years is a long time to be in jail, but when I get out they say I will be better; anyway, when I am grown up I am going to be a policeman, and then I can do what I please."

The parents of young Troutman did everything possible to break him of his vicious ways, but without success. They went so far as to chain him, but in some way he managed to pick the lock. He was then dressed in girl's clothes, but this did not lessen his propensity to take other people's property.

Finds Fortune in Rubbish.

Hattiesburg, Miss.—A negro porter in a shoe store here was about to pitch the sweepings from the store into the rear alley when a policeman picked out an envelope from the rubbish, from which he extracted greenbacks, bank checks and other negotiable paper to the value of $31.983. The money and papers were the property of Dr. J. A. B. Sikes, of Iron City, who spent the early part of the week here and went to New Orleans before he discovered that his fortune, carried in an envelope, was missing.

How He Knew.

Wedderly—That milliner of yours must be a bird.

Mrs. Wedderly—Nonsense! She has neither wings nor feathers.

Wedderly—Yes; but just look at this bill of hers.—Chicago Daily News.

May Sale of UNDERMUSLINS

Today we inaugurate our Annual May Sale of dependable Muslin Underwear, an event that interests all women and is particularly attractive to prospective brides who are just now busy with preparations for May and June weddings.

We include in this sale only such undergarments as measure up to the high standard which we set for goods of this sort. Every piece is tastefully made in most attractive designs, many of which are exclusive with us, and the materials, to the most minute bit of embroidery, are of the better class.

We appreciate the fact that the people who trade here have no use for flimsy, tawdry undergarments, and we make it a rule to provide such goods as are most desired.

Prices for this occasion will be found to be extremely low, despite the fact that there have been advances all along the line in the cost of raw materials, and of making.

Come to the May Sale expecting the biggest kind of values.

When you need a caterer, retain D. Demolli & Co. Their service is par excellence. Only the finest service is attempted by them.

Looking for a reliable, reasonable-charging carpenter? Louis Beck, South avenue, is the man. Give him you contracts, big and little.

Belle Mead Sweets are the best and purest obtainable. Plainfielders can secure them at P. B. Hodge's pharmacy, East Front street.

A. Le Vine, the Watchung avenue tailor, cleans and presses clothes so that they look as good as new. You will find his charges reasonable.

William Hand & Sons, general truckers, are prepared to do all kinds of work. The firm can be depended upon to do all work satisfactory and the prices are reasonable.

Now is the time to secure plants, shrubbery, etc., for the grounds about your home. Place your order at once with the Belleview Nursery before the season gets too far advanced.

Why allow your watches and clocks to run until the dirt in the works clogs them to stoppage? Have them cleaned, before that happens, by William Brown, Watchung avenue, and save the mechanism.

A. M. Griffen, the East Front street hardware merchant, has received a large shipment of desirable housefurnishing goods and kitchen utensils. He also has everything in the hardware line and a superor stock of cutlery.

Fred H. Firstbrook, the Liberty street grocer, has a motto that he has adhered to since he entered business. It is "Good goods; low prices," and that is the secret of his success. An order placed with him means a saving of money.

Never hesitate to send the most inexperienced meat-buyer in your family to make purchases at Fred Endress' market. There are no meats but good meats there, and everybody is treated alike—on the highest standard of treatment.

Low cut shoes are the things to put on your feet, if you would appear modish according to fashion's dictates. The lines of ties at M. C. Van Arsdale's store, East Front street, is the one you want to look over and select yours from. Prices for every purse.

Neuman Brothers believe in giving full value for the money and when they advertise a "special" sale, it means something exceptional. Beginning today and continuing this week they will sell 100 boxes of excellent laundry soap, each containing 100 cakes, at $3.50 a box. This is an opportunity that no housewife should miss.

Woodhull & Martin is offering a fine stock of seasonable goods in every department. The housefurnishing goods' department is just now the centre of attraction as there are many things shown that every householder will need at this season of the year. The dress goods are better and more attractive than ever, including all of the latest patterns and styles. The carpet and rug department should be seen to be appreciated. The stock is very large and prices are within the reach of all.

Former Governor Voorhees says that he declined the judgeship to go to farming. In other words "back to the woods" for Foster.

Instead of decrying the fact that Mr. Colby is making too much use of the "muck rake," the machine organs could spend their time better in doing away with the muck.

The price of ice has been made as high in Philadelphia as it has been for the last month in Plainfield. The Quaker City people fortunately, however, have a trait of knocking out combines.

The people of Plainfield can congratulate themselves that Elias H. Bird has been reappointed postmaster. His services in that capacity have been eminently satisfactory to the community and no better selection could have been made by the President.

An appeal has been made by Chairman Phelan, of the San Francisco citizens' committee, for more funds. He states that for the hospitals alone $1,000 a day is being spent. This leads naturally to the question whether you have contributed to the fund being raised by this paper.

MR. PERKINS' GOAL THE GOVERNORSHIP

BACK TO ASSEMBLY, THEN TO SENATE AND THEN TO HIGHEST OFFICE.

Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, the organization leader in the House, is said to have mapped out his political ambitions for the future, according to the New York Tribune. The story is that he wants to go back to the Assembly next year, go to the Senate from Union county as the successor to Ackerman, and thus get in trim for the nomination for Governor in 1910. These ambitions are generally thought to be praiseworthy. On the other hand, it is pointed out that a lot of things can happen in the meantime.

For example, says the Tribune, unless the energetic young man looks out he will have to join the independent ranks to be successful, for Union county Republicans are rapidly changing front, as was instanced by the action of the Plainfield Republican Committee at its meeting the other night. Mr. Perkins has the consolation, however, that he can always fall back on his position as Mayor of Westfield, an office he can probably fill through the year 1910 if he so desires.

New Contralto Soloist Engaged.

Miss Gertrude Hinz, of Brooklyn, has been engaged to take the place of Mrs. Ferdinand M. Ward, as contralto soloist at the First Baptist church, and will sing for the first time here on Sunday. Miss Hinz has been a soloist in one of the large churches of Brooklyn and possesses a rich, sweet voice. She sang at the church a week ago Saturday night on trial and made a favorable impression. Those who know of her ability consider that the First Baptist church is quite fortunate in being able to secure Miss Hinz.

In Mayor Smalley's Domain.

Officer Dobley diversified Saturday night's patrol duty by arresting a Mrs. Stevens, employed as a cook in a borough hotel, for drunkenness, and later apprehending John Wisniewski, of West Third street, for cutting up jinks in front of Saengerbund Hall. Both gave bail for appearance tonight. Fred Kaeding, who was arrested Friday night, was fined $7 and had a ten days' sentence suspended over his head. George Pierce, of Newark, arrested on a D. and D. charge, handed up $3 to gain his freedom.

REV. MR. LANSDALE PREACHES AT TRINITY

DRAWS LESSONS FROM SAN FRANCISCO CATASTROPHE.

In his discourse on "The Bright Light in the Dark Cloud," at Trinity Reformed church, last night, Rev. J. Tucker Lansdale, of Marconnier chapel, who exchanged with Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, touched upon the recent calamity on the Pacific Coast, where so many homes were wrecked and thousands of families were made destitute.

"We know practically nothing of the magnetic power that turns the needle to the pole, yet it guards the mariner in safety to the harbor," said Mr. Lansdale. "We believe in electricity, but what constitutes its force? The insect so small that one has to use a magnifying glass to see it has little knowledge of the vast forests it inhabits. Yet in the bright light in the clouds we recognize that God reigns and is back of the controlling forces in nature.

"We sometimes wonder at the seeming partiality in the distribution of knowledge, but there will be a divine explanation some day. In the vast suffering we wonder why it is permitted to exist if God loves us and is supreme. If we had control of things we would leave out all the heartaches and pain. Some say this is a cause of sin, but why did God permit sin to enter the world? Many persons have been asking similar questions of late since the earth's disturbances in San Francisco when many good people as well as bad ones were made to suffer.

"These are questions that won't down. Some people ask them as cruelty to man and not in accord with righteousness. They say where is your God? There is a bright light in the clouds. Reason teaches that God is righteous and that He is not the author of sin. God is love and cruelty is impossible to His nature. He doeth all things well and His goodness endureth forever.

"In the light of our own personal experience we know what suffering is and disappointment. We know what the dark cloud of calamity, trial, adversity and bereavement is, the vacant chair and the voice that is missed. Yet there is a bright light in the clouds. Christ says 'He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.' There is no such thing as chance. Even the hairs of your head are numbered.

"There are many of these problems I cannot solve, such as the reasons for the calamity in San Francisco. Many blessings will result from it and it shows the power of God. It has resulted in a great object lesson of general sympathy at a time when there is such a rush for wealth. No country has seen such an outpouring of Christian charity. The bright light is there, because it must be. The Scriptures teach it and reason affirms it. One breath from those celestial hills will roll the dark clouds away. Then we will understand our misfortunes and losses, through which will come blessings, to those who trust in the bright light of God's will."

BLOOMFIELD IS TO HAVE A BIG FACTORY.

One of the Largest in the World for Making of Incandescent Lamps.

One of the largest manufactories of incandescent lamps in the world is to be erected in the Watsessing section of Bloomfield, opposite the plant of the Sprague Electric Works, for the Sawyer-Man Electric Company, of No. 522 West Twenty-third street, Manhattan. The latter company is subsidiary to the Westinghouse Company. A contract has been awarded to Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co., of No. 10 Bridge street, Manhattan, which carries out the Westinghouse engineering projects for the erection and equipment of the plant.

The plans call for a main building 500 by 100 feet in size, and two stories in height, and another structure 75 by 150 feet. Both will be of brick. It is understood that work is to begin soon. The plans are now in course of preparation.

It is said to be the purpose of the Sawyer-Man Company to abandon its plant in Manhattan and do all its manufacturing in Bloomfield. The new buildings will be erected upon the land now occupied as baseball grounds by the Watsessing Club and close to the tracks of both the Lackawanna and Erie Railroads.

There is considerable speculation as to the plans of the Westinghouse people for their Newark concern. The Atha Steel Casting Company, recently organized to take over the plant of the Benjamin Atha Company, has been made subsidiary to the Security Investment Company, of Pittsburg, of which George Westinghouse is president, and there have been inquiries in Pittsburg for pig iron to be used at the Atha plant. Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. have been buying equipment for additions to be made at the Atha plant, but no information is given as to what the casting plant is to be used for. It is believed, however, that the Westinghouse schemes for the enlargement in Bloomfield and vicinity include plans in which the new casting company is concerned.

BLAZING STREAMS IMPERILLED SHIPS.

Spectacular Fire at Elizabethport—Bayway Oil Plant Damaged $45,000.

The plant of the Bayway Oil Refining Company, on South Front street and Staten Island Sound, at Elizabethport, was damaged $45,000 by a fire which began at midnight Saturday and burned until 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The entire Elizabeth Fire Department, aided by Fireboat Erie, owned by President William T. Cox, of Elizabeth's Board of Fire Commissioners, and the engine, Grazzelli, owned by the Grazzelli Chemical Company, fought the blaze.

It was the most spectacular fire seen in Elizabeth in years, and was watched by fully 10,000 persons. Four large oil tanks exploded with terrific reports. Blazing oil floated on the water into Staten Island Sound, making a brilliant sight, and for a time imperilling shipping. Fortunately there was little wind, and an ebb tide helped to prevent the flames from spreading to the big plant of the New Jersey Dry Dock Company, the extensive lumber yard of Frederick L. and August Heidritter, and the large plant of the William H. Rankin Tar Roofing Paper Company.

The buildings destroyed were the mixing department, the cooper shop, the barrel shed, containing more than 1,000 empty barrels, and some minor structures. This is the second time the plant has been on fire. By the former blaze $50,000 was lost. Yesterday's fire started in the compound room and was discovered by J. L. Correy, the night watchman. Its origin is unknown.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the partnership lately existing between John B. Coryell, Ernest A. Rowe and John Odgers, of the City of Plainfield, under the firm of the Plainfield Brass Foundry, was dissolved on the twentieth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and six, by mutual consent.

All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by the said Ernest A. Rowe and John Odgers, and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to them for payment. And Ernest A. Rowe and John Odgers are authorized to settle all debts to and by the firm.

Dated, April 20, 1906.

By Tom Muir.

John Drew, who will star next season in Arthur Wing Pinero's new play, "His House in Order," which was recently successfully produced in London, has sailed for England for the purpose of becoming acquainted with the piece as it is being enacted. The production will be seen in Plainfield late next season.

Theodore Kremer, the prolific producer of melodramas, hastens to remark that he will soon produce a play, "The Last Days of San Francisco." It will be in four acts and the last will show a refugee encampment in Golden Gate Park. Theodore has never been accused of being slow and it is a certainty now that he will get the "Johnny on the spot" medal.

The No. 2 car of Robbins' circus advertising force reached town Saturday, bringing with it a large number of men in charge of Charles W. Coleman, an old theatrical man. He hadn't been here but a short time when he discovered that Manager Counihan, with whom he had "palled" in St. Louis, ran the show shop and a hearty Missouri brand of reunion followed. Mr. Coleman is one of the sort of advance men who knows how to do things and so is Mr. Counihan and—well, the former left Plainfield vowing it was one of the best places on the map. In the winter Mr. Coleman has a theatre of his own to look after in Chrisfield, Md.

By a peculiar coincidence, the raising of the curtain on Lewis Morrison's "Faust" at the New Plainfield Saturday, was delayed exactly as it was at Music Hall ten years ago. The Jersey Central juggled the scenery car along the route between Bridgeton and this city so that it failed to reach the local yards until 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The "wings and flies" were then rushed to the theatre and in order to amuse the matinee audience, Manager Counihan had the curtain lifted so that the work of setting them could be seen. It was a novel sight for the majority of the patrons and was greatly appreciated by them. It was about 3:45 when the performance began. Ten years ago at the old playhouse, the scenery reached town at 9:45 and it was 11 o'clock before the first act started.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The regular business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church will be held at the home of Mrs. E. A. Vermeule, 28 Jackson avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will enjoy a trip to Japan and a visit with Miss Winn, the missionary, under the leadership of Louise Layton, at the meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

CLOSED PORTALS.

A meeting of Plainfield Legion, No. 1495, N. P. L., was held last Thursday evening at the home of the secretary, A. C. Hunting, West Fourth street. Four new members were accepted, and it was decided to hold meetings the fourth Thursday of each month at Coward Hall.

Drunk Fined.

John Cooney, arrested for drunkenness and disorder on Watchung avene yesterday afternoon, was fined avenue yesterday afternoon, was fined $15 by Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. Patrolman Overbaugh took him in after vainly trying to quiet him.

Complainant Couldn't Appear.

William H. Callaway, charged with beating his wife, was released in the city court this morning because Mrs. Callaway, who was mixed up in the shooting affray at Lincoln yesterday, couldn't appear. The complaint was made a week ago.

—John Barre, a former resident of the borough, but now of New York, returned yesterday for the purpose of making arrangements to move his family back again.

RED ANTS USED AS PEPPER

Odd Incidents of Honeymoon Spent by American Couple in Guatemala.

The Sunday bull fight, held in a large Place de Toro (bull ring) outside the town, was the principal amusement. I cannot say much for this sort of entertainment. The so-called bulls were worn-out cows, who deserved a better fate than to be goaded into some sort of fury by the dashing picadors, who stuck picadilloes into them. In most cases they had dropped, refusing to move, and the audience became furious.

At the end the toreador (especially imported for the day) came forward to the presidential box, where we were sitting, writes a woman correspondent of the Boudoir in describing a honeymoon in Gustemala, and after a florid speech, of which I understood little, he handed me, with a profuse bow executed in true grandee fashion, hand on heart, the begored and flower encircled picadillos as a memento of the august occasion. To refuse to accept them would have been the greatest insult, and my husband was obliged to carry them home for me, much to his disgust.

Some Spanish ladies asked me afterward how I felt when the great matador singled me out for this high honor. When I told them that I was rather annoyed by his drawing the attention of the crowd to me in this theatrical fashion they were furious at my ungratefulness, and told me "it would have been the day of their lives," and they would have had proposals galore.

In the course of a scrambling expedition into the country over rough mountain roads we were obliged to camp out on hard boulders, with only a mackintosh to keep out the cold. During the night I was frightened almost out of my wits—I felt a hand tugging my hair, and calling out to my husband, we saw a big monkey leaning down from the branches of a tree above us, pulling away at my hair. His horrible claws had gripped such a lot that, when he finally let go, after being belabored with the stock of a revolver, he had nearly half of it in his hand.

On arriving at a very rough and ready inn the landlady set before us poached eggs, swimming in water and plentifully besprinkled with small red ants! At first I tried to pick out these additions, and seeing the woman eying me furiously I called her and tried to tell her in my best Spanish that I was not accustomed to eat ants—and that I wished she had been careful not to let them drop into the dish.

Her indignation was immense. With flashing eyes and gesticulating wildly she told me in excited language that it had taken her a long time to catch those ants, and that it was "so good." "Do try it, senora," she said, and dipping her dirty fingers into the bowl, she fished them out and showed me how much she, at all events, enjoyed eating them as a sort of savory to the eggs, and trying to encourage me by her example.

WHEN JOHN OBEYED AUNT

It Worked Hardship on Aunt's Sister, as Was Subsequently Brought Out.

The story told by Mark Twain the other day about the estimate of John Fiske, the historian, of two of his childrens' aunts, brought forth an illustration of the reasons for that opinion. Mark Twain's story was that when Mrs. Fiske one day went to her husband in horror and reported that his young son had said that Aunt Mary was "a fool," and Aunt Martha "a d—n fool," the historian replied, after careful consideration: "Well, that is about the distinction I should make."

A man in the audience, who knew both the aunts, after the meeting told this:

Aunt Martha was one of the strictest disciplinarians I have ever known. She demanded chiefly obedience of her children, instant, unquestioning, silent obedience, and she usually got it. One afternoon as she was working in her sewing-room a great storm came up, and she sent her son John to close the trap leading to the flat roof of the Queen Anne cottage.

"But, mamma—" said John

"John, I told you to shut the trap."

"Yes, but, ma—"

"John, shut that trap!"

"All right, mamma, if you say so, but—"

"John!"

John slowly climbed the stairs and shut the trap. The afternoon went by and the storm howled and raged. Three hours later the family gathered for dinner, and when the meal was half over Aunt Mary had not appeared, Aunt Martha started an investigation. She did not have to ask many questions, John answered he first one.

"Please, mamma, she is up on the roof."

Bad for Kickers.

Icelanders have a strange but effective plan for preventing horses from straying away. They tie the head of one horse to the tail of another, and the head of this to the tail of the former. In this state it is impossible for the horses to move on, either backward or forward. If disposed to move at all, it will be only in a circle, and even then there must be mutual agreement to turn their heads the same way.

Always Still.

Friend—Is your husband a quiet man?

Mrs. Wise—Is he? Why, he goes into a comatose condition every time I ask him for a dollar!—Detroit Free Press.

LITERARY NOTES.

The Popular Science Monthly for May opens with a beautifully illustrated article by Professor Ralph S. Tarr, of Cornell University, giving an account of the scenery and geology at Watkins Glen and other Gorges of the Finger Lake Region of Central New York. The article is timely in view of the fact that an effort is being made to set aside Watkins Glen as a state reservation for the benefit of the public. The Rectorial address, entitled, "A League of Peace," given by Andrew Carnegie before the University of St. Andrews, recounts the progress that has been made in substituting arbitration for war and the creation of the Hague Tribunal. Mr. Carnegie suggests that the five great nations that co-operated in quelling the recent Chinese disorders might form a league of peace, inviting other nations to join and requiring all nations to refer their disputes to arbitration. He thinks that this could be accomplished by the league agreeing to non-intercourse with any nation refusing compliance but that it might properly reserve to itself the right to use force.

WAS TIRED.

"Ham and," said the messenger boy. "Plate o' sinkers. Draw one."

It was 2 o'clock in the morning, and the boy ate vigorously. While he ate he talked.

"I've had more queer jobs this week," he said. "It's enough to make ye sick. Know what I've been a-doin'? Listen here.

"Monday I hocked a di'mond anklet for an actress.

"Tuesday I exercised a white poodle in the park.

"Wednesday and Thursday I escorted women to shows.

"Friday I played detective on a girl what her feller suspected wuzn't true to him—and she led me a chase for fair.

"Saturday I saw three married men home from a bachelors' dinner at a club. They was pickled."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

TRICKS WIN IN BASE BALL GAMES

QUICK-WITTED PLAYS THAT HAVE DECEIVED THE UMPIRE.

Tricks, worked with such exceeding speed as to deceive the umpire, the opposing team and often practically every one in the ground, have been pulled off again and again by clever ball players, and many of them have won games.

It is strange that the stories of such tricks are confined to so few men. Whether that is because only a few turned such tricks or whether all the clever tricks were attributed to them, just as all the funny tsories are attributed to notorious story tellers, no one knows. But the greatest of t hetricks are attributed to Mike Kelly, Jimmy McAleer, Pat Tebeau, Billy Hamilton, Comiskey, Tip O'Neil or Tommy McCarthy.

Tricks are pulled off almost every day—little ones, often unsportsmanlike—but they win ball games—and that, especially in professional games, is all that counts. It is boldness and quick thinking and acting that make them possible, and however one may feel about the sportsmanship of the player who turns the trick, he cannot but admire the cererity of the player.

Dalrymple's Successful Pantomine.

Dalrymple, the old Chicago star, once won a game by one of the cleverest tricks ever pulled off. It was in a game against Philadelphia, when the pennant fortunes of the team seemed wavering. The game was close and went into extra innings with the score 5 to 5, and both teams fighting for every inch of ground. The eleventh inning began with darkness descending over the field—with the score still a tie.

Chicago seored one run and the Philadelphia crowd, which had the last bats, was howling at the umpire to call the game on account of darkness, but he refused, and the Quakers were sent to the bat. Two men were retired and then a single and a double suddenly changed the aspect of things.

With men on second and third and a big hatter up, Chicago's chances grew dim and they began delaying and fighting for darkness. Still the umpire was obdurate—and the ball was pitched. The batter swung. There was a crack and the sphere went flying out to eft centre. It was lost from sight in an instant. The crowd did not know whether it was a home run or a high fly.

The players went tearing towards the plate. In that instant Dalrymple stood still, shoved both hands above his head, waited an instant, jerked them down, stuck something into his pocket and turning ran to the clubhouse, while the crowd roared over Chicago's victory.

But in the clubhouse Dal confessed that he hadn't seen the ball at all, hadn't the slightest idea where it had fallen, and that his entire play of catching it was pantomime—which fooled everybody except a few in the left field bleachers—who saw the ball cross the left field fence of the grounds and fall into the street.

Another Good Imitation.

Johnny Evers worked a clever trick a couple of seasons ago that resulted in a putout. He was playing second, and there was a runner on first when the batter cracked a hot bounder straight at him. In some way the ball shot straight between his legs and rolled on out to center field. Yithout blinking an eyelash Evers went through the pantomime of throwing the ball to second to force out a runner. Tinker, covering the base, pretended to catch the ball—and the baserunner, completely fooled, stopped and started to walk to the bench. Before the yells of his teammates aroused the base runner Slagle had recovered the ball and thrown the runner out at second.

Fred Clark's Quickness.

Fred Clarke won a game for Pittsburg once, when Pittsburg needed games to hold the championship, by a trick which beat Chicago out of a deserved victory. He was on second base—with two out in the ninth inning and Chicago leading—when Wagner rapped a terrific line drive almost straight at Dahlen, who was playing short. Clarke already had started for third, but seeing that Dahlen was camped one the line of the ball, he ran up, stopped, made a bluff as if dodging, and, just before the ball reached him, he dropped flat. The ball shot past, struck Dahlen on the side of the neck and felled him to the ground. Clarke reached third before the sphere was recovered. Chicago made a strong kick on interference, but Clarke's acting had been so well done that it deceived even the umpire, and an instant ater a long drive beat Chicago.

elly Cut Two Bases and Scored.

The Only Kel was the man who copy-righted the idea of cutting bases. Kel never tried to cut a base ten feet—he wanted to score from first by running around the pitcher—and that is exactly what he did in one game against New York.

He was on first when the batter rapped a grounder toward third. Without an instant's hesitation Kel started straight toward the pitcher's box, yelling: "Watch Kelly," "Watch Kelly," at the top of his voice.

The umpire and the opposing players had too much experience with Kelly and his tricks to pay any attention to him, so the third baseman scooped the ball and shot it to first, the umpire running there to watch the play. Kel almost ran over the pitcher, and then, with one fleeting glance at the umpire, he turned and struck through the diamond for the plate.

"Out!" yelled the umpire on the runner at first base, and then, turning quickly, he sought Kel—and discovered him just sliding across the plate with a yell of victory. He had scored from first on an infield out—and, although the opposing team yelled long and loud, the umpire was forced to admit he had not seen Kelly cut a base—so the score counted.—Hugh S. Fullerton.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.
First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.
That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.
Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.
Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market to-day.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE SPENDERS

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

"But as for that girl," he added, "say, she'd marry me in a minute if I wasn't tied up with the little lady over there. Of course she'd rather marry a sub-treasury; she's got about that much heart in her—cold-blooded as a German carp. She'd marry me—she'd marry you, if you was the best thing in sight. But say, if you was broke, she'd have about as much use for you as Chicago's got for St. Louis."

CHAPTER VIII.

SOME LIGHT WITH A FEW SIDE LIGHTS

The real spring comes in New York when blundering nature has painted the outer wilderness for autumn. What is called "spring" in the city by unreflecting users of the word is a tame, insipid season yawning into not more than half-wakefulness at best. The trees in the gas-poisoned soil are slow in their greening, the grass has but a pallid city vitality, and the rows of gaudy tulips set out primly about the fountains in the squares are palpably forced and alien.

For the sumptuous blending and flaunt of color, the spontaneous awakening of warm, throbbing new life, and all those inspiring miracles of regeneration which are performed elsewhere in April and May, the city-pent must wait until mid-October.

But spring is not all of life, nor what at once chiefly concerns us. There are people to be noted; a little series of more or less related phenomena to be observed.

One of the people, a young man, stands conveniently before a florist's window, at that hour when the sun briefly flushes this narrow canyon of Broadway from wall to wall.

He had loitered along the lively highway an hour or more, his nerves tingling responsively to all its stimuli. And now he mused as he stared at the tangled tracery of ferns against the high bank of wine-red autumn foliage, the royal cluster of white chrysanthemums and the big jar of American Beauties.

He had looked forward to this moment, too—when he should enter that same door and order at least an armful of those same haughty roses sent to an address his memory cherished. Yet now, the time having come, the zest for the feat was gone. It would be done; it were ungraceful not to do it, after certain expressions; but it would be done with no heart because of the certain knowledge that no one—at least no one to be desired—could possibly care for him, or consider him even with interest for anything but his money—the same kind of money Higbee made by purveying hams—"and she wouldn't care in the least whether it was mine or Higbee's, so there was a lot of it."

Yet he stepped in and ordered the roses, nor did the florist once suspect that so lavish a buyer of flowers could be a prey to emotions of corroding cynicism toward the person for whom they were meant.

From the florist's he returned directly to the hotel to find his mother and Psyche making home-like the suite to which they had been assigned. A maid was unpacking trunks under his sister's supervision. Mrs. Bines was in converse with a person of authoritative manner regarding the service to be supplied them. Two maids would be required, and madame would of course wish a butler—

Mrs. Bines looked helplessly at her son, who had just entered.

"I think—we've—we've always did our own buttling," she faltered.

The person was politely interested.

"I'll attend to these things, ma," said Percival, rather suddenly.

"Yes, we'll want a butler and the two maids, and see that the butler knows his business, please, and—here—take this, and see that we're properly looked after, will you?"

As the bill bore a large "C" on its face, and the person was rather a gentleman anyway, this unfortunate essay at irregular conjugation never fell into a certain class of anecdotes which Mrs. Bines' best friends could now and then bring themselves to relate of her.

But other matters are forward. We may next overtake two people who loiter on this bracing October day down a leaf-strewn aisle in Central park.

"You," said the girl of the pair, "least of all men can accuse me of lacking heart."

"You are cold to me now."

"But look, think—what did I offer—you've had my trust—everything I could bring myself to give you. Look what I would have sacrificed at your call. Think how I waited and longed for that call."

"You know how helpless I was."

"Yes, if you wanted more than my bare self. I should have been helpless, too, if I had wanted more than—than you."

"It would have been folly—madness—that way."

"Folly—madness? Do you remember the 'Sonnet of Revolt' you sent me? Sit on this bench; I wish to say it over to you, very slowly; I want you to hear it while you keep your later attitude in mind."

"'Life—what is life? To do without avail
The decent ordered tasks of every day;
Talk with the sober; join the solemn play;
Rest for the numbered time the self-same tale
Told by our grandsires in the self-same vale
Where the sun sets with even, level ray,
And nights, eternally the same make way
For useless dawns, intolerably pale—'"

"But I know the verse."

"No; hear it out;—hear what you sent me:

"'And this is life? Nay, I would rather see
The man who sees his soul in some wild cause;
The fool who spurns, for momentary bliss,
All that he was and all he thought to be;
The rebel stark against his country's laws;
God's own mad lover, dying on a kiss.'"

She had completed the verse with the hint of a sneer in her tones.

"Yes, truly, I remember it; but some day you'll thank me for saving you; of course it would have been regular in a way, but people here never really forget those things—and we'd have been helpless—some day you'll thank me for thinking for you."

"Why do you believe I'm not thanking you already?"

"Hang it all! that's what you made me think yesterday when I met you."

"And so you called me heartless! Now tell me just what you expect a woman in my position to do. I offered to go to you when you were ready. Surely that showed my spirit—and you haven't known me these years without knowing it would have to be that or nothing."

"Well, hang it, it wasn't like the last time, and you know it; you're not kind any longer. You can be kind, can't you?"

Her lip showed faintly the curl of scorn.

"No, I can't be kind any longer. Oh, I see you've known your own mind so little; there's been so little depth to it all; you couldn't dare. It was foolish to think I could show you my mind."

"But you still care for me?"

"No, no; I don't. You should have no reason to think so if I did. When I heard you'd made it up I hated you, and I think I hate you now. Let us go back. No, no, please don't touch me—ever again."

Farther downtown in the cozy drawing-room of a house in a side street east of the avenue, two other persons were talking. A florid and profusely freckled young Englishman spoke protestingly from the hearth-rug to a woman who had the air of knowing emphatically better.

"But, my dear Mrs. Drelmer, you know, really, I can't take a curate with me, you know, and send up word won't she be good enough to come downstairs and marry me directly—not when I've not seen her, you know!"

"Nonsense!" replied the lady, unimpressed. "You can do it nearly that way, if you'll listen to me. Those westerners perform quite in that manner, I assure you. They call it 'hustling.'"

"Dear me!"

"Yes, indeed, 'dear you.' And another thing, I want you to forestall that Milbrey youth, and you may be sure he's no farther away than Tuxedo or Meadowbrook. Now, they arrived yesterday; they'll be unpacking to-day and settling to-morrow; I'll call the day after, and you shall be with me."

"And you forget that—that devil—suppose she's as good as her threat?"

"Absurd! How could she be?"

"You don't know her, you know, nor the old beggar, either, by Jove!"

"All the more reason for haste. We'll call to-morrow. Wait. Better still, perhaps I can enlist the Gwilt-Atnelston; I'm to meet her to-morrow. I'll let you know. Now I must get into my tea harness, so run along."

We are next constrained to glance at a strong man bowed in the hurt of a great grief. Horace Milbrey sits alone in his gloomy, high-ceilinged library. His attire is immaculate. His slender, delicate hands are beautifully white. The sensitive lines of his fine face tell of the strain under which he labors.

A servant passed the open door bearing an immense pasteboard box with one end cut out to accommodate the long stems of many roses.

"Jarvis!"

"Yes, sir!"

"What is it?"

"Flowers, sir, for Miss Avice."

"Let me see—and the card?"

He took the card from the florist's envelope and glanced at the name.

"Take them away."

The stricken man was once more alone; yet now it was as if the tender beauty of the flowers had balmed his hurt—taught him to hope anew. Let us in all sympathy and hope retire.

MRS. APPLEGATE WELL AGAIN!
"I have had a bruised leg and foot for several years, caused by the brass eyelets of my shoe, which became very sore and painful especially at night. It itched, burned and ached me till it nearly set me crazy. I used everything I found and was suggested to ease it and nothing gave me any relief till I found and applied Azienza Cream which I think is a wonderful remedy for all sores and inflammation of the skin. The hard knots on my legs were as painful as bee stings, with discolored and purple spots. A running sore on my instep size of a half-dollar; the top of my foot a seething sore clean around to my heel. The bone was sore for a whole year and very painful. I used five and one-half jars of Azienza Cream and healed the sore all up. The foot remained tender and I continued to use to strengthen and toughen the skin until now it is entirely well." CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Young Ladies' Mission Circle of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco will conduct the Young People's Society meeting at the First Baptist church Friday night.

There will be a business meeting and social hour of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church on Friday night.

The Union Bible Class, taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns, will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

During the absence of Charles W. McCutchen, of Rockview avenue, abroad, the choir of the First Baptist church will be in charge of Howard M. Case, organist.

"Our Resources in Service" was the subject of the Epworth League meeting in Vincent chapel of the First M. E. church last night. Mrs. A. P. Atwood was the leader.

The Epworth League rally of Group No. 4 will be held in the First M. E. church Thursday night. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, former pastor of the church, and now in Perth Amboy, will make the address.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. A. D. Mallinson will conduct the devotional exercises. "The Women Who Helped Support Christ" will be the subject of a paper by Miss Kate E. Biglow and the paper on current events will be presented by Mrs. Calvin Boice.

There will be communion and reception of new members at the First M. E. church on Sunday morning. Those who are to be received from probation are Mrs. Jennie Little, William Little, Miss Kathryn Sminck, Miss Margaret Pringle and Mrs. Frank Dodge. All persons desiring to join the church at this time will notify the pastor as soon as possible.

At the close of the morning service in the First Baptist church, yesterday, the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, made appropriate reference to the fact that it was the last day that Mrs. Ferdinand M. Ward, the contralto soloist, would sing as a member of the choir. He referred to her ten years' service, of the sweetness and charm of her voice which had been appreciated and he wished her success and happiness as she leaves Plainfield to take up her residence in New York.

HOBOKEN DEFEATED BY CONN. LEAGUERS

JERSEYMEN LOSE HARD FOUGHT CONTEST WITH DEEGAN PITCHING.

The Bridgeport, Connecticut State League Club, defeated Hoboken at St. George's Cricket Grounds, Hoboken, yesterday, by a score of 6 to 4. Although the hits were even, each twirler being touched for eight, the players for the Nutmeg State had the advantage. "Willie" Deegan pitched his first game and showed up well, although he walked four men. He fanned three batsmen to one for Neuman.

Features of the game were the two base hit by Bertwhistle and three base hit of Wilson, who played second base in place of "Kid" Brogan, who has signed with Jersey City. Every member of the Hoboken team secured a hit but Heffron and Deegan. Leo Kelly batted in the ninth for Deegan, but could do nothing. The score:

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

"How far can your car travel on a gallon of gasolene?"

That question is frequently asked among automobilists. Few can answer with any degree of accuracy, though many are enabled to make close guesses. The question always is an interesting one and has been productive of some absurd claims of performances.

An opportunity for an impartial and accurate test of the full economy of gasolene vehicles of all sizes, powers and types will be afforded by the two-gallon efficiency contest to be held by the Automobile Club of America in this city on Saturday afternoon next. Owners who are curious to know just how their machines compare with others in the matter of full consumption are invited by the club to compete in that event.

Briefly, all entered cars will be supplied with two gallons of gasolene and will be run over a defined course until halted by lack of power. To the actual weight of the machines with passengers a handicap of 800 pounds will be added. This sum will be multiplied by the distance in miles travelled to obtain the score.

To the car making the highest score will be awarded a silver punch bowl costing $500. There also will be second and third prizes, besides certificates to cars that comply with the rules.

400 MILES PER HOUR FOR MO.TOR.

It's Mayor Tom Johnson's Own Invention and Speed Is Theoretical.

Cleveland, April 28.—Mayor Tom L. Johnson has invented a motor which in recent tests developed the theoretical speed of four hundred miles an hour. The Mayor hopes to revolutionize travel. The car is to run on an overhead track. At the highest speed of which the motor is capable wheels would fly to pieces. Herner shoes take their place. Powerful magnets take up the weight of the car and minimize the friction of the shoes on the rails.

Windows in such a car would be unnecessary, for the scenes would change faster than the eye could catch the image. The andscape would be a streaked gray blur. The motorman would have to look through a thick glass bull's-eye, else the force of the wind would make a mat of him on the wall behind.

Stops at stations would have to be automatic, otherwise the station would be passed before the motorman could see that it was near. A head-on collision would mean the annihiliation of every passenger. The invention will make possible just as high a rate of speed as steel and human endurance will stand.

PERSONAL.

Charles Englehart, of Roselle, spent yesterday with A. J. B. Clement, of Central avenue.

Mrs. A. B. Lewis, of Newark, a former Plainfielder, visited friends in the West End yesterday.

Mrs. I. L. McVoy, of East Front street, has returned home from a visit to friends in Paterson and New York.

Miss Annie Meaney, of High Bridge, is spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Wilbur Schaefer, of East Sixth street.

Mrs. Thomas Polkinghorne, of Belleville, has been spending a few days at the home of Paul Symons, in East Third street.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Alberta E. Reiber, of New York, and Charles M. Dolliver, Esq., son of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Q. Dolliver, of Fairview avenue.

John H. Tier, Sr., who has been ill and confined to his home for over a year, was able to bask in the sunshine on the veranda of his home a little while Saturday afternoon. If no setback occurs Mr. Tier will soon be able to take short walks.

Baseball and General Sports

By Geo. E. Firstbrook.

ONLY FIVE DAYS MORE

And Then Plainfield Will Have the Greatest Baseball Team in Its History.

"LANKY BOB," FEATURE

Ex-Champion Heavy-Weight Will Throw the First Ball in the Game and Assist Umpire Merrity.

Plainfield baseballdom will be treated to the biggest opening in the annals of the national game next Saturday when the championship pennant will be swung to the breeze with one grand hurrah accompanied with a great exultation of joy. The occasion will be the biggest sporting event of its kind and it is expected that a record breaking crowd will be in attendance to witness the ceremonies. The steller attraction will be the presence of "Bob" Fitzsimmons who will throw the first ball in the game and assist umpire Jack Merrity in judging plays in the game.

Fitzsimmons has given Mayor Smalley his promise to be on hand and will break training to see the opening and start the ball rolling this season. Fitz is a great baseball crank and the news that he will be on hand will attract thousands who never before had the opportunity of seeing the great boxer who will again enter the ring Decoration Day to contend for the championship of the United States. The opening will be advertised in all the towns along the Central railroad and special arrangements will be made to accommodate the crowd. The game will be started at 3.30 o'clock following the ceremony of raising the flag.

There was a big turnout at the meeting Saturday night at Hotel Iroquois and judging from the enthusiasm displayed Plainfield is going to undergo an old time revival in the national pastime. The situation was talked over and the glowing reports presented indicates that Plainfield will retain its laurels in the championship line again this season. Manager Daab declared that he was confident that his combination of players are superior to any other semi-professional team in the country and is ready to meet all comers. Places like Somerville, Elizabeth, Rahway, Morristown and the like aspiring to contest Plainfield's supremacy will be given prompt attention soon as any challenges are forthcoming.

Mayor Smalley reported at the meeting that the grounds had been improved considerably and separate places arranged for carriages and automobiles. The old race track which blocked the entrance has been removed and the ground put on the same level as the diamond. The automobiles will occupy the space on the right side of the field while the carriages will be placed on the left hand side of the field.

The admission prices for boys and girls twelve years or younger has been fixed at 15 cents. Heretofore they have been compelled to pay the same price as adults, 25 cents. In fixing this price it was done for the sole reason to allow the juvenile fans to attend the games. "Raising a quarter" to see ball games in the past has been a rather difficult task for many and with the rate fixed at 15 cents it is thought every boy who wishes to see a game can get there.

Welcome Fitz. We all hope you put the kibosh on the aspirations of that fellow Burns and clinch the championship again. Outside of yourself and John L. Sullivan there were very few genuine scrappers.

Fitz announces that he is through with managers. "By Jove, no more of them for me. They get their 50 per cent. and then try to get my 50 per cent. after me doing all the hard work. No, no; no more managers for me."

Kid Brogan has been signed by Manager Murray of the Jersey City team. This is not much of a surprise as young Brogan is a ball-player, every inch of him, and Uncle Billy Murray knows a ball player when he sees one. Brogan will probably cover second bag and Captain Bean switched around to his old place at short stop. Manager Daab has not yet filled his place but has several good men in view, including Wilson, who came here with the Jersey City team to practice. Wilson wanted to go with the Jerseys but Manager Murray was unable to come to satisfactory terms with the Omaha Club of the Western Association where Wilson played last season. Wilson holds a good position with the Morgan Steamship line in Jersey City and vows he will not play in the west again, consequently he has filed an application with Manager Daab.

Tommy Keefe of the St. Mary's team of three years ago has signed with the Garwoods to play centerfield. The Garwoods are in the Union County Amateur League.

Probably it is a good thing for Fitz that Virgil Garvin isn't in the village at the present time.

A catastrophe might have resulted.

Disaster is reported at Westfield. The new team started business Saturday under rather discouraging conditions. Expenses $100; receipts $11.

The Clinton Avenue team pulled out one better than that in its game with Garwood. The receipts down the oval were $12, but if a wide awake collector was on the gate this amount would have been doubled. They always said John Kriney was too good natured to pilot a ball team.

The old Westfield baseball nerve may be recovered with a game or two between the new team now representing that village with the Clinton Avenue team of this city.

Jimmy Beisel, ex-Magnate Groos' exploded phenom, bursted like a soap bubble on Crescent Oval Saturday. Jimmy was on the slab for the Garwood juvenile champions and the way the Plainfield amateurs whacked his curves around gave everybody a pain, including Willie Deegan, who witnessed three innings of the game. Willie whispered this to "Doc" Voehl, "Shoo fly, where did he learn to pitch?"

"Not where they bake White Laber Philadelphia bread, I'll gamble," responded "Doc."

Treasurer Charlie Runyon is nursing a quartet of blisters on his hand, but he doesn't explain whether this malady is from using a spade on the grounds during the past week or a result of handling so much baseball money.

A few seasons ago it was common crack to hear in Westfield that there wasn't enough money down here to start a team.

But according to facts we are getting the cash and not giving away any season books with it either.

Billy Deegan's benefit dance Saturday night netted $25 for the San Francisco sufferers.

ENGINE RAN THROUGH FLAME.

Took Oil Away from Dangeroust Fire —Plant Partly Destroyed.

Elizabeth, April 30.—The fire at the Bay Way Refining Company's plant at Elizabethport burned fiercely from midnight until 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The large receiving station, the power house, the office building, and the large wharf and warhouse on the wharf were destroyed. Six oil tanks blew up, but eighteen metal tanks remained standing. The burning oil flowed into Staten Island Sound, but the tide was running out, thus saving the water front at Elizabeth.

The engineer of the Bay Way Refining Company, soon after the fire started, set the steam pipes going and pumped oil from six tanks into oil cars, which were hauled away to a place of safety by a locomotive whose engineer made a sensational run through sheets of flame. The total loss is estimated at $1,000,000; insurance about $75,000.

Grace M. E. Members Contribution.

At the morning service in Grace M. E. church, yesterday, Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons preached a sermon bearing on the San Francisco disaster, based his topic, "and after the earthquake a still small voice." Afterward he made an appeal for contributions and $70 was secured. The money will be forwarded through the missionary society of which Dr. Carroll is at the head and it will be added to the fund being raised to rebuild the destroyed churches and missions.

Holy Cross Team Won.

The Holy Cross team defeated Denton's team for the record time this season by the score 19 to 7 Saturday. Conroy of the Holy Cross team knocked out a home run. J. Vail pitched for the victors and E. Bohan and E. Moran caught. R. Denton Ludgate and D. Rodgers pitched for the loosers and E. Vokley caught.

Woodshed Caught Fire.

A small woodshed in the yard of Mrs. E. D. Moffett's home on Orchard place caught fire from some burning papers this morning. An alarm was turned in from box 46 and the blaze was quickly put out with a hydrant stream. he damage will amount to about $25.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Murphy, who have been living temporarily on East Front street, will shortly move into a house on the south side.

THE GOLF SEASON OPENS

Course of Plainfield Country Club Well Occupied All Saturday.

CUP CONTEST STARTS

First Points Won by Edward J. Patterson; Second and Third by W. B. Tyler and C. A. Stover.

The Plainfield Country Club had an auspicious opening on Saturday, the delightful weather having a tendency to attract a large number of enthusiasts to the clubhouse and course. Throughout the day the course was well occupied with players, many of them taking part in the opening events scheduled. Although the links are in what is considered good condition, the ground is a little soft in some places and for that reason play on the regular greens is prohibited for the present. This did not interfere with the play on Saturday to any extent.

Many improvements have been made about the clubhouse, as well as on the course, all of which are appreciated and enjoyed by the members. The clubhouse has been thoroughly renovated and the restaurant was opened on Saturday. Many members took occasion to visit there and enjoy the privileges. Everything has a bright, clean and attractive appearance and with the additional room is sure to be exceedingly popular during the season. One of the noticeable improvements about the grounds is the cinder path, almost completed, which extends from the end of the trolley at the entrance to the course to a point near the clubhouse. By the use of this tramping across the course will be unnecessary.

The new system for the caddies was used for the first time on Saturday and worked satisfactory. Now every caddy will be registered and will have to take his turn. Martin O'Loughlin is in charge of the boys and gives good service.

Considerable interest was shown in the initial play for the Golf Committee cup, weekly competition, the same as last year. Edward J. Patterson won the first three points with a score of 75. W. B. Tyler won two points with a score of 78, while Chas. A. Stover took the third point, returning a score of 82. The other scores were good, considering that it was the first day out for some of the players. These scores were returned for the Golf Committee cup:

Edward J. Patterson, 98, 23-75; W. B. Tyler, 97, 19-78; Charles A. Stover, 92, 10-82; Stuart H. Patterson, 100, 17-83; D. H. Rowland, 99, 14-85; W. Lester Glenney, 85, plus 2-87; S. D. Lounsbery, 94, 7-87; Henry D. Hibbard, 94, 5-89; W. L. C. Glenney, 108, 19-89; A. E. Barclay, 112, 17--95; C. B. Andrews, 112, 16-96; J. P. Murray, 111, 13-98; W. F. Merrill, 116, 17-99; L. R. Hopton, 133, 21-112.

In the play for the opening day cups for the best gross and best net scores, W. Lester Glenney won the cup for the best score, returning an 85, while Edward J. Patterson won the other cup with a score of 75. The scores:

Edward J. Patterson, 98, 23-75; E. A. Stevenson, 104, 27-77; W. B. Tyler, 97, 19-78; Alex. Gilbert, 106, 27-79; D. H. Rowland, 95, 14-81; Stuart H. Patterson, 100, 17-83; W. Lester Glenney, 85, plus 2-87; W. L. C. Glenney, 108, 19-89; Henry D. Hibbard, 94, 5-89; Townsend Rushmore, 102, 18-89; A. E. Barclay, 112, 17-95; C. B. Andrews, 112, 16-96; W. F. Merrill, 116, 17-99; M. D. Rae, 110, 10-100; L. R. Hopton, 133, 21-112.

Miss Seward's Funeral.

The funeral of Miss Catherine Seward, who died at Muhlenberg Hospital Friday, was held at St. Mary's church, this morning. The mass was conducted by Rev. Father Delehanty. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery, the pall bearers being Patrick Higgins, Thomas Savard, Thomas Morcom, David J. Morcom, Morris Shannon and Patrick Whelan.

$4,044 Received for Chapel Work.

The annual collection at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday morning for the support of Hope, Warren and Bethel chapels, amounted to $4,044, which is very encouraging. The sum of $5,000 is needed for this work and it is believed that the balance will be secured next Sunday, when Rev. Dr. J. S. Zellie will make another appeal.

Young Folks Entertain.

Miss Carolyn Ross and her brother, Master Jack Ross, entertained fifty-five of their young friends Saturday afternoon from 5 until 8 o'clock at their home, 333 East Seventh street. There were games on the lawn, a May pole dance, followed by supper and the playing of more games.

Y. M. C. A. Relief Work.

The collection at the men's meeting yesterday afternoon will be devoted to the Y. M. C. A. relief fund for San Francisco. The receipts of the concert at the association's hall tonight will be used for the same purpose.

Mrs. George Saums, of West Front street, who has been visiting her parents at Trenton, has returned to Plainfield much improved in health.
